SEC. 917 (as amended 1913, No. 69). Assessment of damages.—When an employee receives a personal injury under any of the conditions enumerated in section one hereof he may bring an action against his employer before the proper district court to recover damages for such injury. In assessing the amount of such damages the court shall take into consideration the degree of culpability of the employer, or of the person for whose negligence the employer is liable hereunder, the sums expended by the employee for medical assistance, for drugs, medicines, and similar necessary expenses, and the loss of wages while recovering from the injury; the court shall also take into consideration the pain and suffering caused by the injury. If the injury be of such character as to permanently impair the earning capacity of the employee, the court shall include in the damages awarded an allowance for such loss. In case the injury results in a temporary impairment of his earning capacity, the court, in addition to pain and suffering and the expenditures for medical services and drugs, shall take into consideration the average rate of wages which, under ordinary conditions, he might have earned if not injured.

SEC. 918 (as amended 1913, No. 69). Survival of action.—In case of the death of the employee before the termination of the action so brought against the employer, it may be continued in the name of his widow or children, and if there be no such widow or children, then in the name of his parents, if they, or either of them, were dependent upon such employee for support at the time of the injury. If it shall appear in any action so continued in the name of the widow, children or parents of a deceased injured employee, that the death was the result of the injury, damages shall be assessed by the court, and the court shall estimate such damages in accordance with:

(a) The degree of culpability of the employer or of the person for whose negligence the employer is liable.

(b) The material damage incurred by the claimant or claimants through the death of the employee, in accordance with the actual needs that said claimant or claimants had to depend upon the wages of such employee for their support, taking into consideration his earning capacity and his probabilities of life at the time of the accident.

SEC. 919. Suit by widow, etc.—When, before having commenced an action hereunder, an employee dies as the result of personal injury received under any of the conditions enumerated under section 1 hereof [sec. 916], his widow, children, or both of them, or if there be no such widow or children, then his parents, provided such parents were dependent upon such employee for support at the time of the injury, may maintain an action against the employer before the proper district court, for damages caused by the death of such employee. Such damages shall not exceed the sum of three thousand dollars and shall be fixed by the court in accordance with:

(a) The degree of culpability of the employer or of the person for whose negligence the employer is liable.

(b) The material damage incurred by the claimant or claimants through the death of the employee in accordance with the actual needs that such claimant or claimants had to depend upon the wages of such employee for their support, taking into consideration his earning capacity and his probabilities of life, at the time of the accident.

SEC. 920. Division of damages.—The court, when fixing the amount of damages to be paid in case of death by personal injury under this act, shall determine the amount due to each of the claimants in proportion to the material damages incurred by each of them in accordance with the actual needs which each of them had to depend upon the wages of the employee whose death was caused by accident.

SEC. 921. Limitation.—No action for the recovery of damages for injury or death under the provisions of this act [secs. 916–925] shall be maintained unless notice of the time, place and cause of the injury is given to the employer within thirty days after the injury is received or unless it is commenced within six months from the date of the injury. The notice required by this section shall be in writing, signed by the person injured or by some one in his behalf; but if from physical or mental incapacity it is impossible for the person injured to give the notice within the time provided in said section, he may give the same within ten days after the incapacity is removed, and in case of his death without having given the notice and without having been at any time after his injury of sufficient capacity to give the notice, the person or persons entitled to claim compensation pursuant to the provisions of this act, or their representatives, may give such notice within thirty days after the death of such employee. But no notice given under the provisions of this section shall be deemed to be invalid or insufficient solely by reason of any inaccuracy in stating the time, place, or cause of the injury: Provided, It is shown that there was no intention to mislead, and that the party entitled to notice was not in fact misled thereby.

SEC. 922. Employer liable, when.—Whenever an employee [employer] enters into a contract, either written or verbal, with an independent contractor to do part of such employer's work, or whenever such contractor enters into a contract with a subcontractor to do all or any part of the work comprised in such contractor's contract with the employer, such contract or subcontract shall not bar the liability of the employer for injuries to the employees of such contractor or subcontractor, by reason of any defect in the condition of the ways, works, machinery, or plant, if they are the property of the employer, or furnished by him, and if such defect arose or had not been discovered or remedied through the negligence of the employer or of some person intrusted by him with the duty of seeing that they were in proper condition.

SEC. 923. Knowledge of defect a bar.—No employee, or his widow or children, or either of them, or his parents, if there be no such widow or children, shall be entitled under this act [secs. 916–925] to any right of compensation or remedy against the employer in any case where such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury, and failed within a reasonable time to give, or cause to be given, information thereof to the employer, or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer who had intrusted to him some general superintendence.

SEC. 924. Contribution to insurance fund.—Any employer who shall have contributed to an insurance fund created and maintained for the mutual purpose of indemnifying an employee for personal injuries for which compensation may be recovered under this act [secs. 916–925], or who has insured the said employee in any insurance company against the accidents of labor, shall be entitled to have deducted from the sum which he shall have to pay as compensation under the provisions of this act, the amount that shall have been received by the person injured, or by his widow, or children, or both of them, or by the parents, if there be no such widow and children, from the aforesaid fund or from the insurance company, by reason of the same accident.

SEC. 925. Exceptions.—This act shall not apply to injuries caused to domestic servants, or farm laborers, by fellow employees.

Labor combinations—Intimidation

SECTION 1653. Assemblages, etc., not unlawful.—The orderly and peaceable assembling or cooperation of persons employed in any calling, trade, or handicraft, for the purpose of obtaining an advance in the rate of wages or compensation, or of maintaining such rate, shall not be unlawful, nor shall it be unlawful for such persons to organize trade or labor assemblies or unions for the purpose of bettering the mental and material condition of the members thereof by lawful peaceable means.

SEC. 1654. Interference with employment.—The employment of force, violence, intimidation or menace, or any form of coercion, by any person, or by persons associated together, against any other person or persons, whether with the object of preventing them from freely pursuing their employments, professions or trades, or whether with the object of influencing the price or remuneration paid for their work, shall be a misdemeanor, and any person convicted thereof shall be imprisoned not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or fined not less than ten dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or both fined and imprisoned.

Payment of wages in scrip—Protection of employees as traders

SECTION 1667. Scrip, etc., to be redeemable.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, firm, or person engaged in any trade or business, either directly or indirectly, to issue, sell, give or deliver to any person employed as laborer, journeyman or foreman, by such corporation, company, firm or person, in payment of wages due such laborer, or as advances for labor not due, and script [scrip], token, draft, check or other evidence of indebtedness, payable or redeemable otherwise than in lawful money; and, if any such script [scrip], token, draft, check or other evidence of indebtedness, be so issued, sold, given or delivered to such laborer, it shall be construed, taken and held in all courts and places to be a promise to pay the sum specified therein in lawful money by the corporation, company, firm or person issuing, selling, giving or delivering the same to the person named therein, or to the holder thereof. And the corporation, company, firm, or person so issuing, selling, giving or delivering the same shall, moreover, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, and, at the discretion of the court, the officer or agent of the corporation, company, or firm, or the person issuing, selling, giving or delivering the same, may be imprisoned not less than ten days nor more than six months.

SEC. 1668. Coercion as to trading.—If any corporation, company, firm or person shall coerce or compel, or attempt to coerce or compel, an employee in its, their, or his employment, to purchase goods or supplies in payment of wages due him, or to become due him, or otherwise, from any corporation, company, firm or person, such first-named corporation, company, firm or person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished as provided in the preceding section.

CIVIL CODE

Employment of labor—General provisions

SECTION 1486. Term.—The services of servants and laborers may be contracted for a fixed period of time, or without a fixed period. A hiring for life shall be void. * * *

SEC. 1487 (as amended 1917, Vol. II, No. 12). Termination of contract.—A person employed for domestic service, whether for the personal service of the head of the family or for the general service of the household, whose service contract is for a specified time, may leave such service or be dismissed before the expiration of the term of the contract; but if the employer dismisses the employee subject to these conditions without sufficient cause, he shall indemnify said employee by paying him the wages due and those for fifteen additional days.

SEC. 1488 (as amended 1917, Vol. II, No. 12). Special laws.—In addition to the provisions of the foregoing sections in regard to contracts between employers and employees, the provisions of special laws and regulations shall be observed.

SEC. 1489 (as amended 1917, Vol. II, No. 12). Employees for fixed term.—Field hands, mechanics, artisans and other laborers hired for a certain time or for a certain work can not leave nor be dismissed without sufficient cause before the contract is completed.

SEC. 1490 (as amended 1917, Vol. II, No. 12). Dispossession of tools, etc.—The dismissal of field hands, mechanics, artisans and other hired laborers to which the preceding sections refer gives the right to dispossess them of all tools and buildings which they may occupy under the contract.

SEC. 1491. Contract may include what.—The execution of a work may be contracted for by agreeing that the person who is to execute the same shall give his labor or industry only, or that he furnish the materials also.

SEC. 1492. Contractor liable for destruction of work when.—If the person who contracted for the work bound himself to furnish the materials, he shall suffer the loss in case of the destruction of the work before it is delivered, unless there has been delay in receiving it.

SEC. 1493. Workman can not recover, when.—A person who has bound himself to give his labor or industry only can not demand any payment if the work is destroyed before it is delivered, unless there should have been delay in receiving the same, or if the destruction should have been due to the bad quality of the materials, provided that he may have given due notice of this circumstance to the owner.

SEC. 1495. Work by piece.—A person who binds himself to do a work by piece or by measure may demand of the owner that he receive it in installments, and that he pay therefor in proportion. The part paid for shall be presumed as approved and received.

SEC. 1498. Personal contracts.—When a certain work has been intrusted to a person by reason of his personal qualifications, the contract is rescinded by the death of said person.

In such case, the owner must pay to the heirs of the constructor [contractor], in proportion to the price agreed upon, the value of the part of the work executed, and that of the prepared materials, provided he may obtain any benefit from such materials.

The same shall be understood if the person who contracted for the work can not finish it by reason of any cause independent of his will.

SEC. 1499. Liability of contractor.—A contractor is responsible for the work done by the persons he employs thereon.

SEC. 1500. Recovery on entire contract.—Those who furnish their labor and materials in a work agreed upon for a lump sum by a contractor have no action against the owner, except for the amount the latter may owe the former when the action is brought.

SEC. 1501. Acceptance of work.—When it should be agreed that the work is to be done to the satisfaction of the owner, in the absence of his acceptance the approval is understood as reserved for the proper expert judgment.

If the person who has to approve the work is a third person, his decision shall be final.

SEC. 1502. Earnings to be paid, when.—Should there be no agreement or custom to the contrary, the price for the work must be paid upon delivery.

SEC. 1503. Work may be retained.—A person who has executed a work on personal property has the right to retain the same as a pledge until he is paid therefor.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 249. Amount exempt.—[The earnings of a judgment debtor for 30 days prior to the levy are exempt if shown to be necessary for the support of a dependent family.]

PENAL CODE

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 188. Discharging, withholding wages, etc.— * * * if an employer of laborers or any agent of such employer threatens to withhold the wages of, or to dismiss from service any laborer in his employment, or refuses to allow to any such employee time to attend at the place of election and vote, [he] shall be fined not more than one thousand dollars, nor less than twenty dollars, or imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year, and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for any period not exceeding ten years.

Employment of labor—Fraud

SECTION 470 (as amended 1916, No. 58). Punishable as larceny.—Every person who knowingly and designedly, by false or fraudulent representation or pretenses, defrauds any other person of money, labor, or property, or who causes or procures others to report falsely of his wealth or mercantile character, and by thus imposing upon any person obtains credit and thereby fraudulently gets into possession of money, labor, or property, is punishable in the same manner and to the same extent as for larceny of the money or property so obtained, or of an amount equal to the value of the services or labor.

Employment of labor—Closing time—Sunday labor

SECTION 533 (as amended 1917, Vol. II, No. 26). When establishments are to be closed.—All day Sunday; from 12 o'clock noon on legal holidays, except Labor Day, that is, the first Monday in September, and the Fourth of July, when they shall remain closed all day; from 9 p. m., every Saturday; from 6 p. m., every working day; and from 10 p. m., on December 24 and 31 and January 5 of each year, commercial and industrial establishments shall remain closed to the public and suspend all work for employees one hour after closing, except the following:

I. Libraries, sugar and alcohol factories, coffee-cleaning mills, and pharmacies only so far as relates to the dispatch of prescriptions and medicines at retail.

II. Public markets, printeries, garages and bakeries: Provided, That no establishment in public market places for the sale of provisions and merchandise shall be exempt from compliance with this act.

III. Establishments where coffee and refreshments only are sold; restaurants, hotels, inns, eating houses, places where meals are served, confectionery and pastry stores.

IV. Casinos, billiard rooms, ice depots, meat stands, milk stalls, and stands where sweets, matches, manufactured tobacco and periodicals are sold.

V. Slaughterhouses, dairies, livery stables, piers or docks and undertaking establishments.

VI. Public and quasi-public utilities and works of emergency necessary to prevent danger or considerable financial loss.

VII. Theaters or other places devoted exclusively to amusements or charitable purposes, shall not be comprised under the provisions of this section so far as relates to the purposes stated herein.

[The following sections of the amending act of 1917 require reproduction in this connection:]

Sec. 3 (as amended 1918, No. 3). Weekly day of rest.—Employees and clerks of enterprises and establishments exempted by this act, and who render services on the basis of an annual, monthly or weekly salary, or in any form other than for wages or piece work at a fixed price, shall be entitled to one day of rest for every six days of work, at full salary.

Sec. 4. Violations.—[For a first offense the penalty is a fine, not over $100, or imprisonment not more than 30 days; and for subsequent offenses, fines, $20 to $100, or imprisonment, 5 to 30 days, or both.]

Act No. 30.—Protection of employees on buildings

Section 1 (as amended 1923, No. 25). Scaffolds, etc.—All scaffolds, elevators, hoists, platforms, scales or ladders, or any other mechanical appliance, whether portable or fixed, placed or constructed by any person, firm or corporation in this Island for the purposes of building, repairing, altering, destroying or painting any house, building, bridge, viaduct, or other construction, shall be constructed in a secure, appropriate and convenient manner, and so placed when in operation as to offer proper and adequate protection to the life and limbs of the person or persons working thereon or passing thereunder, and in such manner as to prevent the falling to the ground of any materials or utensils placed thereon. All scaffolds, platforms or other similar appliances shall be, if possible, at least two feet wide and shall have a safety partition and railing, forming a closed rectangle, which shall be thirty-six inches in height from the floor or surface of said scaffolds or platforms, and shall extend the full length thereof and be solidly constructed, and firm and secure enough to prevent its giving way from the building or construction. The chief of the bureau of labor, or his representatives, are hereby authorized to stop any work where the above provisions are being violated, and to require such changes and modifications as may be necessary for the protection of the life or limbs of the persons employed in said places before the work may continue: Provided, That any natural or artificial person attempting to carry out any work in Porto Rico where the construction of scaffolds is necessary shall be required to notify the chief of the bureau of labor in writing within the first five days of commencing work, indicating the nature of the work to be done, the date when such work is commenced, as well as the municipality wherein the work is to be done.

ACTS OF 1913—EXTRA SESSION

Act No. 140.—Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 1. Eight-hour day.—The service and employment of all laborers, workmen, and mechanics who are now or may hereafter be employed by the people of Porto Rico or by any municipality or school board or other dependency of the people of Porto Rico or by any contractor or subcontractor upon any of the public works of any of the said municipalities, school boards, or other dependencies of the people of Porto Rico, is hereby limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day, and it shall be unlawful for any officer of the people of Porto Rico or of any municipality or school board or other dependency of the people of Porto Rico whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control the services of such laborer, workman, or mechanic to require or permit any such laborer, workman, or mechanic to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day. No penalties shall be imposed for any violation of the provisions of this act due to any extraordinary events or conditions of manufacture, or to any emergency caused by fire, famine, or flood, by danger to life, property, public safety, or public health, or by other extraordinary event or condition on account of which the Governor of Porto Rico shall subsequently declare the violation to have been excusable.

SEC. 2. Contracts.—Every such contract, excluding contracts for the purchase of material or supplies, to which any municipality or school board or other dependency of the people of Porto Rico is a party which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics, shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman, or mechanic working in Porto Rico, in the employ of the contractor, subcontractor, or other person doing or contracting to do the whole or a part of the work contemplated by the contractor shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, and every such contract shall stipulate a penalty of five dollars for each laborer, workman, or mechanic for every calendar day in which he shall be required or permitted to labor more than eight hours upon such work, and no contract which does not contain this stipulation shall be approved by the officer charged with the approval thereof.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Penalty of $5 is imposed for every day a workman is required or permitted to work more than 8 hours; the amount of penalties to be withheld from the salary of the officer or agent having charge of any public work, etc.]

SECS. 4, 5. Enforcement.—[Officials and others charged with the inspection or supervision of work must report all violations, giving names, time, etc.]

SEC. 6. Review.—[Contractors, officers, and others from whom the penalty has been withheld, may appeal to the governor for a review of the action within three months.]

SEC. 7. Scope of act.—[This act shall not apply to, or be construed as applicable to, the employment by the people of Porto Rico, or any municipality, school board, or other dependency of the people of Porto Rico, of persons whose services are rendered for a fixed rate of compensation per month or year, nor to the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics in the irrigation service of Porto Rico, nor to the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics engaged upon public works for any municipality, school board, or other dependency of the people of Porto Rico for which a contract or contracts have been, or may be, entered into under the provisions of appropriation acts passed by the legislature or ordinances for loans approved by the executive council prior to the passage of this act; nor to works on specific projects for which appropriations have been made prior to the approval of this act.]

SEC. 8. Violations.—[Failure to report violations of this act entails a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both.]

ACTS OF 1917

Act No. 14.—Weight that workmen may carry

SECTION 1. Maximum.—No employee shall be required or permitted by his employer to carry on his head, back, or shoulders a weight or load for said employer of more than two hundred pounds.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by a fine not exceeding $100 for each offense.]

Act No. 17.—Strikes, etc.—Notice in advertisements for labor

Section 1. Notice to be given.—When any employer or owner of a factory or agricultural estate, or mercantile or industrial establishment of any kind, or any of their agents or representatives, during a general strike of their laborers or employees of any class or during a lockout, advertises in the newspapers, or by means of bills or in any other form, for laborers or employees of any class, or employs agents to solicit or personally solicits persons to work in place of such strikers, he shall state clearly and precisely in all such advertisements, whether written or verbal, the fact that a strike or lockout exists.

Sec. 2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 100 days, or both.]

ACTS OF 1917—VOLUME II

Act No. 10.—Suits for wages

Section 1 (as amended 1923, No. 12).—Employee to file complaint.—Whenever a worker or employee shall find it necessary to claim from his employer any sum as compensation for work or labor done for said employer, he may appear before the municipal court for the municipal judicial district where the employer resides on date of the claim, and file a complaint against the said employer, which complaint shall be made out or filled in, as the case may be, by the judge or secretary of the court, the worker or employee setting forth therein under oath the facts upon which the claim is founded.

Sec. 1a (added 1923, No. 12). Definitions.—The word "worker" as used in this act, shall comprise all manual laborers of either sex and such natural persons as may be employed in domestic services or occupations of both sexes, and the word "employee" shall comprise all kinds of artisans, employees or clerks of business or industry, in the general acceptation of these last two words.

Secs. 2–14. Rules.—[Rules of procedure for hearings and appeals are given. Judgment is to be rendered within 24 hours after hearing and judgment must direct payment within 5 days. No costs accrue in this class of cases. The commissioner of agriculture and labor is to be notified of the date of hearing, and he may intervene through any employee under him. Mere defect in form does not invalidate a complaint, and the widest possible latitude is to be allowed in the introduction of evidence.]

Act No. 41.—Factory, etc., regulations—First-aid provisions

Section 1. Scope of law.—Every owner of a sugar factory, factory, workshop, electric or hydraulic plant, or building plant operating power-driven machinery outside of the urban zone, whose employees shall exceed fifty (50) in number, are [is] hereby obligated to provide a dispensary with a sufficient stock of medicines adequate for cases of accident.

Sec. 2. Equipment.—The dispensary referred to in section 1 hereof shall be established in a proper room with sanitary conditions and of sufficient light and supplied with water, telephone, operating table, and other appurtenances thereunto belonging, so that it may be used for giving first aid in cases of accidents: Provided, That in any accident occurring in the places mentioned in section 1 hereof the physician or minor surgeon shall be furnished with such supplies as it may be necessary to use.

Sec. 3. Physician.—It shall be the duty of every owner of a sugar factory, factory, workshop, electric, hydraulic, or building plant operating power-driven machinery, whose employees shall exceed fifty (50) in number, to contract for the services of a physician and a minor surgeon or a nurse for the care of traumatic accidents occurring during the year.

Sec. 4. Minor surgeons.—Minor surgeons under contract by virtue hereof shall be duly licensed to practice their profession and shall be provided with such instruments as may be indispensable.

Sec. 5. Enforcement.—The commissioner of health shall be in charge of the enforcement of this act and shall visit and inspect said dispensaries either personally or through his inspectors or other employees, to satisfy himself that said dispensaries are properly supplied with all the material necessary for the purposes for which they are intended.

SEC. 6. Violations.—Any violation of this act shall be punished by fine not to exceed five hundred (500) dollars or by imprisonment in jail for not to exceed six (6) months.

ACT No. 70.—Railroads, etc.—Safety of employees—Accidents to be reported

SECTION 3. Facilities, etc., to be safe.—It shall be the duty of every public-service company:

(a) To furnish and maintain such service, including facilities, as shall in all respects be just, safe, reasonable, adequate, and practically sufficient for the accommodation and safety of its patrons, employees, and the public, and in conformity with such reasonable regulations or orders as may be made by the [public service] commission.

* * * * * * *

(c) To make all such repairs, changes, alterations, and improvements, including facilities, as shall be reasonably necessary for the accommodation or safety of its patrons, employees, and the public.

* * * * * * *

(m) To give immediate notice to said commission of the happening of any accident in or about, or in connection with, the operation of its property, facilities, or service, wherein any person shall have been killed or injured, and to furnish such full and detailed report of such accident, within such time and in such manner as the commission shall by general rule or special order or otherwise require. Such report shall not be open for public inspection, except by order of the commission, and shall not be admitted in evidence for any purpose in any suit or action for damages growing out of any matter or thing mentioned in said report.

* * * * * * *

SECTION 1. Cash, discounts.—In all contracts entered into with laborers their wages shall be paid exclusively in legal tender of the United States, and if by special agreement, through custom or for any other reason, the laborer should receive prior to his regular pay day any advance payment in cash, it shall be lawful for the employer to discount such advance payment. When a labor contract stipulates that all or part of the wages shall be paid otherwise than in cash, the same shall be null so far as relates to the promise or agreement to pay wages otherwise than in legal tender of the United States.

SEC. 2. Conditions of employment.—Employers shall not impose, directly or indirectly, in person or through their agents, and as an express or implied condition for the employment of a laborer, any stipulation relative to the place where or the manner in which the laborer shall spend all or part of his wages, nor compelling him to live on the employer's property. Employers or their agents are also prohibited from dismissing a laborer for having spent his wages, wholly or in part, in any determined place or manner, or with a determined person, or because he does not live on the property of the employer or his agent.

SEC. 3. Wages due weekly.—The total amount of wages due a laborer shall be paid him in legal tender of the United States and not otherwise, at intervals not to exceed one week: Provided, That when a laborer is dismissed or retires from work during any day of the week, it shall be the duty of the employer to pay him on the following Saturday the amount of wages earned during the days he has worked. All payments made to a laborer by an employer on account of wages, in merchandise or otherwise than in legal tender of the United States, shall be null.

SEC. 4. Invalid defenses.—In actions instituted by laborers against employers for the payment of wages due, the defendant can not allege delivery of merchandise on account of wages as a set-off for the reduction of the amount, nor that merchandise has been furnished him by a warehouse, depot, store or other establishment belonging to such employer. Neither can the defendant file a counter claim against the plaintiff for merchandise furnished the latter by another person upon order or instruction given to the defendant, his attorney in fact, or agent.

SEC. 5. Invalid actions.—Employers shall have no judicial action, nor shall they institute any judicial action against laborers, for merchandise sold, delivered, or furnished by them to said laborers while in their employ on account or for the amount of their wages, or furnished by any warehouse, depot or store belonging to such employer.

SEC. 6. Deductions.—In cases where the employer or his attorney in fact makes an advance to the laborer in legal tender of the United States, he shall have the right to deduct the sum from the wages of the laborer. However, no retention of wages shall exceed the amount advanced. No employer shall deduct for any reason part of the wages earned by laborers, to be paid to other persons, except as provided in this section.

SEC. 7. Definitions.—For the purposes of this act, "employer" shall be understood to be any person utilizing or availing himself of the work of any laborer upon payment of wages; "laborer" shall be understood to be any person receiving wages for his work.

SEC. 8. Violations.—The violation of any of the provisions of this act shall constitute a misdemeanor; and subsequent violations of such provisions shall be punished by a minimum fine of fifty (50) dollars or by imprisonment in jail for 30 days.

ACT No. 19.—Emigration of laborers

SECTION 1. Intervention authorized.—The commissioner of agriculture and labor is hereby authorized to intervene, either in person or through his agents, in all matters concerning emigration of laborers from Porto Rico.

SEC. 2. Measures to be taken.—It shall be the duty of said commissioner, upon information that an emigration of laborers from Porto Rico is about to take place, to inquire into, inspect, intervene in, and regulate such propositions, promises, conditions, or offers made to native laborers in cases of emigration; to procure, subscribe, and enforce such contracts as may be entered into by natural or artificial persons residing within or without Porto Rico, whether in any State of the American Union or in foreign countries, and to see that the stability or repatriation of such laborers as may be out of Porto Rico shall be secured.

SEC. 3. Obligation of government.—The Government of Porto Rico shall have no obligation in any emigration to protect or enforce the rights of such persons as shall leave this country, unless the contracts entered into and between emigrants and the State contracting them shall have been approved by the commissioner of agriculture and labor: Provided, In case of emigration from this island, when such contracts are made by natural or artificial persons of foreign countries, whether or not residents of Porto Rico, compliance therewith shall be guaranteed by the government of such State, unless the contracting party furnishes sufficient guaranty to secure the rights of the emigrants.

SEC. 4. Reports.—It shall be the duty of any natural or artificial person in charge of contracting for emigration of laborers from Porto Rico, whether as principal or agent, to report to the commissioner of agriculture and labor all matters relative to such emigration, and to furnish him with all the data in his possession which may be necessary for the purpose of complying with the provisions of this act.

SEC. 5. What emigration prohibited.—The emigration of native laborers under sixteen years of age or over seventy is hereby absolutely prohibited, unless accompanied by their parents or legal guardians, or by their children or members of their families.

SEC. 6. Violations.—[Penalties for violations entail a fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment not to exceed 6 months, or both.]

ACT No. 36.—Mediation and conciliation—Insular commission

SECTION 1. Commission created.—A mediation and conciliation commission is hereby created which shall have exclusive authority to intervene, under the conditions hereinafter established, in all industrial and agricultural controversies between laborers and employers.

SEC. 2. Members.—The mediation and conciliation commission shall consist of five members who shall be citizens of the United States and bona fide residents of Porto Rico and shall be appointed by the governor, for a term of four years, in the manner following: Upon the taking effect of this act, the governor shall request from bona fide labor organizations who shall have regularly and continuously sustained their social activities in Porto Rico, for the two years immediately preceding and from employers established in the island or from associations of employers a list of the names of persons qualified to constitute the said commission. From the persons so proposed he shall designate two from among such as are proposed by the labor organizations and two from among those proposed by the employers or associations of employers, which said persons shall be appointed on behalf of the interest of laborers and employers, respectively; and as to the fifth member, who shall be president of the commission, the governor shall appoint him freely, on behalf of the people in general. Vacancies occurring in the said commission shall be filled in the same manner as herein provided for the appointment of the members thereof.

SEC. 3. Duties.—Said mediation and conciliation commission shall consult the governor as to the best manner of discharging their duties as mediators and conciliators, and shall have power to recommend legislation. It shall also prepare a list of persons who may be called upon to serve as arbitrators and mediators. It shall be called together by the chairman every time that a dispute or controversy between laborers and employers occurs or may occur. It shall be organized and shall have such adequate regulations as the commission may adopt and shall elect its own secretary. The members of the mediation and conciliation commission shall receive a per diem of five (5) dollars for each meeting which they attend, and shall receive their traveling and other expenses necessary better to discharge their duties. A majority of members of the mediation and conciliation commission shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business and their resolutions shall be valid and lawful.

SEC. 4. Secretary.—The mediation and conciliation commission shall have power to appoint, remove, and fix the compensation of the secretary, which shall never exceed fifteen hundred (1,500) dollars a year. It shall likewise have power to appoint other temporary officers, such as examiners, investigators, assessors, technical personnel, experts, paymaster, clerks, and such other employees as it may need temporarily; such employees to be designated from among competent persons in accordance with the requirements of the civil service; and should there be no such persons meeting these conditions, the commission shall prepare and hold special examinations, for which it shall make announcements in due time, on such subjects as may be deemed necessary to ascertain the capacity of the candidates, and shall fill these positions with persons who satisfactorily pass such examinations.

SEC. 5. Action on request.—When a controversy occurs or threatens to occur between laborers and employers relative to the conditions of labor, the mediation and conciliation commission may intervene only when required to do so by the governor, a mayor, or a municipal council, or when any of the parties interested in the controversy shall appeal to the chairman of the mediation and conciliation commission requesting their services in reaching an amicable settlement of such controversy. But the chairman of the commission shall have power to offer the services of the mediation and conciliation commission to the interested parties: Provided, That in cases of industries affecting the public service, such as railroads, street railways, steamship lines, docks, and bakeries, it shall be the duty of the mediation and conciliation commission, as soon as it learns of the intention of the employers to declare a lockout, or of the laborers to go on strike, to intervene and do everything within their power to prevent by its good offices the carrying out of such purpose. In any case where the efforts of the commission to reach an amicable settlement are unfruitful, the commission shall immediately, if possible, endeavor to induce the parties to submit their differences to arbitration.

SEC. 6. Arbitration.—If the parties to the controversy are unwilling to submit their differences to arbitration, and should such controversy threaten an interruption of the business of the employers, and laborers with detriment to the public interests, the commission shall have authority to require both parties to consent to the creation of an arbitration board. Should the consent of both parties be secured, then the mediation and conciliation commission, from a list requested and prepared for the purpose, in accordance with the parties to the controversy, shall appoint a board of three members. Of the three members of the special arbitration board, one shall be chosen by the employers, another by the employees, and the third on recommendation of the two so chosen. If because of any circumstance the parties should fail to recommend the third member, or should fail to reach an agreement, the commission, upon the expiration of a determined period which it shall fix, shall appoint such third member. The aforesaid appointments shall be made by the mediation and conciliation commission in accordance with the list prepared for the purpose by the employers and laborers interested in the controversy whose settlement is sought.

SEC. 7. Power.—When the board of arbitration shall have been so appointed and constituted, it shall do everything in its power to reach a settlement of the controversy. But should the intervention be without effect, and should any of the parties refuse to accept the conclusions of the board, then the mediation and conciliation commission shall have power to make an investigation of the controversy, and shall require the special arbitration board to submit a full report of the controversy to the commission including such recommendations as said board may deem advisable for the solution of such controversy. The commission shall have power to give adequate publicity to the report and to the recommendations submitted.

SEC. 8 (as amended extra session, 1923, No. 4). Oaths, summons, etc.—The mediation and conciliation commission shall have power, in case of the need of an investigation, to administer oaths, to issue summons, and to compel the appearance of witnesses and require them to testify, and to compel the production of books, papers, documents, etc., and to conduct the investigation and hearings, and to exercise such other similar powers as may be necessary, but in no case shall it have power to impose penalties for strikes, stoppage of work, or lockouts; Provided, That the proper district court shall have power to punish any disobedience of any lawful order of the commission as for contempt; Provided, further, That any employer or workman, or representative thereof, who may be summoned at any time prior to the arising of any controversy or at any time after the existence thereof, shall be bound to obey said summons and appear before the commission to explain the causes for the existence of such controversy or the probabilities and reasons for the existence of the said controversy. Any employer or employee, or representative thereof, as well as any witness whom the commission may wish to examine, who refuses or fails to appear after having been served with the proper subpoena of the commission, shall be guilty of contempt and shall be punished by a court of competent jurisdiction by a fine which shall not exceed two hundred (200) dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not to exceed thirty days; or by both penalties, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 8a (added, extra session 1923, No. 4). Citation.—[A simple written citation under the seal of the commission, signed by the president thereof, and addressed to the proper person, is to be considered as a good and sufficient subpoena.]

SEC. 9. Commissioner of agriculture and labor.—The commissioner of agriculture and labor shall have power to bring to the attention of the mediation and conciliation commission any industrial dispute in which the intervention of the commission may be desirable. The commissioner of agriculture and labor, or any officer whom he may designate, shall be also authorized to appear before the mediation and conciliation commission and before the special arbitration boards, at their request, as amicus curiae, to establish facts in connection with labor conditions.

SEC. 10. Failure of intervention.—If after such efforts the intervention of the mediation and conciliation commission should be useless, after informing the public in detail of the efforts made, so that public opinion may judge the party on whom responsibility for the industrial disturbance rests, the commission shall recommend and enforce strict compliance with such laws as guarantee the rights of citizens, and which may be applicable to these cases, and shall endeavor to prevent any act of partiality or extralimitation of the public authorities, so that the controversy may be ended by the proper and guaranteed effort of the parties involved therein.

SEC. 11. Definitions.—The term "controversy," as used in this act, shall be understood to mean any dispute between employers and laborers over differences in wages, hours of labor, or their special conditions as to rights, duties, and privileges of employers and laborers, when, by reason of such disputes, interruption or threatened interruption occurs in the labors in which they are engaged.

The term "lockout," as used in this act, shall be understood to mean the act of closing any place where laborers are employed, or the suspension of the work of any or all their laborers as a result of a controversy as above defined or discrimination against any laborer in giving work for reasons other than personal ability or capacity, with the object of forcing their laborers or those of other employers to accept such labor conditions as it may be desired to impose upon them.

The term "strike," as used in this act, shall be understood to mean the stopping of work by a number of laborers combined, due to any controversy as above defined, when said strike is carried on as a means of forcing the employer to accept the labor conditions demanded of him.

SEC. 12 (as amended extra session, 1923, No. 4). Appropriation.—To carry out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated from any funds in the Insular Treasury the sum of fifteen thousand (15,000) dollars, which sum shall be placed at the disposal of the Governor of Porto Rico, with preference over any and all other appropriations made for other purposes, at any time that the Governor of Porto Rico shall call for said funds to carry out the provisions of this act.

ACT No. 45.—Minimum wages for females

SECTION 1. Wages to be paid.—It shall be unlawful for any employer of women, girls inclusive, in industrial occupations, or commercial or public-service undertakings in Porto Rico, to pay them wages lower than those specified in this section, to wit:

Women under 18 years of age at the rate of four (4) dollars a week, and over said age at the rate of six (6) dollars a week. The first three weeks of apprenticeship shall be exempt from the provisions of this section. The provisions of this act shall not be applicable to agriculture and agricultural industries.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any employer paying any woman, girls included, wages lower than those specified in section 1 shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by fine not to exceed fifty (50) dollars nor less than five (5) dollars.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The bureau of labor shall be intrusted with the enforcement of this act.

ACT No. 73.—Employment of women and children—General provisions

SECTION 1. Hours for women.—No woman shall be employed or allowed to work at any lucrative occupation during the hours between ten o'clock at night and six o'clock in the morning, nor more than eight hours during any natural day, nor more than forty-eight hours during any week: Provided, however, That the limitation of eight hours may be extended not to exceed nine hours during any natural day; Provided, That any woman so employed for wages during more than eight hours in any natural day shall be paid for work done during such extra time at a rate double the rate paid her for the preceding eight working hours; but in no case shall a woman be employed or allowed to work over forty-eight hours during any week.

This section shall not be applicable to women over sixteen years of age employed as telephone operators, telegraphers, artists, nurses, or domestics.

SEC. 2. Schedules to be posted.—Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every department where women are employed, or in the office of the farm or rural property where they work, a printed announcement stating the number of hours of labor required of women on each day of the week, the hours of commencing and quitting work, and the hours at which periods for meals commence and end: Provided, That no woman shall work in each period for more than four hours, and the time allowed for meals shall not be less than one hour.

An announcement equal to that hereinbefore described, stating the daily hours of labor required of children, shall be posted in a conspicuous place: Provided, That no child shall work more than three and one-half hours during each period of labor.

In industrial establishments, farms, or rural properties where women and children are employed during alternate hours each day of the week a special announcement shall be posted, showing the name of each woman and child, and the hours they work during each day of the week.

The hours stated in the announcement posted for women and children shall be prima facie evidence that such hours of labor in each industrial establishment, farm, or property shall constitute the allotment of the legal working day.

It shall be the duty of all employers of women and children to apply for printed forms for said announcements, which shall be furnished free of cost by the bureau of labor.

SEC. 3. Report.—Any employer employing or permitting women, or children under sixteen years of age, to work, shall notify the bureau of labor of the fact, stating the number of women and children employed, their occupation, and the regular hours of work during which they are employed.

SEC. 4. Seats.—Any employer employing women in any establishment shall direct the placing of appropriate chairs convenient to the place where such employees ordinarily work, or near such place. Said chairs, which shall be comfortable, shall be for the use of female employees, who shall have free access to the same at all times save when occupied in duties which they cannot discharge while seated.

No woman under sixteen years of age shall be employed in any establishment where she must stand constantly.

SEC. 11. Air space.—No room or department where women or children under eighteen years of age work, shall be of such capacity that the space corresponding to each employee shall be less than four hundred cubic feet; and except in cases where a written permit is obtained from the chief of the bureau of labor, the amount of air corresponding to each employee shall not be less than two hundred and fifty cubic feet.

SEC. 12. Sanitation.—Every employer or head of an establishment where women or children under eighteen years of age work, shall direct and see that there shall be in each working department of said establishment appropriate and sufficient means of ventilation, potable water, and sanitary cups. If, during the course of the day's work, excessive heat, vapor, gases, dust, or other impurities obnoxious to health are produced, the department shall be ventilated in such manner as to put it in good condition in accordance with the health laws.

SEC. 13. Walls.—Every establishment where women or children under eighteen years of age work in dust-producing occupations, shall be whitewashed and painted at least once every twelve months, of which the bureau of labor shall be notified.

The floors of the rooms of such establishments shall be perfectly washed with soap and water at least once a month, and all dressing and toilet rooms of said establishments shall be properly washed every day.

SEC. 14. Violations.—[Violations of this act are punishable by fines, $25 to $100 for first offense, and $100 to $1,000 for a second offense.

SEC. 15. Definitions.—In this act, unless otherwise deduced from the text, the following definitions of works and phrases herein used shall be accepted:

"Employer" includes all natural or artificial persons, and the manager, superintendent, foreman, overseer, or representative of said natural or artificial persons.

"Lucrative occupation" includes all works or all work in factories, mills, centrals, machine shops, or establishments, or places of any kind where a factory or mechanical enterprise exists; and in storehouses, stores, establishments, or places of any kind where mercantile transactions are carried on; and on farms, plantations, rural properties, or places of any kind where agricultural, horticultural, or pasturing pursuits are followed; and in all mining and fishing undertakings.

"Establishment" includes every building, factory, shop, store, or place of like nature where any lucrative occupation is engaged in.

"Plantation" includes every hacienda, rural estate, or other parcel of land where any lucrative occupation is engaged in.

SEC. 16. Enforcement.—The bureau of labor is hereby authorized to carry out the provisions of this act, to prosecute violations of the same, to summon witnesses, to take oaths and testimony, to compel the production of books, documents, and any other evidence, and to visit and examine through his chief or his assistants, the building of any establishment or property referred to herein.

ACT NO. 65.—Bureau of labor

SECTION 1. Bureau created.—There is hereby established in the department of agriculture and labor a bureau of labor under the direction of the chief of the bureau of labor, who shall be appointed by the commissioner of agriculture and labor, and who, upon his induction into office, shall be included in the classified civil service.

SEC. 2. Assistant.—There shall also be in the bureau of labor an assistant chief, appointed by the commissioner of agriculture and labor, who shall render such services as the chief of the bureau may require and shall act as chief of said bureau in the absence of the chief.

SEC. 3. Duties.—The chief of the bureau of labor shall collect and collate data relative to labor, and shall report specifically to the commissioner of agriculture and labor on the wages of male and female laborers and the means of improving their material, intellectual, and moral welfare. He shall investigate the causes and facts in connection with controversies and disputes between employers and employees, and shall prepare, collate, and publish labor statistics, and shall issue such reports and bulletins relative to general labor conditions throughout the island of Porto Rico as may from time to time, with the approval of the commissioner of agriculture and labor, be deemed necessary for transmittal to the commissioner of health in regard to the sanitary conditions of all factories, farm or agricultural properties, shops, and sugar or industrial establishments in the island of Porto Rico where laborers are employed.

SEC. 4. Report.—The chief of the bureau of labor shall render monthly a written report to the commissioner of agriculture and labor, which report shall contain the data collected and collated by him and such recommendations as he may deem pertinent for the development and efficiency of the bureau and for the purposes of section 3 hereof, and which shall be transmitted to the Legislature of Porto Rico.

SEC. 5. Duty of employer.—It shall be the duty of every employer, operator, or manager of any factory, shop, mine, mill, or other establishment where laborers are employed to furnish the bureau of labor, on blanks supplied by said bureau, all such data and reports as said bureau may require for the purpose of compiling the statistics required by this act, and said employer, operator, or manager shall furnish such reports and data as may be requested by said bureau within a term of not more than thirty (30) days after such employer, operator, or manager has been duly required to furnish such data; but such data and reports as the aforesaid bureau may publish shall not give the names of such persons, firms, or corporations as furnish said data, which shall be deemed absolutely confidential, and any employer, operator, or manager failing to perform the duty required by this section shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed fifty (50) dollars.

SEC. 6. Witnesses.—The chief or assistant chief of the bureau of labor shall have power to summon witnesses and to administer oaths in all matters connected with labor laws and with such other duties as may be expressly imposed by any act. Any person refusing to appear when summoned in writing and failing to show justified cause for such nonappearance in order to testify on any fact of which such person has knowledge shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a competent court by a fine of not to exceed fifty (50) dollars or by confinement in jail for a term of not more than thirty (30) days: Provided, That no witness shall be summoned to appear at said investigation in a municipality other than that where his domicile is located.

SEC. 7. Examination of conditions.—The chief of the bureau of labor, or any inspector thereof, shall have power to enter any factory, mill, or mine by first notifying the chief or person in charge of said establishment, for the purpose of obtaining data or information for the statistics herein required and to examine the methods employed for the protection of employees against accidents and to ascertain and investigate the sanitary conditions of the place where said laborers work; and any employer, manager, or operator of any industry, factory, farm, or agricultural property, mill, mine, or public works, or his agent, who refuses admission thereto of an inspector or employee of said bureau, or who refuses to furnish such information as may be really necessary in the manner prescribed by section 5 of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not more than fifty (50) dollars.

SEC. 8. Public lectures.—The chief of the bureau of labor, in person or through his duly authorized officials, shall give public lectures and shall strive to advance the welfare of workmen of Porto Rico, improve their working conditions, and promote their opportunities for securing lucrative employment, and may attend laborers' and employers' assemblies or meetings and take part in the debates, should he be invited to do so.

SEC. 9. Employees.—In addition to the chief and assistant chief, there shall be one chief clerk, one stenographer, one translator, one file clerk, ten inspectors, and one messenger.

The employees of said bureau shall receive such salaries as may be determined in the appropriation act of Porto Rico.

SEC. 10. Data.—The chief of the bureau of labor, through the commissioner of agriculture and labor, may request of the heads of departments and of municipal commissioners all the data in the possession of said departments and municipalities which may be of interest to the bureau of labor for carrying out the duties imposed upon him by law.

SEC. 12. Definitions.—For the purposes of this act the words "employer" and "employee" shall mean—

(a) "Employer" includes any person, whether natural or artificial, who employs one or more persons in any agricultural, industrial, or public-service enterprise, for payment in money or other compensation or remuneration of any kind, and the manager, superintendent, inspector, principal, supervisor, agent, or representative of said person or association of persons.

(b) "Employee" includes any person or persons employed by an employer, or who works for him for money, remuneration, or compensation of any kind.

SEC. 13. Employees.—[All the office clerks and inspectors of the bureau of labor shall be appointed by the commissioner of agriculture and labor.]

ACT NO. 75.—Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 1. Definitions.—[The term "child" means a person under 18 years of age, "minor" a person under 21.]

SEC. 2. Age limit.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any gainful occupation, with the exception of domestic, farm, and garden labor.]

SEC. 3. Work time.—[No child may be employed more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, or more than 8 hours per day, nor between 6 p. m. and 8 a. m., in any gainful occupation except domestic, farm, and garden labor. A schedule of work hours, on a printed form furnished by the bureau of labor, shall be posted in all work places where children are employed.]

SEC. 4. Employments forbidden.—[No child may be employed in any quarry, tunnel, or excavation, or where tobacco is manufactured or prepared. No girl under 16 may work in a cigar or tobacco store, hotel, boarding house, or theater or other place of amusement.]

SEC. 5. Dangerous, etc., occupations.—[The chief of the bureau of labor, with the commissioner of health, may decide what trades, processes, etc., are dangerous or injurious for children and minors, and forbid employment therein.]

SEC. 6. Messenger service.—[No female under 18 may be employed in messenger or delivery service. No male under 18 may be so employed between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SEC. 7. Acrobatic, etc., occupations.—[No child under 16 may be employed in acrobatic, mendicant, etc., occupations. For the text of a similar law see sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 8. Permits.—[Employers of children, under 16, except in domestic, farm, and garden labor, must keep on file a permit and a list of employed children.]

SECS. 9–13. Issue, etc., of permits.—[Permits are issued by the chief of the bureau of labor or a person authorized by him on evidence of age, school record (completion of 6th grade), and certificate as to physical fitness. There must also be an employer's statement of intention to employ.]

SEC. 14. Vacation permits.—[Special permits for vacation employment involve the same conditions as regular permits.]

SEC. 15. Notice of employment.—[Employers employing children with permits must notify the bureau of the beginning and termination of employment.]

SEC. 16. Statement as to age.—[The employer of a child claiming to be 16 years of age may request of the permit officer a statement as to the child's age, to be issued on evidence satisfactory to said officer.]

SECS. 17, 18. Inspection.—[A labor inspector may inspect any place of employment, and may demand proof of age of children employed therein. A physician assigned to such duty may inspect places of employment with regard to suitable conditions of work and the physical fitness for their employment of the children employed therein.]

SEC. 19. Violations.—[Penalty of fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment not over 30 days, or both, is provided for a first offense, the terms being doubled for repeated violation. Forgery or fraud in procuring or altering a permit may entail a fine up to $500 or imprisonment to one year, or both.]

SECS. 20, 27. Enforcement.—[Police officers, the juvenile courts, etc., are to cooperate with the chief of the bureau of labor in enforcing the act. The right to enter any place of employment covered by the act is given the chief of the bureau and inspectors and officers appointed under its terms.]

ACT NO. 86.—Labor camps—Company houses

SECTION 1. Houses.—Any house or place of lodging to be used or occupied as a shelter for laborers under contract or brought from any part of the country by a corporation, firm, manufacturer, factory, or agricultural estate shall be kept in good condition of cleanliness and in accordance with sanitary provisions, and shall have a capacity of not less than three hundred (300) cubic feet of space for each adult or nine hundred (900) cubic feet for one man, one woman, and two children: Provided, That nothing contained in this section in regard to capacity shall apply to buildings or structures which may have been built before the taking effect of this act: Provided further, That in no case shall the lodging of laborers be permitted in places where merchandise is stored, and any violation of this provision shall be considered a misdemeanor.

SEC. 2. Drainage.—The lands on which such lodgings are located shall be drained by necessary ditches to carry off rainwater and shall be kept absolutely clean and free by the tenants from all residue injurious to health.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—Every corporation, firm, or employer, or his representative or agent, shall be obliged whenever so required by the department of health or by the department of agriculture and labor, or their representatives, to carry out existing legal provisions.

SEC. 4. Inspection.—The representatives of the department of agriculture and labor and of the department of health shall have free access to such lodgings at any time or place required.

SEC. 5. Violations.—Any corporation, firm, employer, or manufacturer which through its agent or person in charge violates any section of this act shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not more than fifty (50) dollars or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days.

ACT NO. 11.—Employment on public works

SECTION 1. Hours—Wages.—In all contracts where the insular government, any municipality of Porto Rico, or any commission or board appointed by virtue of law is a party, which contract authorizes the contracting of laborers, workingmen or mechanics, shall contain a clause providing that no laborer, workingman or mechanic employed by the contractor, subcontractor, or any other person doing or having agreed to do all or part of the work which is the object of the contract, shall be allowed or compelled to work more than eight hours a day in any natural day, except in cases of extraordinary emergency caused by fire, inundation, or danger of loss of life or property; and said laborers, workingmen or mechanics employed in any insular or municipal public work shall receive not less than one dollar for each legal day's work performed: Provided, That all contracts for public works entered into hereafter shall be null and void unless it contains the clause prescribed by this section.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines not exceeding $25 or imprisonment not exceeding 25 days, or both.]

ACT NO. 51.—Public employment office

SECTION 1. Office created.—There is hereby created a general employment agency in charge of an officer who shall be appointed by the commissioner of agriculture and labor whose official denomination shall be the general employment agent, and who shall draw the salary assigned to him in the general budget of the Island. It shall be the duty of said officer to make investigations and to suggest remedies for the solution of such problems as relate to the ends and purposes hereinafter determined and every three months he shall render a report of the result of his work to the commissioner of agriculture and labor.

SEC. 2. Purposes, etc.—The purposes and objects of this agency shall be as follows:

(a) To obtain full information as to the means of obtaining remunerative labor for all persons requesting such work without reference to sex;

(b) To study the best methods and plans of foreseeing, avoiding, and deciding the problem of lack of employment;

'(c) To study the form whereby the people of Porto Rico, the municipalities, or any of their dependencies, may offer opportunity of public labor during periods of great industrial crises or business depression;

(d) To open temporary offices in charge of labor inspectors to which the public shall have access. Bulletins giving information relative to available employment and work shall be posted in said offices;

(e) To compile, classify, and publish all applications for work made through the agency, and all offers of employment received thereby, communicating the same to interested parties;

(f) To acquire reports relative to the capacity and conduct of persons offering or applying for employment, preparing a classified list thereof, which shall be kept secret. The agency shall likewise preserve a statement of testimonials of its clients, certificates of good conduct, physical ability, time of service in the trade or specialty engaged in, and the hours of labor and wages or remuneration desired;

(g) To endeavor to obtain information from abroad where possibilities of employing laborers under adequate and remunerative conditions exist;

(h) To establish and develop relations with employment agencies and the employment service of the Department of Labor of the United States.

SEC. 3. Reports.—The general employment agent shall prepare annually and forward to the commissioner of agriculture and labor for insertion in his report a detailed and complete statement of work done, and statistics relative thereto.

SEC. 4. Same.—Statistics shall show the trades or professions of applicants, the number of days and months during which they have been unemployed or waiting for employment, salaries demanded by them, and the salaries offered or accepted by them; the changes of service to which they are subject, the place where laborers come from, the address of employers or enterprises, and any other information which may serve as a basis for the study of these matters so as to cover them in all their aspects.

SEC. 5. Strikes and lockouts.—An employer or any representative of an employer or of a laborer, may register in the employment agency a signed declaration relative to the existence of a strike or lockout affecting his trade or profession. Said declaration shall not be exhibited in the office until the employers affected, if made by laborers, or the laborers affected, if made by employers, shall have been informed thereof. In case of receipt of an answer to the notification it shall be exhibited by the agency. If any employer affected by the declaration notifies the employment agency of a vacancy or vacancies, the officer in charge of filling the same shall inform any person applying for such position or positions of the declarations made.

SEC. 6. Refusing employment.—No person shall be disqualified or in any manner prejudiced for refusing to accept any employment or work that may be offered him by the employment agency when such refusal is based on the existence of a strike or lockout affecting the work, or when the wages are lower than current wages in the trade or in the district or locality where such work or employment is offered.

SEC. 7. Offices.—The agent may organize a central office or branches with separate entrances for men, women, and children. He may likewise subdivide the same into sections for agricultural or other labor, as in his judgment may seem proper.

SEC. 8. Children.—Persons between the ages of fourteen and eighteen years, shall be registered on special forms which the agent shall prepare in agreement with the commissioner of agriculture and labor. Such application shall be accompanied by the certificates and other requirements of the law relative to the work of women and children. The general employment agent shall endeavor to obtain from the Department of Education of Porto Rico the establishment of night schools for the purpose of furnishing primary education to such children as must abandon school to work for their subsistence. Employers employing such children or youths shall require of them, fortnightly, a certificate from the teacher of the night school which they attend. Special forms for this purpose and for use by children or youths under these conditions shall be prepared by the agent in cooperation with the commissioner of agriculture and labor.

SEC. 9. Transfer of applications.—The general employment agent may transfer applications for work or employment from places where an excess of hands exist to places in the United States where there is a demand for laborers. For this purpose he shall prepare lists of such demands for work or employment as there may exist in the country or out of the country, in accordance with the provisions of this act, and shall forward the same for publication to the press and to the superintendents of all branches of the general employment agency. Said superintendents shall post such lists in conspicuous places and of free access to the public, for their inspection and information. Whenever proper and advisable the general employment agency may publish bulletins for the purpose of giving information of its purposes and objects and of general conditions of labor within as well as outside of the Island, and shall establish relations with the Department of Labor of the United States.

SEC. 10. Fees, etc., forbidden.—Any agent, employee or subordinate or any other person appointed under the provisions of this act who directly or indirectly accepts any fee, compensation or donation, or who shall use improper means for giving information, employment or work to any person, shall be guilty of misdemeanor and punished by a fine not to exceed five hundred (500) dollars, or by imprisonment for a term not to exceed six months, or by both penalties, in the discretion of the court, and shall be disqualified for any other office in this bureau.

SEC. 11. References.—All testimonials, references or other documents confided by the interested party to the general employment agency shall be returned upon application, proper receipt being taken therefor.

SEC. 12. Inspection.—The general employment agency and its branches shall always be open to the inspection of the commissioner of agriculture and labor.

SEC. 13. Definitions.—In this act, unless from the context thereof it is otherwise deduced, the following definitions of words and phrases shall be accepted:

"Employer" includes all natural or artificial persons and the administrator, superintendent, foreman, agent, overseer or representative of said natural or artificial person, having charge of the employment of persons for the carrying out of any work or labor of any enterprise.

"Employment and work" refers to lucrative occupation including all work or labor in factories, mills, centrals, machine-shops or establishments or places of any kind where a factory or mechanic enterprise exists; in warehouses, stores, establishments or places of any kind where mercantile transactions are carried on; in estates, plantations, properties, or places of any kind where agricultural, horticultural or pasturing enterprises exist, and in all mining or fishing enterprises where persons are employed for wages in an intellectual or manual capacity.

"Establishments" includes buildings, factories, shops, stores or other establishments of like nature where persons are engaged in any lucrative occupation.

RHODE ISLAND

GENERAL LAWS—1923

CHAPTER 51.—Private employment offices

SECTION 18. Licenses.—[Boards of police commissioners, boards of aldermen and town councils may license suitable persons as keepers of intelligence or employment offices for others than seamen. These bodies may fix license fees, make regulations, fix fees to be charged for services, etc. No agency may operate without a license.]

CHAPTER 76.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 2367). Attendance required.—[School attendance is required to 16 years of age unless a child at 15 is lawfully employed.]

SEC. 4. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is in the hands of truant officers, who may visit any establishment where children are employed and require reports of children employed.]

CHAPTER 79.—Vocational rehabilitation of injured workmen

SECTION 1. Scope.—The commissioner of education, with the approval of the State board of education, is hereby authorized and empowered to provide for the vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in any legitimate occupation and their return to civil employment. If any person, being a resident of this State, by reason of physical defect or infirmity, whether congenital or acquired by accident, injury, or disease, is or may be expected to be totally or partly incapacitated for remunerative employment or service in his occupation, the commissioner of education, with the approval of the State board of education, may, if the person is a suitable subject for rehabilitation, assist in rendering him fit to engage in a remunerative occupation by appointing him as a State scholar at any suitable school or institution either within or without the State, or by providing suitable instruction in school or shop or other suitable place, for a period in either instance not exceeding one year: Provided, That the period of instruction may be extended upon proof of satisfactory accomplishment and the need of extension to insure rehabilitation: And provided further, That the commissioner at any time for reasonable cause may revoke any scholarship or discontinue other provision for instruction.

SEC. 2. Board of education.—The board of education are hereby clothed with the duty and responsibility of supervising the rehabilitation and education of all such beneficiaries, and no beneficiary appointed under the provisions of this act shall be withdrawn from any institution or school except with their consent or the consent of the governor; and said board shall annually report to the general assembly their doings under the provisions of this act, with such recommendations and further information in relation to the several institutions at which these beneficiaries have been placed as may be deemed desirable.

SEC. 3. Funds.—The general assembly shall annually appropriate such sum as it may deem sufficient and advisable for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act; and the State auditor is hereby directed to draw his orders upon the general treasurer for the payment of any sum appropriated for the purposes of this act, or so much thereof as may from time to time be required, upon receipt by him of proper vouchers signed by the commissioner of public schools and approved by the governor.

SEC. 4. Artificial limbs.—The commissioner of public schools may, in his discretion, also, out of the appropriations made under the provisions of this act, provide to beneficiaries under the provisions of this act artificial limbs, wholly or partially free of charge, or at cost, to be repaid by said beneficiaries in installments to be fixed by said commissioner, and all moneys collected from such installment repayments shall be turned into the State treasury, and such money is hereby reappropriated for the purposes of this act.

SEC. 5. Exceptions.—This act shall not apply to aged or helpless persons requiring permanent custodial care, or to insane, epileptic, or feeble-minded persons, or to other persons who, in the judgment of the commissioner of education, may not be susceptible to rehabilitation.

CHAPTER 85.—Factory, etc., regulations—Employment of children

SECTION 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 2367). Age; certificates.—[Children under 15 may not be employed in any factory or manufacturing or business establishment in the State, unless by limited certificate to a child 14 years of age, permitting employment outside school hours; nor may a child under 16 work between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. Certificates are required for all children under 16, showing age, schooling equivalent to six grades, and physical ability for employment. Certificate is held by issuing authority until an employer gives notice of intention to employ, when the certificate issues to him, to be returned when employment ceases. Certificates are subject to inspection, and proof of age must be furnished in doubtful cases. Special permits are provided for in the case of children mentally incompetent to pass the literacy test, but physically able to work. Failing or refusing to produce a certificate on demand of an inspector entails a fine, $10 to $50.]

SEC. 2. Application.—[The law applies to employers of 5 or more persons, but does not apply to agricultural pursuits, nor affect the law as to acrobatic, etc., employments.]

SEC. 3. Inspectors.—The governor shall, during the January session, A. D. 1923, and in the month of January every third year thereafter, appoint, with the advice and consent of the senate, one chief factory inspector, one deputy chief factory inspector, and three assistant factory inspectors, one of whom shall be a woman, whose term of office shall be three years and until their successors shall be so appointed and qualified. * * * Said inspectors shall be empowered to visit and inspect, at all reasonable hours and as often as practicable, the factories, workshops, and other establishments in this State subject to the provisions of this chapter, and shall report to the general assembly of this State at its January session in each year, including in said reports the name of the factories and the number of such hands employed. It shall also be the duty of said inspectors to enforce the provisions of this chapter and prosecute all violations of the same before any court of competent jurisdiction in the State. The name and residence of any child found working without the certificate provided for in section 1 of this chapter shall be reported by the chief inspector to the school committee in the city or town where such child resides. Said inspectors shall devote their whole time and attention to the duties of their respective offices, under the direction of the chief factory inspector, and in his absence or inability to serve under the direction of the deputy chief factory inspector.

The annual salary of the chief factory inspector shall be three thousand dollars; of the deputy chief factory inspector twenty-five hundred dollars; and of each of the three assistant factory inspectors two thousand dollars.

SEC. 5. Guards required for hoistways, etc.—It shall be the duty of the owner, agent or lessee of any such factory, manufacturing or mercantile establishment where hoisting shafts or wellholes are used, to cause the same to be properly and substantially inclosed or secured if, in the opinion of the inspectors, it is necessary to protect the life or limbs of those employed in such establishments. The owner, agent or lessee of any factory, manufacturing, or mercantile establishment shall inclose or cause to be inclosed all freight elevator shafts on all sides thereof, and shall provide or cause to be provided an entrance or entrances thereto by means of an automatic or semiautomatic sliding gate or gates, not less than six feet in height, except on the top floor where the gates shall be not less than four feet in height. Said gate or gates shall be so constructed as to close by the action of the elevator on leaving each floor, unless such elevator is equipped with a suitable device to prevent the movement of the car until the elevator shaft, gates or doors are closed, as provided for passenger elevators in section 16 of chapter 129 of the General Laws.

SEC. 6 (as amended 1923, ch. 2367). Dangerous occupations.—[This section forbids the employment of minors under 16 in designated dangerous occupations, or any other work or process declared by the State board of health to be injurious or dangerous for children under 16. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 7. Accidents.—It shall be the duty of the owners or superintendent to report in writing to the factory inspectors all fatal accidents within forty-eight hours after their occurrence; and all accidents which prevent the injured person or persons from returning to work within two weeks after the injury shall, within one week after the expiration of such two weeks, be reported in writing by the person in charge of such establishment or place to the said inspectors, stating as fully as possible the cause of such accidents.

SEC. 8. Water-closets; suction shuttles, etc.—[This section requires the owner of a building in which is located any factory or manufacturing or mercantile establishment to provide each establishment employing 25 persons or less with a properly constructed water closet, the sexes to have separate accommodations. A ratio of one to every 40 employees or fraction thereof exceeding one-half is fixed.

If inspectors find it necessary, separate dressing rooms must be furnished for women and girls. Establishments employing women and girls must furnish seats and permit their use when standing is not required for the performance of the work.

The use of suction shuttles is prohibited.]

SEC. 9. Defective conditions.—If the factory inspectors, or either one of them, find that the heating, lighting, ventilation or sanitary arrangement of any shop or factory is such as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed therein, or that the means of egress in case of fire or other disaster is not sufficient, or in accordance with all the requirements of law, or that the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums and machinery in shops and factories are located so as to be dangerous to employees, and not sufficiently guarded, or that the vats, pans or structures filled with molten metal or hot liquid are not surrounded with proper safeguards for preventing accident or injury to those employed at or near them, either or both shall notify the proprietor of such factory or workshop to make the alterations or additions necessary within ninety days; and if such alterations or additions are not made within ninety days from the day of such notice, or within such time as such alterations can be made with proper diligence upon the part of said proprietors, said proprietors or agents shall be deemed guilty of violating the provisions of this chapter, subject, however, to the right of appeal as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 10. Appeal from inspectors' orders.—Any person who is aggrieved by any order of said inspectors may appeal therefrom to the district court of the judicial district in which the building which is the subject of the order is situated, by filing his reasons of appeal within seven days after the date of the order appealed from, and by giving notice thereof to the inspector who made the order within forty-eight hours after filing said reasons of appeal; and said court shall proceed to hear the said appeal at its first session after such notice shall have been given, and shall approve, modify or revoke said order as it may deem right, subject, however, to the right of a jury trial after decision * * * And any such decision of said court from which a jury trial is not claimed shall be final and conclusive.

SEC. 11. Power of inspectors.—The State shall provide a suitable office for the use of said factory inspectors; and said factory inspectors shall have the power to administer oaths or affirmations in cases where persons desire to verify documents connected with the proper enforcement of this chapter.

SEC. 12. Violations.—[Violation, except failing to produce certificate (sec. 1), entails a fine, not to exceed $500.]

SEC. 13. Copy of act to be posted.—A printed copy of this chapter shall be posted by the inspectors in each workroom of every factory, manufacturing or mercantile establishment where persons are employed who are affected by the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 14. Surety for costs.—The inspectors created by section three of this chapter shall not be required to give surety nor personal recognizance for costs.

SEC. 15. Enforcement of law as to hours of labor.—The factory inspectors shall, in addition to their duties otherwise provided, enforce the provisions of section twenty-two, chapter two hundred forty-nine and may prosecute all violations of the same before any court of competent jurisdiction in the State.

SEC. 16. Employers to furnish drinking water.—Every corporation, association, firm or person owning, controlling, or superintending any manufacturing or business establishment in this State shall provide fresh drinking water, of good quality, to which their employees shall have access during working hours. No such corporation, association, firm, or person shall allow the use of a common drinking cup or a common towel in such establishment.

SEC. 17. Violations.—[Violation of the preceding section is punishable by a fine, $20 to $50.]

SEC. 32. Messenger service.—No person under the age of twenty-one years shall be employed or permitted or suffered to work as a messenger for a telegraph, telephone, or messenger company in the distribution, transmission, or delivery of goods or messages before five o'clock in the morning or after ten o'clock in the evening of any day.

SEC. 33. Violations.—[Violation of the above section is punishable by a fine, $20 to $50 for a first offense, and for a second offense a fine of $50 to $100 or imprisonment ten days to six months, or both.]

CHAPTER 87.—Bureau of industrial statistics

SECTION 1. Commissioner.—There shall be a commissioner of industrial statistics who shall perform the duties enumerated in this chapter and such others as are or may be from time to time provided by law. At the January session of the general assembly in the year A. D. nineteen hundred and twenty-three, and in every second year thereafter, the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint some person to be commissioner of industrial statistics to succeed the person then holding such office; and the person so appointed shall hold his office until the first day of February in the second year after his appointment. Any vacancy which may occur in said office when the senate is not in session shall be filled by the governor until the next session thereof, when he shall, with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint some person to fill such vacancy for the remainder of the term. The commissioner of industrial statistics shall be ex officio superintendent of the census of the State * * * and in addition thereto he shall collect, arrange, tabulate, and publish, in a report by him to be made to the general assembly in January, the facts and statistical details in relation to the condition of labor and business in all mechanical, manufacturing, commercial, and other industrial business of the State, and especially in relation to the social, educational, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes, with such suggestions as he may deem to be proper for the improvement of their condition and the bettering of their advantages for intellectual and moral instruction, together with such other information as he may deem to be useful to the general assembly in the proper performance of its legislative duties in reference to the subjects in regard to which he is required to report.

SEC. 2. Reports of employers.—Every employer of labor, and every person engaged in any industrial pursuit, shall give the commissioner of industrial statistics all proper and necessary information to enable him to perform the duties herein required of him, and in default thereof, upon reasonable demand, shall be fined twenty dollars.

SEC. 3. Assistants, etc.—Said commissioner shall employ such assistants and incur such expenses incident to the proper discharge of the duties of his office as may be necessary not exceeding five thousand dollars in amount in any one year; but no such assistant shall be paid more than four dollars per day in addition to the necessary traveling expenses, and the salary provided for said commissioner shall be in addition to the compensation fixed by the general assembly for said commissioner for taking the census.

SEC. 5. Deputy commissioner.—There shall be a deputy commissioner of labor, who shall receive an annual salary of twenty-three hundred dollars, and the sum of twenty-three hundred dollars is hereby annually appropriated for the purpose of paying such salary. In the month of January, A. D. nineteen hundred and twenty-five, and in the month of January of every third year thereafter, the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint a deputy commissioner, who shall be a representative of labor, to succeed the deputy commissioner whose term expires. Any vacancy which may occur in said office of deputy commissioner shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate, if the senate be in session, and if the senate should not then be in session shall be filled by the governor until the next session of the general assembly, when with the advice and consent of the senate he shall appoint a proper person to fill such vacancy. Said deputy commissioner shall act as agent to the labor commissioner in the conduct of investigations of labor conditions, ordered by the labor commissioner and shall perform such other duties as said labor commissioner may direct. He shall act as secretary to the State board of labor as provided in the following section. He shall under the direction of the said State board of labor aid and assist any board of mediation and conciliation appointed by said State board of labor under the provisions of section seven of this chapter.

Sec. 6. Board of labor.—There shall be a State board of labor consisting of the labor commissioner, who shall be chairman of the board, and four other members, two of whom shall be representatives of employers of labor in the State and two of whom shall be representatives of labor in the State, to be appointed as hereinafter provided. In the month of January, A. D. nineteen hundred twenty-five, and in the month of January in every third year thereafter the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall so appoint two members of said board to succeed the members whose term will next expire, and the persons so appointed shall hold office until the first day of February in the sixth year after their appointment. Any vacancy, which may occur in said board when the senate is not in session shall be filled by appointment by the governor until the next session thereof, when the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate shall appoint some citizen to fill such vacancy for the unexpired term. The board shall meet at least once a month and at such other times as the commissioner of labor may direct.

Sec. 7. Monthly conferences; labor disputes.—The commissioner of labor shall report to the board of labor at each of its monthly meetings such matters relating to the interests of labor as may have come to his attention in the discharge of the duties of his office, and it shall be the duty of the board to advise and confer with the commissioner in relation to the administration of the laws of the State relating to labor. The board shall report to the general assembly at its January session and present in such report any recommendations it may deem advisable in regard to the administration of such laws, and suggest any changes or amendments to such laws as it may deem desirable. It shall be the duty of the board to do all in its power to promote the voluntary mediation and conciliation of controversies and disputes between employers and employees, and to avoid resort to strikes, lockouts, boycotts, blacklists, discriminations, and legal proceedings in or arising out of such controversies and disputes and matters of employment. In pursuance of this duty, said board may, whenever it deems advisable, but subject to the approval of the governor, appoint a board of mediation and conciliation for the consideration and settlement of such controversies and disputes. The said board shall prescribe rules of procedure for such mediation and conciliation, and the said mediation and conciliation boards shall have the power to conduct investigations, to hold hearings, and to summon witnesses.

Chapter 88.—Free public employment offices

Section 1. Offices to be established.—There shall be established and maintained, under the care and direction of the commissioner of industrial statistics, in such towns or cities as may be selected after proper investigation by said commissioner, free employment offices for the purpose of bringing together those who seek employment and those who desire to employ.

Sec. 2. Equipment and officers.—The said commissioner is hereby authorized and directed to organize in each city or town so selected, a free public employment office which shall be provided with suitable rooms, furniture, and equipment required for the transaction of the business provided for in this chapter, and shall appoint such clerical assistants as may be necessary for each of said offices, to discharge, under the direction of said commissioner, the duties hereinafter set forth, or which may be required by said commissioner in carrying out the purpose of this chapter.

Sec. 3. Registers.—It shall be the duty of said commissioner to receive and record, in books suitably arranged, all applications from those seeking employment and also from those seeking to employ, and to take such other action as may be deemed best to carry out the purposes of said offices. Such records shall show plainly in brief the qualifications of all applicants, and such other facts as may be deemed necessary by said commissioner, who shall furnish to each office all such record books, forms, blanks, or other stationery and postage as may be required in conducting the office. Each office shall be plainly indicated by a proper sign or signs.

SEC. 4. Who may register.—The privilege of registration shall be confined to residents of this State, and no fees, direct or indirect, shall in any case be taken from anyone applying at any office maintained under the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 5. Fees forbidden.—Any clerk or employee who directly or indirectly charges or receives any fee in the performance of his duties shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding thirty days. Such fine or imprisonment shall disqualify him from ever having further connection with said offices.

SEC. 6. Reports.—There shall be made from each office to said commissioner a weekly report of such applications for labor or employment as may be registered in said office, with such details as may be required by the commissioner. Said commissioner may cause such reports to be printed at proper intervals, the same to be exchanged between said offices, and may supply to the newspapers and to the citizens, upon request, such reports, which shall be posted in a conspicuous place in the several offices, so that they may be open to public inspection.

SEC. 7. Applications void, when.—Every application for employment or help made to a free public employment office shall become void after thirty days from its receipt unless renewed by the applicant.

SEC. 8. Definitions.—The term "applicant for employment," as used in this chapter, shall be construed to mean any person seeking work of any lawful character, and "applicant for help" shall mean any person or persons seeking help in any legitimate enterprise; and nothing in this chapter shall be construed to limit the term "work" to manual occupation, but shall include professional service, and all other legitimate service.

SEC. 9. Report of employment.—If any applicant for help has secured the same, he shall, within ten days thereafter, notify the employment office to which application therefor was made, and such notice shall contain the name and last preceding address of the employees received through such office. If any such applicant neglects to notify such office, he shall be barred from all future rights and privileges of such employment office, in the discretion of said commissioner, to whom a report of such neglect shall have been made.

CHAPTER 89.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.—Foundries

SECTION 1. Wash rooms to be provided.—Every foundry in this State employing ten or more men shall provide suitable toilet rooms, containing washbowls or sinks, provided with water, water-closets, and a room wherein the men may change their clothes, said rooms to be within the building used for said foundry, and shall be protected from the weather, heated and ventilated.

SEC. 2. Violation.—[Violation entails a fine, $50 to $100, one-half to the informant, one-half to the State.]

CHAPTER 91.—Employment of women and children—Hours of labor

SECTION 22. Hours per week and day.—No minor under sixteen years of age, and no woman, shall be employed or permitted or suffered to work in any factory, manufacturing, mechanical, business or mercantile establishment within this State, more than fifty-hour hours in any one week, and in no case shall the hours of labor exceed ten hours in any period of twenty-four consecutive hours. Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place, in every room where such persons are employed, a printed or typewritten notice stating the number of hours' work required of such persons on each day of the week, and the hours of commencing and stopping work and the employment of any such person for a longer time in a period of twenty-four consecutive hours than so stated, shall be deemed a violation of this section: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not be construed to enlarge or impair any restriction placed upon the employment of any minor mentioned in chapter 72.

SEC. 23. Violation.—[Parents or employers violating the above are punished by fines not exceeding $20. Employment certificates are prima facie evidence of age where employers are involved.]

SEC. 24. Ten hours a day's labor.—Labor performed in any manufacturing establishment, and all mechanical labor, during the period of ten hours in any one day, shall be considered a legal day's work, unless otherwise agreed by the parties to the contract for the same, or unless for the purposes, and subject to all restrictions, mentioned in section twenty-two of this chapter.

Sec. 25. Notice of discharge.—Every person who requires from any person in his employ, under penalty of a forfeiture of a part of the wages earned by him a notice of intention to leave such employ, shall be liable to the payment of a like forfeiture if he discharges without similar notice such person in his employ, except for incapacity or misconduct, unless in case of a general or partial suspension of labor in his business.

Chapter 92.—Liability of employers for injuries to employees

Section 1. Defenses abrogated.—In an action to recover damages for personal injury sustained by accident by an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment, or for death resulting from personal injury so sustained, it shall not be a defense: (a) That the employee was negligent; (b) That the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow employee; (c) That the employee has assumed the risk of the injury.

Sec. 2. Exceptions.—The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to actions to recover damages for personal injuries, or for death resulting from personal injuries, sustained by employees engaged in domestic service or agriculture.

Sec. 3. Number of employees.—The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to employers who employ five or less workmen or operatives regularly in the same business, but such employers may, by complying with the provisions of section five of this article become subject to the provisions of this chapter.

[These are the first three sections of the workmen's compensation act of the State. It is further provided that section one does not apply to suits brought by employees of cities and towns.]

Chapter 93.—Protection of employees on buildings

Section 1. Counter floors.—If in the erection of an iron or steel framed building the spaces between the girders or floor beams of any floor are not filled or covered by the permanent construction of said floors, by the contractor or the owner of such building, before another story is added to the building, a close board flooring shall be placed and maintained over such spaces, from the time when the beams or girders are placed in position until said permanent construction is applied.

Sec. 2. Underfloors.—Where in the case of the construction of a building of three or more stories in height, other than an iron or steel framed building, the floors are required to be double floors, the contractor of the carpenter work or the owner of such building shall lay or cause to be laid the underfloor of each story as the building progresses, and if the floors are required to be only single floors, then the contractor or owner shall lay or cause to be laid a safe, permanent or temporary close board floor as the work progresses, so that no construction work shall be done in any case on such building more than two stories above such completed underfloor, or such permanent or temporary board floor.

Sec. 3. Openings.—Such spaces and openings may be left through the floors, in the construction of the buildings referred to in sections one and two, as may be reasonably required for the proper construction of such building, and for the raising and lowering of materials to be used in the construction of such building, or such spaces and openings as may be designated by the plans or specifications for stairways and elevator shafts, but all such spaces and openings shall be inclosed by the contractor or the owner of such building by a double rail barrier not less than four feet from the floor, and not less than two feet from the edge of such space or opening.

Sec. 4. Violations.—Every person who violates any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five or more than two hundred dollars.

Sec. 5. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the inspector of buildings or other officer in any city or town charged with the enforcement of the building laws of such city or town to enforce the provisions of this act.

Chapter 94.—Inspection of steam boilers

Section 1. Definitions.—[The act includes any boiler generating steam for power; "owner" includes person in charge.]

SEC. 2. Inspector.—[The governor appoints as inspector a person experienced in the manufacture or operation of steam engines, boilers or machinery; he also appoints a deputy.]

SECS. 3, 4. Inspections.—[Inspections annually, and oftener if found necessary, are to be made by such tests as are deemed best. Operation of unsafe boilers must be suspended if danger is imminent, until repairs are completed, and a certificate of good condition procured.]

SEC. 5. Code.—[A code may be formulated, based on the code of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.]

SEC. 6. Safety devices.—[New boilers must conform to the code, and old boilers requiring repairs of fifty per cent of their value may be required to conform.]

SEC. 7. Certificate.—[When boilers are found safe for operation, a certificate is issued, which must be conspicuously posted in the boiler room, and is valid for one year.]

SEC. 8. Fee.—[The fee for inspection is $5, but cities, towns and fire districts pay no fees.]

SEC. 9. Arbitration.—[Dissatisfied owners may secure arbitration, the owner appointing an arbitrator, the inspector one, and these two a third, who hear the parties and render their award. A fee of $10 is allowed, payable one-half by the owner and one-half by the State.]

SECS. 10, 11. Violations; enforcement.—[Owners violating the law are subject to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment not more than three months, or both. The superior court has jurisdiction to enforce compliance.]

SEC. 12. Exceptions.—[Self-propelled boilers, those subject to United States inspection, those carrying less than 15 pounds pressure, and certain other kinds, are exempt.]

CHAPTER 142.—Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 4. Mendicant, etc., occupations.—[This section forbids the employment of children under 16 in mendicant, acrobatic, etc., occupations, in street peddling, rag picking, gathering bones, cigar stumps, etc., or for illegal or immoral purposes, or in vocations that are dangerous or injurious to health or morals.]

CHAPTER 143.—Employment of children in street trades

SECTION 1. Age.—[No boy under 12 and no girl under 16 may sell papers, etc., or act as scavenger or bootblack in any city of over 70,000 inhabitants.]

SEC. 2. Permits.—[Boys under 16 must secure a permit and badge before engaging in street trades.]

SECS. 3, 4. Applications, etc.—[Application must be made by a parent or other custodian of a child, showing school attendance and physical fitness. Permits and badges are valid only for one year. Badges issue at cost.]

SEC. 5. Night work.—[Employment is forbidden between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m.; also during school hours, unless an employment certificate has been obtained.]

SEC. 6. Transfer.—[Permits and badges may not be loaned, given or otherwise transferred to any other person.]

CHAPTER 153.—Reports of occupational diseases

SECTION 23. Physicians to make reports.—Every physician in this State attending on or called in to visit a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic, brass, wood alcohol, mercury or their compounds, or from anthrax, or from compressed-air illness, or any other ailment or disease, contracted as a result of the nature of the patient's employment, shall within forty-eight hours of such attendance send to the State board of health a report stating:

(a) Name, address and occupation of patient.

(b) Name, address and business of employer.

(c) Nature of disease.

(d) Such other information as may be reasonably required by the State board of health.

The reports herein required shall be on or in conformity with the standard schedule blanks hereinafter provided for. The posting of the report, within the time required, in a stamped envelope addressed to the office of the State board of health, shall be a compliance with this section.

SEC. 24. Blanks.—The State board of health shall prepare and furnish, free of cost to the physicians included in section twenty-three, standard schedule blanks for the reports required under said section. The form and contents of such blanks shall be determined by the State board of health.

SEC. 25. Reports.—Reports made under sections twenty-three and twenty-four of this chapter shall not be evidence of the facts therein stated in any action arising out of the disease therein reported.

SEC. 26. Reports to factory inspector.—It shall furthermore be the duty of the State board of health to transmit a copy of all such reports of occupational disease to the chief factory inspector.

CHAPTER 171.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 1. Fire escapes to be provided.—Every building three or more stories in height, now or hereafter used wholly or in part as a * * * factory or workshop in which employees are usually working in the third or any higher story thereof, and every building used for office purposes three or more stories in height, shall be provided by the owner or owners thereof either with proper and sufficient, strong and durable metallic fire escapes upon the external walls, sufficient in number, which fire escapes shall extend from the highest occupied story to the top of the first story of said building, or with proper and sufficient incombustible stairs and stairways at opposite ends of the building, extending from the highest occupied story to the ground; said stairs and stairways shall be connected by open passageways of suitable width, said fire escapes, stairs, and stairway to be suitable and sufficient to afford to persons within said building proper egress from said building in case of fire therein, and to be kept in repair by said owner or owners.

SECS. 2–6. Inspectors; duties and powers.—[Inspectors of buildings in the cities and towns of the State are to make careful inspections as to buildings, the number of stairways and employees, nature of industries, etc. Where reasons exist, buildings may be exempted; certificates of inspection are granted where the law is found to be complied with.]

SEC. 7. Owners.—[Owners may enter leased buildings to make provisions conformable to this chapter.]

SEC. 8. Damages.—[Owners are liable in actions for damages in case of injury or death due to failure to make the provisions required; knowledge by injured person of such defects is no defense.]

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the above provisions entails a fine of from $100 to $500.]

SEC. 15. Automatic signals for elevators.—Every elevator used for conveying persons or goods from one story to another of any building, the well of which elevator is not so protected as to be inaccessible from without while the elevator is moving, shall have attached to it some suitable appliance which shall give automatically, at all times, on every floor of said building which it approaches, a distinct, audible warning signal that said elevator is in motion.

SEC. 16. Hoistways; elevators.—[Hoistways and elevator openings through floors where there is no shaft must be guarded, and kept closed in the night time and when not in use. Safety provisions are prescribed for passenger elevators; operators may not be less than 18 years of age. Inspections must be made by factory inspectors in all buildings under their jurisdiction, and owners must make needed changes to conform with the law.]

CHAPTER 173.—Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.—Exits

SECTION 7. Exits required.— * * * All buildings used as factories, laundries, or workshops, in whole or in part, in which buildings severally twenty-five or more persons are employed, shall have the doors or windows of or to any exit or fire escape so arranged as to swing outward. All factories, laundries, workshops, or rooms in any building where the entrance thereto is from a corridor or hallway, and in which factories, laundries, workshops, or rooms, severally twenty-five or more persons are employed, shall have the doors of entrance thereto so arranged as to swing outward. If any such door or window of such factory, laundry, workshop or room shall be locked or fastened during working hours the lock or fastening shall be such, and kept in such condition, that the same can be easily and quickly unlocked or unfastened by any person from the inside.

SEC. 8. Who to make changes.—It shall be the duty of the owner or owners of every such building, or, in case the lessee or lessees thereof shall be required under the terms of his or their lease, the duty of such lessee or lessees, to comply with the structural and fixture requirements specified in this chapter * * *.

SECS. 9–11. Enforcement; violations.—[Enforcement rests with the local authorities, or if none, with the factory inspectors. Violations are subject to a fine not exceeding $100 for each offense, each day constituting a separate offense.]

CHAPTER 248.—Payment of wages

SECTION 25. Weekly pay day.—Every corporation other than religious, literary or charitable corporations, and every incorporated city, but not including towns, shall pay weekly to the employees engaged in its business the wages earned by them to within nine days of the date of such payment, unless prevented by inevitable casualty: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment any employee shall be absent from his place of labor, he shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter on demand.

SEC. 26. Violations.—[Penalty for violations is fine, $100 to $1,000, one-half thereof to complainant and one-half to State, provided complaint is made within 30 days.]

This law is constitutional and is to be construed as amending charters previously granted to manufacturing corporations. 18 R. I. 16.

CHAPTER 251.—Railroads—Bridges over tracks—Safety appliances

SECTION 28. Height of bridges over railroads.—No bridge shall hereafter be built over any railroad track, unless it shall measure at least eighteen feet in the clear, measuring from the bottom of the lowest timber to the top of the rail on said track, excepting bridges erected in renewal or in place of bridges now existing.

SEC. 54. Blocking frogs, etc.—Every railroad corporation, operating a railroad or part of a railroad in this State, shall adjust, fill or block the frogs, switches and guardrails on its track, with the exception of guardrails on bridges, so as to prevent the feet of its employees from being caught therein. The work shall be done to the satisfaction of the railroad commissioner, evidenced by his certificate. Any railroad corporation failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars.

CHAPTER 252.—Hours of labor of employees on street railways

SECTION 1. Limit of ten hours.—A day's work for all conductors, gripmen, and motormen now employed or who may hereafter be employed in the operation of all street railways, of whatever motive power, in this State shall not exceed ten hours' work, to be performed within twelve consecutive hours. No officer or agent of any corporation operating street cars, of whatever motive power, in this State shall on any day exact from any of its said employees more than the said ten hours' work within the twenty-four hours of the natural day, and within twelve consecutive hours: Provided, however, That on all legal holidays, and on occasions when an unexpected contingency arises demanding more than the usual service by such street railway corporation to the public, or from such employees to the corporation, and in case of accident or unavoidable delay, extra labor may be performed for extra compensation; and that nothing herein contained shall affect existing written contracts.

SEC. 2. Act construed.—The true intent and purpose of this chapter is hereby declared to be to limit the usual hours of labor of the above-mentioned employees of street railway corporations, in the absence of agreement as to such hours between such employees and their employer, to ten hours' actual work a day, to be performed within a period of twelve consecutive hours, whether such employees be employed by the trip or trips, the job, the hour, the day, the week, the month, or in any other manner. But nothing in this chapter contained shall be construed to forbid or prevent any such employee, being of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, from laboring a greater or lesser number of hours a day, in accordance with his contract so to do; nor to impose any penalty upon any person or corporation for permitting such employees to labor such greater or lesser number of hours in the performance of such contract.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines, $100 to $500, one-half to use of complainant and one-half to State.]

CHAPTER 253.—Railroads, etc.—Accidents

SECTION 49. Reports.—[This section requires every public utility to report to the public utilities commission of the State every accident attended with loss of life or with serious injury. The commission may, in its discretion, investigate the case; but the notice may not be admitted as evidence in any suit for damages.]

CHAPTER 352.—Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 5. Amount.—[This section exempts from attachment on any writ the wages or seamen; the salary or wages due any debtor not exceeding the sum of $10, unless the debt is for necessaries, in which case the court may exercise discretion; and the wages of the wife and minor children of the debtor.]

CHAPTER 390.—Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

SECTION 58. Rank.—[Wages earned in the six months prior to proceedings, not over $100 to each person, rank next after costs and expenses of proceedings, including attorney's fees and sums due the United States or the State or a municipality.]

CHAPTER 396.—Intimidation of employees

SECTION 9. Interference with employment.—Every person who, by himself or in concert with other persons, shall attempt by force, violence, threats or intimidation of any kind to prevent, or who shall prevent any other person from entering upon and pursuing any employment, upon such terms and conditions as he may think proper, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or be imprisoned not exceeding ninety days.

CHAPTER 397.—Interference with employment

SECTION 32. Hindering railroad employees.—Whoever willfully throws or shoots a missile at a locomotive engine, or railroad or street railway car, or at a person on such engine or car, or in any way assaults or interferes with a conductor, engineer, brakeman, driver or motorman while in discharge of his duty on or near a railroad engine, car, or train, or on or near a street railway car, shall be fined not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than three months nor more than one year.

SEC. 48. Obstructing business, etc.—Every person who shall willfully and maliciously or mischievously injure or destroy the property of another, or obstruct the use of the property of another, or obstruct another in the prosecution of his lawful business or pursuits, in any manner, the punishment whereof is not specially provided for by statute, shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or be imprisoned not exceeding one year.

CHAPTER 401.—Bribery, etc., of employees

SECTION 21. Accepting bribes.—No agent, employee, or servant in public or private employ, or public official shall corruptly accept, or obtain or agree to accept, or attempt to obtain from any person, for himself or for any other person, any gift or valuable consideration as an inducement or reward for doing or forbearing to do, or for having done or forborne to do, any act in relation to the business of his principal master, employer, or State, city, or town of which he is an official, or for showing or forbearing to show favor or disfavor to any person in relation to the business of his principal, master, employer, or State, city, or town of which he is an official.

SEC. 22. Offering bribes.—No person shall corruptly give or offer any gift or valuable consideration to any such agent, employee, servant, or public official as an inducement or reward for doing or forbearing to do, or for having done or forborne to do, any act in relation to the business of his principal, master, or employer, or the State, city, or town of which he is an official, or for showing or forbearing to show favor or disfavor to any person in relation to the business of his principal, master, employer, or State, city, or town of which he is an official.

SEC. 23. False statements.—No person shall knowingly give to any such agent, employee, servant, or public official any receipt, account, or other document in respect of which the principal, master, or employer, or State, city, or town of which he is an official is interested which contains any statement which is false or erroneous, or defective in any important particular, and which, to his knoweldge, is intended to mislead the principal, master, employer, or State, city, or town of which is an official.

SEC. 24. Violations.—Any person who violates any of the provisions of sections twenty-one to twenty-six of this chapter shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding one year, or be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars.

SEC. 25. Damages.—Any person injured by any violation of the provisions of sections twenty-one and twenty-two of this chapter may recover from the person or persons inflicting such injury twice the amount of such injury.

SEC. 26. Witnesses.—No person shall be excused from attending and testifying, or from producing papers, contracts, agreements, and documents before any court which may be determined to be evidence in such case, or in obedience to the subpœna of any court having jurisdiction of the misdemeanor, on the grounds or for the reason that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required by him may tend to criminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture. But no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise, before said court or in obedience of its subpœna or in any such case or proceedings.

SOUTH CAROLINA

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE IX.—Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 15. Negligence; waivers.—Every employee of any railroad corporation shall have the same rights and remedies for any injury suffered by him from the acts or omissions of said corporations or its employees as are allowed by law to other persons not employees, when the injury results from the negligence of a superior agent or officer, or of a person having a right to control or direct the services of a party injured, and also when the injury results from the negligence of a fellow servant engaged in another department of labor from that of the party injured, or a fellow servant on another train of cars, or one engaged about a different piece of work. Knowledge by any employee injured of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways or appliances shall be no defense to an action for injury caused thereby, except as to conductors or engineers in charge of dangerous or unsafe cars or engines voluntarily operated by them. When death ensues from any injury to employees, the legal or personal representatives of the person injured shall have the same right and remedies as are allowed by law to such representatives of other persons. Any contract or agreement, expressed or implied, made by any employee to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void; and this section shall not be construed to deprive any employee of a corporation, or his legal or personal representative, of any remedy or right that he now has by the law of the land. The general assembly may extend the remedies herein provided for to any other class of employees.

A contract whereby a railroad company beforehand seeks immunity from damages caused by its negligence is not prohibited by this section, but is void as contrary to public policy. 55 S. C. 152.

Under this section a servant may recover of a railroad company for injuries caused by the carelessness of a fellow servant directing him. 52 S. C. 438.

A foreman who engages in manual labor to further the work being carried on under his own direction does not thereby cease to be a superintendent for whose acts the employer is responsible. 61 S. E. 1010.

The doctrine of assumption of risks does not apply in cases where an employee is injured by the acts of an employee in another branch of work. A bridge watchman and the engineer of a train are in separate departments. 61 S. E. 1016.

CODE OF 1912

CIVIL CODE

Department of agriculture, commerce, and industries

SECTION 851. Department created.—A State department of agriculture, commerce, and industries is created which shall be charged, as far as possible, with the execution of the work usually devolved upon a bureau of industries, a bureau of agriculture, and a bureau of publicity.

SEC. 852 (as amended 1912, No. 346). Commissioner.—The chief officer of the said department of agriculture, commerce, and industries shall be denominated the commissioner of agriculture, commerce and industries. The said commissioner shall have the qualifications of a competent knowledge of agriculture, manufacturing, and general industries, commerce, chemistry, and publicity, and shall be elected, immediately upon the approval of this act, by the qualified electors in the general election now provided by law for the election of State officers of the State government, for a term of two years, and each succeeding two years thereafter beginning on the first day of January, 1913. In case a vacancy should occur the governor shall appoint for the unexpired term. The commissioner shall be empowered to appoint a competent clerk, whose qualifications shall be in the main the same as those required of the commissioner.

SEC. 853. Salary.—The compensation of the commissioner of agriculture, commerce, and industries shall be $1,900 per annum, and that of the clerk $1,000 per annum, payable monthly by the treasurer, on the warrant of the attorney general.

SEC. 854. Report.—The commissioner shall make and submit to the governor, on or before the tenth day of January of each year, a report covering the department's work of the preceding year, and the report shall be transmitted to the general assembly, printed in the same manner as other public documents, or as shall otherwise be ordered.

SEC. 855. Duties.—The commissioner shall be charged with all work looking to the promotion of agriculture, manufacturing and other industries, cattle raising, and all matters tending to the industrial development of the State, with the collection and publication of information in regard to localities, character, accessibility, cost, and modes of utilization of soils and more specifically to the inducement of capital by the dissemination of information relative to the advantages of soil and climate, and to the natural resources and industrial opportunities offered in this State; that he shall also collect from the farmers and landowners of the State and list information as to lands, stating the number of acres, location, the terms upon which they may be bought: that a land registry shall be kept, and in connection therewith from time to time publication shall be made descriptive of such listed agricultural, mineral, forest and trucking lands and factory sites as may be offered to the department for sale or share, which publication shall be in attractive form, setting forth the county, township, number of acres, names and addresses of owners, and such other information as may be helpful in placing inquiring home seekers in communication with landowners.

SEC. 856. Handbook of resources, etc.—The commissioner shall collect and collate in the form of a handbook of the State, to be issued when practicable, information showing the nature and industrial resources and advantages of the State of South Carolina, dealing with soil, climate, raw and manufactured products, agricultural and horticultural products, textile fabrics, manufacturing industries, mines and mining, native woods, means of transportation, cost of living, the market and all material and social advantages for those seeking homes and investments in agricultural or manufacturing industries.

SEC. 858. Duties of officials.—In order to facilitate the collection and collation of each [such] information of the resources of the State on all lines, the heads of the several departments of the State government and of the State institutions are hereby required to furnish accurately such information as may be at their command to the commissioner when called upon for the same. The commissioner is hereby empowered to enter manufacturing establishments, chartered by the State, in prosecution of this work, and that the corporations operating same shall furnish such information as may be not injurious to their business.

SEC. 860. Not to bring in immigrants.—The commissioner of agriculture, commerce, and industries shall not directly or indirectly attempt to bring immigrants into the State.

SEC. 861. Duties.—He shall collect, assort, systematize and present in a report to the governor, on or before the 5th day of January of each year, who shall transmit it to the general assembly, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in this State, such as the hours of labor, cost of living, supply of labor required, estimated number of persons depending on daily labor for their support. Said statistics may be classified as follows:

1. Agriculture.
2. In manufacturing and mechanical industries.
3. In transportation.

[4.] In clerical and all other skilled and unskilled labor not above enumerated.

5. The amount of capital invested in lands, buildings, machinery, material, and means of production and distribution generally.

6. The number, age, sex and condition of persons employed: the nature of their employment: the number of hours of labor per day, and the wages received in each of the industries and employments enumerated.

7. The sanitary conditions of factories, foundries, machine shops, mercantile establishments, where five or more people are employed as laborers.

8. The number, condition and nature of employment of the inmates of the State prison, county jails and reformatory institutions, and to what extent their employment comes in competition with the labor of artisans and laborers outside of these institutions.

9. All such other information in relation to labor as may seem advisable to further the object sought to be obtained by this article.

Sec. 862. Schedule of inquiry.—The commissioner shall annually, on or before the first day of November, transmit by mail to the owner, operator or manager of every manufacturing establishment in this State a schedule embodying inquiries as to—

1. Name of person, partnership or corporation.
2. Kinds of goods manufactured or business done.
3. Number of partners or stockholders.
4. Capital invested.
5. Average number of persons employed, distinguishing as to sex, adults, and children under sixteen years of age.
6. Total wages, not including salaries of managers, paid during the year, distinguishing as to sex, adults, and children under sixteen years of age.

Sec. 863. Answer to inquiries.—The owner, operator or manager of every establishment which is engaged in manufacturing shall answer the inquiries thereon for the twelve months, November 1st to October 31st preceding, and return said schedule to the commissioner on or before the fifth day of December following receipt of said schedule.

Sec. 864. Information to be furnished.—It shall be the duty of all State and county officials, every employer of labor, and every person engaged in any industrial pursuit, to give to the commissioner, or his agents, all necessary information to enable him to perform the duties herein required of him.

Sec. 865. Powers.—The commissioner shall have power to send for persons or papers whenever in his opinion it is necessary, and he may examine witnesses under oath, being duly qualified to administer the same in the performance of his duty, and the testimony so taken must be filed and preserved in the office of the commissioner; he and his agents and inspectors shall have free access to all places where five or more people are employed as laborers.

Sec. 866. Names not to be disclosed.—No use shall be made in the reports of the commissioner of the names of individuals, firms or corporations supplying the information called for by this article, such information being deemed confidential and not for the purpose of disclosing any person's affairs.

Sec. 867. Inspectors.—Said commissioner may employ two inspectors, who shall be appointed by the commissioner at a salary of ten hundred dollars each per annum and necessary traveling expenses, not to exceed two hundred dollars each in any one year, to assist him in the discharge of the duties imposed by this article from and including section 861 to the end of this article. The inspectors shall be under the supervision and control of the commissioner.

Sec. 868. Access to buildings.—The commissioner, his agents and inspectors, may enter all buildings and parts thereof which are subject to the provisions of this article and examine the methods of protection from accidents, the means of escape from fire, the sanitary provisions and the means of ventilation, and may make investigations as to the employment of children and women.

Sec. 869. Toilets, etc.—[Where two or more males and two or more females are employed, sufficient, separate, and properly kept water-closets, etc., must be provided, plainly designated.]

Sec. 872. Inspections.—The inspectors appointed under this article are empowered to visit and inspect, at reasonable hours, and as often as practicable, the factories, workshops and other establishments in this State referred to in this article, and shall report to the commissioner the result of their inspections. They shall enforce the provisions of this article and prosecute all violations of the same.

Sec. 873. Blanks.—All blanks and forms required by the commissioner under this article shall be furnished by the comptroller general.

Sec. 874. Expenses.—Inspectors provided for in this article shall keep and furnish to the comptroller general and commissioner itemized statements of necessary expenses incurred in enforcing this article. And all the money paid out under this article shall be on a warrant of the comptroller general.

Relief societies—Railroads—Payment of benefits

SECTION 2577. Settlement required.—When any railroad company has what is usually called a relief department for its employees, the members of which are required or permitted to pay some dues, fees, moneys or compensation to be entitled to the benefits thereof, upon the death or injury of the employee, a member of such relief department, such railroad company be, and is hereby, required to pay to the person entitled to same, the amount it was agreed the employee or his heirs at law should receive from such relief department; the acceptance of which amount shall not operate to estop or in any way bar the right of such employee, or his personal representative, from recovering damages of such railroad company for injury or death caused by the negligence of such company, its agents or servants, as now provided by law; and any contract, or agreement to the contrary, shall be ineffective for that purpose.

Payment of wages earned within the State

SECTION 2807. Debts payable within State.—All debts due and to become due by all corporations doing business in this State, to employees who reside in this State for labor or services rendered to such corporations within the limits of this State, shall be deemed or held to be due and payable within this State.

Relief departments—Payment of benefits no bar to suits

SECTION 2808. Settlement required.—When any corporation, firm, or individual runs or operates what is usually called a relief department for its employees, the members of which are required or permitted to pay dues, fees, money or other compensation, by whatever name called, to be entitled to the benefit thereof, upon the death or injury of the employee, a member of such relief department, such corporation, firm or individual, so running or operating the same is required to pay to the person entitled to the same the amount it was agreed the employee, his heirs or other beneficiary under such contract should receive from such relief department; the acceptance of which amount shall not operate to estop, or in any way bar the right of such employee or his personal representative from recovering damages of such corporation, firm or individual for personal injury or death caused by the negligence of such corporation, firm or individual, their servants or agents, as are now provided by law; and any contract or agreement to the contrary, or any receipt or release given in consideration of the payment of such sum, is and shall be null and void.

This statute is constitutional. 73 S. E. 71.
Relief benefits can not be collected after the collection of a judgment and a receipt releasing from further liability. 60 S. E. 939.

Accident insurance—Corporations

SECTION 2860. Mutual companies.—Each and every manufacturing corporation of this State, whether incorporated under the provisions of any special or general act of the general assembly of this State, shall, in addition to all the rights, powers and franchises which they and each of them now severally possess, have full power and authority to become a member of or effect insurance of their several property, in whole or in part, in any mutual protective association or associations, or mutual insurance company or companies of any kind, and to severally subscribe and subject themselves to all the provisions of the several constitutions or by-laws of such associations or companies.

Railroads—Safety appliances, etc.

SECTION 3144. Power of railroad commission.—The railroad commission shall have authority to require the installation and use by the railroads operating trains in or through this State of any safety device, when in their judgment, after due consideration and trial, [it] shall have been proved to materially contribute to the safety of the operation of trains and for the protection of the lives and limbs of the crews operating such trains or the traveling public, or for their reasonable comfort, or for the sanitation of passenger and freight trains on which passengers travel or employees work, as well as all depots, both passenger and freight.

SEC. 3145. Failure to comply.—A failure to comply with such orders of said railroad commission within time fixed by said commission, shall subject said railroad to a penalty of five hundred dollars, to be collected by suit in any court of competent jurisdiction by any person or order aggrieved. * * *

SEC. 3149. Investigation of accidents.—The railroad commissioners shall investigate the causes of any accident on a railroad resulting in loss of life, and of any accident not so resulting, which, in their judgment, shall require investigation.

SEC. 3206. Right of action.—If any railroad company doing business in this State shall, in violation of any rule or regulation provided by the commissioners aforesaid, inflict wrong or injury on any person, such person shall have a right of action and recovery for such wrong or injury in the county where the same is done in any court having jurisdiction thereof, and the damages to be recovered shall be the same as in actions between individuals, except that in cases of willful violation of law such railroad companies shall be liable to exemplary damages: Provided, That all suits under this chapter shall be brought within twelve months of the commission of the alleged wrong or injury.

Railroads—Accidents

SECTION 3228. Reports.—[Railroad corporations must report to the railroad commissioners all accidents attended with injury to any person, and furnish them immediate transportation to the place of accident; also in such cases as the commissioners may by rules require, notice must be given to the most accessible physician.]

Employment of labor

SECTION 3809. Contracts to be witnessed, etc.—All contracts made between owners of land, their agents, administrators, or executors, and laborers, shall be witnessed by one or more disinterested persons, and, at the request of either party, be duly executed before a magistrate whose duty it shall be to read and explain the same to the parties. Such contracts shall clearly set forth the conditions upon which the laborer or laborers engaged to work, embracing the length of time, the amount of money to be paid, and when; if it be on shares of crops, what portion of the crop or crops.

This does not prevent a common-law contract. 18 S. C. 512.

SEC. 3810. Division of crops.—[Whenever labor is performed under contract on shares of crop or crops, such crop or crops shall be gathered and divided off before removal from the place where planted, harvested, or gathered. Such division may be made by a disinterested person selected by the parties; or if they fail to agree, or are dissatisfied with the divisions, by the nearest magistrate. A reasonable allowance must be made for such services. Debts owed by either party to the other may be paid off in the settlement as agreed or awarded.]

SEC. 3811. Payment in money.—Unless otherwise provided by special contract, all persons who employ laborers upon plantations or elsewhere, by the day, week, month or year shall pay such laborers or employees in lawful money.

SEC. 3812 (as amended 1919, No. 20). Wages to be paid.—When any corporation carrying on any business in this State in which laborers are employed, whose wages, under the business rule or customs of such corporation, are paid monthly or weekly on a fixed day beyond the end of the month or week in which the labor is performed, shall discharge any such laborer, the wages which have been earned by such discharged laborer shall become immediately due and payable. And if not so paid within twenty-four hours after written demand therefor, then such laborer shall recover in addition thereto a penalty of as much per day for the time said wages shall remain unpaid, not exceeding thirty days, as he was receiving at the time of his discharge.

SEC. 3813 (as amended 1915, No. 44). Scrip, etc., to be negotiable.—It shall not be lawful for any corporation, person or firm in this State engaged in the manufacture of cotton goods, to issue or pay out, or circulate for payment of wages of laborers any order, check, memorandum, token or evidence of indebtedness, payable in whole or in part otherwise than in lawful money of the United States, unless the same is negotiable and redeemable at its par value, without discount in cash or in goods, wares or merchandise, or supplies at the option of the holder at the store or other place of business of such firm, person or corporation, or at the store of another person on whom such paper may be drawn where goods, wares, or merchandise are kept for sale or sold or exchanged, and the person who, or the corporation, firm or company, which may issue any such order, check, memorandum, token or other evidence of indebtedness, shall, upon presentation and demand, at the expiration of one week from date of delivery thereof, redeem the same in goods, wares, merchandise or supplies at the current cash market price of like goods, wares, merchandise or supplies, or in lawful money of the United States as may be demanded by the holder of any such order, memorandum, token or other evidence of indebtedness: Provided, That if said corporation, person or firm engaged as specified in this section, have a regular pay day once in every week, then said corporation, person or firm shall not be required to redeem such token or evidence of indebtedness in cash until the first pay day after the same becomes payable as herein provided, and such token or evidence of indebtedness shall be presented for payment in cash only on such pay days: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to agricultural contracts or advances made for agricultural purposes.

Sec. 3814. Failure to redeem orders, etc.—Any officer or agent of any corporation or any person, firm, or company engaged in the business of manufacturing or mining in this State, who by themselves or agent shall issue or circulate in payment for wages of labor any order, check, memorandum, token, or evidence of indebtedness, payable in whole or in part otherwise than in lawful money of the United States without being negotiable and payable at the option of the holder in goods, wares, merchandise, supplies or lawful money of the United States, as required by section 3813 or shall fail to redeem the same when presented for payment within thirty days from the date of delivery thereof, by the said company or its agent, at his or their office or place of business, in lawful money of the United States, or who shall compel or attempt to coerce any employee of any such corporation, shall forfeit to the employee or legal owner and holder of such order, check, memorandum, token or evidence of indebtedness fifty dollars to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, That in establishments for manufacturing lumber or brick such checks shall not be redeemable in cash except on regular pay days.

Street railways—Liability for injuries—Vestibules

Section 3948. What remedies apply.—Every employee of any street railway doing business in this State shall have the same rights and remedies for an injury suffered by any person from the acts of omission of said corporation, or its employees as are provided by the constitution for employees of railroad corporations.

Sec. 3949 (as amended 1914, No. 253). Vestibules.—[Electric railway companies must provide inclosed vestibules for the protection of motormen and passengers during the months December to March, inclusive.]

Sec. 3952. Same, interurban lines.—[Interurban lines are subject to the above requirement beginning with the month of November of each year.]

Code of Civil Procedure

Exemption of wages from execution

Section 355. Amount.—[Earnings of a judgment debtor for 60 days prior to execution are exempt if it is made to appear that they are necessary for the support of a dependent family.]

Criminal Code

Bribery of employees

Section 277. Offering bribes.—Whoever corruptly gives, offers or promises to an agent, employee, or servant, any gift or gratuity whatever, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or an agent, employee, or servant who corruptly requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift, or to do an act beneficial to himself under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in relation to his principal's, employer's or master's business; or an agent, employee, or servant, who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies, or other articles either by purchase or contract for his principal, employer, or master, receives directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract, or furnishes such materials, supplies, or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor; and any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee, or servant such commission, discount, or bonus, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or by such fine and by imprisonment for not more than one year.

SECTION 369. Discharging employees, etc., on account of vote.—Whoever shall assault or intimidate any citizen because of political opinions or the exercise of political rights and privileges guaranteed to every citizen of the United States by the Constitution and laws thereof, or by the constitution and laws of this State, or, for such reason, discharge such citizen from employment or occupation, or eject such citizen from rented house or land or other property, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, be fined not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned not less than three months or [nor] more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Hours of labor in textile mills

SECTION 421 (as amended 1922, No. 567). Hours per day and week.—Fifty-five hours a week in cotton and woolen mills—ten hours a day or fifty-five hours a week: Provided, That the hours of a single day shall not exceed ten hours, except for the purpose of making up lost time as hereinafter provided, shall constitute the hours for working all operatives and employees in cotton and woolen manufacturing establishments engaged in the manufacture of yarns, cloth, hosiery and other products of merchandise, except mechanics, engineers, firemen, watchmen, teamsters, yard employees and clerical force, and for night running fifty-five hours per week. All contracts for longer hours of work other than herein provided in said manufacturing establishments shall be, and the same are hereby declared null and void; and any person that requires, permits or suffers any person to work a longer time than so stated, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor in each and every instance and on conviction in a court of competent jurisdiction shall be fined a sum of money not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding thirty (30) days: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed as forbidding or preventing any such manufacturing company from making up lost time to the extent of sixty hours per annum, beginning January 1 of each year current with the loss of time incurred, where such lost time has been caused by accident or other unavoidable cause: Provided, further, That such lost time shall be made up within three months after the lost time was incurred: Provided, further, That all manufacturing establishments subject to the provisions of this section shall cause to be posted in a conspicuous place in every room where such persons are employed, a notice printed in plain type, stating the number of hours required of them each day of the week, the exact time for commencing work in the morning, stopping at noon for dinner, commencing after dinner, and stopping at night; the form of such notice shall be approved by the commissioner of agriculture, commerce and industries: Provided, further, That should any manufacturer desire to make up any lost time caused by accident or unavoidable cause to the extent allowed in this section, he shall post in each room a typewritten notice, stating the exact time that will be made up, the exact time lost, when lost, and for what cause. A complete record of all lost time, [and] time made up by dates, in hours and minutes shall be kept by the proper officer of the manufacturing establishment, and presented on demand of the factory inspector. Failure to comply with any requirements in this section shall be deemed a violation of this act.

SEC. 421 A (added 1916, No. 547). Deductions for absence.—All regular hands working [in] cotton and woolen mills in this State, whether working by the day, hank, piece or cut, upon absence from their said work, for any cause shall not be docked, nor have deducted from their regular wages, more than the said machine operated by them would have produced in the time of the absence of the said regular hand from his work, and all spare or extra hands that are employed to keep up or run the machine or machines operated by the regular hands, shall be paid full amount deducted from the regular hand's wages. Any person or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not less than fifty ($50) dollars, and not more than one hundred ($100) dollars for each offense or be imprisoned for not less than ten (10) nor more than thirty days.

Employment of children

Section 422 (as amended 1916, No. 361). Age.—[No child under the age of 14 may be employed in any factory, mine, or textile establishment in the State.]

Sec. 423. Night work.—[Children under 16 may not work in factories, etc., between 8 p. m. and 6 a. m., but to make up lost time due to accident they may work not later than 9 p. m.]

Secs. 424, 425. Violations.—[Penalties are provided for violations by employers and by parents or guardians.]

Sec. 426 (as amended 1917, No. 95). Statement of age.—[Employers of children under the age of 16 must secure from parents or guardians a sworn statement of name, age and place of birth and of residence. False statements are penalized.]

Employment of women—Seats—Hours of labor

Section 429. Seats to be provided.—It shall be the duty of all employers of females in any mercantile establishment, or any place where goods or wares or merchandise are offered for sale, to provide and maintain chairs or stools, or other suitable seats, for the use of such female employees, to the number of one seat for every three females employed, and to permit the use of such seats by such employees, at reasonable times, to such an extent as may be requisite for the preservation of their health. And such employees shall be permitted to use same, as above set forth, in front of the counter, table, desk, or any fixture when the female employee for the use of whom said seat shall be kept and maintained is principally engaged in front of said counter, table, desk, or fixture; and behind such counter, table, desk, or fixture when the female employee for the use of whom said seat shall be kept and maintained is principally engaged behind said counter, table, desk, or fixture. Any person who violates or omits to comply with any of the foregoing provisions of this section, or who suffers or permits any woman to stand, in violation of its provisions, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

The commissioner of agriculture, commerce and industries, and the State factory inspectors are hereby charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this law, and said commissioner is hereby empowered, from time to time whenever he may deem it necessary, to employ female inspectors for the purpose of collecting evidence. The sum of $300, if so much be necessary, shall annually be appropriated for the purpose of compensating such female inspectors.

Sec. 430 (as amended 1914, No. 262). Hours in mercantile establishments; sixty hours per week.—The hours of labor of women in mercantile establishments in this State shall be limited to sixty hours per week, not to exceed twelve hours in any one day, and such females shall not be allowed to work later than the hour of ten o'clock p. m. The enforcement of this law is placed in the hands of the commissioner, or inspectors, or duly authorized agents of the commissioner. Any employer or employers of female labor in mercantile establishments who shall violate the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $40, or imp[r]isonment of not less than ten days nor exceeding thirty days.

Sec. 431. Hours of labor on street railways; limit of twelve hours on street railways.—No incorporated horse railway company, electric railway company, or other street railway company, and no officer, agent or servant of such corporation, and no person or persons or firm or joint stock company owning or operating any line or lines of horse railways, electric railways or other street railways within the limits of this State, and no agent or servant of such firm, joint stock company, person or persons, shall require, permit or suffer its, his or their conductors, motormen, or drivers or other such employees, or any of them, in its, his, or their service, or under his, its or their control, to work more than twelve hours during each day or any day of twenty-four hours, and shall make no contract or agreement with such employees, or any of them, providing that they or he shall work for more than twelve hours during each day of any day of twenty-four hours.

If any corporation or any officer, agent or servant of such corporation, or any person or persons, or any firm or joint stock company, managing or conducting any horse railway, electric railway or other street railway in this State, or any agent or servant of such person or persons, firm or joint stock company, shall do any act in violation of the provisions of this section, it, he or they shall be deemed to have been guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction thereof in a court of competent jurisdiction, be fined one hundred dollars for each offense so committed: Provided, however, That in cases of accident or unavoidable delay extra labor may be permitted for extra compensation: Provided, The employees of the said corporations of the city of Columbia, if they so desire, may work more than twelve hours daily, conditioned that they receive extra compensation for all work done over eleven hours.

Use of reports to commissioner of agriculture, etc.—Interference with factory inspectors

Section 486. Names not to be disclosed.—No use shall be made in the reports of the commissioner of agriculture, commerce and industries of the names of individuals, firms or corporations supplying the information called for by sections 861 to 874, inclusive, of the Civil Code, such information being deemed confidential and not for the purpose of disclosing any person's affairs; and any agent, inspector or employee of said commissioner violating this provision shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed two hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed six months.

Sec. 487. Hindering commissioner.—Every person or corporation who shall willfully impede or prevent the commissioner of agriculture, commerce and industries, his agents or inspectors, in the free and full performance of his duties, or who shall discharge or discriminate in the payment of wages against any person because of his or her membership in a labor organization, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction of the same, shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days.

Contract of employment—Fraudulent breach

Section 492 (as amended 1918, No. 469). Failing to render service.—Any person who shall contract with another to render him personal service of any kind and shall thereafter fraudulently, or with malicious intent to injure his employer, fail or refuse to render such service as agreed upon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 493. To receive service.—Any person who shall hereafter contract to receive from another personal service of any kind, and to compensate him therefor, and shall thereafter fraudulently, or with malicious intent to injure his employee, fail or refuse to receive such service or to make compensation as agreed upon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 494. Procuring advances.—Any person who shall hereafter contract with another to render personal service of any kind to him, and shall thereafter fraudulently, or with malicious intent to injure the employer, procure advances in money or other thing of value from him, with intent not to render the service agreed upon, and who shall thereafter, with like intent, fail or refuse to perform the service agreed upon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 495. Failure to pay.—Any person who shall hereafter contract with another to receive from him personal service of any kind, to compensate him therefor, and to make advances to him, and shall thereafter fraudulently, or with malicious intent to injure the employee, receive the benefit of such service, in whole or in part, and with like intent fail or refuse to make the compensation or advances agreed upon, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 496. Form of contracts.—The contracts referred to in sections 492 to 497, inclusive, may be either verbal or in writing; if in writing, they shall be witnessed by one or more disinterested persons, and at the request of either party be duly executed before a magistrate, whose duty it shall be to read and explain the same to the parties. Such contract shall clearly set forth the conditions upon which the laborer or laborers engaged to work, embracing the length of time, the amount of money to be paid, and when; if it be on shares of crops, what portion or portions thereof. If verbal, they must be witnessed by at least two disinterested witnesses, not related by blood or marriage within the sixth degree, to either party, and the term of service contracted for must be for a definite time, not exceeding one year. All such contracts shall be valid only between the original parties thereto, and any attempted transfer or assignment of any rights thereunder shall be null and void.

SEC. 497. Proceedings against third parties.—If either party to any written contract herein referred to desires to avail himself of the benefits of sections 492 to 497, inclusive, against third parties, he shall cause the same to be indexed in the office of the register of mesne conveyance or the clerk of the court (where the office of register of mesne conveyance does not exist) of the county in which said labor or service is to be performed, within ten days from the date of the contract; and such indexing shall constitute notice to all third parties. Said index shall show the names of the employer and the laborer, the date of the contract and the date of its termination, and the location and the name of the place or places whereon the said labor or service is to be performed. The clerk of the court or the register of mesne conveyance, as the case may be, shall indorse his official certificate and the date of filing to be indexed upon every such contract filed under the provisions of sections 492 to 498, inclusive, and his only fee for the same shall be five cents for each contract. And the clerks of court, or the register of mesne conveyances, as the case may be, in all the counties of the State shall provide a book for indexing such contracts, which shall be plainly labeled "Index Labor Contracts."

SEC. 498. Violations.—[Violations of sections 492 to 497 are punishable by fine, $25 to $100, or imprisonment 20 to 30 days for each offense. There shall be no prosecution unless warrant is issued within 30 days from commission of offense. Above sections shall not protect parties to or punish the violation of any contract or matter connected therewith, where consideration is money advanced prior to commencement of service thereunder.]

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 503. Use of scrip payable at future time.—Any person or persons who shall offer to any laborer or employee, at the time when the wages of such laborer or employee are due and payable by agreement, unless otherwise provided for by special contract, as compensation for labor, or services performed, checks, or scrips of any description, known as plantation checks, payable at some future time, or in the shops or stores of employers, in lieu of lawful money, shall be liable to indictment and punishment by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both, according to the discretion of the court: Provided, The word "checks" herein shall not be construed so as to prohibit the giving of checks upon any of the authorized banks of deposit or issue in this State.

Enticing employees

SECTION 504 (as amended 1913, No. 28). Enticing laborer under contract.—Any person who shall entice or persuade, by any means whatsoever, any tenant, servant, or laborer, under contract with another, duly entered into between the parties or between parents or guardians for the services of their minor children or wards before one or more witnesses, whether such contract be verbal or in writing to violate such contract, or shall employ such laborer knowing such laborer to be under contract with another, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or to be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten nor more than thirty days.

Act No. 405.—Employment of children—Messenger service

Sections 1–6. Children under 14; night work.—[This act forbids any child under 14 to be employed in messenger or delivery service in any city of 5,000 inhabitants or over; or any minor under 18 to be so employed between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m. The commissioner of agriculture, commerce, and industries is charged with the enforcement of the act, and it is a misdemeanor to willfully interfere with him or his agents in so doing. Violations by employers or by parents are penalized by fines $10 to $50, or imprisonment, not over 30 days.]

Act No. 424.—Employment of labor—Notice of suspension of work

Section 1. Who to give notice.—All employers of labor in this State requiring notice from any employee, of the time such employee will quit work, shall give notice to its employees, of its purpose to quit work, or shut down, by posting a printed notice stating the date of the beginning of the shutdown or cessation from work, and the approximate length of time the continuous shutdown is to continue, in each room of its building; not less than two weeks or the same time as is required of employees before so stopping work, or shutting down, of its purpose to stop work or shut down: Provided, That they are not required to do so by reason of some unforeseen accident to machinery, or by some act of God or of the public enemy.

Sec. 2. Violations.—[Failure to comply with above section is punishable by a fine of not less than $5,000, and the employer shall be liable to every employee for all damages suffered.]

Act No. 340 (as amended 1918, No. 475).—Protection of employees on street railways

Sections 1, 2. Heat.—[This act requires electric street railway cars to be provided with sufficient heat for all passengers and employees.]

Act No. 393.—Labor organizations—Relief societies

Section 1. Associations authorized.—* * * Local labor organizations with a national or international charter, may form mutual associations, incorporated or unincorporated, for the purpose of aiding their members or their beneficiaries in times of sickness and death by levying equitable assessments for the payment of sick relief or death benefits, upon compliance with the terms of this act.

Sec. 2. Not for profit.—Such association[s] shall have no paid agents for the soliciting of business of members, and shall be conducted without profit. They shall file an annual report with the insurance commissioner, who shall issue to them a certificate showing that they have complied with the laws of this State.

Sec. 3. No fees to be paid.—Such associations shall pay no license fee and shall be subject only to such examination by the insurance commissioner as will enable him to determine that such associations have complied with the insurance laws of the State. Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent such associations as are now operating in this State from continuing to operate on their present plans.

Act No. 399.—Payment of wages—Railroad shop employees

Section 1. Semimonthly pay day.—All railroad corporations doing business in this State shall pay their employees engaged in work in their shops semimonthly: Provided, That nothing contained in this act shall apply to railroads owning, leasing or operating less than 35 miles in South Carolina.

Sec. 2. Violations.—Any railroad corporation violating the provisions of section 1 shall, upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction, be liable to a fine of not more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or less than twenty-five ($25) dollars.

Act No. 401.—Railroads—Warning boards to be erected

Section 1. Boards required, when.—Every company, lessee, manager or receiver owning or operating a railroad in this State is hereby required to pro vide and maintain and place warning boards one mile from all stations, drawbridges and where railroads cross at grade; the boards to have letters of sufficient size to be clearly seen from the engine and to describe the place of danger, said boards to be put not more than eight feet from the side of the track.

SEC. 2. Time limit.—Each person, partnership, company or receiver who is affected by this law shall, within one year, equip all of their lines or branches in this State in accordance with this act.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Failure to comply after 10 days' notice is punishable by fine of $5 for every day of continued neglect, and failure to reerect warning boards after 10 days' notice entails a fine of $5 for each day's neglect. One-half of penalty is to go to party bringing action and one-half to go into county treasury.]

ACT NO. 403.—Railroads—Shelters for employees at division points

SECTION 1. Shelters to be erected.—All railway companies having railroad shops in this State at division points, where cars are regularly taken out of trains for repairs or construction work, or where other railroad equipment is regularly made, repaired or constructed, are hereby, required to furnish or construct a building or shed in said shops or yards, with a suitable and sufficient roof over the repair and construction track or tracks so as to provide that all men or employees employed in the construction and repair of locomotives, cars, trucks or other railroad equipment, excepting slight or minor repairs or when done in an emergency, shall be under shelter and protected during snows, rains, sleets, hot sunshine, and other inclement weather: Provided, The railroad commission shall have the power to direct the points at which sheds shall be erected, and the character of the sheds; Provided, further, That such order shall only be made after a hearing, of which public notice shall have been given.

SEC. 2. Violations.—Any railroad found guilty of violating the provisions of this act shall be subject to a fine of fifty ($50) dollars per day for every day of such violation.

SEC. 3. Exemption.— * * * The provisions of this act shall not apply to railroads twenty miles or less in length.

ACTS OF 1915

ACT NO. 69.—Factory regulations—Segregation of races in textile factories

SECTION 1. Races to be separated.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of cotton textile manufacturing in this State to allow or permit operatives, help and labor of different races to labor and work together within the same room, or to use the same doors of entrance and exit at the same time, or to use and occupy the same pay-ticket windows or doors for paying off its operatives and laborers at the same time, or to use the same stairways and windows at the same time, or to use at any time the same lavatories, toilets, drinking-water buckets, pails, cups, dippers or glasses: Provided, Equal accommodations shall be supplied and furnished to all persons employed by said person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of cotton textile manufacturing as aforesaid, without distinction [as] to race, color or previous condition.

SECS. 2, 2-A. Violations.—[Provide as penalties not over $100 fine or imprisonment not more than 30 days, or both.]

SEC. 3. Exemptions.—This act shall not apply to employment of firemen as subordinates in boiler rooms, truckmen, or to floor scrubbers and those persons employed in keeping in proper condition lavatories and toilets, and carpenters, mechanics and others engaged in the repair or erection of buildings.

ACT NO. 81.—Employers' liability insurance—Mutual companies

SECTIONS 1-5. Insurance.—[This act authorizes any number of persons, not less than 20, a majority residents of the State, to form mutual companies to insure their liability for injury, death by accident, disability or disease of others.]

ACT No. 126.—Scrip—Discounting

SECTION 1. Discounting forbidden.—Any person, firm, or corporation who shall acquire any trade check, payable either in money or in merchandise, which has been given, directly or indirectly, for the payment of the wages of a laborer, for less than the actual par value at and in which said trade check is payable, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one hundred ($100) dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Any person, firm or corporation who shall acquire such trade check for less than its face value shall have no right to collect and enforce the payment thereof.

ACTS OF 1916

ACT No. 544.—Hours of labor of employees on interurban railroads

SECTIONS 1–3. Ten hours' work.—[This act fixes at 10 hours out of 24 as the working day of employees of interurban electric railways not over 40 miles in length, except in cases of accident or unavoidable delays. Penalties are fine not over $100 or imprisonment not more than 30 days.]

ACT No. 545.—Arbitration and conciliation—State board

SECTION 1. State board created.—A board of conciliation for the investigation and arbitration of industrial disputes and strikes is hereby created, to be composed of three members, to be appointed by the governor as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. Terms of service.—The terms of the members of said board first appointed shall be for two, four and six years, respectively, from the date of their appointment, and thereafter upon the expiration of a term of a member of said board his successor shall be appointed for a term of six years, appointed [appointments] to fill vacancies caused by death, resignation or otherwise before the expiration of such term, shall be made for the residue of such terms in the same manner as herein provided for original appointments.

SEC. 3. Duties.—The duties of the board of conciliation shall be to investigate industrial disputes or strikes or lockouts arising between employer and employees or capital and labor; to ascertain, as near as may be, the cause or causes of such industrial disputes or strikes or lockouts, to make a finding of fact in respect thereto; to report their findings of fact to the governor as soon as may be, and annually to the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina (subject to the proviso hereinafter made), to endeavor as far as possible, to induce both sides to such an industrial dispute or strike or lockout to arrive at an agreement; to remove misunderstandings or differences; to nominate, appoint, or act as arbitrators when so requested by both sides to the controversy, and, in general to remove as much as possible the causes for industrial disputes or strikes or lockouts, and to induce an amicable settlement of the same.

SEC. 4. Powers.—The board of conciliation shall have the power to summon witnesses and compel them to testify; to compel the production of books or documents relating to questions in dispute; to inspect property with respect to which there is a dispute; with relation to industrial disputes or strikes or lockouts; to examine into working conditions and sanitary conditions, and at all times to have access to any property or premises necessary to such inspection.

SEC. 5. Same.—The board of conciliation shall have power to summon before it and to examine in public or in executive session any persons concerned in such strike or lockouts, or industrial disputes or any other person within the State of South Carolina, and to make a report to the governor or to the general assembly, of such testimony and its recommendation with respect thereto: Provided, however, That no report shall be made in such cases where a majority of such board of conciliation shall deem it inadvisable so to do.

SEC. 6. Compensation.—The compensation of the board shall be ten ($10) dollars per day to each member in attendance while actually employed in the performance of the duties herein prescribed in addition to traveling expenses.

SEC. 7. Sessions.—The board can be called into session, and into the performance of its duties and functions, by the governor.

SEC. 8. Qualifications of members.—One of the members of the said board of conciliation shall be an employer of labor in behalf of an incorporated company; one to be a member of a recognized labor union, the third member to be appointed on recommendation of the two so appointed as aforesaid: Provided, That in case the two members appointed as aforesaid do not agree on the third member within thirty days after their appointment, then the governor shall use his discretion in the appointment of the third member without recommendation, so that at least one member shall be neither an employer of labor in behalf of an incorporated company or an employee of any such company.

SEC. 9. Duties.—The duties and functions of the board of conciliation hereby created shall be the conciliation of industrial disputes or strikes or lockouts, and the removal of cause for industrial disputes or strikes or lockouts; and their powers and the terms of this act shall be favorably construed for the promotion of that end.

SEC. 9-a (added 1919, No. 87). Violations.—Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or sentenced to not more than thirty (30) days upon the county chain gang.

ACT No. 546.—Payment of wages—Weekly pay day in textile mills

SECTION 1. Weekly pay day required.—All corporations engaged in textile manufacturing in this State shall have a regular pay day once in every week for the payment of the wages which have been earned by the laborers during the preceding week and any such manufacturing corporation refusing to have a weekly pay day shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense.

ACT No. 557.—Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 1. Liability for damages.—Every common carrier by railroad while engaging in commerce within the State of South Carolina shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, or, in case of the death of such employee to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, of such employees' parents; and, if none, then of the next of kind [kin], for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment. And in every such action the jury may give such damages, as they may think proportioned to the injury or injuries resulting from such death to the parties respectively, for whom and for whose benefit such action shall be brought; and the amount so recovered shall be divided among the before-mentioned parties, in such shares as they would have been entitled to if the deceased had died intestate and the amount recovered had been personal assets of his or her estate.

SEC. 2. Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier by railroad under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injuries to any employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed, shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 3. Assumption of risks.—In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 4. Waivers.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void:

Provided, That in any action brought against any such common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

SEC. 5. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under this act unless commenced within two years from the day the cause of action accrued.

SEC. 6. Survival of right of action.—Any right of action given by this act to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her personal representatives, for the benefit of their [the] surviving widow, or husband and children of such employee; and if none, such employee's parents, and if none, then of the next of kin of such employee. But in such case there shall be only one recovery for the same injury.

SEC. 7. Scope of act.—The term "common carrier" as used in this act shall include the receiver or receivers or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of a common carrier.

SEC. 8. Construction.—Nothing in this act shall be held to limit the duty or liability of common carriers or to impair the rights of their employees under any other act or acts of the general assembly of this State not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, but the remedies and provisions herein shall be held to be in addition to and cumulative of existing remedies.

SEC. 8a. Punitive damages.—Punitive damages shall not be recoverable in cases arising under this act so far as the same are not in conflict with this act.

ACTS OF 1918

ACT No. 394.—Protection of employees on interurban railways

SECTIONS 1, 2. Vestibules to be heated.—[This act requires interurban railways to furnish cars and vestibules with heating apparatus for the comfort of passengers and operators. The act does not apply to roads whose direct line is more than 50 miles long.]

ACT No. 430.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTIONS 1–14. Compulsory attendance.—[This act requires attendance at school to age 14. Attendance officers may require birth certificate or affidavits of age, and may visit places of employment to enforce the act. Children 12 years of age whose labor is necessary for the support of a widowed mother or crippled father may be excused.

No child under 14 may be employed in any place or manner during the school hours without a certificate that he has attended school for the period required during the current year, or is excused from attendance as physically, mentally or morally unfit.]

ACT No. 537.—Payment of wages of textile employees

SECTION 1. Payment during work hours.—From and after the approval of this act, every textile industry in this State, whether incorporated or otherwise, shall, on its regular pay day, pay its employees who work within the bounds of the premises owned, leased, controlled, or occupied by such textile industry during work hours.

SEC. 2. Absent employees.—Any employee not present to receive his or her wages in accordance with section 1 of this act shall at any time thereafter, upon demand, receive such wages as are due to him or her.

SEC. 3. Violations.—Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be liable for the payment of fifty ($50) dollars penalty for each violation, to be recovered at the instance of the aggrieved party.

ACT No. 589.—Arbitration of labor disputes—Street railways

SECTION 1. Request of either party.—In case of differences and disputes arising between any street railway and its employees, in reference to wages, hours, rules, and regulations, or any other matter affecting or pertaining to such employment, the said parties, to wit, the employer and employees shall submit such matters of difference to a board of arbitration, if either party—that is, the employer or the employees—make request therefor.

SEC. 2. Selection of arbitrators.—Such request by either party shall be made by serving notice on the other party of the matters of difference which it or they desire arbitrated, and naming with such notice an arbitrator in behalf of the party giving the notice. Thereupon the other party shall, within five days thereafter, name an arbitrator on their or its behalf, serving notice of and the name of such proposed arbitrator of the other party or parties. The two arbitrators so chosen shall meet within five days thereafter and select a third disinterested party to act with them. And if the arbitrators so chosen by the respective sides fail to agree upon a third person, then the mayor of the city in which such street railway is located shall act as the third arbitrator. If either party, after five (5) days' notice and request for the appointment and naming of an arbitrator as hereinabove provided, shall fail to name such arbitrator, then on application and affidavit setting forth such fact the judge holding the court of common pleas of the circuit in which such county is located, or the judge of the court of common pleas, resident in such circuit, shall name such arbitrator for the party in default.

SEC. 3. Hearings.—It shall be the duty of the said board of arbitrators so selected, after notice to both parties of not less than ten days, to hold such hearing or hearings as the said board may deem proper, to investigate all matters of difference and dispute, to ascertain the cause of causes thereof, and to make a finding or award in respect thereto, furnishing a copy of such finding or award to the parties to the said dispute, to wit, one copy to the employees and one to the common carrier, and also to file a copy with the governor of the State.

SEC. 4. Findings.—Such finding and award by a majority of said board shall be binding upon all the parties, unless an appeal is taken therefrom within ten days after the service of a copy of such finding and award. Either party shall have the right to appeal upon questions of law and fact from such finding.

SEC. 5. Appeals.—If either party to said finding shall desire to appeal therefrom, such party shall give notice in writing within ten days after notice of said award to the other party, and to the chairman of the board of arbitrators, setting forth in such notice the grounds of his appeal; thereupon it shall be the duty of said board of arbitrators to transmit all the papers, including any evidence taken by it, to the court of common pleas for the county in which such common carrier is situated. Upon receipt of such papers by the clerk of the court of common pleas for such county, it shall be the duty of said clerk to forthwith file and docket the same on calendar 2. And it shall be the duty of the judge holding the courts of said circuit, or the judge resident in said circuit, to take up the said case as speedily as possible, giving the same preference in hearing, and to hear the same upon the record transmitted and to review and correct any errors of law he may find.

SEC. 6. Jurisdiction.—For the purposes of this act any judge of the Circuit Court of the State of South Carolina shall have jurisdiction to hear and pass upon any appeal herein, at chambers, as fully as might be done in open court.

SEC. 7. Application of law.—This act shall only apply to counties in which there are incorporated cities of not less than thirty thousand and not more than fifty thousand people, according to the last census.

ACTS OF 1923

ACT NO. 148.—Earnings of minors—Fraud

SECTION 19. * * * Failure to pay.—Whenever any person, having a contract with any corporation, company, or person, for the manufacture or change of any raw material by the piece or pound, shall employ any minor to assist in the work upon the faith of and by color of such contract, with intent to cheat and defraud such minor, and, having secured the contract price, shall willfully fail to pay the minor when he shall have performed his part of the contract work, whether done by the day or by the job, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days.

SOUTH DAKOTA

REVISED CODES—1919

Employment of labor—General provisions

SECTION 1071. Definition of contract.—The contract of employment is a contract by which one, who is called the employer, engages another, who is called the employee, to do something for the benefit of the employer, or of a third person.

SEC. 1072. Employee to be indemnified, when.—An employer must indemnify his employee, except as prescribed in the next section, for all that he necessarily expends or loses in direct consequence of the discharge of his duties as such, or of his obedience to the directions of the employer, even though unlawful, unless the employee, at the time of obeying such directions, believed them to be unlawful.

SEC. 1073. Ordinary risks.—An employer, except as otherwise specially provided, is not bound to indemnify his employee for losses suffered by the latter in consequence of the ordinary risks of the business in which he is employed, nor in consequence of the negligence of another person employed by the same employer in the same general business, unless he has neglected to use ordinary care in the selection of the culpable employee.

SEC. 1074. Want of care.—An employer must in all cases indemnify his employee for losses caused by the former's want of ordinary care.

SEC. 1075. Service without consideration.—One who, without consideration, undertakes to do a service for another, is not bound to perform the same, but if he actually enters upon its performance he must use at least slight care and diligence therein.

SEC. 1076. Employment on request.—One who, by his own special request, induces another to intrust him with the performance of a service, must perform the same fully. In other cases one who undertakes a gratuitous service may relinquish it at any time.

SEC. 1077. Accepting written power of attorney.—A gratuitous employee who accepts a written power of attorney, must act under it so long as it remains in force, or until he gives notice to his employer that he will not do so.

SEC. 1078. Service for consideration.—One who, for a good consideration, agrees to serve another, must perform the service, and must use ordinary care and diligence therein, so long as he is thus employed.

SEC. 1079. Service for personal advantage.—One who is employed at his own request to do that which is more for his own advantage than for that of his employer, must use great care and diligence therein to protect the interest of the latter.

SEC. 1080. Limit of term of contract.—A contract to render personal service can not be enforced against the employee beyond the term of two years from the commencement of service under it, but if the employee voluntarily continues his services under it beyond that time the contract may be referred to as affording a presumptive measure of the compensation.

SEC. 1081. Obedience to orders.—An employee must substantially comply with all the directions of his employer concerning the service on which he is engaged, even though contrary to the provisions of this chapter, except where such obedience is impossible, or unlawful, or would impose new and unreasonable burdens upon the employee, or in case of an emergency, which, according to the best information which the employee can with reasonable diligence obtain, the employer did not contemplate; in which he can not, with reasonable diligence, be consulted; and in which noncompliance is judged by the employee in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable discretion to be absolutely necessary for the protection of the employer's interests. In all such cases the employee must conform as nearly to the directions of his employer as may be reasonably practicable, and most for the interest of the latter.

SEC. 1082. Usage of place.—An employee must perform his service in conformity to the usage of the place of performance unless otherwise directed by his employer, or unless it is impracticable or manifestly injurious to his employer to do so.

SEC. 1083. Degree of skill.—An employee is bound to exercise a reasonable degree of skill, unless his employer has notice before employing him of his want of skill.

SEC. 1084. Same subject.—An employee is always bound to use such skill as he possesses, so far as the same is required, for the service specified.

SEC. 1085. Acquisitions by employees.—Everything which an employee acquires by virtue of his employment, except the compensation, if any, which is due to him from his employer, belongs to the latter, whether acquired lawfully or unlawfully, or during or after the expiration of the term of his employment.

SEC. 1086. Accounts.—An employee must, on demand, render to his employer just accounts of all his transactions in the course of his service as often as may be reasonable, and must, without demand, give prompt notice to his employer of everything which he receives for his account.

SEC. 1087. Goods received may be held until demand.—An employee who receives anything on account of his employer in any capacity other than that of a mere servant is not bound to deliver it to him until demanded, and is not at liberty to send it to him from a distance without demand in any mode involving greater risk than its retention by the employee himself.

SEC. 1088. Employer's business to have preference.—An employee who has any business to transact on his own account similar to that intrusted to him by his employer must always give the latter the preference. If intrusted with similar affairs by different employers, he must give them preference according to their relative urgency or, other things being equal, according to the order in which they were committed to him.

SEC. 1089. Substitutes.—An employee who is expressly authorized to employ a substitute is liable to his principal only for want of ordinary care in his selection. The substitute is directly responsible to the principal.

SEC. 1090. Culpable negligence.—An employee who is guilty of a culpable degree of negligence is liable to his employer for the damage thereby caused to the latter; and the employer is liable to him, if the service is not gratuitous, for the value of such services only as are properly rendered.

SEC. 1091. Survivor of joint employees.—Where service is to be rendered by two or more persons jointly and one of them dies the survivor must act alone if the service to be rendered is such as he can rightfully perform without the aid of the deceased person, but not otherwise.

SEC. 1093. Termination of employment.—Every employment in which the power of the employee is not coupled with an interest in its subject is terminated by notice to him of:

1. The death of the employer; or
2. His legal incapacity to contract.

Every employment is terminated:

1. By the expiration of its appointed term;
2. By the extinction of its subject;
3. By the death of the employee; or
4. By his legal incapacity to act as such.

SEC. 1094. Continuance of employment after death of employer.—An employee, unless the term of his service has expired or unless he has a right to discontinue it at any time without notice, must continue his service after notice of the death or incapacity of his employer, so far as is necessary to protect from serious injury the interests of the employer's successor in interest, until a reasonable time after notice of the facts has been communicated to such successor. The successor must compensate the employee for such service according to the terms of the contract of employment.

SEC. 1095. Termination at will.—An employment having no specified term may be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the other, except where otherwise provided by this chapter.

SEC. 1096. Breach of duty by employee.—An employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated at any time by the employer in case of any willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of his employment or in case of his habitual neglect of duty or continued incapacity to perform it.

SEC. 1097. By employer.—An employment, even for a specified term, may be terminated by the employee at any time in case of any willful or permanent breach of the obligations of his employer to him as an employee.

SEC. 1098. Forfeiture of wages.—An employee dismissed by his employer for good cause is not entitled to any compensation for services rendered since the last day upon which a payment became due to him under the contract.

SEC. 1099. Proportionate compensation.—An employee who quits the service of his employer for good cause is entitled to such proportion of the compensation which would become due in case of full performance as the services which he has already rendered bear to the services which he was to render as full performance.

SEC. 1100. Definition.—A servant is one who is employed to render personal service to his employer otherwise than in the pursuit of an independent calling, and who in such service remains entirely under the control and direction of the latter, who is called his master.

SEC. 1101. Measure of term of service.—A servant is presumed to have been hired for such length of time as the parties adopt for the estimation of wages. A hiring at a yearly rate is presumed to be for one year; a hiring at a daily rate for one day; a hiring by piecework for no specified term.

SEC. 1102. Monthly term presumed.—In the absence of any agreement or custom as to the rate or value of wages, the term of service, or the time of payment a servant is presumed to be hired by the month, at a monthly rate of reasonable wages, to be paid when the service is performed.

SEC. 1103. Renewal of agreement presumed, when.—Where, after the expiration of an agreement respecting the wages and the term of service, the parties continue the relation of master and servant they are presumed to have renewed the agreement for the same wages and term of service.

SEC. 1104. Servant's time.—The entire time of a domestic servant belongs to the master; and the time of other servants to such an extent as is usual in the business in which they serve, not exceeding in any case ten hours in the day.

SEC. 1105. Delivery of goods, etc., received.—A servant must deliver to his master, as soon as with reasonable diligence he can find him, everything that he receives for his account, without demand: but he is not bound, without orders from his master, to send anything to him through another person.

SEC. 1106. Discharge for cause.—A master may discharge any servant, whether engaged for a fixed term or not:

1. If he is guilty of misconduct in the course of his service, or of gross immorality, though unconnected with the same; or,

2. If, being employed about the person of the master, or in a confidential position, the master discovers that he has been guilty of misconduct before or after the commencement of his service, of such a nature that, if the master had known or contemplated it, he would not have so employed him.

SEC. 1107. Service without employment.—One who officiously, and without the consent of the real or apparent owner of a thing, takes it into his possession, for the purpose of rendering a service about it, must complete such service and use ordinary care, diligence and reasonable skill about the same. He is not entitled to any compensation for his service or expenses, except that he may deduct actual and necessary expenses, incurred by him about such service, from any profits which his service has caused the thing to acquire for its owner, and must account to the owner for the residue.

Suits for wages—Exemptions

SECTION 2668. What exempt.—[Only personal property absolutely exempt is exempt from process for laborers' or mechanics' wages.]

Exemption of wages from execution, etc.

SECTION 2703. Amount.—[Earnings of a judgment debtor for 60 days prior to the order are exempt from seizure if it is made to appear that such earnings are necessary to the support of a dependent family.]

Wages as preferred claims—In administration, etc.

SECTION 3407. Rank.—[Wage debts of servants and employees for 60 days prior to the death of the employer rank next after funeral expenses, the expenses of the last sickness, and expenses of administration.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 3653. Attempting to influence vote.—It shall not be lawful for any employer in paying his employees the salary or wages due them, to inclose their pay in "pay envelopes" upon which there is written or printed any political mottoes, devices, or arguments, containing threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of such employees. Nor shall it be lawful for any employer, within ninety days of a general election, to put up or otherwise exhibit in his factory, mill, workshop, or other establishment or place where his employees may be working, any handbill or placard containing any threat, notice, or information that in case any particular ticket or candidate shall be elected work in his place or establishment will cease in whole or in part, or that his establishment will be closed up, or the wages of his workmen will be reduced, or other threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinion or the actions of his employees in voting. Any person or corporation violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any corporation violating the provisions of this section shall, upon proof thereof, forfeit its charter.

Intimidation of employers and employees

SECTION 4373. Interfering with employment.—Every person who, by any use of force, threats or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent any hired foreman, journeyman, workman, laborer, servant or other person employed by another from continuing or performing his work, or from accepting any new work or employment, or induces such hired person to relinquish his work or employment, or to return any work he has in hand before it is finished, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 4374. Threatening employers.—Every person who, by any use of force, threats or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent another from employing any person, or compels another to employ any person, or forces or induces another to alter his mode of carrying on business, or to limit or increase the number of his hired foremen, journeymen, workmen, laborers, servants or other persons employed by him, or their rate of wages or time of service, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 4375. Entering mines, etc.—In all cases where two or more persons * * * shall enter upon or into any lode, gulch, placer claim or quartz mill or other mining property, or, not being upon such property but within hearing of the same, shall make any threats or make use of any language, sign or gesture calculated to intimidate any person or persons at work on said property from continuing work thereon or therein, or to intimidate others from engaging to work thereon or therein, every such person so offending, shall, upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months and not less than thirty days, and by a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars. On trials under this section, proof of a common purpose of two or more persons * * * to intimidate laborers as above set forth, accompanied or followed by any of the acts above specified, by any of them, shall be sufficient evidence to convict any one committing such acts, although the parties may not be associated together at the time of committing the same.

Factory, etc., regulations—Doors to open outward—Fire escapes

SECTION 8218. Doors.—Except when otherwise specially provided, all doors of ingress or egress in * * * factories, hotels and all other buildings or rooms wherein numbers of persons are employed or are in the habit of meeting together for any purpose, shall be so constructed as to open and swing outward, and doorways shall not be less than four feet in width with proper landings, and stairways of at least equal width. * * * Any person failing to comply with the provisions of this section or who shall build, maintain or permit to be used any such building contrary to the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 8219. Fire escapes.—Except when otherwise specially provided, all factories, * * * which are two or more stories in height, shall be provided by the owners thereof with two or more fire escapes, placed within easy access of the occupants of such building.

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 8705–8715, 8716 (as amended 1921, ch. 286), 8717 (as amended 1919, ch. 260). Inspector.—[These sections provide for the appointment by the governor, by and with the advice of the senate, of a mine inspector for a term of two years, at a salary of $2,400 a year and expenses of travel, etc. He must be not under 30, and practically acquainted with mining in all its branches. Bond of $5,000 is required. He is charged with inspection, particularly as regards safety, ventilation, and means of egress, and must be assisted therein by the operator of any mine visited. He must inspect at least once a year, and on complaint of three persons in writing, and may require necessary changes to be made without delay. He must be notified of serious accidents, and must, if possible, attend the coroner's inquest in case of fatal accidents; if not, the operator must secure sworn statements of witnesses, to be placed in the hands of the inspector.

Mines in which only owners or lessees are employed are not under this act.]

SECS. 8719–8721. Safety.—[These sections require ladder ways in mines over 50 feet in depth in a separate compartment from the hoisting shaft; the establishment of a code of signals; and prescribe the protection of miners hoisted and lowered in cages in shafts 200 feet or more in depth.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Reduction works

SECTION 8722. Gases, etc., to be removed.—Any person operating any smelter or dry crushing reduction works shall install therein exhaust fans and dust chambers or some other contrivance for the removal of all gases, fumes, dust, and other impurities that accumulate, at all times, in the operation of such works.

SECS. 8723, 8724. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $500 to $1,000. Proof of failure to comply is prima facie evidence of negligence.]

SEC. 8725. Enforcement.—[The State mine inspector must visit such works at least once every month to see that the foregoing law is enforced.]

Employers' liability insurance—Mutual associations

SECTIONS 9411–9435. Organization.—[These sections authorize 20 or more persons or employees to incorporate to insure their liability under the compensation law, and for sickness and accidental injury or death of employees or others for whom the insured is responsible.]

Industrial commissioner

SECTION 9464. Who to act.—The office of the industrial commissioner shall continue as heretofore created; the commissioner of immigration shall be ex officio industrial commissioner, and such industrial commissioner shall have authority and be charged with the duty of carrying out and enforcing the provisions of this article [relating to workmen's compensation]. He shall also assist employers of labor to secure needed laborers, assist laborers to secure positions, and cooperate with the United States Department of Labor, and agencies of this State, in maintaining a free employment service for bringing employer and laborer together.

SEC. 9465. Expenses, etc.—The actual necessary expenses of the industrial commissioner shall be paid by the State, and he shall be provided with adequate and necessary office rooms, furniture, equipment, and other supplies necessary to the discharge of his duties. The commissioner, by and with the consent of the governor, may appoint a deputy and employ such other assistants and clerical help as may be required and fix the compensation of each: Provided, That the salary of the deputy shall not exceed fifteen hundred dollars per annum. Such deputy shall possess and exercise all the powers conferred by this article upon the industrial commissioner, and, except as to appointment and salary, the phrase "industrial commission," wherever it occurs in this article, shall be construed to include such deputy. The commissioner shall provide himself with a seal, which shall be used to authenticate his orders, decisions, and other proceedings deemed necessary, upon which shall be inscribed the words, "South Dakota Industrial Commissioner." The commissioner shall have the power to remove at any time any person appointed or employed by him. Before entering upon his duties the commissioner shall qualify by taking the constitutional oath of office.

Railroads—Accidents—Switch lights

SECTIONS 9689, 9690. Accidents.—[All accidents must be reported to the board of railroad commissioners, by telephone or telegraph if personal injury or loss of life is involved. The board may, if it deems it necessary, investigate the causes of accidents and issue orders for such changes as will prevent reenrrenee.]

SEC. 9693. Switch lights.—It shall be the duty of every railroad company operating any line of railway in this State to maintain good and sufficient switch lights on all switches connected with its main line and to keep the same lighted from dark until daylight: Provided, That such light shall be required only on such main-line switches over which trains shall be operated between sunset and sunrise.

SEC. 9694. Violations.—[Penalty for violations, fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 for each offense.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 9708. Liability.—Every railroad company operating a railway in this State shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such company or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then to the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any officer, agent, or employee of such company or by reason of any defects or insufficiency, due to its negligenee, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be held to apply to any railroad company while engaging in commeree between any of the several States and Territories, or between any of the States and Territories, or between the District of Columbia and any of the States or Territories, or between the District of Columbia or any of the States and Territories and any foreign nation or nations: And provided further, That the provisions of this article shall apply and extend to every sueh company while engaging in intrastate commerce as distinguished from interstate commerce.

SEC. 9709. Contributory negligence.—In all actions against any railroad company brought under the preceding section to recover damages for any personal injury to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributed to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such company of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the death or injury of such employee.

SEC. 9710. Survival of action.—The right of action given by the second preceding section to a person suffering injury shall survive to his personal representative for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then to the next of kin dependent upon such employee, but in such cases there shall be only one recovery for the same injury or death.

SEC. 9711. Assumed risk.—In any action brought against any railroad company under the provisions of the third preceding section to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any employee, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such company of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 9712. Waivers.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any railroad company to exempt itself from any liability created by the fourth preceding section shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought under such section such company may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief-benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which such action was brought.

SEC. 9713. Defenses.—In any action for damages against a corporation or receiver, operating a railroad, for the death or personal injury of an employee or servant caused by the wrong or negligence of such corporation or receiver, the plea of assumed risk of the deceased or injured employee, when the ground of the plea is knowledge or means of knowledge of the defect and danger which caused the injury or death, shall not be available where such employee, having an opportunity before being injured or killed to inform the employer or a superior intrusted by the employer with authority to remedy the defect, or cause it to be remedied, notified, or caused to be notified the employer or superior thereof, within a reasonable time: Provided, That it shall not be necessary to give such information when the employer or such superior already knows of the defect.

SEC. 9714. Limitation.—No such action shall be maintained unless commenced within two years from the day the cause of action accrued.

Railroads—False charges against employees

SECTION 9725. False statements.—Every person who shall by any letter, mark, sign or designation whatever, or by any verbal statement, maliciously, falsely and without probable cause report to any railroad or any other company or corporation, or to any individual or individuals, or to any of the officers, servants, agents, or employees of any such corporation, individual, or individuals, that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent or other employee of any such railroad company, corporation, individual or individuals, has received any money for the transportation of persons or property, or shall falsely, maliciously and without probable cause report that any conductor, brakeman, engineer, fireman, station agent or other employee of any such railroad company, corporation, individual or individuals, neglected, failed or refused to collect any money for transportation of persons or property when it was his duty to do so, shall upon conviction be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined in any sum not less than one hundred dollars and not more than five hundred dollars.

Employment of women and children

SECTION 10014 (as amended 1923, ch. 308). Hours of labor.—Any employer, or other person having control who shall compel any woman, girl or child under the age of sixteen years to labor or be employed for more than ten hours in any day, or fifty-four hours in any week, except that for five days prior to Christmas he or she may be employed not to exceed twelve hours per day during that period shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed thirty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, That this section shall not apply to farm laborers, domestic servants, telegraph and telephone operators or to persons engaged in the care of live stock: And provided further, That in cities having a population of three thousand or less according to the last State or Federal census, the standard day may by agreement be made not to exceed ten hours.

SEC. 10015 (as amended 1923, ch. 308). Age.—No child under fourteen years of age shall be employed at any time in any factory or workshop or about any mine, nor shall he or she be employed in any mercantile establishment except during the vacation of the public schools or outside of school hours, but in no case after seven o'clock p. m. No child under sixteen years of age shall be employed at any time in any occupation dangerous to life, health, or morals.

SEC. 10016. Certificate.—[Children under 16 must have certificates of age and literacy or school attendance.]

SEC. 10017. Inspection.—[Places where children are employed may be visited by the county superintendent of schools to enforce these provisions.]

SEC. 10018. Labor necessary.—[Children not eligible under the above may be granted permits of employment if their labor is necessary for their own support or that of their families.]

SEC. 10019. Sanitation.—Every factory, mill, or workshop where women, girls, or children are employed shall be kept clean and free from effluvia arising from any sewer, drain, privy, or water-closet; be properly ventilated and provided with privies or water-closets for the separate use of male and female employees, and at all times kept in a sanitary condition. Whenever the labor performed is such as to require a change of clothing, separate dressing rooms shall be provided for the sexes.

SEC. 10020. Cleaning.—The interior of every factory and workshop in this State where women, girls, and children are employed shall be limewashed or painted at least once in every twelve months.

Every floor of any room in any such factory or workshop shall be thoroughly cleaned with soap and water at least once in two weeks and every dressing room and water-closet therein or connected therewith shall be thoroughly cleaned with soap and water once every week.

SEC. 10021. Violation.—[Violation is punishable by fine, $10 to $100, or imprisonment 30 days, or both.]

SEC. 10022. Seats.—Every employer of females or children in any mercantile, manufacturing, hotel, or restaurant business, and every agent in charge of any such business shall provide and maintain suitable seats in the room where they work, and permit such use thereof by them as may be necessary for the preservation of their health.

Commissioner of immigration

SECTION 10119. Board continued.—The State board of immigration, heretofore created, shall continue to be composed of three members; the governor, the secretary of State, and the commissioner of school and public lands, who shall serve as such without compensation. The governor shall be ex officio chairman of such board.

SEC. 10120. Commissioner.—Such board shall appoint a qualified elector of this State to be its general executive, who shall be officially known and styled commissioner of immigration. * * *

ACTS OF 1919

CHAPTER 134 (as amended 1923, ch. 122).—Child welfare commission

SECTION 1. Organization.—Three citizens of the State of South Dakota, two of whom shall be women, to be appointed by the governor to serve for terms of two years, shall constitute the child welfare commission, and each shall serve without compensation.

SEC. 2. Duties.—The child welfare commission shall * * * examine into the condition of children employed in the industries of this State and shall advise employers pertaining to the most favorable conditions for such labor in such employment; and shall enforce the laws of the State for the protection of children employed; * * * and shall biennially report its doings and recommendations to the governor, which report shall be published as are the reports of other State officers and boards.

SEC. 3. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of five hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary in carrying out the purposes of this act during the ensuing biennium, to be paid upon the warrant of the auditor upon which [sic] vouchers duly approved by the chairman of the child welfare commission.

CHAPTER 190.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. License.—[An annual license is required for each office, to be issued by the industrial commissioner, for which a fee of $10 must be paid.]

SEC. 2. Bond.—[A bond of $2,000 is required, conditioned on observance of the law. Licenses may also be revoked for violations.]

SEC. 3. Canceling license.—[Refusal of a holder to comply with lawful orders of the commissioner, or with his subpoena, or to permit inspection, authorizes cancellation of a license, not to be reissued for six months.]

SEC. 4. Signs.—[Signs, etc., may not be similar to those of the United States employment service.]

SEC. 5. Register.—[A register of placements and of fees charged must be kept; also a register of employers to whom workers are sent. Registers must be open to official inspection.]

SEC. 6. Receipts.—[Receipts must show name, address, and occupation of employees, fee charged, wages to be paid, name and address of employer, nature of employment, and whether a strike or lockout is known to exist. A copy must be kept on file, and one sent to the industrial commissioner.]

SEC. 7. Registration.—[No fee may be charged for registration. Monthly reports of registrations are required.]

SEC. 8. Fees.—[Fees may not exceed the sum scheduled by the commissioner. If employment is not obtained, through no fault of the applicant, the fee must, on demand, be returned; also actual expenses if the person was sent beyond the limits of the city.]

SEC. 9. Dividing fees.—[Dividing fees with any superintendent, etc., is forbidden; penalty, not less than $50 fine, or imprisonment not exceeding three months.]

SEC. 10. Immoral resorts.—[Knowingly sending any female help or servant to any place of bad repute is forbidden.]

SEC. 11. False statements.—[The making of false statements or false entries is forbidden.]

SEC. 12. Enforcement.—[The industrial commissioner is charged with the enforcement of the act.]

CHAPTER 259.—Inspection of stone quarries

SEC. 1. Duty of inspector.—[The inspector of mines is required to visit and inspect commercial stone quarries of the State, and the mining law of the State applies.]

CHAPTER 297.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day—Railroads

SECTION 1. Time of payment.—[Public-service railroads must pay all employees semimonthly the wages up to the end of the half-month prior to payment, unless the employee is absent from his or her place of employment; then on demand. Wages may, however, be paid daily or weekly.]

ACTS OF 1920—SECOND EXTRA SESSION

CHAPTER 54.—Free public employment offices

SECTIONS 1–10. Establishment, etc., of offices.—[The State commissioner of immigration supervises free public employment offices at convenient points in the State, and may cooperate with cities and counties in the maintenance of the same. The commissioner may aid workmen in the collection of claims and their protection from frauds, extortions, etc. Employers or workmen may post notices in offices of the service as to strikes or lockouts affecting them, but not until submitted to the other party, who may also post a statement.]

CHAPTER 61.—Conciliation of labor disputes

SECTION 1. Duty of industrial commissioner.—[The industrial commissioner may offer his services as conciliator in any labor dispute. If conciliation fails, he may make an impartial investigation, report and recommendations, furnishing a copy to the parties and to the local newspapers for publication. At his option or on request of either party, he may call on two suitable citizens to aid in the work.]

CHAPTER 309.—Minimum wage law

SECTIONS 1–5. Minimum rate established for females.—[A minimum rate of $12 per week is fixed for women and girls over 14 in factories, workshops, mechanical and mercantile establishments, laundries, hotels, restaurants and packing houses, except apprentices and learners, but leave must be obtained within 10 days for their employment at lower rates. Permits may be issued for substandard workers. Agreements to work for a less wage are no bar to recovery of balances.]

TENNESSEE

THOMPSON'S SHANNON'S CODE—1918

Mine regulations

SECTIONS 338a–338a-12. Inspectors.—[These sections provide for the appointment of chief and district mine inspectors (see ch. 7, Acts of 1923), and prescribe their duties, powers, qualifications, etc. Technical and practical knowledge and experience are required. District inspectors must hold a class "A" foreman's certificate. Bond in the sum of $15,000 is required of the inspector and the district inspectors. Orders for the removal of dangerous conditions are to be issued and enforced and a record kept of the same. Three inspection districts are provided for. The right of inspection is enforceable by penalties.]

SECS. 338a-13–338a-17. Classification.—[These sections classify mines, requiring inspection at different periods, different amounts of ventilation, etc. The presence or absence of gas, dust, moisture, the number of men employed, and the nature of the mine (coal, metal, phosphate) are the bases of distribution in the 5 classes provided for.]

SECS. 338a-18–338a-43, 338a-44 (as amended 1919, ch. 168). Safety provisions, etc.—[These sections embody a code of regulations, requiring maps, prescribing operations in the various classes of mines, regulating the use of safety lamps, ventilation, exits, hoisting machinery, travel ways, blasting, dust prevention, etc. Foremen, assistant foremen, and fire or gas bosses must have certificates granted after examination. Certificates are of three classes, and may be revoked for cause after notice and hearing. Fees for inspection range from $10 where less than 10 men are employed to $100 in mines employing more than 300 men. Charges are made for each inspection, not more than 3 to be charged for per year.]

SECS. 338a-45–338-57. Rescue stations.—[Six rescue stations in the different parts of the mining area of the State are authorized, the equipment prescribed, the selection and training of rescue corps provided for, etc. Persons or corporations may secure apparatus and train men according to the standards fixed by law, and, if approved, these may be accepted as State stations.]

SECS. 338a-58–338a-60. Illuminating oil.—[These sections prescribe standards for oils used in the mines in lamps.]

SECS. 339–341. Checkweighmen.—[Miners in coal or other mines where payment is by weight or measure may employ a checkweighman or measurer, who shall be allowed to inspect operations, equipment, etc. On notice, operators must withhold an agreed amount from the pay of the miners as payment for such checkweighmen or measurers.]

Private employment offices

SECTION 712. Fee.—[An annual fee of $25 is provided for intelligence offices and employment agencies.]

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 1166a-3. * * * Inclosures in pay envelopes.—It shall be unlawful for any employer, either corporation, association, company, firm, or person, in paying its, their, or his employees the salary or wages due them, to inclose their pay in "pay envelopes" on which there is written or printed any political mottoes, devices, or arguments, containing threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions, views, or actions of such employees. Nor shall it be lawful for any employer, either corporation, association, company, firm, or person, within ninety days of any election provided by law, to put up or otherwise exhibit in its, their, or his factory, workshop, mine, mill, boarding house, office, or other establishment, or place where its, their, or his employees may be working or may be present in the course of such employment, any handbill, notice, or placard, containing any threat, notice, or information, that in case any particular ticket or candidate shall, or shall not be elected, work in its, their, or his establishment shall cease in whole or in part, or its, their, or his workmen be reduced; or other threats, express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of its, their, or his employees. Any person or persons, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and any person, whether acting in his individual capacity or as an officer or agent of any corporation so guilty of such misdemeanor shall be punished as hereinafter prescribed. * * *

SEC. 1166a–5. Use of force, violence, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, or any officer or agent of any corporation, to influence or attempt to influence, by force, violence or restraint, or by inflicting or threatening to inflict any injury, damage, harm or loss, or by discharging from employment or promoting in employment, or by intimidation or otherwise in any manner whatever, to induce or compel any employee to vote or refrain from voting at any election provided by law, or to vote or refrain from voting for any particular person or persons, measure or measures, at any such election. Any such corporation, or any officer or agent of such corporation, violating any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to the penalty hereinafter provided, and in addition thereto, any corporation violating this section shall forfeit its charter and right to do business in this State.

SEC. 1166a–10. Penalty.—* * * any corporation or agent of a corporation, guilty of any offense herein made a misdemeanor, shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. * * *

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1461a–28. Attendance required.—[School attendance to 16 is required, unless the child is actively, regularly, and lawfully engaged in some useful employment.]

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTION 2411a–4. Vestibules.—[Street cars must be provided with vestibules for the protection of employees required to be on the front and outside of cars, the requirement running from November 1 to March 15 of each year.]

Private employment offices

SECTION 3608a–219. License.—[State licenses must be provided for the operation of employment agencies for profit, the fee ranging from $10 per annum for cities or towns of less than 5,000 inhabitants to $50 for those of 25,000 or more inhabitants. The license must be prominently posted in the place of business.]

SEC. 3608a–220. Bond, etc.—[The name of the agency must not be similar to that of any free employment office. A bond is required in the sum of $1,000 conditioned on the observance of the law.]

SEC. 3608a–221. Register.—[A register must be kept showing the name and address of the applicant and the nature of the employment sought, the same to be open to official inspection.]

SEC. 3608a–222. Fraud, etc.—[No female shall be sent to any home of ill repute; nor shall agencies publish any false advertisements or make any false promises or false entries in registers.]

SEC. 3608a–223. Shipping workmen; receipts.—[If workmen are sent to another locality, general conditions of employment must be given, especially as to the existence or not of any labor dispute.

Receipts must be given for all fees collected, showing amount, name of applicant, nature of employment sought, etc. If employment is not obtained in 10 days, the full amount of the fee must be returned.]

SEC. 3608a–224. Return of fee.—[Restates provision noted last above.]

SEC. 3608a–225. Violations.—[Penalties of fine or imprisonment or both are provided; also revocation of license, which may not be renewed for 3 months.]

SEC. 3608a–226. Reports.—[Quarterly reports, or monthly if requested, must be made to the department of workshop and factory inspection.]

Exemption of wages from execution

SECTION 3794. Amount exempt.—[Ninety per cent of wages or salary of $40 per month or less or $36 out of any larger monthly salary or wage shall be exempt from execution, etc., to any resident of the State who is 18 years of age or who is the head of a family; and no attachment or garnishment shall affect future earnings, but only such sums as are already earned.]

SEC. 3794a. Earnings outside of State.—[Wages earned and payable outside the State are exempt from attachment where the cause of action arose outside of the State.]

Contracts of employment

SECTION 4337. Enticing employees forbidden.—It shall not be lawful for any person in this State, knowingly, to hire, contract with, decoy or entice away, directly or indirectly, anyone, male or female, who is at the time under contract or in the employ of another; and any person[s] so under contract or employ of another, leaving their employ without good and sufficient cause, before the expiration of the time for which they were employed, shall forfeit to the employer all sums due for service already rendered, and be liable for such other damages [as] the employer may reasonably sustain by such violation of contract.

SEC. 4338. Penalty.—Any person violating the provisions of the first clause of the last section shall be liable to the party who originally had and was entitled to the services of said employee, by virtue of a previous contract, for such damages as he may reasonably sustain by the loss of the labor of said employee; and he shall also be liable for such damages, whether he had knowledge of an existing contract or not, if he fails or refuses to discharge the person so hired, or to pay such damages as the original employer may claim, after he has been notified that the person is under contract, or has violated the contract with another person, which amount shall be ascertained, and the collection enforced by action for damages before any justice of the peace of said county where said violation occurs, or the party violating said section may reside.

SEC. 4338½. Fraud.—Any person who shall misrepresent to any employees the amount of wages to which employee is to receive on entering into a new contract of employment or who shall fail to give a bond with good and solvent sureties to be filed with the judge or chairman of the county court of the county in which the contract of new employment is made, said bond to be in an amount sufficient to cover the difference in wages received by such employee at the time he is solicited to change his employment and the amount promised to such employee as wages in his new employment, also a good and solvent bond to protect the employer against any and all loss sustained through the removal of his employees by a fraudulent promise or contract shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $250 or imprisoned in the county workhouse not less than thirty days nor more than six months, or both, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4338a. Deceptive representations, etc.—It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, company, corporation, society, association or organization of any kind doing business in this State by himself, themselves, his, its or their agents or attorneys, to induce, influence, persuade, or engage workmen to change from one place to another in this State or to bring workmen of any class or calling into this State to work in any of the departments of labor in this State through or by means of false or deceptive representations, false advertising or false pretenses, concerning the kind and character of the work to be done, or amount and character of the compensation to be paid for such work, or the sanitary or other conditions of the employment, or as to the existence or nonexistence of a strike, or other trouble pending between employer and employees, at the time of or prior to such engagement.

SEC. 4338a–1. Notice of strike.—Failure to state in any advertisement, proposal or contract for the employment of workmen that there is a strike, lockout or other labor troubles at the place of the proposed employment, when in fact such strike, lockout or other labor troubles then actually exist at such place, shall be deemed as false advertisement and misrepresentation for the purposes of this act.

SEC. 4338a–2. Violations.—[Penalty for violating the last above sections is a fine, not less than $500, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.]

SEC. 4338a–4. Damages.—Any workman of this State, or any workman of another, who has or shall be influenced, induced, or persuaded to engage with any persons mentioned in section 1 of this act [Code, sec. 4338a], through or by means of any of the things therein prohibited, each of such workmen shall have a right of action for recovery of all damages that each such workman has sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representations, false advertising, and false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment, against any person or persons, corporations, companies, or associations, directly or indirectly, causing such damages, and in addition to all actual damages such workmen may have sustained, shall be entitled to recover such reasonable attorney's fees as the court shall fix, to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

Payment of wages

SECTION 4339. Monthly pay day.—All persons, firms, companies, or corporations engaged in constructing and building railroads, or in mining coal, ore, or other minerals, or mining and manufacturing them, or either of them, or manufacturing iron or steel, or both, or any other kind of manufacturing, shall pay their laborers and employees the amounts due them for their work or service in lawful money of the United States, or by cash order as described and required in section 4342, and shall adjust accounts with their laborers and employers at least once in every thirty days.

SEC. 4340. Provisos.—If the employer and employee fail, in their adjustment, to agree upon the amount due the laborer, and the courts have to settle the question in controversy, the penalty herein provided shall not apply.

SEC. 4341. Claim may be assigned.—Nothing herein contained shall affect the right of such laborer or employee to assign, in whole or in part, his claim against his employer.

SEC. 4341a. Assignments.—[Wage assignments to be valid must have been assented to by the employer, in writing, at the time of execution.]

SEC. 4342. Scrip to be redeemable.—It shall not be lawful for any person, firm, company, or corporation engaged in the business set forth in section 4339, or for their clerk, agent, officer, or servant, to issue for payment of labor any order or other paper whatever, unless the same purports to be redeemable for its face value in lawful money of the United States, bearing interest at legal rate, made payable to employee or bearer, and redeemable by the person, firm, company, or corporation giving, making or issuing the same; and any person, firm, company, or corporation engaged in the business aforesaid, their clerks, agents, officers, or servants, who shall be guilty of a violation of section 4339 or this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding two hundred dollars and not less than fifty dollars in the discretion of the court.

The provisions of this law are valid. Knoxville Iron Co. v. Harbison, 183 U. S. 13, 22 Sup. Ct. 1.

SEC. 4342a. Redemption.—All persons, firms, corporations and companies using coupons, scrip, punch outs, store orders, or other evidences of indebtedness to pay their or its laborers and employees, for labor or otherwise, shall, if demanded, redeem the same in the hands of such laborer, employee, or bona fide holder in good and lawful money of the United States: Provided, The same is presented and redemption demanded of such person, firm, company or corporation using same as aforesaid, at a regular pay day of such person, firm, company or corporation to laborers or employees, or if presented and redemption demanded as aforesaid by such laborers, employees, or bona fide holders at any time not less than thirty days from the issuance or delivery of such coupon, scrip, punch out, store order, or other evidences of indebtedness to such employees, laborers or bona fide holder. Such redemption to be at the face value of said scrip, punch out, coupon, store order, or other evidence of indebtedness: Provided, further, Said face value shall be in cash the same as its purchasing power in goods, wares and merchandise at the commissary company store or other repository of such company, firm, person or corporation aforesaid.

SEC. 4342a–1. Right of action.—Any employee, laborer, or bona fide holder referred to in section 1 of this act, upon presentation and demand for redemption of such scrip, coupon, punch out, store order or other evidence of indebtedness aforesaid, and upon refusal of such person, firm, corporation or company to redeem the same in good and lawful money of the United States, may maintain in his, her or their own name an action before any court of competent jurisdiction against such person, firm, corporation or company using same as aforesaid for the recovery of the value of such coupon, scrip, punch out, store order or other evidence of indebtedness, as defined in section 1 of this act, and if plaintiff obtains judgment in such case, it shall include a penalty of 25 per cent, and a reasonable fee for the plaintiff's attorney for his services in the suit, all of which, as well as the costs, shall be taxed against the defendant.

SEC. 4342a-2. Act construed.—Nothing herein in this act contained is to be so construed as to legalize the issuance or use of scrip. * * *

This law is constitutional and has the same effect as to foreign corporations that it has upon those formed within the State. 22 Sup. Ct. 5.

An assignee of scrip may recover under its provisions and for face value, though he purchased it at a discount. 53 S. W. 955.

SEC. 4342a-2a. Pay days established.—All wages or compensation of employees in private employments shall be due and payable as follows, that is to say, all such wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the first day of any month, shall be due and payable not later than the twentieth day of the month following the one in which such wages were earned; and all wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the sixteenth day of any month, shall be due and payable not later than the fifth day of the succeeding month.

The words "private employment" used in this act shall mean and include all employments except those under the direct management, supervision and control of the State of Tennessee, any county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation or political subdivision of the State of Tennessee, or any officer or department thereof.

But nothing contained herein shall be construed as prohibiting the payment of wages at more frequent periods than semimonthly: Provided, That this act shall apply only to private employments where twenty or more employees are employed.

SEC. 4342a-2a1. Notice to be posted.—Every employer shall establish and maintain regular pay days as herein provided, and shall post and maintain notices, printed or written in plain type or script, in at least two conspicuous places where said notices can be seen by the employees as they go to and from the work, setting forth the regular pay day as herein prescribed.

SEC. 4342a-2a2. Payment in money.—The payment of wages or compensation of employees in the employments defined herein, shall be made in lawful money of the United States or by a good and valid negotiable check or draft, payable on presentation thereof, at some bank or other established place of business without discount, exchange or cost of collection in lawful money of the United States, and not otherwise.

SEC. 4342a-2a3. Absent employees.—In case an employee in any such employment shall be absent from the usual place of employment at the time said payment shall be due and payable as hereinabove provided, he shall be paid the wages or compensation within a reasonable time after making a demand therefor.

SEC. 4342a-2a4. Violations.—Every person, partnership or corporation willfully failing or refusing to pay the wages of any employee at the time and in the manner provided in this statute shall forfeit to the State of Tennessee the sum of twenty-five ($25) dollars for each and every such failure or refusal, and suits for penalties accruing under this act shall be brought in any court having jurisdiction of the amount in the county in which the employee should have been paid, or where employed. Such suit shall be instituted at the direction of the chief of the department of workshop and factory inspection by the district attorney general, or under his direction, for the county or district in which suit is brought.

SEC. 4342a-2a5. Enforcement.—The department of workshop and factory inspection shall enforce the provisions of this act.

Factory, etc., regulations

SECTIONS 4342a-25, 4342a-26. Seats for females.—[These sections require, under penalty, that employers of females in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop in the State "shall provide a suitable seat for each female employee" and permit the use of the same when it will not actually and necessarily interfere with the proper discharge of duty.]

SECS. 4342a-27–4342a-29. Water-closets.—[These sections require, under penalty, employers of females in any manufacturing or mercantile establishment to provide them with separate water-closets.]

SECS. 4342a-29a-1. Shower baths required.—It shall be the duty of all owners, proprietors, and operators of foundries employing twelve or more men to provide shower baths, with hot and cold water, for the use of their employees, and also to provide and furnish their employees comfortable dressing rooms, with heat when necessary to dry clothing and lockers in which their employees may hang their clothes.

SEC. 4342a-29a-2. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fine of $5 to $50.]

SEC. 4342a-30. Fire escapes required.—Every mechanical or mercantile establishment or factory or workshop or laundry or mill or manufacturing or other places wherein labor is performed, on or above the second floor now or hereafter erected, which is two or more stories in height and in which twenty-five or more operators or employees shall be at work, on or above the second floor, shall be provided with outside iron fire escapes as hereinafter provided. The fire escape shall be located at such place on the said buildings as may be best suited for the purpose intended or as the chief inspector of factories designates in writing, and shall take in one or more windows on each floor above the first floor. Fire escapes may project into the highway to a distance not greater than four feet beyond the building line.

SECS. 4342a-31–4342a-33. Factories; type of fire escape.—[Factories and mills, etc., where goods of any kind are manufactured, which are three or more stories in height, must be equipped with fire escapes as above. Balconies not less than three feet in width and drop ladders from the lower one are prescribed. Numbers of escapes must correspond to the number of employees. Pitch of stairways is regulated.]

SECS. 4342a-34–4343a-41. Details of construction, etc.—[These sections prescribe materials to be used, thickness, size, modes of erection, the dimensions of platforms, ladders, etc. Erection is at the expense of landlord, and all parts must be properly painted.]

SEC. 4342a-42. Inspection.—[The chief inspector of factories and workshops may order the erection of new or additional fire escapes or changes or alterations in the same.]

SEC. 4342a-43. Violations.—[Noncompliance may be punished by a fine of $100 and $10 additional for each day after the time fixed for compliance.]

Employment of children

SECTION 4342a-44. Age; night work.—[No child under 14 may be employed in or about any mill, factory, workshop, cannery, laundry, telegraph, or telephone office, or in messenger or delivery service; nor may any child under 16 be employed in such occupations between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. See sec. 4342a-47.]

SEC. 4342a-45. School attendance.—[No child under 14 may be employed in any occupation whatever which interferes with his school attendance.]

SEC. 4342a-46 (as amended 1921, ch. 431). Dangerous occupations.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in enumerated dangerous factory operations or in mines or quarries. For similar list see Delaware Code, secs. 3145, 3148. No minor may be employed in the occupations named in this section unless the employer has on file a certificate showing him to be 16 years of age, based on the same evidence as required in sec. 4342a–48.]

SEC. 4342a-47. Hours of labor; night work.—[No child under 16 may be employed in the places, etc., named in sec. 4342a-44 more than 8 hours per day or more than 6 days per week or between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. (See sec. 4342a-44.) Nor may a minor under 18 be employed in messenger or delivery service between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SEC. 4342a-48. Certificates.—[Children 14 to 16 who may lawfully be employed must have certificates of age, based on records or on a certificate signed by two physicians, one of whom must be a health officer or medical inspector.]

SEC. 4342a-49. Violations.—[Penalties are provided for employers and for parents or guardians who violate the provisions of this law.]

Employment of women and children

SECTION 4342a-51. Scope of law.—The terms "workshops and factories" as used in this act shall include the following:

Manufacturing, mills, mechanical, electrical, mercantile, art and laundering establishments, printing, telegraph, and telephone offices, department stores, or any kind of an establishment wherein labor is employed or machinery is used: Provided, That domestic service and agricultural pursuits are hereby excluded.

SEC. 4342a-52. Work time.—It shall be unlawful for any proprietor, foreman, owner, or other person to employ, permit, or suffer to work in, about, or in connection with any workshop or factory in the State of Tennessee, any female or any child under sixteen years of age in excess of fifty-seven hours in any one week or more than ten and a half hours in any one day; Provided, That ten and a half hours per day will be permitted only for the purpose of providing for one short day in the week.

SEC. 4342a-53. Violation.—[Violation is punishable by fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 for each offense.]

SEC. 4342a-54. Schedule of hours.—Every proprietor, foreman, owner, or other person in charge of any industry specified in sections one and two of this act [Code, secs. 4342a-51, 4342a-52], shall post, or cause to be posted, in a conspicuous place in the workroom or place of employment where persons affected by this act are employed, a printed or written notice, setting forth therein the hours of commencing and leaving work, the time allowed for meals or other intermissions, and the maximum number of hours any female or child under the age of sixteen be permitted to work in any one day or in any one week. And in the event any proprietor, foreman, owner, or other person shall operate a business which runs at night, he shall specify in said notice the hours of work on the night shift, giving the number of hours each female or child under the age of sixteen years is permitted to work on such night shift.

SEC. 4342a-55. Evidence of violation.—The failure on the part of any proprietor, foreman, owner, or other person in charge of any industry named in sections one and two of this act [Code, secs. 4342a-51, 4342a-52], to post, or cause to be posted, within sixty days after date of the passage of this act, and to keep posted said notices as provided in section 4 [Code, sec. 4342a-54], shall be prima facie evidence of the violations of sections one and two of this act.

SEC. 4342a-56. Records.—Every proprietor, foreman, owner, or other person mentioned in the foregoing sections of this act shall keep, or cause to be kept, a record, showing the length of time each and every female or child under sixteen years has worked each day and the number of hours worked in each week; and such record shall be open for inspection at all reasonable hours to the department of workshop and factory inspection.

SEC. 4342a-57. Enforcement.—The State department of workshop and factory inspection shall be charged with the duty of enforcing the provisions of this act and prosecute all violations thereof.

SEC. 4342a-58. Exclusions.—[This section excludes fruit and vegetable canneries from the foregoing provisions.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Tenements

SECTION 4342a-59. Manufactures forbidden.—No room or rooms, apartment or apartments in any tenement or dwelling house used for catering [eating] or sleeping purposes, shall be used for the manufacture for sale in whole or in part, of coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overall[s], cloaks, shirts, ladies' waists, purses, feathers, artificial flowers or cigars and all wearing apparel except by the immediate member of the family living therein.

SEC. 4342a-60. Sanitation, etc.—Every such workshop shall be kept in a cleanly state and shall be subject to the provisions of this act; and each of said articles made, altered, repaired or finished in any such workshops shall be subject to examination and inspection as hereinafter provided for the purpose of ascertaining whether said articles or any of them or any part thereof are in a cleanly condition and free from vermin and any matter of an infectious and contagious nature; and every person so occupying or having control of any workshop aforesaid, shall within fourteen days from the taking effect of this act, or from the time of beginning of work in any workshop as aforesaid, notify the board of health of the location of such workshops, the nature of the work there carried on, and the number of persons therein employed.

Sec. 4342a-61. Presence of diseases.—If the board of health of any city or said chief inspector or [of] workshops and factories or his deputies find evidence of infection or contagious diseases present in any workshop or in goods unmanufactured, or in the process of manufacture therein, and said board or chief inspector or deputies shall issue such order or orders as the public health may require, the board of health are hereby enjoined to condemn or disinfect all such infections [infectious] and contagious articles.

Sec. 4342a-62. Goods, etc., brought into State.—Whenever it will [shall] be reported to said chief inspector of workshops and factories or to the board of health or to either of them, that coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, skirts, ladies' waists, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, or cigars are being transported to this State, having been previously manufactured in whole or in part under unhealthy conditions, said chief factory inspector or deputies shall examine said goods and the condition of their manufacture, and if upon such examination said goods or any part of them are found to contain vermin or to have been made in improper places, or under unhealthy conditions he shall make report thereof to the board of health, which board shall thereupon make such order or orders as the public health require; and the board of health are [is] hereby empowered to condemn and disinfect all such articles.

Sec. 4342a-63. Definitions.—The words "manufacturing establishment or factory or workshop" whenever used in this act, shall be construed to mean any place where goods or products are manufactured or repaired, cleaned, or sorted in whole or in part, for sale or for wages. Whenever any house, room, or place is used for the purpose of carrying on any process of making, altering, repairing, or finishing, for sale or for wages, any coats, vests, trousers, knee pants, overalls, cloaks, shirts, waists, purses, feathers, artificial flowers, or cigars or any wearing apparel of any kind whatsoever, intended for sale, shall within the meaning of this act be deemed a workshop for the purpose of inspection.

Sec. 4342a-64. Lists of shops.—And it shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation to keep a complete list of all such workshops in his or their employ and such list shall be produced for inspection or on demand by the board of health or any of the officers thereof, or by the chief inspector of workshops and factories or any of his deputies.

Sec. 4342a-65. Violations.—Any firm, person, or corporation who fails to comply with any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

Reports of accidents

Section 4342a-66. Reports required.—It shall be the duty of every firm, corporation, or individual employing labor in any workshop or factory in the State of Tennessee to make or cause to be made to the department of workshop and factory inspection, within three days after it shall occur, a report of each and every accident happening in, about, or in connection with such workshop or factory, where such accident might have resulted in bodily injury or death to any employee or person connected with such workshop or factory, setting forth in such report the nature of the business in which such employee is engaged in, the time, place, and nature of the accident, and the kind of machinery, if machinery caused the accident.

Sec. 4342a-67. Accidents causing death.—It shall be the duty of every firm, corporation, or individual employing labor in any workshop or factory in the State of Tennessee to make or cause to be made to the department of workshop and factory inspection, within ten days after it shall occur, a report of each and every accident happening to any person in, about, or in connection with such workshop or factory, which accident resulted in death or bodily injury of such a nature that the injured person does not return to his or her employment within seven days after the occurrence of such accident, setting forth in such report the nature of the business in which such employee is engaged, the time, place, and nature of the accident, the name, address, sex, age, and nature of employment of the person killed or injured, and whether such person is married or single, and, if married, the number of persons dependent upon the injured person for support, together with a statement of how the accident occurred, and, if such accident was caused by machinery, the kind of machinery used.

SEC. 4342a–68. Report on request.—It shall be the duty of every firm, corporation, or individual employing labor in workshop or factory in the State of Tennessee to make a full and detailed report, in addition to the information required to be furnished in sections one and two of this act, upon written request of the chief inspector of the department of workshop and factory inspection, furnishing him any information which such chief inspector may demand.

SEC. 4342a–69. Reports not evidence.—No report herein required to be made, or any part thereof, shall be admitted in evidence or referred to at the trial of any action or any judicial proceedings whatsoever.

SEC. 4342a–70. Violations.—[Penalties for violations are fines of $50 to $100 for first offense, and $100 to $200 for second and subsequent offenses.]

SEC. 4342a–71. Definition.—The term "workshop and factories" as used in this act shall include the following: Manufacturing mills; mechanical, electrical, mercantile, art, and laundering establishments; printing, telegraph, and telephone offices; department stores; or any kind of an establishment wherein labor is employed or machinery used.

SEC. 4342a–72. Record.—The chief inspector of the department of workshop and factory inspection shall compile and make a permanent record of the information obtained by virtue of this act.

SEC. 4342a–73. Expense.—The sum of five hundred dollars per annum, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated for the expense incurred in collecting, compiling, and reporting this information, said expenses to be itemized, evidenced by voucher, and sworn to, which vouchers shall be paid by the comptroller of the State of Tennessee upon the request of the chief inspector of the department of workshop and factory inspection.

SEC. 4342a–74. Blanks.—It shall be the duty of the chief inspector of the department of workshop and factory inspection to prepare and furnish, free of charge, to any person, upon application, or printed forms, which, when filled out, will set out the facts required by this act.

Protection of employees in choice of physicians

SECTION 6879. Restriction as to employment of physicians.—It shall be unlawful for any manufacturer, firm, company, or corporation, their agents, clerks, or superintendents in this State, to dictate or in any manner interfere with any employee or laborer in their rights to select their own family physician.

SEC. 6880. Company doctor.—It shall be unlawful for any such manufacturer, firm company, or corporation, their agents, clerks, or superintendents, to retain or withhold any part or portion of the wages due to any such employee or laborer for the avowed purpose of paying the salary of any person claiming to be the "company doctor" without the full consent of such employee or laborer; and the whole amount of any such wages so retained by consent shall be paid to said company doctor or other physicians employed by said employees.

SEC. 6881. Penalty.—Any agent, clerk, or superintendent of any such firm, company, or corporation violating the provisions of this article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction in any of the courts of the State having jurisdiction, shall be fined not less than ten dollars.

Protection of employees as traders—Company stores

SECTION 6882. Withholding wages.—It shall not be lawful for any manufacturer, firm, company, or corporation, their agents, clerks, or superintendents, in this State who own or control a store for the sale of general store goods or merchandise in connection with their manufacturing or other business, to attempt to control their employees or laborers in the purchase of store goods and supplies at the aforesaid store, by withholding the payment of wages longer than the usual time of payment, whereby the employee would be compelled to purchase supplies at said manufacturer's, firm's, company's, or corporation's store.

SEC. 6883. Misdemeanor; fine.—Any manufacturer, firm, company, or corporation offending against the provisions of the last section, the same shall be a misdemeanor, and, on conviction in any court having jurisdiction thereof, fined not exceeding fifty dollars.

Provisions for accidents in mines

SECTION 6888a. Equipment required.—Every operator of a coal mine in this State shall provide and keep in a convenient place, at or near the mouth of said mine, and in a room where the same shall be well protected, a suitable stretcher, bandages, dressings, and medicines for the first aid to the injured in and about said mine. The supplies to be furnished by the operator under this section shall be the same or equivalent to those recommended in such cases by the first aid department of the American Red Cross Society.

SEC. 6888a-1. Violations.—Every operator of a coal mine in this State who shall violate the section 6888a shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

Tips to employees of hotels, etc.

SECTION 6888a–31. "Tipping" prohibited.—It shall be unlawful in this State for any hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company to willfully allow any person in its employ to receive any gratuity, commonly known as a "tip," from any patron or passenger, and it shall be unlawful for any patron of any hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, or any passenger on any railroad train or sleeping car to give any employee any such gratuity, and it shall be unlawful for any employee of any hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company to receive any gratuity or tip.

SEC. 6888a–32. Definition.—By "gratuity" or tip, as used in this act, is meant any extra compensation of any kind which any hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company, or the manager, officer, or any agent thereof, in charge of same, allows to be given an employee or which any person gives to any employee, or which is received by any employee, and is not a part of the regular charge of the hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company for the thing bought or service rendered, or a part of the service which by contract it is under duty to render. No hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company shall evade this act by adding to the regular charge, directly or indirectly, anything intended for or to be used or to be given away as a gratuity or tip to the employee. All charges made by the hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company must be made by it in good faith, a charge for the service which it renders, exclusive of the service which it furnishes to its employees.

SEC. 6888a–33. Notices to be posted.—Each hotel shall post notice of this act in the office and in each room, and each restaurant, café, and barber shop shall post at least two notices of this act in two conspicuous places in same, and each dining car, railroad or sleeping-car company doing business within this State, shall post two notices of this act in conspicuous places in each sleeping car, and each café, hotel or dining-car operator shall have printed in a conspicuous place on their menu cards or bills of fare the synopsis of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6888a–34. Violations.—Any hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad or sleeping-car company, and the manager, officer, or agent of same in charge, violating this act or willfully allowing the same to be violated in any way shall each be subject to a penalty of not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars for each tip allowed to be given. If any person shall give an employee any gratuity or tip, each person shall be subject to a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars nor less than five dollars for each offense. If any of the above employees shall receive any gratuity or tip, he or she shall be subject to a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars nor less than five dollars for each offense. Should any hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad company, or sleeping-car company fail, neglect, or refuse to post notice of this act as required herein, such hotel, restaurant, café, barber shop, dining car, railroad or sleeping-car company shall be subject to a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars for each day it shall fail.

CHAPTER 110.—Factory, etc., regulations—Inspector

SECTION 3. Qualifications.—The chief inspector of workshops and factories shall be a competent and practical mechanic of not less than 5 years of practical experience, and shall give his entire time and attention to the duties of his office. He shall enforce the provisions of all laws relating to workshops and factories and prosecute violations thereof, and shall enforce the provisions of all other laws which have heretofore, by statutory provisions, been enforced by the department of workshop and factory inspection of the State of Tennessee, and shall perform such other duties as are required of him by law. Each male deputy inspector of workshops and factories shall be a competent and practical mechanic and each deputy inspector must devote his or her whole time and attention to the duties of the office.

SEC. 4. Districts.—The chief inspector of workshops and factories, under the direction of the chief mine inspector, shall divide the State into districts and make such assignments of deputy inspectors therein as they may see fit, and prescribe such rules and regulations for their government as the service may require. Each deputy inspector of workshops and factories shall visit the shops and factories of the district assigned to him as often as practicable, see that the laws relating to workshops and factories are enforced, performing such other duties pertaining to the department of workshops and factory inspection as the chief inspector may direct.

SEC. 5. Inspection.—Each deputy inspector of workshops and factories assigned to a district for the inspection of workshops and factories therein shall carefully inspect the sanitary conditions, systems of sewerage, situation and condition of water-closets, systems of heating, lighting, and ventilating rooms where persons are employed at labor, and means of exit in case of fire or other disasters within, or connected with, such workshops and factories. They shall examine the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drains, and machinery in and about such workshops and factories, and see that they are not so located as to be dangerous to employees when engaged in their ordinary duties, and as far as practicable, securely guarded; that they shall see that each vat, pan, or structure, filled with molten lead or hot liquor is surrounded by proper safeguards for preventing accident or injury to persons employed at or near them. For the purpose of inspection or examination required of them by law, the chief inspector of workshops and factories, and each deputy inspector, at reasonable hours may enter any workshop or factory in the State.

SEC. 6. Records.—The inspector shall make an accurate record of all examinations and inspections of the workshops and factories inspected by each, showing the date inspected, the condition in which such workshops or factories are found, the extent to which laws relating thereto are observed or violated, the progress made in the improvement of the workshops and factories, and the conditions to insure the preservation of life and health by the provisions of this act and other laws, the enforcement of which are under the direction of the bureau of workshops and factory inspection, the number of accidents or injuries received in and about such workshops and factories, with full details of each, the number of men, women, and children employed in and about such workshops and factories, the number of shops and factories in the district of each inspector, together with all other facts and information of public interest concerning the condition of the workshops and factories of the State. The data thus collected shall be forwarded to the office of the chief factory inspector on the blanks prepared for that purpose on or before the third day of each month or as the chief factory inspector may require, covering the work of the previous month. The chief mine inspector shall make a complete record of such inspections and shall forward to the Comptroller of the Treasury each month a report showing all workshops and factories inspected by the various inspectors during the previous month, the number of persons employed in each, and the inspection fee to be collected by the comptroller for the inspection of each. The chief mine inspector shall make an annual report to the governor as soon as practical after the close of each calendar year, in which shall be included all data collected under the provisions of this section, with such other information as may be deemed of public interest.

SEC. 7. Authority.—In the performance of his duties pertaining to his office, the chief inspector of workshops and factories, and each of the deputy inspectors, shall have the authority of a notary public to administer oaths and take affidavits in the administration of the duties thereof, and any false swearing shall be deemed perjury and punishable as such.

SEC. 8. Scope.—The term "workshops and factories," as used in this act, shall include the following: Manufacturing, mills, mechanical, electrical, mercantile, art, and laundering establishments; printing, telegraph, and telephone offices, department stores, or any kind of establishment wherein labor is employed or machinery used.

SEC. 9. Ventilation.—Every factory, workshop, association, or other establishment in which five or more persons are employed shall be so ventilated while work is carried on therein that the air shall not become so exhausted as to become injurious to the health of the persons employed therein, and shall also be so ventilated as to render harmless, as far as practicable, all gases, vapors, dust, or other impurities generated in the course of the manufacturing process or handicraft carried on therein.

SEC. 10. Fans, etc.—Every factory, workshop, association, or other establishment where a work or process is carried on by which dust, filaments, or injurious gases are produced or generated, that are liable to be inhaled by persons employed therein, the person, firm, or corporation by whose authority the said work or process is carried on shall cause to be provided and used in said workshop, factory, association, or establishment, exhaust fans, conveyors, receptacles, or blowers with pipes and hoods extending therefrom to each machine, contrivance, or apparatus by which dust, filaments, or injurious gases are produced or generated; or provide other mechanical means to be maintained for the purpose of carrying off or receiving and collecting such dust, filaments, devitalized air, or other impurities as may be detrimental to the health of those in, about, or in connection with such place as herein mentioned: Provided, That if natural ventilation sufficient to exclude the harmful elements above enumerated be provided, the requirement of this section shall have been complied with by such firm, corporation, association, or other establishment as herein mentioned. Said fans, blowers, pipes, and hoods shall be properly fitted and adjusted and of power and dimensions sufficient to effectually prevent the dust, filaments, or injurious gases produced or generated by said machines, contrivances, or apparatus from escaping into the atmosphere of the room or rooms of said factory, workshop, or other establishment where persons are employed.

SEC. 11. Air space.—Not less than two hundred and fifty (250) cubic feet of air space shall be provided for each employee or operative at work in a room or place within the meaning of this act between the hours of six o'clock in the morning and the hours of six o'clock in the evening, and not less than four hundred (400) cubic feet of air space for each person so employed between the hours of six o'clock in the evening and six o'clock in the morning.

SEC. 12. Fire protection.—In places of amusement wherein five or more employees are engaged in duties that appertain thereto, the owners, managers, proprietors, or other persons in charge, shall provide that such places shall be well ventilated and that adequate and sufficient fire protection shall be maintained, and that all exit doors of such amusement places shall be opened outward wherein in addition to the said five employees fifty or more patrons might be congregated.

SEC. 13. Work in tenements, etc.—No person shall hire, employ, or contract with another to manufacture, alter, repair, or finish any article in any room, apartment, or tenement unless said room, apartment, or tenement shall be well lighted and ventilated and shall contain at least five hundred (500) cubic feet of air space for every person working therein: Provided, That where children under the age of sixteen years live in such room, apartment, or tenement, they shall not engage in any work above specified without first obtaining a permit so to do from the bureau of workshop and factory inspection.

SEC. 14. Wages.—The chief or deputies of the bureau of workshop and factory inspection shall have authority to ascertain the average week by [weekly] wages of all employees other than officers, and that the failure or refusal on the part of any manager, owner, foreman, or other person in charge of any industry under inspection or investigation to furnish such information or answer any question pertaining to any inspection or investigation, shall constitute a violation of this act, and said manager, owner, foreman, or other person found guilty thereof shall be punished as provided for herein.

SEC. 15. Violation.—[Violation entails a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100, and $5 per day additional for continued violation.]

SEC. 16. Removing guards, etc.—No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to any machinery, vats, pans, or apparatus, except for the purpose of making repairs thereon, and all safeguards so removed shall be replaced promptly: Provided, When the machine or any part thereof is found to be in dangerous condition a notice shall be attached thereto, and such notice shall not be removed until the machinery is made safe, and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime, such unguarded or dangerous machinery shall not be in use.

CHAPTER 24.—Mine regulations—Washhouses

SECTIONS 1-6. Who to supply; construction, care, etc.—[Owners or others in charge of any coal mine or mines employing 50 or more persons must provide a suitable and convenient building, equipped with lockers or hangers, benches, light, heat, hot and cold water, and shower baths; floors to be of cement or concrete in the bath rooms. Employees furnish their own towels, soap, and locks, and are responsible for property left in the washhouse. Failure to comply with this act involves a fine, not less than $50 nor more than $100 for each offense, each day's violation constituting a separate offense. Injury to property is penalized by fines, $25 to $50. Separate accomodations must be furnished for whites and blacks, in the discretion of the chief mine inspector, who is charged with the enforcement of this act.]

CHAPTER 29.—Garnishment of wages of municipal employees

SECTION 1. May be garnished.—[This act provides for subjecting to garnishment the wages or other sums due employees of any county or municipality of the State, with such exemptions as are allowed employees of private employers.]

CHAPTER 171.—Railroads—Height of wires over tracks

SECTIONS 1-5. Powers of commission.—[This act requires compliance with the regulations of the railroad and public utilities commission for preventing accidents from the wires over railroad tracks. Present installations must be made to conform to such regulations. Penalties for violation are fine or imprisonment, or both.]

ACTS OF 1923

CHAPTER 7.—Administrative officials

Department of labor

SECTION 55. Powers.—The department of labor shall have power:

1. To exercise all the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the chief mine inspector, the mining statistician, the district mine inspectors, and their assistants and employees;

2. To exercise all the rights, powers, and duties vested by law in the workshop and factory inspector, his deputies, assistants, and employees;

3. To supervise the administration of the workmen's compensation law;

4. To inspect hotels now under the supervision of the food and drug inspector;

5. To collect information on the subject of labor, its relation to capital, the hours of labor, and the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity;

6. To visit and inspect during reasonable hours all shops, factories, and mercantile establishments and other places where workmen are employed as often as necessary, and to cause the provisions of law to be enforced therein;

7. To inspect the sanitary conditions, system of sewerage, system of heating, lighting, and ventilating of rooms where persons are employed at labor, and the means of exit in case of fire or other disaster within or connected with shops and factories;

8. To examine the machinery in and about workshops and factories to see that it is not located so as to be dangerous to employees when engaged in their ordinary duties;

9. To declare and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards, or other means of protection are well adapted to render employees or places of employment safe;

10. To order such reasonable changes in the construction, maintenance, and repair of places of employment as shall render them safe;

11. To require the performance of any act necessary for the protection of life, health, and safety of employees;

12. To collect and compile reliable data, which, if disseminated, would tend to the development of the State by inducing population and capital to come within its borders.

SEC. 56. Divisions.—The department of labor shall be organized under four divisions, as follows:

1. The division of mines, the head of which shall be the chief mine inspector;

2. The division of factory inspection, the head of which shall be the chief factory inspector;

3. The division of fire prevention, the head of which shall be the State fire marshal;

4. The division of workmen's compensation, the head of which shall be the superintendent of workmen's compensation.

The commissioner of labor shall act as the head of the division of fire prevention, or the division of factory inspection, or the division of mines: Provided, That no additional compensation shall be paid the commissioner for acting as head of one of the divisions. In case said commissioner of labor shall act as head of the division of mines, he shall be a person thoroughly conversant with the theory and practice of coal mining, but who is not identified with either coal operators or coal miners.

TEXAS

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE 3.—Labor organizations—Provisions of constitution

SECTION 56. Local laws forbidden.—The legislature shall not, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, pass any local or special law, * * * regulating labor, trade, mining, and manufacturing; * * *

ARTICLE 16.—Exemption of wages from garnishment

SECTION 28. Current wages exempt.—No current wages for personal service shall ever be subject to garnishment.

REVISED CIVIL STATUTES—1911

Arbitration of labor disputes—Boards of arbitration

ARTICLE 71. Arbitration lawful.—Whenever any grievance or dispute of any nature, growing out of the relation of employer and employees, shall arise or exist between employer and employees, it shall be lawful, upon mutual consent of all parties, to submit all matters respecting such grievance or dispute in writing to a board of arbitrators to hear, adjudicate, and determine the same. Said board shall consist of five persons. When the employees concerned in such grievance or dispute, as the aforesaid, are members in good standing of any labor organization which is represented by one or more delegates in a central body, the said central body shall have power to designate two of said arbitrators, and the employer shall have the power to designate two others of said arbitrators; and the said four arbitrators shall designate a fifth person as arbitrator, who shall be chairman of the board. In case the employees concerned in any such grievance or dispute, as aforesaid, are members in good standing of a labor organization which is not represented in a central body, then the organization of which they are members shall designate two members of said board, and said board shall be organized as hereinbefore provided; and in case the employees concerned in any such grievance or dispute, as aforesaid, are not members of any labor organization, then a majority of said employees, at a meeting duly held for that purpose, shall designate two arbitrators for said board; and said board shall be organized as hereinbefore provided: Provided, That when the two arbitrators shall have been selected by each of the respective parties to the controversy, the district judge of the district having jurisdiction of the subject matter shall, upon notice from either of said arbitrators that they have failed to agree upon the fifth arbitrator, appoint said fifth arbitrator.

ART. 72. Procuring license.—Any board, as aforesaid selected, may present a petition in writing to the district judge of the county where such grievance or dispute to be arbitrated may arise, signed by a majority of said board, setting forth in brief terms the facts showing their due and regular appointment, and the nature of the grievance or dispute between the parties to said arbitration, and praying the license or order of such judge establishing and approving of said board of arbitration. Upon the presentation of said petition, it shall be the duty of said judge, if it appear that all requirements of this law have been complied with, to make an order establishing such board of arbitration and referring the matters in dispute to it for hearing, adjudication, and determination. The said petition and order, or a copy thereof, shall be filed in the office of the district clerk of the county in which the arbitration is sought.

ART. 73. Different labor organizations.—When a controversy involves and affects the interests of two or more classes or grades of employees belonging to different labor organizations, or of individuals who are not members of a labor organization, then the two arbitrators selected by the employees shall be agreed upon and selected by the concurrent action of all such labor organization and a majority of such individuals who are not members of a labor organization.

ART. 74. Submission of claims.—The submission shall be in writing, shall be signed by the employer or receiver and the labor organization representing the employees, or any laborer or laborers to be affected by such arbitration who may not belong to any labor organization, shall state the question to be decided, and shall contain appropriate provisions by which the respective parties shall stipulate as follows:

1. That pending the arbitration the existing status prior to any disagreement or strike shall not be changed.

2. That the award shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which said arbitration is held, and shall be final and conclusive upon both parties, unless set aside for error of law, apparent on the record.

3. That the respective parties to the award will each faithfully execute the same, and that the same may be specifically enforced in equity so far as the powers of a court of equity permit.

4. That the employees dissatisfied with the award shall not, by reason of such dissatisfaction, quit the service of said employer or receiver before the expiration of thirty days, nor without giving said employer or receiver thirty days' written notice of their intention so to quit.

5. That said award shall continue in force as between the parties thereto for the period of one year after the same shall go into practical operation; and no new arbitration upon the same subject between the same parties shall be had until the expiration of said one year.

ART. 75. Organization.—The arbitrators so selected shall sign a consent to act as such and shall take and subscribe an oath before some officer authorized to administer the same to faithfully and impartially discharge his duties as such arbitrator, which consent and oath shall be immediately filed in the office of the clerk of the district court wherein such arbitrators are to act. When said board is ready for the transaction of business, it shall select one of its members to act as secretary and the parties to the dispute shall receive notice of a time and place of hearing, which shall be not more than ten days after such agreement to arbitrate has been filed.

ART. 76. Powers.—The chairman shall have power to administer oaths and to issue subpœnas for the production of books and papers and for the attendance of witnesses, to the same extent that such power is possessed by the court of record, or the judge thereof in this State. The board may make and enforce the rules for its government and transaction of the business before it and fix its sessions and adjournment, and shall herein [hear and] examine such witnesses as may be brought before the board, and such other proof as may be given relative to the matter in dispute.

ART. 77. Powers cease, when.—When said board shall have rendered its adjudication and determination, its powers shall cease, unless there may be at the time in existence other similar grievances or disputes between the same class of persons mentioned in article 71, and in such case such persons may submit their differences to said board, which shall have power to act and adjudicate and determine the same as fully as if said board was originally created for the settlement of such difference or differences.

ART. 78. Status quo to be maintained.—During the pendency of arbitration under this chapter it shall not be lawful for the employer or receiver party to such arbitration, nor his agent, to discharge the employees parties thereto, except for inefficiency, violation of law, or neglect of duty, or where reduction of force is necessary, nor for the organization representing such employees to order, nor for the employees to unite in, aid, or abet strikes or boycotts against such employer or receiver.

ART. 79. Compensation.—Each of the said board of arbitrators shall receive three dollars per day for every day in actual service, not to exceed ten days, and traveling expenses not to exceed five cents per mile actually traveled in getting to, or returning from, the place where the board is in session. The fees of witnesses of the aforesaid board shall be fifty cents for each day's attendance and five cents per mile traveled by the nearest route to, and returning from, the place where attendance is required by the board. All subpœnas shall be signed by the secretary of the board and may be served by any person of full age authorized by the board to serve the same. And the fees and mileage of witnesses and the per diem and traveling expenses of said arbitrators shall be taxed as costs against either or all of the parties to said arbitration, as the board of arbitrators may deem just, and shall constitute part of their award; and each of the parties to said arbitration shall, before the arbitrators proceed to consider the matters submitted to them, give a bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, in an amount to be fixed by the board of arbitration, conditioned for the payment of all expenses connected with the said arbitration.

ART. 80. Award.—The award shall be made in triplicate. One copy shall be filed in the district clerk's office, one copy shall be given to the employer or receiver, and one copy to the employees or their duly authorized representative. The award, being filed in the clerk's office of the district court, as hereinbefore provided, shall go into practical operation, and judgment shall be entered thereon accordingly at the expiration of ten days from such filing, unless within such ten days either party shall file exceptions thereto for matter of law apparent on the record; in which case said award shall go into practical operation, and judgment shall be rendered accordingly when such exceptions shall have been fully disposed of by either said district court or on appeal therefrom.

ART. 81. Entry of judgment.—At the expiration of ten days from the decision of the district court, upon exceptions taken to said award as aforesaid, judgment shall be entered in accordance with said decision, unless during the said ten days either party shall appeal therefrom to the court of civil appeals holding jurisdiction thereof. In such case only such portion of the record shall be transmitted to the appellate court as is necessary to the proper understanding and consideration of the questions of law presented by said exceptions and to be decided. The determination of said court of civil appeals upon said questions shall be final, and being certified by the clerk of said court of civil appeals, judgment pursuant thereto shall thereupon be entered by said district court. If exceptions to an award are finally sustained, judgment shall be entered setting aside the award: but in such case the parties may agree upon a judgment to be entered disposing of the subject matter of the controversy, which judgment, when entered, shall have the same force and effect as judgment entered upon an award.

Exemption of wages from garnishment

ARTICLE 306. Current wages exempt.—No current wages for personal service shall be subject to garnishment; and where it appears upon the trial that the garnishee is indebted to the defendant for such current wages, the garnishee shall nevertheless be discharged as to such indebtedness.

Labor organizations—Incorporation

ARTICLE 1120. Who may incorporate.—Private corporations may be created by the voluntary association of three or more persons for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

ART. 1121. Purposes.—The purposes for which private corporations may be formed are:

* * * * * * *

48. The organization of laborers, workingmen, wage earners, and farmers to protect themselves in their various pursuits.

Safety of employees—Bands, ties, etc., of cotton bales

ARTICLE 1322. Requirements as to bands, ties, etc.—Every person, firm, corporation, or association of persons owning or operating a compress in this State, and their agents and employees, are hereby required, in compressing, recompressing, baling, or rebaling cotton bales, to so bind and tie every bale of cotton by them compressed, recompressed, baled, or rebaled that no such bale shall be delivered to any railroad company, or other common carrier, by such person, firm, corporation, or association of persons, their agents or employees, unless such bale of cotton shall be free from all or any dangerously exposed ends of bands or buckles, or any dangerously exposed or protruding part of the ties, bands, buckles, or splices used in tying or binding such bale of cotton. And any such person, firm, corporation, or association of persons who shall fail to bind or tie any bale of cotton by them compressed, recompressed, baled, or rebaled in the manner above provided and shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, any such bale of cotton to any railroad company, or other common carrier, such person, firm, corporation, or association of persons shall forfeit and pay to the State of Texas the sum of not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred and fifty dollars, which may be recovered in a civil suit brought in the name of the State of Texas in a court of competent jurisdiction.

ART. 1323. Liability.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons receiving for storage, loading for transportation, or transporting any such compressed bale or bales of cotton in this State containing any dangerously exposed ends of bands or buckles, or any dangeronsly protruding part or parts of the ties, bands, buckles or splices used in tying or binding such bale or bales of cotton, shall be liable in damages for injury to any person in the employ of such person, firm, corporation, or association of persons occasioned by reason of such dangerously exposed ends of bands or buckles, or any dangerously exposed or protruding part or parts of the ties, bands, buckles, or splices used in tying or binding such bale or bales of cotton, while in the discharge of the duties of such employment. The duty of inspection of such bales of cotton shall be on the employer and not on the employee.

ART. 1324. Enforcement.—It shall be especially the duty of the commissioner of labor and his deputies to see that the provisions of articles 1322 and 1323 hereof are observed and enforced; and, in pursuance thereof, he shall obtain and collect evidence of all violations of said provisions upon the part of persons, firms, corporations, and associations of persons engaged in the business of compressing cotton who shall fail to comply with the said provisions. The commissioner of labor shall file annual statements with the governor, showing in detail all expenses incurred by him in connection with his duties under this act.

Suits against railroad companies

ARTICLE 1830. Venue.—[Paragraph 26 of this article fixes the venue of actions for personal injuries or death, either in the county where the injury occurred or where the plaintiff resided at the time of the injury, if there is an agent in the latter; if not, then in the nearest county where there is an agent.

Paragraph 27 authorizes suits for wages either in the county where earned or where the railroad company has its principal office.]

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships

ARTICLE 2135. Rank.—[Wage payments in receiverships rank next after costs of the suit.]

Suits for wages—Attorneys' fees

ARTICLE 2178. Fee allowed, when.—[If wages are not paid 30 days after demand, suit may be brought in the proper county; and if the full amount of the demand is recovered, all costs may be recovered, and if an attorney is employed a reasonable fee, not over $20, to be fixed by the court or jury.]

Exemption of wages from attachment, etc.

ARTICLE 3785. Current wages.—[Current wages for personal service are exempt to every family from any species of forced sale.]

ART. 3788. Same.—[This makes the same provision for persons not constituents of a family.]

ART. 3793. Exceptions.—[Claims for rent, landlord's advances, and debts secured by liens are not affected by the above exemptions.]

Bureau of labor statistics

ARTICLE 5235. Bureau created.—The bureau of labor statistics shall be under the charge and control of a commissioner of labor statistics.

ART. 5236. Commissioner.—The commissioner of labor statistics shall be appointed by the governor, whose term of office shall begin on the first day of February of every odd-numbered year, and shall continue for two years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. The commissioner may be removed for cause by the governor, record thereof being made in his office [sic], and any vacancy shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment. Said commissioner shall give bond in the sum of two thousand dollars, with sureties to be approved by the governor, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, and he shall also take the oath of office prescribed by the constitution. He shall have an office in the capitol building; and, except as hereinafter provided, he shall safely keep and shall deliver to his successors all records, papers, documents, correspondence, and property pertaining to or coming into his hands by virtue of his office.

ART. 5237. Duties.—The commissioner shall collect, assort, systematize, and present in biennial reports to the governor, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in Texas, and especially as affecting or bearing upon the commercial, social, educational, and sanitary conditions of the employees and their families, the means of escape from dangers incident to their employment, the protection of life and health in factories and other places of employment, the labor of children and of women and the number of hours of labor exacted of them, and, in general, all matters and things which affect or tend to affect the prosperity of the mechanical, manufacturing, and productive industries of this State, and of the persons employed therein. Said commissioner shall, also, as fully as may be done, collect reliable reports and information from each county, showing the amount and condition of the mechanical, mining, and manufacturing interests therein, and all sites offering natural or acquired advantages for the location and operation of any of the different branches of industry, and he shall, by correspondence with interested parties in other parts of the United States, or in foreign countries, impart to them such information as may tend to induce the location of manufacturing and producing plants within the State, together with such information as may tend to increase the employment of labor and the products of such employment in Texas.

ART. 5238. Reports.—In each biennial report the commissioner shall give a full statement of the business of the bureau since the last preceding report, and such information as may be of value to the industrial interests and to persons employed therein, showing, among other things, the number of laborers and mechanics employed; the number of apprentices in each trade, with the nativity of such laborers, mechanics, and apprentices, the wages earned, the savings from the same; the age and sex of the persons employed; the number and character of accidents; the sanitary conditions of places where persons are employed; the restrictions put upon apprentices when indentured; the proportion of married employees living in rented houses, with the average rental paid; the value of property owned by such employees; and a statement as to the progress made in schools in operation for the instruction of students in mechanic arts and what systems have been found most practical; but such reports shall not contain more than six hundred printed pages, and the same shall be printed and distributed in such manner as is or may be provided by law.

ART. 5239. Powers.—The commissioner shall have power to issue subpœnas, administer oaths, and take testimony in all matters related to the duties herein required of the said bureau, but such testimony must be taken in the vicinity of the residence or office of the person testifying.

ART. 5240. Returns to be retained two years.—No report or return made to the bureau under the provisions of this chapter or the penal laws of this State, and no schedule, record, or document gathered or returned by its officers or employees shall be destroyed within two years of the collection or receipt thereof; but at the expiration of two years all such reports, returns, schedules, records, and documents as shall be considered by the commissioner to be of no further value shall be destroyed: Provided, That the permission of the governor shall first be obtained for such destruction.

ART. 5241. Action on complaint.—Upon the written complaint of two or more persons, or upon his failure otherwise to obtain information in accordance with the provisions of this law, the commissioner shall have the power to enter any factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, or other establishment or place where five or more persons are employed at work when the same is open and in operation, for the purpose of gathering facts and statistics, such as are contemplated by this chapter, and for the purpose of examining into the methods of protecting employees from danger and the sanitary conditions in and around such building or place, of all of which the said commissioner shall make and return [to] the bureau of labor statistics a true and detailed record in writing.

ART. 5242. Attorneys to act, when.—If the commissioner shall learn of any violation of the law with respect to the employment of children, or fire escapes, or the safety of employees, or the preservation of health, or in any other way affecting the employees, he shall at once give written notice of the facts to the county or district attorney of the county in which the law has been violated, or of some other county, if any there be, having jurisdiction of the offense, and the county or district attorney to whom such notice has been given shall immediately institute the proper proceedings against the guilty person.

ART. 5243 (as amended 1919, ch. 106). Salary.—The commissioner of the bureau of labor statistics shall receive a salary of $3,000 per annum, payable monthly, and he shall be allowed a secretary at a salary of $1,800 per annum; an assistant secretary and stenographer at a salary of $1,500 per annum; a chief deputy at a salary of $2,000 per annum; six deputies at a salary of $1,800 each per annum; a chief of the woman's division at a salary of $2,000 per annum; and two women inspectors at a salary of $1,800 each per annum—each to be appointed by him—and such assistants and employees as the legislature may at any time in the future authorize, within the limits of the appropriations made therefor. The commissioner shall also be allowed necessary postage, stationery, printing, and other expenses to transact the business of the bureau, within the limits of the appropriations made therefor, and the salary shall be paid as in the case of other State officers and employees. In addition to his salary, the commissioner and any employee of the bureau shall be allowed his actual necessary traveling expenses while in the performance of duties required by this act and within the limits of the appropriations made therefor.

Labor combinations not unlawful

ARTICLE 5244. Workingmen may organize.—It shall be lawful for any and all persons engaged in any kind of work or labor, manual or mental, or both, to associate themselves together and form trade-unions and other organizations for the purpose of protecting themselves in their personal work, personal labor, and personal service in their respective pursuits and employments.

ART. 5245. Persuading to quit work.—It shall not be held unlawful for any member or members of such trade-union or other organization or association, or any other person, to induce or attempt to induce by peaceable and lawful means, any person to accept any particular employment or quit or relinquish any particular employment in which such person may then be engaged, or to enter any pursuit, or refuse to enter any pursuit, or quit or relinquish any pursuit in which such person may then be engaged: Provided, That such member or members shall not have the right to invade or trespass upon the premises of another without the consent of the owner thereof.

ART. 5246. Application of law.—The foregoing articles shall not be held to apply to any combination or combinations, association or associations, of capital, or capital and persons, natural or artificial, formed for the purpose of limiting the production or consumption of labor's products, or for any other purpose in restraint of trade: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be held to interfere with the terms and conditions of private contract with regard to the time of service, or other stipulations between employers and employees: Provided, further, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to repeal, affect, or diminish the force and effect of any statute now existing on the subject of trusts, conspiracies against trade, pools and monopolies.

Action for personal injuries—Notice

ARTICLE 5714. Contracts as to notice.—* * * no stipulation in any contract between a person, corporation, or receiver operating railroad, or street railway or interurban railroad, and an employee or servant requiring notice of a claim by an employee or servant for damages for injury received to the person, or by a husband, wife, father, mother, child, or children of a deceased employee for his or her death, caused by negligence as a condition precedent to liability, shall ever be valid. * * *

Mine regulations

ARTICLES 5923–5932. Mining board; inspector.—[These articles provide for a board representative of miners and operators, appointed by the governor, to pass upon the qualifications of persons seeking appointment as State inspector of mines, who is appointed by the governor on recommendation of the board. The inspector must be a citizen, resident in Texas at least one year, 30 years of age, of good repute, and at least 5 years' experience. The board must meet twice yearly, and exercises supervision over the inspector; it receives a per diem and expenses. The inspector receives $2,000 and traveling expenses. A bond of $10,000 is required, which may be sued upon to recover damages due to discrimination in the performance of his work.]

ARTS. 5933–5946. Regulations.—[These articles embody a brief code applicable to coal mines. They require safe traveling ways, gates, cages, etc., the installation of speaking tubes, suitable ventilation, manholes, a supply of timbers, regulate the use of cages, powder, oil, and safety lamps, require the rules to be posted, and authorize the employees to employ a checkweighman.]

Railroad regulations

ARTICLE 6581. Shelters required, when.—Every person, corporation, or receiver engaged in constructing or repairing railroad cars, trucks, or other railroad equipment, shall erect and maintain a building or shed at every station or other point where as many as five men are regularly employed on such repair work, the building or shed to cover a sufficient portion of its track so as to provide that all men regularly employed in the construction and repair of cars, trucks, or other railroad equipment shall be sheltered from rain and protected from other inclement weather. The provisions of this article shall not apply at points where less than five men are regularly employed in the repair service, nor at division terminals, or other points where it is necessary to make light repairs only on cars, nor to cars loaded with time or perishable freight, nor to cars when trains are being held for the movement of said cars.

ART. 6582. Violations.—[Fines of from $50 to $100 are penalties for violations; each 10 days' failure to comply is considered a separate offense.]

Wages of railroad employees—Notice of reduction

ARTICLE 6620. Notice required.—All persons in the employment of such railway company [any railroad company or corporation] shall be entitled to receive thirty days' notice from said company before their wages can be reduced by such company; and, in all cases of reduction, the employee shall be entitled to receive from such company wages at his contract price for the full term of thirty days after such notice is given, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

ART. 6621. Form, etc., of notice.—The notice referred to in the preceding article is declared to mean thirty full days immediately prior to the day upon which such reduction is to take effect, and may be given by posting written or printed handbills, specifying the parties whose wages are to be reduced and the amount of such reduction, in at least three conspicuous places in or about each shop, section house, station, depot, train or other places where said employees are at work: Provided, Such employee shall, within fifteen days from the date of such notice, inform such railway company, by posting like notices as given by such railway company, whether he will or will not accept such reduction; and, if no such information is given such company by such employee, then such employee shall forfeit his right to such notice, and such reduction shall take effect from the date of such notice, instead of at the expiration of thirty days.

ART. 6622. Penalty.—Any railway company violating or evading any of the provisions of the preceding article[s] shall pay to each employee affected thereby one month's extra wages, to be recovered by such employee in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

ARTICLE 6640. Acts of fellow servants.—Every person, receiver, or corporation operating a railroad or street railway, the line of which shall be situated in whole or in part in this State, shall be liable for all damages sustained by any servant or employee thereof while engaged in the work of operating the cars, locomotives or trains of such person, receiver, or corporation, by reason of the negligence of any other servant or employee of such person, receiver, or corporation, and the fact that such servants or employees were fellow servants with each other shall not impair or destroy such liability.

Hand cars are cars within the meaning of this section, 57 S. W. 137.
A member of a section gang carrying tools on foot and others using a hand car for the same purpose were held not to be fellow servants. 57 S. W. 802.

ART. 6641. Vice principals defined.—All persons engaged in the service of any person, receiver, or corporation controlling or operating a railroad or street railway, the line of which shall be situated in whole or in part in this State who are intrusted by such person, receiver, or corporation with the authority of superintendence, control or command of other servants or employees of such person, receiver, or corporation, or with the authority to direct any other employee in the performance of any duty of such employee, are vice principals of such person, receiver, or corporation, and are not fellow servants with their coemployees.

ART. 6642. Fellow servants defined.—All persons who are engaged in the common service of such person, receiver, or corporation controlling or operating a railroad or street railway, and who while so employed are in the same grade of employment and are doing the same character of work or service, and are working together at the same time and place, and at the same piece of work and to a common purpose, are fellow servants with each other. Employees who do not come within the provisions of this article shall not be considered fellow servants.

ART. 6643. Contracts limiting liability.—No contract made between the employer and employee based upon the contingency of death or injury of the employee and limiting the liability of the employer under the preceding articles of this chapter, or fixing damages to be recovered, shall be valid or binding.

ART. 6644. Contributory negligence.—Nothing in preceding articles of this chapter shall be held to impair or diminish the defense of contributory negligence when the injury of the servant or employee is caused proximately by his own contributory negligence, except as otherwise provided in this chapter [arts. 6640–6644].

ART. 6645 (as amended 1921, ch. 100). Assumed risk; negligence.—The plea of assumed risk shall not be available as a bar to recovery of damages in any suit hereafter brought in any court of this State against any corporation, receiver, or other person, operating any railroad, interurban railway, or street railway in this State, for the recovery of damages for the death or personal injury of any employee or servant caused by the wrong or negligence of such person, corporation, or receiver; it being contemplated that while the employee does assume the ordinary risk incident to his employment he does not assume the risk resulting from any negligence on the part of his employer, though known to him.

Where, however, in any such suit, it is alleged and proven that such deceased or injured employee was chargeable with negligence in continuing in the service of any such corporation, receiver, or person above named in view of the risk, dangers, and hazards of which he knew, or must necessarily have known, in the ordinary performance of his duties, such fact shall not operate to defeat a recovery, but the same shall be treated and considered as constituting contributory negligence and if proximately causing or contributing to cause the death or injury in question, it shall have the effect of diminishing the amount of damages recoverable by such employee, or his heirs, or representatives in case of the employee's death, only in proportion to the amount of negligence so attributable to such employee.

ART. 6646. Defenses abrogated.—Any employee of any common carrier engaged in any intrastate commerce, as provided in articles 6640 and 6641 of this title, who may be injured or killed shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment, or to have been guilty of contributory negligence, if the violation of such carrier of any of the provisions of said articles contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

ART. 6647. Assumption of risk.—Employees of railway companies employed by said companies in the operation of trains within this State, propelled by two or more engines, shall not be held to assume the risk, if any there be, incident to their employment: Provided, That they be injured while engaged in operation of such trains: And provided further, That such injury was occasioned by reason of the operation of two or more engines on such train instead of one.

ART. 6648. Liability on account of.—Every corporation, receiver, or other person, operating any railroad in this State, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier operating such railroad, or in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representatives for the benefit of the surviving widow and children, or husband and children, and mother and father of the deceased, and, if none, then of the next kin dependent upon such employee for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier; or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment: Provided, That the amount recovered shall not be liable for the debts of deceased and shall be divided among the persons entitled to the benefit of the action or such of them as shall be alive, in such shares as the jury, or court trying the case without a jury, shall deem proper: And provided, That in case of the death of such employee, the action may be brought without administration by all the parties entitled thereto, or by any one or more of them for the benefit of all, and, if all parties be not before the court, the action may proceed for the benefit of such of said parties as are before the court.

ART. 6649. Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier or railroad under or by virtue of any of the provisions of the foregoing article and the three succeeding articles to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violations by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

ART. 6650. Assumption of risks.—Any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of the two preceding articles to recover damages for injuries to or the death of any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where the violation of such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

ART. 6651. Contracts of waiver.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by the three preceding articles shall to that extent be void: Provided, That, in any action brought against any such common carrier under or by virtue of said articles, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee, or the person entitled thereto, on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

ART. 6652. Construction of act.—Nothing in the provisions of the four preceding articles shall be held to limit the duty or liability of common carriers, or to impair the rights of employees, under other articles of this chapter, or under the provisions of the Revised Civil Statutes, but, in case of conflict, these articles shall prevail; and nothing in said article shall affect the prosecution of any pending proceeding or right of action under any of the laws of this State.

This statute is not class legislation and is constitutional. 134 S. W. 819.

Railroads—Regulations

ARTICLE 6702. Interlocking devices.—In any case where the tracks of two or more railways cross each other at a common grade in this State, it shall be the duty of such railroad company to protect such crossings by interlocking or other safety devices and regulations to be designated by the Railroad Commission of Texas, to prevent trains colliding at such crossings.

ART. 6706. Use of two locomotives on train.—Where an unreasonable degree of hazard results to its employees, it is hereby declared to be an abuse of its franchise and privileges for any railroad company, or receiver, operating a line of railroad in this State to run or operate more than one working locomotive at the same time in propelling or moving any one train of cars, except in moving trains up steep grades, or where a locomotive propelling the train becomes temporarily disabled after leaving the terminal; and it shall be the duty of the railroad commission to investigate such abuses and see that the same are corrected, regulated, or prohibited as hereinafter provided.

ART. 6707. Commission to issue order.—After such investigation, should the railroad commission decide to regulate or forbid the practice of using more than one working locomotive in the operation of any train at the same time on any railroad or part of railroad within this State, then it shall be their duty to make and record an order fully setting forth their decision and clearly designating the railroad or part of railroad on which such practice is forbidden or regulated and how regulated. Notice of said order shall be served upon said railroad affected by it. Said notice shall contain in full a copy of said order and shall be directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county where the general offices of such railroad are located; and a copy of the same shall be delivered by the officer executing the same to the president, or the vice president, or the general manager, or the general superintendent, or any general officer of said railroad in this State residing in said county; and said officer executing said writ shall make his return on the original and deliver the same with his return forthwith to the commission.

ART. 6708. Violations.—[Violations of order after 10 days' notice are punishable by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000 for each offense.]

REVISED CRIMINAL STATUTES—1911

Protection of employees as voters

ARTICLE 244. Refusing privilege of voting.—Any person or corporation who refuses to an employee entitled to vote the privilege of attending the polls, or subjects such employee to a penalty or deduction of wages because of the exercise of such privilege, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Labor organizations—Unauthorized use of badges

ARTICLE 425. Penalty for unauthorized use of badges.—Any person who shall willfully and without due authority use or wear the badge, label, or button or other emblem of * * * any labor organization, or any order, society, or organization in the State of Texas, or who shall use or wear the same to obtain aid or assistance or patronage thereby within this State, unless he shall be entitled to use or wear the same under the rules and regulations of * * * any labor organization, or any order, society, or organization in the State of Texas, whose badge, label, or button or other emblem was so used or worn, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned for a term not exceeding sixty days, or both, at the discretion of the court or jury trying the case.

Intimidation of employees

ARTICLE 435. Definition.—An "unlawful assembly" is the meeting of three or more persons with intent to aid each other by violence, or in any other manner either to commit an offense, or illegally to deprive any person of any right, or to disturb him in the enjoyment thereof.

ART. 445. Interference with employment.—If the purpose of the unlawful assembly be to prevent any person from pursuing any labor, occupation, or employment, or to intimidate any person from following his daily avocation, or to interfere in any manner with the labor or employment of another, the punishment shall be by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Strikers who prevented a train from running and being operated were guilty of an offense under this section, as interfering with the labor and employment of the conductor in charge of said train. 23 C. App. 330.

ART. 460. Same subject.—If any person, by engaging in a riot, shall prevent any other person from pursuing any labor, occupation, or employment, or intimidate any other person from following his daily avocation, or interfere in any manner with the labor or employment of another, he shall be punished by confinement in the county jail not less than six months nor more than one year.

Employment of children to support parents in idleness

ARTICLE 634. Who are vagrants.—The following persons are and shall be punished as vagrants, viz:

* * * * * * *

(n) All persons who are able to work and do not work, but hire out their minor children, or allow them to be hired out, and live upon their wages being without other means of support.

* * * * * * *

Interference with employment

ARTICLE 1021. Act of individuals.—Any person who shall, by threatening words, or by acts of violence or intimidation, prevent or attempt to prevent another from engaging or remaining in or from performing the duties of any lawful employment, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars, or by confinement not less than one nor more than six months in the county jail.

Blacklisting—Protection of employees as to trading

ART. 1192. Evidence.—In prosecution for the violation of any of the provisions of this law, evidence that any person has acted as the agent of a corporation in the transaction of its business in this State shall be received as prima facie proof that his act in the name, behalf, or interest of the corporation, of which he was acting as the agent, was the act of the corporation.

ART. 1193. Definition.—He is also guilty of "blacklisting" who places, or causes to be placed, the name of any discharged employee, or any employee who has voluntarily left the service of any individual, firm, company, or corporation on any book or list, or publishes it in any newspaper, periodical, letter, or circular, with the intent to prevent said employees from employment of any kind with any other person, firm, corporation, or company, either in a public or private capacity.

ART. 1194. Blacklisting forbidden.—No corporation, company, or individual shall blacklist or publish, or cause to be blacklisted or published, any employee, mechanic, or laborer discharged by such corporation, company or individual, with the intent and for the purpose of preventing such employee, mechanic, or laborer from engaging in or securing similar or other employment from any other corporation, company, or individual.

ART. 1195. Violations.—[Violations of articles 1193 and 1194 are punishable by fine of not less than $50 nor more than $250 or imprisonment 30 to 90 days, or both.]

ART. 1196. Act construed.—But this law shall not be construed as prohibiting any corporation, company, or individual from giving in writing, on application from such discharged employee, or any corporation, company, or individual who may desire to employ such discharged employee, a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge: Provided, That said written cause of discharge, when so made by such person, agent, company, or corporation, shall never be used as the cause for an action for libel, either civil or criminal, against the person, agent, company, or corporation so furnishing same.

ART. 1197. Restriction of employees as to trading.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, corporation, or firm, or any agent, manager, or board of managers, or servant of any corporation or firm in this State to coerce or require any servant or employee to deal with or purchase any article of food, clothing, or merchandise of any kind whatever from any person, association, corporation, or company, or at any place or store whatever. And it shall be unlawful for any such person or persons, or agent, manager, or board of managers, or servants to exclude from work or to punish or blacklist any of said employees for failure to deal with any such person or persons, or any firm, company, or corporation or to purchase any article of food, clothing or merchandise whatever at any store or any place whatever.

ART. 1198. Violations.—[Violations entail fine, not less than $50 nor more than $200, for each offense.]

ART. 1199. Enforcement.—Upon the application of the attorney general or of any district or county attorney made to any justice of the peace in this

State, and stating that he has reason to believe that a witness, who is to be found in the county of which such justice of the peace is an officer, knows of a violation of any of the provisions of this chapter, it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace to whom such application is made to have summoned and to have examined such witness in relation to violations of any of the provisions of this chapter, said witness to be summoned as provided for in criminal cases. The said witness shall be duly sworn, and the justice of the peace shall cause the statements of the witness to be reduced to writing and signed and sworn to before him; and such sworn statement shall be delivered to the attorney general, district or county attorney, upon whose application the witness was summoned. Should the witness, summoned as aforesaid, fail to appear or to make statements of the facts within his knowledge, under oath, or to sign the same after it has been reduced to writing, he shall be guilty of contempt of court and may be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars and may be attached and imprisoned in the county jail until he shall make a full statement of all the facts within his knowledge with reference to the matter inquired about. Any person so summoned and examined shall not be liable to prosecution for any violation of the provisions of this chapter about which he may testify fully and without reserve.

Intimidation of employees—Preventing the running of trains

ARTICLE 1257. Preventing the running of trains.—Any person or persons who shall, by force, threats, or intimidation of any kind whatever against any railroad engineer or engineers or any conductor, brakeman, or other officer or employee employed or engaged in running any passenger train, freight train, or construction train running upon any railroad in this State, prevent the moving or running of said passenger, freight, or construction train shall be deemed guilty of an offense, and upon conviction thereof each and every person so offending shall be fined in a sum not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars and also imprisoned in the county jail for any period of time not less than three months nor more than twelve months.

ART. 1258. Separate offenses.—Each day said train or trains mentioned in the preceding article are prevented from moving on their road, as specified in the preceding article, shall be deemed a separate offense, and shall be punished as prescribed in the preceding article.

Antitrust law—Boycotting, etc.

ARTICLE 1454. Definition of trust.—A "trust" is a combination of capital, skill, or acts by two or more persons, firms, corporations, or associations of persons, or either two or more of them for either, any, or all of the following purposes:

1. To create or which may tend to create or carry out restrictions in trade or commerce or aids to commerce, or in the preparation of any product for market or transportation, or to create or carry out restrictions in the free pursuit of any business authorized or permitted by the laws of this State.

2. To fix, maintain, increase, or reduce the price of merchandise, produce, or commodities, or the cost of insurance, or of the preparation of any product for market or transportation.

3. To prevent or lessen competition in the manufacture, making, transportation, sale, or purchase of merchandise, produce, or commodities, or the business of insurance, or to prevent or lessen competition in aids to commerce, or in the preparation of any product for market or transportation.

4. To fix or maintain any standard or figure whereby the price of any article or commodity of merchandise, produce, or commerce, or the cost of transportation, or insurance, or the preparation of any product for market or transportation shall be in any manner affected, controlled, or established.

5. To make, enter into, maintain, execute, or carry out any contract, obligation, or agreement by which the parties thereto bind or have bound themselves not to sell, dispose of, transport, or to prepare for market or transportation any article or commodity or to make any contract of insurance at a price below a common standard or figure, or by which they shall agree in any manner to keep the price of such article or commodity, or charge for transportation or insurance, or the cost of the preparation of any product for market or transportation at a fixed or graded figure, or by which they shall in any manner affect or maintain the price of any commodity or article, or the cost of transportation or insurance, or the cost of the preparation of any product for market or transportation between them or themselves and others to preclude a free and unrestricted competition among themselves or others in the sale or transportation of any such article or commodity or business of transportation or insurance, or the preparation of any product for market or transportation, or by which they shall agree to pool, combine, or unite any interest they may have in connection with the sale or purchase of any article or commodity, or charge for transportation or insurance, or charge for the preparation of any product for market or transportation whereby its price or such charge might be in any manner affected.

6. To regulate, fix, or limit the output of any article or commodity which may be manufactured, mined, produced, or sold, or the amount of insurance which may be undertaken, or the amount of work that may be done in the preparation of any product for market or transportation.

7. To abstain from engaging in or continuing business, or from the purchase or sale of merchandise, produce, or commodities partially or entirely within the State of Texas or any portion thereof.

ART. 1456. Conspiracy.—Either or any of the following acts shall constitute a conspiracy in restraint of trade:

1. Where any two or more persons, firms, corporations, or associations of persons who are engaged in buying or selling any article of merchandise, produce, or any commodity enter into an agreement or understanding to refuse to buy from or sell to any other person, firm, corporation, or association of persons any article of merchandise, produce or commodity.

2. Where any two or more persons, firms, corporations, or associations of persons shall agree to boycott or threaten to refuse to buy from or sell to any person, firm, corporation, or association of persons for buying from or selling to any other person, firm, corporation, or association of persons.

ART. 1457. Illegality.—Any and all trusts, * * * and conspiracies in restraint of trade, as herein defined, are hereby prohibited and declared to be illegal.

ART. 1464. Violations.—[Penalty for each day's violation is a fine of $50.]

ART. 1465. Certain contracts void.—Any contract or agreement in violation of the provisions of this chapter shall be absolutely void and not enforceable either in law or equity.

ART. 1466. Penalty.—And in addition to all other penalties and forfeitures herein provided for every person violating the provisions of this chapter shall be further punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than ten years.

Railroads—Hours of labor of telegraph, etc., operators

ARTICLE 1555. Working overtime.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad telegraph or telephone operator to work more than eight hours in twenty-four consecutive hours at such occupation, and any such operator violating this article shall pay a fine in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars: Provided, That in case of an emergency any operator may remain on duty for an additional two hours.

Railroads—Cars, etc., to be repaired within the State

ARTICLE 1561. Cars, etc., to be repaired within the State, when.—All railroad corporations operating in the State of Texas and having their repair shops within the State shall and are hereby required to repair, renovate, or rebuild in the State of Texas any and all defective or broken cars, coaches, locomotives, or other equipment owned or leased by said corporations in the State of Texas when such rolling stock is within the State of Texas: Provided, That such railway shall have or be under obligation to have proper facilities in the State to do such work: And provided, This chapter shall not be so construed as to require any railway corporation to violate the safety appliance law of the Congress of the United States: And provided further, That no railway shall be required to haul such disabled equipment a greater distance for repairs at a point within the State of Texas than would be necessary to reach their repair shops in another State: And provided further, That no such railway company shall haul or be permitted to haul for purposes of repair any disabled equipment by or past any shop owned or operated by any such company where said disabled equipment can be repaired in order to reach some other repair shop at a greater distance for purposes of repairing said disabled equipment: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to companies having less than sixty continuous miles of railroad in operation in this State.

ART. 1562. Sending defective cars out of State.—All railroad corporations operating in the State of Texas and having their repair shops within the State shall be prohibited from sending or removing any of their cars, coaches, locomotives, or other equipment out of the State of Texas to be repaired, renovated, or rebuilt when the same is in a defective or broken condition and within the State.

ART. 1563. Exemptions.—The provisions of this chapter shall not apply in cases of strikes, fires, or other unforeseen casualties and emergencies.

ART. 1564. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $100 to $500.]

ARTICLES 1585, 1586. [See arts. 5237, 5239, p. 1027.]

ART. 1587. Reports of employers.—It shall be the duty of every owner, manager, and superintendent of every factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, or any other establishment or place where five or more persons are employed at work to make to the bureau of labor statistics, upon blanks to be furnished by such bureau, such reports and returns as said bureau may require for the purpose of securing such labor statistics as are contemplated by this chapter; and such reports and returns shall be made within not to exceed sixty days from the receipt of the blanks furnished by the commissioner or by the bureau, and the same shall be verified under oath. Any owner, manager, superintendent, or other person in charge or control of any factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, or other establishment or place where five or more persons are employed at work, who shall neglect or refuse to make such reports and returns as are required by the provisions of this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed thirty days.

ART. 1588. Names not to be disclosed.—In the reports made by the commissioner of labor statistics to the governor the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying information under the provisions of this chapter shall not be disclosed, nor shall the name of any such individual, firm, or corporation be communicated to any person or persons except such as are employed in the bureau of labor statistics; and any officer or employee of such bureau violating any of the provisions of this article shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not to exceed five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days.

ARTS. 1589, 1590. [See arts. 5241, 5242, pp. 1027, 1028.]

ART. 1591. Hindering commissioner.—Any owner, manager, superintendent, or other person in charge or control of any factory, mill, workshop, mine, store, business house, public or private work, or other establishment or place, where five or more persons are employed at work, who shall refuse to allow any officer or employee of the said bureau of labor statistics to enter the same, or to remain therein for such time as is reasonably necessary, or who shall hinder any such officer or employee, or in any way prevent or deter him from collecting information, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not to exceed one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed sixty days.

[See also arts. 5235–5243, pp. 1026–1028.]

ARTICLES 1592–1606. Safety, etc.—[These are in the main reproductions of provisions of the Civil Statutes, arts. 5933–5946. Two outlets are required for all workings, the time is fixed within which required changes must be made, and penalties of fine or imprisonment are fixed for violations.]

ACTS OF 1911

CHAPTER 63.—Railroads—Inspection of air brakes

SECTIONS 1–3. Inspector; duties.—[This act makes it unlawful to operate any train other than on a logging road or a road less than 40 miles in length without an inspection and testing of the air brakes and air-brake attachments, except in emergencies where no inspector is available. Penalty, $50 to $100 fine for each offense.]

CHAPTER 97.—Mine regulations

SECTIONS 1–3. Electric installations.—[These sections require electric wires, etc., to be properly insulated and placed at safe heights or safely shielded, with penalties for violations.]

SECS. 4, 5. Maps.—[Every operator of a coal mine is required to prepare a map of his underground workings, which must be kept up to date.]

CHAPTER 102.—Mine regulations—Storage of food for animals

SECTIONS 1–5. Storage, etc., restricted.—[The storage of food for work animals in mines is forbidden unless the stables be equipped with fireproof doors set in concrete, stone or brick, the doors being kept closed during work hours. Hay, grass, and the like may not be brought in during the day shift, no open light may be taken into such stable, and not over 24 hours supply of hay, etc., may be taken in in any one day. Penalty, fines, $100 to $500, and imprisonment, one month to one year.]

CHAPTER 68.—Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 1. Eight hours a day's work.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen or mechanics now employed or who may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the State of Texas, or by or on behalf of any county, municipality or political subdivision of the State, county or municipality in any one calendar day, where such employment, contract or work is for the purpose of constructing, repairing or improving buildings, bridges, roads, highways, streams, levees, or other work of a similar character, requiring the service of laborers, workmen or mechanics.

SEC. 2 (as amended 1921, ch. 121). Public contracts.—All contracts hereafter made by or on behalf of the State of Texas, or by or on behalf of any county, municipality, or other legal or political subdivision of the State, with any corporation, persons, or association of persons for performance of any work shall be deemed and considered as made upon the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work. It shall be unlawful for any corporation, person, or association of persons having a contract with the State or any political subdivision thereof to require any such laborers, workmen, mechanics, or other persons to work more than eight hours per calendar day in doing such work, except in case of emergency which may arise in times of war or in cases where it may become necessary to work more than eight hours per calendar day for the protection of property, human life, or the necessity of housing inmates of public institutions in case of fire or destruction by the elements. In such emergencies the laborers, workmen, mechanics, or other persons so employed and working to exceed eight hours per calendar day shall be paid on the basis of eight hours constituting a day's work: Provided, That not less than the current rate of per hour wages for like work in the locality where the work is being performed shall be paid to the laborers, workmen, mechanics, or other persons so employed, by or on behalf of the State of Texas, or for any county, municipality, or other legal or political subdivision of the State, county, or municipality, and every contract hereafter made for the performance of work for the State of Texas, or for any county, municipality, or other legal or political subdivision of the State, county, or municipality must comply with the requirements of this section: Provided, That nothing in this act shall affect contracts in existence at the time of the taking effect of this act: Provided further, That nothing in this act shall be construed to affect the present law governing State and county convict labor while serving their sentences as such: And provided further, That nothing in the foregoing section shall prevent any person, or any officer, agent, or employee of a person or corporation or association of persons from making mutually satisfactory contracts as to the hours of labor at the rates of pay as herein provided: Provided further, That the time consumed by the laborer in going to and returning from the place of work shall not be considered as part of the hours of work.

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Violations are punishable by fines, $50 to $1,000, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both; each day constitutes a separate offense.]

This act is constitutional. Bradford v. State, 180 S. W. 702.

CHAPTER 82.—Stevedores to be licensed

SECTION 1. Definition.—A contracting stevedore, within the meaning of this act, is any person, firm, association of persons, or corporation that contracts with any ship, agent, owners, masters, managers, or captains of vessels, or with any other person or corporation, for the purpose of loading or unloading, or of having loaded or unloaded any vessel, ship, or water craft; a stevedore within the meaning of this act is any laborer who performs any of the actual labor in loading and unloading any ship, vessel, or water craft whatsoever while in the service or employ of a contracting stevedore as above mentioned.

SEC. 2. License required.—[Stevedores must procure licenses under penalty of a fine, $100 to $500 for each day's operation without license.]

SEC. 3. Bond.—[A bond of $5,000 is required, conditioned on the weekly payment of wages as agreed upon, and the fulfillment of all agreements with laborers, such bond to be filed and recorded by the county clerk.]

SEC. 4. Separate counties.—[License and bond must be procured for each county in which a stevedore pursues his occupation, and the bond must be renewed when exhausted by proceedings against it.]

SECS. 5, 6. Renewals, etc.—[Licenses are issued on the filing of application, the approval of a bond, and the payment of a fee of $5. Annual renewals are provided for.]

CHAPTER 158.—Railroads—Safety appliances

SECTION 1. Derailing devices.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or receiver operating any railroad, machine shop, or other concern engaged in repairing or manufacturing cars within this State to use any tracks not equipped with derailing devices upon which to repair or manufacture cars; such derailing devices to be provided with private locks, to be kept locked at all times when tracks are in use: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed as prohibiting temporary repairs to cars on tracks other than where cars are regularly repaired or manufactured.

SEC. 2. Violations.—[Violation entail fines of from $50 to $200, each day's continued violation constituting a separate offense.]

CHAPTER 12.—Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—Every building of over two stories in height now or hereafter used in whole or in part as a * * * manufacturing, wholesale, or retail mercantile establishment, factories, or workshops, warehouses where five or more persons shall be assembled, shall be provided with at least one, and as many additional fireproof stairways or ladders or iron spiral fire escape on the exterior of such building placed in such position and as many in number as may be designated by the head of the fire department of that city or town, in or near which such building may be located, if there be one, or by the mayor, if there be no head of such fire department, or by the commissioner of labor statistics, if such building be not in or near any incorporated city or town, or one having a head of its fire department. If one or more fire escapes or ladders are required on each side of such buildings for the accommodation and protection of the * * * employees * * * of such buildings now or hereafter, used in whole or in part * * * by any manufacturing wholesale or retail mercantile establishment, factories, or workshops, warehouses, where five or more persons shall be assembled or a place of public resort, [they] shall be provided therewith; such stairways or ladders shall connect the cornice with the top of the first story of any such building by a metal platform, balcony, piazza, or other safe and convenient resting place on a level with the floor of each story so connected, and of sufficient length to permit access to the same from not less than two windows of each story. They shall be convenient of access from the interior of the building, commodious in size and form and of sufficient strength to be safe for the purpose of ascent and descent. * * *

Secs. 2–4. Enforcement; penalties.—[Enforcement rests with the local authorities and the commissioner of labor statistics and his factory inspectors. County attorneys are to prosecute on report; penalties are fines, not less than $50 nor more than $200.]

This act was repealed by ch. 140, Acts of 1917, but as the latter act is unconstitutional, the earlier act is here reproduced.

Chapter 25.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

Section 1. Scope of law.—From and after January 1, 1916, each and every manufacturing, mercantile, mining, quarrying, railroad, street railway, canal, oil, steamboat, telegraph, telephone, and express company, employing more than ten persons, and each and every water company not operated by a municipal corporation, and each and every wharf company, and every other corporation engaged in any business within the State of Texas, which employs more than ten persons, or any person, firm or corporation engaged in or upon any public work for the State or for any county or any municipal corporation thereof, either as a contractor or a subcontractor, therewith, shall pay each of its employees the wages earned by him or her as often as semimonthly and pay to a day not more than sixteen days prior to the day of payment.

An employee who is absent at the time fixed for payment, or who for any other reason is not paid at that time, shall be paid thereafter on six days' demand, and any employee leaving his or her employment, or discharged therefrom, shall be paid in full on six days' demand.

Sec. 2. Violations.—Every person, partnership, or corporation, willfully failing or refusing to pay the wages of any employee at the time and in the manner provided in this statute shall forfeit to the State of Texas the sum of fifty ($50) dollars for each and every such failure or refusal, and suits for penalties accruing under this act shall be brought in any court having jurisdiction of the amount in the county in which the employee should have been paid, or where employed. Such suits shall be instituted at the direction of the commissioner of labor statistics by the attorney general or under his direction or by the county or district attorney for the county or district in which suit is brought; and the attorney bringing any such suit shall be entitled to receive and shall receive as compensation for his service therein $10 of the penalty or penalties recovered in such suit, and the fees and compensation so allowed shall be over and above the fees allowed to the attorney general, county or district attorneys under the general fee act.

Sec. 3. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor statistics to inquire diligently for violations of this act and institute prosecutions and see that the same are carried to final termination and generally to see to the enforcement of the provision[s] hereof.

Chapter 49.—Employment of children—School attendance

Section 1 (as amended 1923, ch. 121). Attendance.—[School attendance to 14 is required for not less than 100 days per year.]

Sec. 2 (as amended 1923, ch. 121). Exemptions.—[Among other exemptions from the above are children 12 years of age who have completed the work of the seventh grade and whose services are needed in the support of a parent or other person standing in a parental relation.]

Sec. 5. Unlawful employment.—[No child under 14 not lawfully excused may be employed during school hours within the period of required attendance.]

Chapter 51.—Mine regulations—Bath houses

Section 1. Who to supply.—[This act requires operators, etc., of coal mines employing 10 or more men to provide a room for washing and for changing clothes. Shower baths with hot and cold water and lockers are to be furnished by the employees, who are also responsible for property left by them in the house. Separate provisions are required for whites and negroes.]

SEC. 2. Property.—[Employers are not liable for the loss or destruction of property left at or in such house.]

SEC. 3. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the above is punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both. Each two weeks' violation is a separate offense.]

SEC. 4. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor statistics is charged with the enforcement of the act.]

CHAPTER 56.—Employment of women—Hours of labor—Seats

SECTION 1. Nine-hour day.—No female shall be employed in any factory, mine, mill, workshop, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, restaurant or rooming house, theater or moving-picture show, barber shop, telegraph, telephone, or other office, express or transportation company, or any State institution, or any other establishment, institution, or enterprise where females are employed, except as hereinafter provided, for more than nine hours in any one calendar day, nor more than fifty-four hours in any one calendar week: Provided, however, That in case of extraordinary emergencies, such as great public calamities, or where it becomes necessary for the protection of human life or property, longer hours may be worked, but for such time not less than double time shall be paid such female, with the consent of the said female: Provided, This act shall not apply to stenographers and pharmacists.

SEC. 1a. Work in laundries.—No female shall be employed in any laundry for more than fifty-four hours in one calendar week; the hours of such employment to be so arranged as to permit the employment of such female at any time so that she shall not work more than a maximum of eleven hours during the twenty-four hours' period of one day: Provided, That if such female is employed for more than nine hours in any one day she shall receive pay at the rate of double her regular pay for such time as she is employed for more than nine hours per day.

SEC. 1b. Ten-hour day.—No female shall be employed in any factory engaged in the manufacture of cotton, woolen, or worsted goods or articles of merchandise manufactured out of cotton goods for more than ten hours in any one calendar day, nor for more than sixty hours in any one calendar week.

Provided, That if such female is employed for more than nine hours in any one day she shall receive pay at the rate of double her regular pay for such time as she may be employed for more than nine hours per day.

SEC. 2. Seats to be furnished.—Every employer owning or operating any factory, mine, mill, workshop, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, restaurant, or rooming house, theater or moving-picture show, barber shop, telegraph or telephone or other office, express or transportation company, the superintendent of any State institution or any other establishment, institution, or enterprise where females are employed, as provided by sections 1, 1a, and 1b, shall provide and furnish suitable seats, to be used by such employees when not engaged in the active duties of their employment, and shall give notice to all such female employees by posting in a conspicuous place, on the premises of such employment in letters not less than one inch in height, that all such female employees will be permitted to use such seats when not so engaged.

SEC. 3. Violations; exemptions.—[Violations are punishable by fines of from $50 to $200, each day constituting a separate offense. Telegraph and telephone offices and mercantile establishments in places of less than 3,000 inhabitants are excepted.]

SEC. 4. Provisions severable.—If any section or provision of this act is for any reason held or declared to be unconstitutional it shall not affect nor impair nor render invalid the rest of this act, and changing other sections to conform thereto.

CHAPTER 59.—Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 1. Age.—[Employment under 15 is forbidden in or about any factory, mill, workshop, laundry, theater, or other place of amusement or in messenger service in towns and cities of more than 15,000 population. Farm labor is excluded.]

SEC. 2. Dangerous or immoral employments.—[No child under 17 may be employed in any mine, quarry, or place where explosives are made, in any place where intoxicants are made or handled, or be sent to any disorderly house or immoral resort.]

SEC. 3. Messengers.—[Persons employing children under 17 as messengers or in delivery service must ascertain if the places to which they are sent are those forbidden by section 2.]

SEC. 4. Hours of labor.—[Ten hours per day and 48 per week is the maximum work time for children under 15, except in farm labor.]

SEC. 5. Children of widows, etc.—[The county judge may issue a permit to a child 12 years of age whose earnings are necessary to the family support if he can read and write English and is physically able to do the work, which must not be of a dangerous character or injurious to morals. Permits are for six months only, and must be posted in the place of employment. Vacation employment is permitted (June 1 to September 1) to school children of any age, except in factories, mills, workshops, theaters, etc., and in dangerous or injurious employments as mentioned in secs. 2 and 5.]

SEC. 6. Inspection.—[The commissioner of labor statistics is to have free access during working hours to all places where children are employed. Stock raising pursuits are exempt.]

SEC. 6a. Domestic employment.—[No limitation as to age applies to nurses, maids, etc., in private homes and families.]

ACTS OF 1918—SPECIAL SESSION

CHAPTER 58.—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 1. Temperature.—In every factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, laundry, or other establishment adequate measures shall be taken for securing and maintaining a reasonable, and as far as possible, an equable temperature consistent with a reasonable requirement of the manufacturing process. No unnecessary humidity which would jeopardize the health of employees shall be permitted. In every room, apartment, or building used as a factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, laundry or other place of employment, sufficient air space shall be provided for every person employed therein, and which in the judgment of the commissioner of labor statistics, or of his deputies and inspectors is sufficient for their health and welfare.

SEC. 2. Ventilation.—All factories, mills, workshops, mercantile establishments, laundries and other establishments shall be kept free from gas or effluvia arising from any sewer, drain, privy, or other nuisance on the premises; all poisonous or noxious gases arising from any process; all dust of a character injurious to the health of persons employed, which is created in the process of manufacturing within the above-named establishment, shall be removed as far as practicable by ventilators or exhaust fans or other adequate devices.

SEC. 3. Cleanliness.—All decomposed, fetid or putrescent matter, and all refuse waste and sweepings of any factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, laundry or other establishment, shall be removed at least once each day and be disposed of in such manner as not to cause a nuisance. All cleaning, sweeping and dusting shall be done as far as possible outside of working hours, but if done during working hours, shall be done in such manner as to avoid so far as possible the raising of dust and noxious odors. In all establishments where any process is carried on which makes the floors wet, the floors shall be constructed and maintained with due regard for the health of the employees, and gratings or dry standing room shall be provided wherever practicable, at points wherever employees are regularly stationed, and adequate means shall be provided for drainage and for preventing leakage or seepage to lower floors.

SEC. 4. Doors to open outward.—All doors used by employees as entrances to, or exits from factories, mills, workshops, mercantile establishments, laundries or other establishments of a height of two stories or over, shall open outward, and shall be so constructed as to be easily and immediately opened from within in case of fire or other emergencies. Proper and substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways, and lights shall be kept burning at all main stairs, stair landings, and elevator shafts in the absence of sufficient natural light: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to any mercantile establishment having seven female employees or less.

SEC. 5. Toilets.—[Separate and suitable toilets must be provided for each sex.]

SEC. 6. Moral conditions.—It shall be unlawful for the owner, manager, superintendent, or other person in control or management of any factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, laundry or other establishment where five or more persons are employed, all or part of whom are females, to permit in such place of employment any influence, practices or conditions calculated to injuriously affect the morals of such female employees.

SEC. 7. Inspection; orders.—[This section declares the right of the commissioner of labor statistics or his deputies or inspectors to enter and inspect any place where five or more persons are employed, and to issue orders for the correction of insanitary conditions for failure to comply with this act. If these are not complied with, the establishment may be closed, or any part of it, until changes are made.]

SEC. 8. Appeals.—[Owners may appeal from orders made, to any court of competent jurisdiction.]

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Violations of the act, or of orders not set aside on appeal, are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both; and each day's violation is a separate offense.]

CHAPTER 152.—Protection of employees on buildings

SECTION 1. Floors.—Hereafter any building three or more stories in height, in the course of construction or repairs, shall have the joists, beams, or girders of each and every floor below the floor level where any work is being done, or about to be done, covered with planking laid close together, said planking to be of not less than one and one-half inches in thickness in buildings that have steel framework, and what is commonly known as one-inch plank in all others where joists are set on two-foot centers or less, to protect the workmen engaged in the erection or construction of such buildings from falling through joists, girders, and from falling planks, bricks, rivets, tools, or other substances whereby life and limb are endangered. Where any scaffolding is placed on the outside of any of said buildings, over any public street or alley where persons are in the habit of passing, then said scaffolding shall be so constructed as to prevent any material, tools, or other things from falling off and endangering the life of passers-by.

SEC. 2. Removal of floor.—Such flooring shall not be removed until the same is replaced by a permanent flooring in such building.

SEC. 3. Hoistways.—If elevators, elevating machines, or hod-hoisting apparatus are used within a building in the course of construction, for the purpose of lifting materials to be used in such construction, the contractor or owners, or the agents of the owners, shall cause the shafts or openings in each floor to be inclosed or fenced in on all sides, two sides of which must be at least 6 feet, and two sides where material is to be taken off or on shall be protected by automatic safety gates.

SEC. 4. Duty of contractor.—It shall be the duty of the general contractor having charge of the erection and construction of such building to provide for the flooring as herein required, and to make such arrangements as may be necessary with the subcontractor in order that the provisions of this act may be carried out.

SEC. 5. Owner.—It shall be the duty of the owner, or the agent of the owner, of such building to see that the general contractor or subcontractors carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 6. Same.—Should the general contractor or subcontractors of such building fail to provide for the flooring of such buildings as herein provided, then it shall be the duty of the owner or the agent of the owner of such buildings to see that the provisions of this act are carried out.

SEC. 7. Violations.—[Failure to comply with this act entails a fine, $50 to $200, each day constituting a separate offense.]

ACTS OF 1920—FOURTH SPECIAL SESSION

CHAPTER 5.—Interference with employment—Commerce

SECTION 1. Common carrier.—The words "common carrier" for the purposes of this act are defined and shall be construed to mean any railway corporation, any express company, any interurban railway company, any street-car company, any ship, dock, wharf company, any pipe-line company, engaged in the transportation of freight, express, or passengers.

SEC. 2. Commerce.—The word "commerce" for the purposes of this act is defined and shall be construed to mean any freight, express, or passengers being handled or transported by any common carrier as herein defined.

SEC. 3. Policy declared.—The uninterrupted management, control, and operation of the common carriers of this State is declared to be of vital importance to the welfare of the people of this State. It is therefore declared to be the policy of this State that the same shall not be impeded or interfered with by any person, association of persons, individually or collectively, or by any corporation, its agents, or employees.

SEC. 4. Interference forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons by or through the use of any physical violence or by threatening the use of any physical violence, or by intimidation or threatening destruction of his property to interfere with or molest or harass any person or persons engaged in the work of loading or unloading or transporting any commerce within this State.

SEC. 5. Conspiracy.—It shall be unlawful for any two or more persons to conspire together to prevent or attempt to prevent by the use of physical violence or intimidation or by threats of physical violence or by abusive language spoken or written to any person engaged in loading or unloading or transporting any commerce within this State or performing the duties of such employment.

SEC. 6. Putting in fear.—Every person who shall through any act or written communication or conversation with any person or persons engaged in loading, unloading, or transporting any commerce by any common carrier in Texas or with the father, mother, wife, sister, brother, child, or children of such person or persons while so engaged or during the hours of day or night while not engaged in such work and when employed for such work which is reasonably calculated, intended, or designed to cause such person or persons so engaged to desist from performing such work through fear of physical violence or destruction of his property shall be deemed to have intimidated, molested, or harassed such person or persons engaged in the work of loading or unloading or transporting commerce within this State.

SEC. 7. Persons engaged in work.—The term "person or persons engaged in the work of loading or unloading or transporting commerce in this State" as used in this act shall be construed as including any person or persons employed in any way in the docks, wharves, switches, railroad tracks, express companies, compresses, depots, freight depots, pipe lines, or approaches or appurtenances to or incident to or used in connection with the handling of commerce by common carriers within this State. This section by naming certain occupations and work shall not be construed to exclude any other occupation or work not named, but reasonably incident to and necessary for the transportation of commerce in this State by common carriers.

SEC. 8. Exemption.—The provisions of this act shall not apply to peace officers in the discharge of their lawful duties.

SEC. 9. Violations.—[Penalty for violation of this act is a fine, $100 to $1,000, or imprisonment 30 days to 1 year, or both.] Provided, however, Should any person violating any of the provisions of this act use any physical violence upon or threaten the life of any person engaged in the work of loading or unloading, or transporting any commerce, as defined in this act, he shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by confinement in the State penitentiary for a term of not less than one year or more than five years.

SEC. 10. Governor to act.—If at any time the movement of commerce by common carriers of this State or any of them is interfered with in violation of the provisions of this act, and the governor of the State, after investigation, becomes convinced that the local authorities were failing to enforce the law, either because they were unable or unwilling to do so, the governor shall, in order that the movement of commerce may not be interfered with, forthwith issue his proclamations declaring such conditions to exist and describing the area thus affected.

SEC. 11. Powers.—Upon the issuance of the proclamation provided for in the preceding section, the governor shall exercise full and complete police jurisdiction of the area described in the proclamation whether the same be all within or partly within, or partly without the limits of any incorporated city or county; the exercise of said police jurisdiction by the governor, as above set out, shall supersede all police authority by any and all local authority, provided that the governor shall not disturb the local authorities in the exercise of police jurisdiction, at any place outside the district described in his proclamation.

SEC. 12. Arrests.—No peace officer of the State of Texas shall be permitted to make arrests after the governor's proclamation has become effective, in the territory embraced by such proclamation, except officers acting under the authority of the governor under the provisions of this act. Persons arrested within the district shall be delivered forthwith to the proper authorities for trial.

SEC. 14. Venue.—When the provisions of this act have been violated by any person or persons and the grand jury of the county in which the offense was committed have returned an indictment, the district judge in whose court the indictment may be returned shall grant a change of venue upon motion made by the attorney general representing this State, or at his direction, or by the local prosecuting attorney. The motion for a change of venue shall be sufficient if it sets out that the offense charged is prohibited by the provisions of this act, and that on account of local conditions, preferences, prejudices, or influence it is the opinion of the attorney general that a fair and impartial trial can not be had in the county where the indictment is found. Upon the filing and presenting of such motion it will be the duty of the district judge in whose court such case may be pending to immediately issue a proper order changing the venue of such case to such other county as the court may select not subject, in the opinion of the attorney general, to like conditions and objections.

SEC. 15. Attorney general.—The attorney general, when directed by the governor, shall assist the district or county attorney in the prosecution of all offenses committed within the territory embraced by said proclamation for all violations of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 16. Enforcement.—The provisions of this act shall be effective without a declaration of martial law. The State Rangers may be used in the enforcement of the provisions of this act; if a sufficient number of rangers are not available, the governor is authorized to employ any number of men, to be designated as special rangers, and such men shall have all the power and authority of the regular rangers, and shall be paid the same salary as the rangers are paid, and such salaries shall be paid out of the appropriation made to the executive office for the payment of rewards and the enforcement of the law.

SEC. 17. Construction of act.—Nothing in this act shall be construed as limiting the power and authority of the governor to declare martial law and to call forth the militia for the purpose of executing the law when in the judgment of the chief executive it is deemed necessary so to do. This act shall be construed as cumulative of existing laws of this State, and shall not be held to repeal any of the same except where in direct conflict herewith.

CHAPTER 9.—Industrial commission—Labor disputes

SECTION 1. Commission created.—There is hereby created an industrial commission, composed of five members, one of said members to represent employers of labor, one to represent the employees or laborers, and three to represent the general public. The members of this commission shall be appointed by the governor, to hold office for a term of two years, or until their successors shall be appointed and qualified. The members of this commission shall serve without pay or salary, but the actual expenses incurred during hearings had by or before the commission and railway fare and hotel bills incurred by them shall be paid out of appropriations made to the executive office for the payment of rewards and the enforcement of the law until such time as the legislature may make appropriations to cover such items.

SEC. 2. Organization.—By a majority vote the members of this commission shall elect one of their members as chairman of the commission, to preside at all hearings had under the provisions of this act, with power and authority usually exercised by chairman in such capacity; and said commission shall have authority to employ a competent stenographer to act as secretary of such commission. The salary shall be paid out of the fund or funds described in section 1 of this act.

SEC. 3. Duty of governor.—When the Governor of Texas becomes convinced or has reason to believe that controversies between employers and employees are of such nature and character as to be of public concern or interest he shall refer, by proclamation, such controversy or controversies to the commission here created for hearing and report.

SEC. 4. Proecdurc.—The commission, and the members thereof, shall forthwith proceed to the place where the employees in the controversy may be located, or to such other place as may appear best to said commission for the purpose of making investigation and report; and said commission shall make investigation and hear testimony concerning the controversy between the employers and employees; and after said investigation shall have been completed a full report shall be made to the governor, covering the facts established by the investigations made and hearings had. Said commission shall make recommendations to the governor as to what action should be taken in reference to the controversy or the settlement thereof.

SEC. 5. Hearings.—All hearings had by this commission shall be open to the public: and the findings and recommendations of the commission shall be furnished to the news agencies and newspapers of the State, to be published by the several papers of this State as news items.

SEC. 6. Reports.—The commission shall also make full report to the legislature, if in session, and if not in session, then to the succeeding session of the legislature, setting forth the findings and recommendations, accompanied by a transcript of the testimony taken at the hearings provided for herein.

SEC. 7. Powers.—The commission shall have power to summon witnesses, to issue subpœnas, to compel attendance of witnesses, to compel production of books and records by witnesses, to punish for contempt, to hold sessions and to take testimony in or out of the State of Texas, and to pay witnesses as paid in felony cases, to administer oaths; and to have all powers now given by statutes of Texas to legislative investigation committees.

CHAPTER 41.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. Lieense.—[No person may act as employment agent in the State without a license from the commissioner of labor statistics.]

SEC. 2. Employment agent.—[The term does not apply to offices which "charge a fee of not more than $2 for registration only, for procuring employment for school-teachers;" nor to State, municipal, or United States agencies; nor to farmers and stock raisers cooperating to secure help for themselves, charging no fee.]

SEC. 3 (amended 1923, 2d extra sess., ch. 42). Applications.—[Applications must have the indorsement of 5 credible citizens certifying to the citizenship and good character of the applicant, who must have resided 3 years in the State and 1 year in the county; the applicant must furnish bond in the sum of $5,000, conditioned on compliance with the act. A fee of $150 is required for each county in which an office is maintained, a license being required for each office. Action may be brought on the bond by any person injured or aggrieved by false statements by the agent or his violation of the act.]

SEC. 4. Suits.—[Suit on the bond may be prosecuted on account of false statements, etc., until a full recovery is had.]

SEC. 5. Canceling licenses.—[Licenses may be canceled if the holder is convicted of a felony, or the license was obtained by fraud, or the holder has violated this act. Charges must be filed and a hearing had before cancellation. Suit may be brought within 30 days, and not afterwards, to prevent such cancellation.]

SEC. 6. Registers.—[Agencies must keep record of all applicants, giving name, address, age, sex, nativity, and trade or occupation of applicants for work, and place and person to whom sent; also a register of employers seeking workmen, kind desired, wages offered, etc.]

SEC. 7. Records to be open.—[Books, papers, etc., are to be open to official inspection at any time.]

SEC. 8. False advertisements, etc.—[The use of false or misleading advertisements, etc., or making false statements to applicants is forbidden.]

SEC. 9. Orders.—[No applicant may be sent to an employer except on a bona fide written order.]

SEC. 10. Fees.—[Fees may not exceed $3, to be collected only after the applicant has accepted employment; but agencies exclusively for skilled, professional, or clerical positions may, with the written consent of the applicant, charge 20 per cent of the first month's salary.]

SEC. 11. Dividing fees.—[Dividing fees with the employer is forbidden.]

SEC. 12. Receipts.—[A receipt must be given for fees collected, showing amount, character, and place of work and address of the employer.]

SEC. 13. Immoral, etc., resorts.—[No agent may send any female to a place of immoral resort, the character of which he could have ascertained by reasonable diligence; nor may he permit any person of bad character to remain on his premises.]

SEC. 14. Children.—[Agents may not furnish employment to children in violation of the laws governing their employment.]

SECS. 15–19, 20 (amended 1923, 2d extra sess., ch. 42), 20 A (added same), 21–25. Procedure; notice of strikes, etc.—[These sections relate to procedure, evidence, penalties, etc. Employers may not make false statements; agents may not induce or attempt to induce persons to leave employment with a view to having them obtain employment through their agencies; notice must be given of the existence of strikes or lockouts, if any; and the provisions of the act are declared to be severable, so that the declared unconstitutionality of any part shall not be held to invalidate any other part.]

UTAH

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE XII.—Interference with employment

SECTION 19. Hindering employment.—Every person in this State shall be free to obtain employment whenever possible, and any person, corporation, or agent, servant, or employee thereof, maliciously interfering or hindering in any way, any person from obtaining, or enjoying employment already obtained, from any other corporation or person, shall be deemed guilty of a crime. The legislature shall provide by law for the enforcement of this section.

ARTICLE XVI.—Employment of labor

SECTION 1. Rights of labor to be protected.—The rights of labor shall have just protection through laws calculated to promote the industrial welfare of the State.

SEC. 2. Board of labor, etc.—The legislature shall provide by law, for a board of labor, conciliation and arbitration, which shall fairly represent the interests of both capital and labor. The board shall perform duties, and receive compensation as prescribed by law.

SEC. 3. Certain employments, etc., prohibited.—The legislature shall prohibit:

(1) The employment of women, or of children under the age of fourteen years, in underground mines.

(2) The contracting of convict labor.

(3) The labor of convicts outside prison grounds, except on public works under the direct control of the State.

(4) The political and commercial control of employees.

Industrial commission

SECTION 3061. Commission created.—There is hereby created the Industrial Commission of Utah, to be composed of three members, who shall be appointed by the governor within thirty days after this title goes into effect. Two of the members of such commission shall be appointed for the term of two years and one for four years, and thereafter each member shall be appointed with the advice and consent of the senate, for the term of four years. Not more than two of the members of said commission shall belong to the same political party.

SEC. 3062. Removals.—The governor at any time may remove any member of the commission for inefficiency, neglect of duty, malfeasance, misfeasance, or nonfeasance in office.

SEC. 3063. Other employment.—No commissioner shall hold any office of trust or profit, or engage in any occupation or business interfering or inconsistent with his duties as such commissioner, and no commissioner shall serve on any committee of any political party.

SEC. 3064. Salary, bond, etc.—Each of said commissioners shall receive an annual salary of $4,000, payable in the same manner as the salaries of other officers of the State are paid. Before entering upon the duties of his office, each commissioner shall take and subscribe to the constitutional oath of office, which oath shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state. Each member of the commission shall give a corporate surety bond in the sum of $10,000, which bond shall be approved by the governor and filed with the State treasurer. All employees or deputies of the commission receiving or disbursing funds of the State shall give corporate surety bonds to the State in amounts and with surety to be approved by the commission. The premiums of all bonds provided for in his section shall be paid out of the State treasury.

SEC. 3065. Organization.—Within thirty days after this title goes into effect the commission shall meet at the seat of government and organize by choosing one of its members as chairman. A majorty of the commission shall constitute a quorum to transact business. No vacancy shall impair the rights of the remaining commissioners to exercise all the powers of the commission; and in case a vacancy exists, the remaining members of the commission shall exercise all of the powers and authorities of the commisson until such vacancy is filled.

SEC. 3066. Offices.—The commission shall keep and maintain its offices at the State capitol, in suitable room or rooms. Necessary office furniture shall be furnished to the commission in the State capitol. The commission may hold sessions in any place within the State of Utah.

SEC. 3067. Seal.—The commission shall have an official seal for the authentication of its orders and proceedings, upon which seal shall be engraved the words, "The Industrial Commission of Utah," and such other design as the commission may prescribe; and the courts of this State shall take judicial notice of the seal of the commission, and in all cases copies of orders, proceedings, or records in the office of the Industrial Commission of Utah, certified by the Secretary of the said commission under its seal, shall be equal to the original as evidence.

SEC. 3068. Sessions, etc.—The commission shall be open for the transaction of business during all business hours of each and every day except Sunday and legal holidays. The sessions of the commission shall be open to the public. All proceedings of the commission shall be shown on its records, which shall be a public record, and all voting shall be had by calling each member's name by the secretary, and each member's vote shall be recorded on the proceedings as cast.

SEC. 3069. Rules.—Subject to the provisions of this title, the commission may adopt its own rules of procedure, and may change the same from time to time in its discretion.

SEC. 3070. Employees.—The commission may employ a secretary, deputies, actuaries, accountants, inspectors, examiners, experts, clerks, physicians, stenographers, and other assistants, and fix their compensation. Such employment and compensation shall be first approved by the governor, and shall be paid out of the State treasury. The members of the commission, deputies, secretary, actuaries, accountants, inspectors, examiners, experts, clerks, physicians, stenographers, and other assistants that may be employed shall be entitled to receive from the State treasury their salaries or compensation, and also their actual and necessary expenses while traveling on the business of the commission, and the members of the commission may confer and meet with officers of other States and officers of the United States on any matters pertaining to their official duties. Such expenses shall be itemized and sworn to by the person who incurred the expense and allowed by the commission.

SEC. 3071. Safe place.—Every employer shall furnish employment and a place of employment which shall be safe for the employees therein, and shall furnish and use safety devices and safeguards, adopt and use methods and processes, and follow and obey orders of the commission, reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety, and welfare of such employees.

SEC. 3072 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Guards, etc.—No employer shall require or knowingly permit any employee to be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employer shall fail to provide and use safety devices and safeguards, or fail to obey and follow orders of the commission, or to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety, and welfare of his employees; and no employer or other person shall hereafter construct or occupy or maintain any place of employment that is not safe. Where injury is caused by the willful failure of the employer to comply with any statute of the State or any lawful order of the industrial commission, compensation as provided in this act shall be increased fifteen per cent, except in case of injury resulting in death.

SEC. 3073 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Removing guards, etc.—No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy, or carry off any safety device or safeguard provided for use in any employment or place of employment, nor interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, nor shall any such employee interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment or place of employment, nor fail or neglect to follow and obey orders and to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety and welfare of employees.

(a) Where injury is caused by the willful failure of the employee to use safety devices where provided by the employer, or,

(b) Where injury results from the employee's willful failure to obey any order or reasonable rule adopted by the employer for the safety of the employee, or,

(c) Where injury results from the intoxication of the employee, compensation provided therein shall be reduced fifteen per cent.

The above provisions do not apply in death benefits.

SEC. 3074. Access to work places.—Any commissioner or deputy of the commission may enter any place of employment for the purpose of collecting facts and statistics, examining the provisions made for the health, safety, and welfare of the employees therein, and bring to the attention of every employer any law, or any order of the commission, and any failure on the part of such employer to comply therewith. No employer shall refuse to admit any commissioner or deputy of the commission to his place of employment.

SEC. 3075. Power of commission.—The commission is vested with the power and jurisdiction to have such supervision of every employment and place of employment and of every building and establishment in this State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring every employment and place of employment to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life, health, safety, and welfare of every employee in such employment or place of employment.

SEC. 3076 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Same.—It shall also be the duty of the commission, and it shall have full power, jurisdiction, and authority:

(1) To administer and enforce all laws for the protection of life, health, safety, and welfare of employees:

(2) To ascertain and fix such reasonable standards and prescribe, modify and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption of safety devices, safeguards, and other means or methods of protection, to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life, health, safety, and welfare of employees in employment and places of employment:

(3) To ascertain, fix, and order such reasonable standards for the construction, repair, and maintenance of places of employment as shall render them safe:

(4) To investigate, ascertain, and determine such reasonable classifications of persons, employments, and places of employment as shall be necessary to carry out the purposes of this title:

(5) To do all in its power to promote the voluntary arbitration, mediation, and conciliation of disputes between employers and employees:

(6) To establish and conduct free employment agencies, and license, supervise and regulate private employment officers and to do all in its power to bring together employers seeking employees and working people seeking employment and to make known the opportunities for employment in this State:

(7) To collect, collate, and publish all statistical and other information relating to employees, employers, employments, and places of employment and such other statistics as it may deem proper:

(8) Upon petition by any person that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee the commission shall proceed, with or without notice, to make such investigation as may be necessary to determine the matter complained of. After such investigation the commission shall enter such order relative thereto as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe and not injurious to the welfare of the employees therein.

Whenever the commission shall believe that any employment or place of employment is not safe or is injurious to the welfare of any employee it may of its own motion summarily investigate the same, with or without notice, and issue such order as it may deem necessary to render such employment or place of employment safe;

(9) All duties, liabilities, authority, powers, and privileges conferred and imposed by law upon the commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics, State mine inspector of coal and hydro-carbon mines, and board of conciliation and arbitration are hereby imposed upon the commission. All laws relating to the commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics, State mine inspector of coal and hydro-carbon mines, and board of conciliation and arbitration shall apply, to, relate, and refer to the Industrial Commission of Utah. The Industrial Commission of Utah shall be deemed the commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics, State mine inspector of coal and hydro-carbon mines, and board of labor conciliation and arbitration within the meaning of the existing laws;

(10) All orders of the commission in conformity with law shall be valid and in force and prima facie reasonable and lawful until they are found otherwise in an action brought for that purpose pursuant to the provisions of this title or until altered or revoked by the commission;

(11) All general orders of the commission shall take effect within thirty days after their publication; special orders shall take effect as therein directed.

The commission shall, upon application of any employer, grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for compliance with any order.

Any person may petition the commission for an extension of time, which the commission shall grant if it find such extension of time necessary.

SEC. 3077 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Hearing.—(1) Any employer or other person interested either because of ownership in or occupation of any property affected by any such order, or otherwise, may petition for a hearing on the reasonableness and lawfulness of any order of the commission provided in this title.

(2) Such petition for hearing shall be by verified petition filed with the commission, setting out specifically and in full detail the order upon which a hearing is desired, and every reason why such order is unreasonable or unlawful, and every issue to be considered by the commission on the hearing. The petitioner shall be deemed to have finally waived all objection to any irregularities and illegalities in the order upon which a hearing is sought other than those set forth in the petition.

(3) Upon receipt of such petition, if the issues raised in such petition have theretofore been adequately considered, the commission shall determine the same by confirming, without hearing, its previous determination, or if such hearing is necessary to determine the issue raised, the commission shall order a hearing thereon and consider and determine the matter or matters in question at such time as shall be prescribed. Notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be given to the petitioner and to such other persons as the commission may find directly interested in such decision.

(4) Upon such investigation, if it shall be found that the order complained of is unlawful or unreasonable, the commission shall substitute therefor such other order as shall be lawful and reasonable.

(5) Whenever, at the time of final determination upon such hearing, it shall be found that further time is reasonably necessary for compliance with the order of the commission, the commission shall grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for such compliance.

SEC. 3078. Application.—No action, proceeding, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any order of the commission or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be brought unless the plaintiff shall have applied to the commission for a hearing thereon at the time and as provided in section 3077 and in the petition therefor shall have raised every issue raised in such action. Every order of the commission shall, in every prosecution for violation thereof, be conclusively presumed to be just, reasonable, and lawful, unless prior to the institution of the prosecution for such violation an action shall have been brought to vacate and set aside such order, as provided in section 3087.

SEC. 3079. Powers.—Each of the commissioners and the secretary of the commission, for the purposes mentioned in this title, shall have power to administer oaths, certify to official acts, issue subpœnas, compel attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony. In case of the failure of any person to comply with any order of the commission or any subpœna lawfully issued, or upon the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may be lawfully interrogated, it shall be the duty of the district court of any county in this State, on the application of a commissioner, to compel obedience by attachment proceedings for contempt, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpœna issued from such court or a refusal to testify therein.

SEC. 3080. Witnesses.—Each witness who shall appear before the commission by its order shall receive for his attendance the fees and mileage now provided for witnesses in civil cases in the district court, which shall be audited and paid by the State out of the State treasury, in the same manner as other expenses are audited and paid, upon the presentation of properly verified vouchers approved by the chairman of the commission. But no witness subpœnaed at the instance of the parties other than the commission shall be entitled to compensation from the State for attendance or travel unless the commission shall certify that his testimony was material to the matter investigated.

SEC. 3081. Depositions.—The commission or any party may in any investigation cause depositions of witnesses residing within or without the State to be taken as in civil actions.

SEC. 3082. Records.—A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before the commission on any investigation, and all testimony shall be taken down by a stenographer appointed by the commission.

SEC. 3083. Rules, etc., to be published.—Publication of rules and orders of the commission shall be made by the commission in pamphlet form, to be furnished on demand at the office of the commission. The expenses of publication shall be audited and paid as are other expenses of the commission.

SEC. 3084. Agents.—1. For the purpose of making any investigation with regard to any employment or place of employment, the commission shall have power to appoint, by an order in writing, any member of the commission, any deputy, or any other competent person who is a resident of the State as an agent, whose duty shall be prescribed in such order.

2. In the discharge of his duties such agent shall have every power whatsoever of an inquisitorial nature granted in this title to the commission, and the same powers as a referee appointed by a district court with regard to taking testimony.

3. The commission may conduct any number of such investigations contemporaneously through different agents, and may delegate to such agents the taking of all testimony bearing upon any investigation or hearing. The decision of the commission shall be based upon its examination of all testimony and records. The recommendations made by such agents shall be advisory only and shall not preclude the taking of further testimony if the commission so orders, nor further investigation.

SEC. 3085. Attorneys.—The commission shall have authority to direct any deputy to act as special prosecutor in any action, proceeding, investigation, hearing, or trial relating to matters within its jurisdiction.

Upon the request of the commission, the attorney general, district attorney, or the county attorney of the county in which any investigation, hearing, or trial had under the provision of this title is pending, shall aid therein and prosecute, under the supervision of the commission, all necessary actions or proceedings for the enforcement of this title and all other laws of this State relating to the protection of life, health, safety, and welfare, and for the punishment of all violations thereof.

SEC. 3086. Compliance.—A substantial compliance with the requirements of this title shall be sufficient to give effect to the orders of the commission and they shall not be declared inoperative, illegal, or void for any omission of a technical nature in respect thereto.

SEC. 3087 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Action to vacate orders.—Any employer or other person in interest, being dissatisfied with any order of the commission pertaining to employment or places of employment as to requiring protection of life, health, safety, and welfare of employees in such employment or places of employment, may commence an action in the district court of the county where the property, plant or place of employment affected by such order may lie, against the commission as defendant, to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order, on the ground that the order is unreasonable or unlawful, and the district court is hereby authorized and vested with exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine such action. The commission shall be served with summons as in other civil cases. The answer of the commission shall be filed within ten days after service of summons upon it, and with its answer it shall file a certified transcript of its record in said matter. Upon the filing of said answer, said action shall be at issue, and shall be advanced and assigned for trial by the court, upon the application of either party, at the earliest possible date.

SEC. 3088. Procedure.—(1) If upon the trial of such action it shall appear that all issues arising in such action have not theretofore been presented to the commission in the petition filed as provided in section 3077, or that the commission has not theretofore had ample opportunity to hear and determine any of the issues raised in said action, or for any reason has not in fact heard and determined the issues raised, the court shall, before proceeding to render judgment, unless the parties to such action stipulate to the contrary, transmit to the commission a full statement of such issue or issues not adequately considered, and shall stay further proceedings in such action for fifteen days from the date of such transmission, and may thereafter grant such further stay as may be necessary.

(2) Upon the receipt of such statement, the commission shall consider the issues not theretofore considered, and may alter, modify, amend, or rescind its order complained of in said action, and shall report its order thereon to said court, within ten days from the receipt of the statement from the court, for further hearing and consideration.

(3) The court shall thereupon order the pleading to be so amended as to raise the issues resulting from such alteration, modification, amendment, or recision of the commission's order, and shall thereafter proceed with such action in the manner provided by law for other civil actions.

SEC. 3089 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Review.—No court of this State, except the district court and the supreme court on appeal, shall have jurisdiction to review, vacate, set aside, reverse, revise, correct, amend, or annul any order of the commission pertaining to the employment or places of employment as to requiring to [sic] protection of life, health, safety, and welfare of employees in such employment or places of employment, or to suspend or delay the execution or operation thereof, or to enjoin, restrain, or interfere with the commission in the performance of its official duties: Provided, That the writ of mandamus shall lie from the said supreme court to the commission in all proper cases.

SEC. 3090. Suspension.—The pendency of an action to set aside, vacate, or amend an order of the commission shall not of itself stay or suspend the operation of an order of the commission; but, during the pendency of said action, the said district court in its discretion may stay or suspend, in whole or in part, the operation of the commission's order. But no order so staying or suspending an order of the commission shall be made by the said court otherwise than upon three days' notice and after hearing. In case the order is stayed or suspended, the order of the court shall not become effective until a suspending bond first shall have been executed and filed in the action and approved by the court or the clerk thereof, payable to the State of Utah, and sufficient in amount and security to insure the prompt payment by the party petitioning to set aside, vacate, or amend such order of all damages caused by the delay in the enforcement of the order of the commission.

SEC. 3091. Precedence.—All actions and proceedings under this title and all actions or proceedings to which the commission or this State may be parties, and in which any question arises under this title or under or concerning any order of the commission, shall be preferred over all other civil cases, except election causes and causes involving or affecting the public utilities commission, irrespective of position on the calendar. The same preference shall be granted upon application of the attorney of the commission in any action or proceeding in which he may be allowed to intervene.

SECS. 3092, 3093. Violation.—[Violation or failure to comply with this act entails a fine, $50 to $1,000 for first offense, and $100 to $5,000 for each subsequent offense. Each day is a separate offense.]

SEC. 3094 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Employers' statements.—Every employer shall furnish the commission upon request all information required by it to carry out the purpose of this title. In the month of July of each year every employer shall prepare and mail to the commission at the State capitol, Salt Lake City, Utah, a statement containing the following information, viz: The number of employees employed during the preceding year from July 1 to June 30, inclusive; the number of such employees employed at each kind of employment; and the scale of wages paid to each class of employment, showing the minimum and maximum wage paid, and the aggregate amount of wages paid to all employees; which information shall be furnished on a blank or blanks to be prepared by the commission; and it shall be the duty of the commission to furnish such blanks to employers free of charge, upon request therefor. Every employer shall cause said blanks to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly all questions therein propounded, and to give all the information therein sought, or if unable to do so, he shall give to the commission, in writing, good and sufficient reasons for such failure. The commission may require the information herein required to be furnished to be certified under oath and returned to the commission within the period fixed by it or by law. The commission, or any member thereof, or any person employed by the commission for that purpose, shall have the right to examine, under oath, any employer, or the officer, agent, or employee thereof, for the purpose of ascertaining any information which such employer is required by this title to furnish to the commission.

Any employer who shall refuse to furnish to the commission the annual statement herein required, or who shall refuse to furnish such other information as may be required by the commission under authority of this section, or who shall willfully furnish a false or untrue statement, shall be liable to a penalty of not to exceed $500 for each offense, to be collected in a civil action brought against said employer in the name of the State; all such penalties, when collected, shall be paid into the State treasury.

SEC. 3112 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Definitions.—The following terms as used in this title shall be construed as follows:

(1) The term "order" shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement or standard of the commission, or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission.

(2) The term "general order" shall mean and include such order as applies generally throughout the State to all persons, employments or places of employment of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(3) The term "welfare" shall mean and include comfort, decency, and moral well-being.

(4) The terms "safe" and "safety" as applied to any employment or a place of employment, shall mean such freedom from danger to the life, health, safety or welfare of employees as the nature of the employment will reasonably permit.

(5) The words "personal injury by accident arising out of or in the course of employment" shall include an injury caused by the willful act of a third person directed against an employee because of his employment.

They shall not include a disease except as it shall result from the injury.

(6) The term "compensation" shall mean the compensation and benefits provided for in this title.

(7) The term "award" shall mean the finding or decision of the commission as to the amount of compensation due any injured, or the dependents of any deceased employee.

(8) The term "average weekly earnings" shall mean the average weekly earnings arrived at by rule provided in section 3142.

SEC. 3156. Injuries.—Every employer shall keep a record of all injuries, fatal or otherwise, received by his employees arising out of and in the course of their employment. Within a week after the occurrence of an accident resulting in personal injury, a report thereof shall be made in writing to the commission upon blanks to be procured from the commission for that purpose. Such report shall contain the name and nature of the business of the employer, the location of his establishment or place of work, the name, address, and occupation of the injured employee, and shall state the time, the nature, and cause of injury and such other information as may be required by the commission. Any employer who refuses or neglects to make any report required by this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for such offense.

SEC. 3157. Enforcement.—Upon the request of the commission, the attorney general or, under his direction, any district attorney or the county attorney of any county, shall institute and prosecute the necessary actions or proceedings for the enforcement of any of the provisions of this title, or for the recovery of any money due the State insurance fund, or any penalty herein provided for, arising within the county in which he was elected, and shall defend in like manner all suits, actions, or proceedings brought against the commission or the members thereof in their official capacity.

SEC. 3158. Expenditure for information.—The commission may make necessary expenditures to obtain statistical and other information provided for herein.

SEC. 3159 (as amended 1921, ch. 67). Annual report.—On or before the fifteenth day of December preceding the regular sessions of the legislature the commission under the oath of at least two of its members shall make a report to the governor for the preceding biennial period, which shall include a statement of the number of awards made by it and a general statement of the causes of accidents leading to the injuries for which the awards were made, a detailed statement of the disbursements from the expense fund, and the condition of its respective funds, together with any other matters which the commission deems proper to call to the attention of the governor, including any recommendations it may have to make, and it shall be the duty of the commission from time to time to publish and distribute among employers and employees such general information as to the business transacted by the department as in its judgment may be useful.

SEC. 3161. Restraining order.—No injunction shall issue suspending or restraining any order, classification, or rate adopted by the commission, or any action of the State auditor, State treasurer, attorney general, or the auditor or treasurer of any county required to be taken by them or any of them by any of the provisions of this title, but nothing herein shall affect any right or defense in any action brought by the commission or the State in pursuance of authority contained in this title.

SEC. 3162. Provisions severable.—Should any section or provision of this title be decided by the courts to be unconstitutional or invalid the same shall not affect the validity of the title as a whole or any part thereof other than the part so decided to be unconstitutional.

Arbitration of labor disputes—State board

SECTION 3634. Appointment of board.—* * * The governor by and with the consent of the senate shall appoint three persons, not more than two of whom shall belong to the same political party, who shall be styled a State board of labor, conciliation, and arbitration. One shall be an employer of labor, another shall be an employee and be selected from some labor organization, the third shall be some person who is neither an employee nor an employer of manual labor and shall be chairman of the board. One shall serve for one year, one for three years, and one for five years, as may be designated by the governor at the time of their appointment. At the expiration of their terms their successors shall be appointed in like manner for the term of four years. Should a vacancy occur at any time the governor shall in the same manner appoint some one to serve the unexpired term and until the appointment and qualification of his successor. Each member of said board shall before entering upon his duties take the constitutional oath of office.

SEC. 3635. Secretary.—The board shall select from its members a secretary and shall establish suitable rules of procedure.

SEC. 3636. Mediation.—Whenever it shall come to the knowledge of the said board that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened in the State involving any employer and his employees, if he is employing not less than ten persons, it shall be the duty of the said board to put itself into communication as soon as may be with such employer and employees and endeavor by mediation to effect an amicable settlement. Said board shall also request each of the parties to forward to its secretary an application for arbitration.

SEC. 3637. Applications for arbitration.—As soon as practicable after receiving such applications the board shall request each of the parties to the dispute to agree upon a written statement of facts relating to the controversy, and to submit the same to the board: Provided, That when such agreement and statement can not be reached, each of said parties may separately submit to the board a written statement of grievances. Applications to the said board for arbitration on the part of employers must precede any lockout, and, on the part of the employees, any strike: Provided, That, in case a lockout or strike already exists, the board shall accord arbitration if the parties shall resume their relations with each other, as employers and employees. Said applications shall include a promise to abide by the decision of the board and shall be signed by the employer or employers, or his or their authorized agent, on the one side, and by a majority of his or their employees on the other.

SEC. 3638. Duty of board.—As soon as practicable after receiving said applications the board shall proceed to arbitrate. When it shall be necessary, in the judgment of said board, it may engage the services of a stenographer to take and transcribe an account of any arbitration proceedings.

SEC. 3639. Power to summon witnesses, etc.—The board shall have power to summon as witnesses by subpœna any operative or expert in departments of business affected, and any person who keeps the record of wages earned in those departments, or any other person, and to administer oaths, and to examine said witnesses, and to require the production of books, papers, and records. In case of disobedience to a subpœna the board may invoke the aid of any court in the State in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses, and the production of books, papers, and documents under the provisions of this section. Any of the district courts of the State, within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on, may, in case of contumacy, or refusal to obey a subpœna issued to any such witness, issue an order requiring such witness to appear before said board and produce books and papers if so ordered, and give evidence touching the matter in question. Any refusal to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof.

SEC. 3640. Duty of mayors and sheriffs.—It shall be the duty of mayors of cities and sheriffs of counties when any condition likely to lead to a strike or lockout exists in the cities or districts where they have jurisdiction, to immediately forward information of the same to the secretary of the State board of conciliation and arbitration. Such information shall include the names and addresses of persons who should be communicated with by the board.

SEC. 3641. Service of process.—Any notice or process issued by the State board of labor, conciliation, and arbitration shall be served by any sheriff to whom the same may be directed or in whose hands the same may be placed for service without charge.

SEC. 3642. Decision.—As soon as practicable after the board has investigated the differences existing between employer and employees, it shall make an equitable decision, which shall state what, if anything, should be done by either or both parties to the dispute, in order to amicably settle and adjust the differences existing between them. The findings of a majority of the board shall constitute its decision.

SEC. 3643. Publication, etc.—This decision shall at once be made public; shall be recorded upon the proper book of record to be kept by the secretary of said board, and a short statement thereof published in an annual report to be made to the governor before the 1st day of March of each year.

SEC. 3644. Compensation of board.—The members of the board shall each receive a compensation of $4 for each day's service while engaged in arbitration, said compensation to be paid by the parties to the controversy in such proportion as the board may decide; they shall also receive the actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties, which expenses shall be paid out of the State treasury.

Labor organizations—Injunctions—Contempts

SECTION 3651. Organizations lawful.—It shall not be unlawful for working men and women to organize themselves into, or carry on, labor unions for the purpose of lessening the hours of labor, increasing the wages, bettering the conditions of the members of such organization; or carrying out their legitimate purposes as freely as they could do if acting singly.

SEC. 3652. Injunctions limited.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of the State of Utah, or a judge or the judges thereof, in any case between an employer and employees, or between employers and employees, or between employers, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving, or growing out of, a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property, or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property rights must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant, or by his agent or attorney.

SEC. 3653. What may not be prohibited.—And no such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment, or from ceasing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where such person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information or from peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means and lawful means so to do; or from paying or giving to or withholding from any person engaged in such dispute any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peaceably assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of the law of the State of Utah.

SEC. 3654. Contempts.—Whenever it shall be made to appear to any district court or judge thereof, or to any judge therein sitting, by the return of a proper officer on lawful process, or upon the affidavit of some creditable person, or by information filed by any district attorney, that there is reasonable ground to believe that any person has been guilty of such contempt, the court or judge thereof, or any judge therein sitting, may issue a rule requiring the said person so charged to show cause upon a day certain why he should not be punished therefor, which rule, together with a copy of the affidavit or information, shall be served upon the person charged, with sufficient promptness to enable him to prepare for and make return to the order at the time fixed therein. If upon or by such return, in the judgment of the court, the alleged contempt be not sufficiently purged, a trial shall be directed at a time and place fixed by the court: Provided, however, That if the accused, being a natural person, fail and refuse to make return to the rule to show cause, an attachment may issue against his person to compel an answer, and in case of his continued failure or refusal, or if for any reason it be impracticable to dispose of the matter on the return day, he may be required to give reasonable bail for his attendance at the trial and his submission to the final judgment of the court. Where the accused is a body corporate, an attachment for the sequestration of its property may be issued upon like refusal or failure to answer.

SEC. 3655. Trial.—In all cases within the purview of this chapter such trial may be by the court, or, upon demand of the accused, by a jury; in which latter event the court may impanel a jury from the jurors then in attendance, or the court or the judge thereof in chambers may cause a sufficient number of jurors to be selected and summoned, as provided by law, to attend at the time and place of trial, at which time a jury shall be selected and impaneled as upon a trial for misdemeanor; and such trial shall conform, as near as may be, to the practice in criminal cases prosecuted by indictment or upon information.

SEC. 3656. Judgment.—If the accused be found guilty, judgment shall be entered accordingly, prescribing the punishment, either by fine or imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court. Such fine shall be paid to the State of Utah, or to the complainant, or other party injured by the act constituting the contempt, or may, where more than one is so damaged, be divided or apportioned among them as the court may direct, but in no case shall the fine to be paid to the State of Utah exceed, in case the accused is a natural person, the sum of $1,000, nor shall such imprisonment exceed the term of six months: Provided, That in any case the court or a judge thereof may, for good cause shown, by affidavit, or proof taken in open court or before such judge and filed with the papers in the case, dispense with the rule to show cause, and may issue an attachment for the arrest of the person charged with contempt; in which event such person, when arrested, shall be brought before such court or a judge thereof without unnecessary delay, and shall be admitted to bail in reasonable penalty for his appearance to answer to the charge or for trial for the contempt; and thereafter the proceedings shall be the same as provided herein in case the rule had issued in the first instance.

SEC. 3657. Labor not a commodity.—The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. Nothing contained in the antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations, instituted for the purpose of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations, or the members thereof, be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, under the antitrust laws.

SEC. 3658. Jury trial.—In all cases where persons are charged with contempt of court for the violation of writs of injunction, issued within the purview of this chapter, unless such contempt be committed in the immediate presence of the court, the accused shall have the right to a jury trial upon demand, and, in case a jury trial be demanded such jury shall be selected and impaneled as in criminal cases, and the trial shall conform as nearly as may be to the district court practice in criminal cases.

An act of the Massachusetts Legislature (ch. 778, Acts of 1914, similar to the foregoing in several respects, was held unconstitutional by the supreme court of the State. Bogni v. Perotti (1916), 224 Mass. 152, 112 N. E. 853.

Hours of labor

Section 3666. Eight hours a day's labor on public works, etc.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all penal institutions in this State, whether State, county, or municipal, and on all works and undertakings carried on or aided by the State, county, or municipal governments. Any officer of the State or of any county or municipal government or any person, corporation, firm, contractor, agent, manager, or foreman who shall require or contract with any person to work in any penal institution or upon such works or undertakings longer than eight hours in one calendar day, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3667. In mines and smelters.—The period of employment of working men in all underground mines or workings and in smelters and all other institutions for the reduction or refining of ores or metals shall be eight hours per day, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger. Any person, body corporate, agent, manager, or employer who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Held to be constitutional. 14 U. Rep. 71, 96; 18 Sup. Ct. 383.
An employee working more than eight hours is a violator of the law equally with his employer. The law will not be construed so as to require an employer to pay for the excess of eight hours' services rendered by an employee. 57 Pac. 720.

Employment of women and children

Section 3668. Employment in mines and smelters.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to employ any child under fourteen years of age or any female to work in any mine or smelter in the State of Utah. Any person, firm, or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3669. Seats for female employees in stores, etc.—The proprietor, manager, or person having charge of any store, shop, hotel, restaurant, or other place where women or girls are employed as clerks or help therein shall provide chairs, stools, or other contrivances where such clerks or help may rest when not employed in the discharge of their respective duties. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3671. Minimum wage.—It shall be unlawful for any regular employer of female workers in the State of Utah to pay any woman less than the wage in this section specified, to wit:

For minors, under the age of eighteen years, not less than 75 cents per day; for adult learners and apprentices, not less than 90 cents per day: Provided, That the learning period or apprenticeship shall not extend for more than one year; for adults who are experienced in the work they are employed to perform, not less than $1.25 per day.

Sec. 3672. Certificate of apprenticeship.—All regular employers of female workers shall give a certificate of apprenticeship for time served to all apprentices.

Sec. 3673. Violations.—Any regular employer of female workers who shall pay to any woman less than the wage specified in section 3671 shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 3674. Enforcement.—The commissioner of immigration, labor, and statistics shall have general charge of the enforcement of this chapter, but violations of the same shall be prosecuted by all the city, State, and county prosecuting officers in the same manner as in other cases of misdemeanor.

Administration is conferred on the industrial commission. (See sec. 3076.)

Sec. 3677 (as amended 1919, ch. 70). Eight-hour day; exemptions.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, restaurant, or telegraph or telephone establishment, hospital, or office, or by any express or transportation company in this State more than eight hours during any one day (said eight hours to be worked in not more than two working periods and within twelve consecutive hours) or more than forty-eight hours in any one week, except in cases of emergency where life or property is in imminent danger: Provided, however, That this act shall not apply to persons or corporations engaged in the packing or canning of perishable fruits or vegetables, nor to the manufacturers of containers of the same during the packing season.

SEC. 3678 (as amended 1917, ch. 70). Violations.—[The penalty for violations is a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 and costs.]

Blacklisting

SECTION 3680. Blacklisting forbidden.—No company, corporation, nor individual shall blacklist, or publish, or cause to be published or blacklisted, any employee, mechanic, or laborer, discharged or voluntarily leaving the service of such company, corporation, or individual, with intent and for the purpose of preventing such employee, mechanic, or laborer from engaging in or securing similar or other employment from any other corporation, company, or individual.

SEC. 3681. Violations.—[Violation of the above section is punishable by a fine not less than $500 or more than $1,000, or imprisonment 60 days to 1 year.]

Liability of employers for injuries to employees—Fellow servants

SECTION 3682. Vice principals defined.—All persons engaged in the service of any person, firm, or corporation, foreign or domestic, doing business in this State, who are intrusted by such person, firm, or corporation as employer with the authority or superintendence, control, or command of other persons in the employ or service of such employer, or with the authority to direct any other employee in the performance of any duties of such employee, are vice principals of such employer and are not fellow servants.

The conductor of a railway train is not a fellow servant with a brakeman. 6 U. Rep. 132.
Nor is a car inspector. 6 U. Rep. 357, 23 Pac. 762.
Nor a locomotive engineer. 7 U. Rep. 288, 26 Pac. 579.
A foreman in a mine is not a fellow servant with a miner working under him. 4 U. Rep. 468, 11 Pac. 612.

SEC. 3683. Fellow servants.—All persons who are engaged in the service of such employer, and who, while so engaged, are in the same grade of service and are working together at the same time and place and to a common purpose, neither of such persons being intrusted by such employer with any superintendence or control over his fellow employees, are fellow servants with each other: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to make the employees of such employer fellow servants with other employees engaged in any other department of service of such employer. Employees who do not come within the provisions of this section shall not be considered fellow servants.

The above definition of the term "fellow servants" is one that the legislature could constitutionally make. 18 U. Rep. 410, 55 Pac. 367.
A miner is not a fellow servant with a tool carrier, whose only duty is to supply sharp tools and remove dull ones; nor with a man who manages and operates the cage by which miners enter and leave the mine. 24 U. Rep. 513, 68 Pac. 845.
The manifest purpose of the statute is to abolish the common-law doctrine of fellow service. 99 Pac. 1067.

Wages as preferred claims—In receiverships, etc.

SECTION 3684. Rank.—[This section provides the same preference in receivership as made for assignments by sec. 296.]

SECS. 3685, 3686. Procedure; costs.—[These sections relate to procedure and provide that costs shall be allowed the prevailing party in case of a contest of any claim submitted.]

Suits for wages—Attorneys' fees

SECTION 3687. Fee allowed, when.—[In a suit for wages, if the claimant shows that at least 15 days before bringing suit a demand was made in writing for a sum not greater than the amount recovered, an attorney's fee will be taxed as costs, not over $5 in a justice's court, or $10 in a district court except in cases appealed from a justice's court, when $25 will be allowed.]

Interference with employment

Section 3688. Interference prohibited.—It shall be unlawful for any person, persons, associations of persons, combination of persons, or body of persons to interfere with the rights of any individual engaged in labor, to exercise his full privileges under the Constitution of this State or of the United States, as to where he shall be employed, by whom he shall be employed and at what compensation he shall be employed. Anyone violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Mine regulations

Sections 3910-3914. Inspector.—[The governor is authorized to appoint an inspector of coal and hydrocarbon mines, also a deputy, by and with the consent of the Senate. These men are to have technical and practical qualifications, and give their whole time to their duties. The inspector's salary is $2,000, and the deputy's, $1,500. A bond in the sum of $5,000 is required of the inspector. Mine owners must assist in the inspection of their mines.]

Secs. 3915-3923. Regulations.—[Maps must be provided and revised at least every 6 months; annual reports made of operations, employees, days worked, accidents, new workings, etc.; escape shafts, cages, hoisting, haulage roads, ventilation, etc., are regulated; stretchers must be kept at suitable places; sprinkling provided for dusty mines; timbers supplied, and speaking tubes or other signal system be provided in shafts where men are hoisted or lowered by machinery. Rules require the employment of a certified mine foreman, prescribe precautions in gaseous mines, regulate blasting, the storage and handling of explosives, the location of refuge holes, the use of lights, oils, etc.]

Sec. 3924. Accidents.—[Notice must be given to the inspector of accidents causing loss of life or serious injury and notice of the inquest in cases of death. It is the duty of the inspector to investigate the accident and give directions for future safety.]

Sec. 3925 (as amended 1923, ch. 10). Board of examiners.—[District courts in each county appoint a board at the request of the State inspector, whose duty it is to examine persons as to their competency to serve as mine bosses. The inspector, an operator, and a miner constitute the board. Mine bosses and fire bosses must hold certificates from this board.]

Sec. 3926. Violations.—[Fines of not less than $100 nor more than $500 are the penalties for violations of this law.]

Secs. 3930-3934. Weighing coal.—[Where miners are paid by weight, suitable scales must be provided, which the inspector must test. A checkweighman may be employed by the miners.]

Secs. 3942, 3943, 3944 (as amended 1921, ch. 80), 3945, 3946. Safety; first aid.—[These sections relate to fire apparatus at certain mines, the provision of safety cages for hoisting and lowering workmen, the storage of powder, and the furnishing of first-aid supplies at mines.]

Employment of children—School attendance

Section 4740. Requirement.—[Attendance up to 16 years of age is required unless the services of the child are necessary to the support of the mother or an invalid father.]

Railroads—Safety appliances—Accidents

ARTICLE IV

Sections 4810. Power of commission.—The [public utilities] commission shall have power, by general or special orders, rules, or regulations, or otherwise, to require every public utility to construct, maintain, and operate its line, plant, system, equipment, apparatus, tracks, and premises in such manner as to promote and safeguard the health and safety of its employees, passengers, customers, and the public, and to this end to prescribe, among other things, the installations, use, maintenance, and operation of appropriate safety or other devices or appliances, including interlocking and other protective devices at grade crossings, or junctions, and block or other system of signaling, to establish uniform or other standards of construction and equipment, and to require the performance of any other act which the health or safety of its employees, passengers, customers, or the public may demand.

SEC. 4812. Accidents.—[The commission shall investigate accidents causing personal injury or loss of life if in their judgment investigation is required, and may make orders and recommendations in regard thereto.]

Alien labor—Preference of citizens on public works

SECTION 4865. Who to be preferred.—In employing workmen in or on the construction of public works by the State, county, or municipality, or by persons contracting with the State, county, or municipality, preference shall be given citizens of the United States or those having declared their intention of becoming citizens. In each contract for the construction of public works the provisions shall be inserted to the effect that if the provisions of this section are not complied with the contract shall be void.

Garnishment of wages of public employees

SECTION 6754. Allowance.—[Wages owed an employee of the State or a subdivision are subject to garnishment, attachment, etc., as in case of other persons.]

Exemption of wages from execution, etc.

SECTION 6923. Child's earnings.—[The earnings of a minor child of a debtor are exempt from execution unless the debt was incurred for the special benefit of the child.]

SEC. 6925. Amount exempt.—[One-half the earnings of a judgment debtor, earned within 30 days next preceding the levy, is exempt, on a showing that it is necessary for the support of his family, resident in the State. If the earnings are $2 a day or less, $30 per month are exempt.]

Wages as preferred claims—In administration

SECTIONS 7666, 7667. Rank.—[Wage debts come next after funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, the family allowance, and costs of administration.]

Foremen, etc., receiving fees for employment

SECTION 8328 (as amended 1919, ch. 130). Scope; fees forbidden.—Any person or persons employed in or about any industrial plant, railroad, construction camp, foundry, factory, mine, smelter, mill, or other industrial concern in the State of Utah, or who acts as agent, or interpreter for or in connection with the employment of any laborer, or other person for any such concern, is hereby prohibited from soliciting, accepting, receiving, or causing to be solicited, accepted, or received, any compensation or gifts of money or any other consideration, directly or indirectly, for or on account of the employment or the continuance of the employment of any laborer or other person in or about any such concern or for any service rendered or influence used in connection with the employment of any laborer or other person in or about any such concern. Any person violating this section or any provision hereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

For the purposes of this section any person who has paid or has been solicited to pay any compensation or who has made any gifts of money or any other consideration for or on account of his employment or the continuance of his employment or for any service performed in connection with his employment shall not be deemed an accomplice.

[The following sections were enacted by chapter 130, Acts of 1919, in connection with the foregoing amended section:]

SEC. 2. Interpreters.—Any person employed or seeking employment by any industrial plant, railroad, construction camp, foundry, factory, mine, smelter, mill or other industrial concern in the State of Utah is hereby prohibited from paying or giving directly or indirectly any consideration or gift to any person employed by or acting as interpreter for such concern, for the purpose of securing employment by or continuing in the employment of such concern. Any person violating this section or any provision hereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of $25 or by imprisonment for thirty days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 3. Notice to be posted.—Every employer as defined in section 1 hereof shall post and maintain notices, printed or written in plain type or script in at least two conspicuous places where said notices can be seen by said employees as they go to and from their work, setting forth the provisions of this act in language understood by the employees, said printed notices to be furnished by the Industrial Commission of Utah upon request of the employer. Failure to comply with the provisions of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor.

Coercion of workmen, etc.—Joining unions

SECTION 8329. Coercion, etc., forbidden.—It shall be unlawful for any person to exact, by threat, or coercion, any money, tribute, or support whatsoever from any person; or to induce him, by threats, or coercion, to join any organization.

SEC. 8330. Violations.—Any person violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, That any person who commonly practices, or who follows the occupation of exacting money, tribute, or support from any person by means of threats or coercion, for any purpose whatsoever, shall be deemed a common vagrant and punished accordingly.

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTIONS 8487–8489. Vestibules.—[These sections require the installation of vestibules for the protection of motormen, etc., on street railways between November 1 and April 1 of each year. Penalties are not less than $50 nor more than $250, each day's violation being a separate offense.]

Interference with employment—Intimidation

SECTION 8493. Threats.—Any person or persons in this State who shall threaten to destroy property or to do bodily harm, for the purpose of preventing any person or persons from entering or remaining in the employ of any company, corporation, or individual, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Protection of employees as traders, etc.

SECTION 8513. Influencing employees in choice of boarding house, etc.—Every person, body corporate, agent, manager, or employer doing business in the State of Utah who, by coercion, intimidation, threats, or undue influence, compels his employees to board at a particular boarding house, or to trade with or at a particular store, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 71.—Payment of wages

SECTION 1. Payment on discharge.—Whenever an employer discharges an employee, the wages earned and unpaid at the time of such discharge shall become due and payable immediately. When any such employee not having a contract for a definite period quits or resigns his employment the wages earned and unpaid at the time of such quitting or resignation shall be due and payable at the employee's next regular pay day.

SEC. 2. Semi-monthly pay day.—All wages, other than those mentioned in section 1 of this act, earned by any person, shall be due and payable at least twice in each month, and no person, firm, or corporation for whom such labor has been performed shall withhold from any such employee any wages so earned or unpaid for a longer period than ten days after such wages become due and payable: Provided, however, That nothing herein shall in any way limit or interfere with the right of any employee to accept from any person, firm, or corporation wages earned and unpaid for a shorter period than ten days.

SEC. 3. Penalties.—In the event that an employer shall fail to pay, without abatement or authorized deduction, then the same shall become due under the provisions of section 1 of this act, any wages of an employee who is discharged or who resigned or quits, as in said section 1 provided, then, as a penalty for such nonpayment, the wages of such servant or employee shall continue from the due date thereof at the same rate until paid: Provided, That in no case shall such wages continue for more than ten days: And provided further, That no such employee who secretes or absents himself to avoid payment to him, or refuses to receive the same when fully tendered, shall be entitled to any benefit under this act for such time as he so avoids payment. In the happening of any strike, the unpaid wages of striking employees earned prior to the strike shall become due and payable upon the employer's next regular pay day, and, if then paid or tendered, the provisions of this section shall have no application.

SEC. 4. Times of payment.—All wages or compensation of employees in private employments shall be due and payable semimonthly; that is to say, all such wages or compensation earned and unpaid prior to the first day of any month shall be due and payable not later than the tenth day of the month following; and all wages or compensations earned and unpaid prior to the sixteenth day of any month shall be due and payable not later than the twenty-fifth day of the same month. The words "private employments" as used in this act shall mean and include all employments other than those mentioned in section 8 hereof and those under the direct management, supervision, and control of the State of Utah, any county, city and county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation or political subdivision of the State of Utah, or any officer or department thereof. But nothing contained herein shall be construed as prohibiting the payment of wages at more frequent periods than semimonthly.

SEC. 5. Medium.—The payment of wages or compensation of employees in the employments defined herein shall be made in lawful money of the United States, or by a time check which is paid when presented at the office or by a good and valid negotiable check or draft, payable on presentation thereof at some bank or other established place of business, located in this State, without discount, in lawful money of the United States, and not otherwise.

SEC. 6. Absent employees.—In case an employee in any said employment shall be absent from the usual place of employment at the time said payment shall be due and payable as hereinabove provided he shall be paid the wages or compensation within five days after making demand therefor.

SEC. 7. Violations.—Any person or any agent of any person, copartnership, association, or corporation who shall willfully refuse to pay the wages due and payable when demanded, as herein provided, or shall falsely deny the amount or validity thereof, or that the same is due, with intent to secure, for himself or any other person, any discount upon such indebtedness, or with intent to annoy, or harass, or oppress, or hinder, or delay, or defraud the person to whom said indebtedness is due, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, That in any prosecution under this section any judgment rendered in a civil action brought to recover wages claimed to be due shall not be admitted in evidence as proof of said intent.

SEC. 8. Exemptions.—None of the provisions of this act shall apply to the State, or to any county, city and county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation, or to employers and employees engaged in farm, dairy, agricultural, viticultural, or horticultural pursuits, banks, and mercantile houses (or other employment where an agreement exists between an employer and employee providing for different terms of pay), in stock or poultry raising, or in household domestic service.

SEC. 9. Enforcement.—The State industrial commission shall enforce the provisions of this act.

CHAPTER 19.—Labor disputes—Picketing

SECTION 1. Definition.—Picketing is hereby defined to be guarding or patrolling by any person or persons whomsoever, for the purpose of intercepting or persuading, or otherwise urging any person or persons whomsoever, from patronizing any duly and regularly licensed business within the State of Utah.

SEC. 2. Misdemeanor.—Every person convicted of picketing, as defined by section 1 of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 49.—Employment of labor—False advertising

SECTION 1. Duplicate orders.—Any person who places with an employment agent an order for more employees that he actually desires, or who places with employment agents duplicate orders for employees, or who permits a standing order for employees to remain uncanceled at a time when he does not need such employees, shall be liable to persons who, in good faith, accept and act upon information furnished in good faith by employment agents under such excess, duplicate, or standing order for the amount actually expended in traveling from the location of such employment agent to the place of such proposed employment and return.

SEC. 2. False orders.—Any person who gives to an employment agent or agents any false or unauthorized order for employees, or who causes to be published in any newspaper or otherwise any false or unauthorized notice or statement that employees are wanted by any person, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

CHAPTER 93.—Interference with employment

SECTION 1. Interference unlawful.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons acting singly or jointly with another or others, by means of any kind of force, threats, coercion, intimidation or violence, to cause or induce or to attempt to cause or induce, any person engaged in a lawful occupation to quit such employment, or to refuse or to decline to accept or begin, a lawful employment.

SEC. 2. Penalty.—Any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by fine in any sum less than three hundred dollars ($300) or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six (6) months or by both.

VERMONT

Exemption of wages from garnishment—Assignments

SECTION 1944 (as amended 1919, No. 74). Amount exempt.—[Only wages in excess of $10 for work done prior to proceedings may be garnished; and the earnings of a defendant's wife or minor children are exempt. Wages of an employee residing and rendering service outside the State are similarly exempt if the law of the State of his residence provide exemption in an equal amount.]

SEC. 1945. Debts due employees.—[Where a principal defendant owes workmen for services under the contract out of which the indebtedness arises, the amount of such debts shall be exempt from process.]

SEC. 1946. Future earnings.—[Assignments of future earnings are not valid as against process unless made in writing to secure the payment of a prior or concurrently contracted debt, or of a debt for necessaries to be thereafter furnished. Such assignment must be recorded in the office of the town clerk.]

Suits for wages—Property worked on not exempt—Attachments

SECTION 2439. Exemptions.—[This section declares the exemptions allowed a judgment debtor, but provides that no personal property is exempt from attachment on account of money owed for material or labor expended thereon.]

SEC. 2824. Rank of attachments.—If a person or company is compelled to stop business by reason of attachment upon mesne process, and does not resume business within thirty days, and is indebted to an employee for wages, said employee may attach the same property upon his debt, and the attachment shall take precedence over such prior attachment to an amount not exceeding fifty dollars, if made before sale thereof on execution.

Wages as preferred claims

SECTION 3376. Administration.—[Wages due workmen, clerks, or servants, earned within 3 months prior to the employer's death, and not exceeding $50 to each claimant, rank ahead of debts due other creditors, but after funeral expenses, the cost of a headstone not exceeding $25, expenses of the last sickness, taxes, and debts due the State and the United States.]

SEC. 4970. Mortgage on corporation property.—[No mortgage or lien on the property of a corporation can supersede the claims of wage earners for wages earned within the 3 months prior to the filing of such mortgage or lien. Employees receiving not over $1,500 per year are within the provisions of this section.]

Accidents on railroads, etc.—Inspection

SECTION 5045. Inspection.—[The public service commission must annually inspect the roadbed, rolling stock, equipment, etc., of all steam and electric railroads, as to safety, compliance with law, etc.]

SEC. 5047. Railroads.—[All accidents on railroads resulting in loss of life or injury to person must be reported to the public service commission.]

SEC. 5048. Investigation.—[Investigation must be made of the cause of every fatal accident, which may be public if thought to be necessary in the interests of public safety. The results are to be made public, and a permanent record kept.]

SEC. 5059. Public service corporations.—[Gas, electric, and other public service corporations must report to the commission every accident resulting in loss of life or injury incapacitating a person from engaging in his usual vocations. Investigation is to be made of the causes of accidents, and this may be public, if the commission thinks necessary.]

Railroad construction—Wage debts of contractors

SECTION 5153. Liability of corporation.—[Railroad corporations must require of contractors for construction security for the wage debts of such contractors; and if wages are not paid, the corporation is liable on presentation of any claim of a day laborer within 40 days after the performance of the labor for which the claim is made.]

Railroads—Safety provisions

SECTION 5204 (as amended 1919, No. 132). Height of bridges over tracks.—[A clearance of 22 feet for bridges, wires, ropes, etc., over railroad tracks is prescribed, except for 3 designated bridges: for one of these a minimum of 18 feet is provided. The public service commission may grant other exemptions, after hearing, as deemed to be for the public interest.]

SECS. 5205, 5206. Exemptions.—[These sections exempt two specified bridges from the standard requirement.]

SEC. 5207. Telltales.—A person or corporation operating a railroad or a part of a railroad in this State shall place at the approaches of all its bridges, the highway bridges, and all other structures of whatever kind or nature which cover or extend over its tracks that do not leave a clear height of twenty-two feet from the top of the rails and lowest parts of such bridges or other structures directly over such rails, such telltale warnings, or other safety devices of uniform pattern for warning trainmen of their approach thereto, as shall be recommended by the public service commission.

SEC. 5208. Blocking frogs, etc.—A person or corporation operating a railroad or a part of a railroad in this State shall, at all times, keep the frogs, switches, and guard rails on its tracks, with the exception of guard rails upon bridges, filled or blocked with a wooden block or wedge, so as to prevent the feet of its employees from being caught therein.

SEC. 5210. Violations.—[Failure to erect telltales or block frogs entails a fine of $50 for each day's neglect, and liability for resultant damages.]

SECS. 5211, 5212. Inspection of locomotive boilers.—[The public service commission may make rules for testing locomotive boilers, tests to be made, if possible, by the master mechanic of the corporation. The use of a boiler which has not been tested, as required, entails a penalty of $20 for each day's use after notice to discontinue the same.]

Street railways—Safety appliances—Seats for motormen

SECTION 5274. Safety regulations.—A railroad corporation doing business in this State, operating its road by electricity, shall equip, maintain, and use on all double-truck cars operated in passenger service a good and sufficient air brake, and shall be fined ten dollars for each day that it neglects to comply with this provision. Such corporations shall also equip double-truck cars with stools of the proper height for the use of the motormen while running such cars between suburban points.

Commissioner of industries

[The civil administration of the State government was reorganized by act No. 7, 1923, as amended by act No. 8. One of the administrative departments provided for in section 2 of the earlier act, as amended, is:]

7. Department of public service.—The department of public service which shall be administered by the commissioner of public service and in which shall be the public service commission and the commissioner of industries.

[The commissioner of industries is appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the senate, for a term of two years. (No. 8, Acts of 1923, repealing sec. 5752, G. L.) The following section of No. 8 provides for the distribution of certain powers:]

SEC. 8. Powers of department of public service.—The department of public service shall have power:

1. The public service commission shall exercise the powers and duties now and hereafter by law invested in and imposed upon it.

2. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties now vested by law in the commissioner of industries through said commissioner, and said commissioner of industries shall have exclusive jurisdiction to exercise such mandatory or discretionary rights, powers, and duties as are now vested by law in him.

3. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties now vested by law in the commissioner of weights and measures through the commissioner of industries.

4. To exercise the rights, powers, and duties now vested by law in the State board of conciliation and arbitration through the commissioner of industries.

[The following sections of the General Laws are unchanged:]

SEC. 5753. Office.—Said commissioner shall be provided with an office in the capitol or in some other State building at Montpelier in which his records shall be kept. Said commissioner shall have a seal for the authentication of his orders, awards, and proceedings upon which shall be inscribed the words "Commissioner of industries—Seal—Vermont."

SEC. 5754 (as amended 1921, No. 166). Deputies.—Said commissioner shall, subject to the approval of the governor, appoint one or more deputy commissioners, also a woman inspector for part or full time as may be required, for whose official acts he shall be responsible. Said deputy or deputies and said inspector shall hold office during the pleasure of said commissioner, and their compensation shall be fixed by said commissioner subject to the approval of the governor.

SEC. 5755. Assistants.—Said commissioner shall maintain such office and employ such assistance, clerical or otherwise, as the governor deems necessary for the proper performance of the duties of said commissioner.

SEC. 5756. Enforcement of laws.—Said commissioner shall make examinations and investigations to see that the laws pertaining to the employment of minors and women and to the weekly payment of wages are being complied with and for such purposes may enter any place where persons are employed, and summon witnesses, administer oaths, and demand the production of books and papers. The county court, a justice of the supreme court or a superior judge shall have power to enforce by proper proceedings the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production and examination of books, papers, records, and documents before said commissioner, and, in the case of a corporation, the provisions of sections four thousand nine hundred and fifty-one to four thousand nine hundred and fifty-five, both inclusive, shall apply. Whenever said commissioner finds a violation of the provisions of chapter two hundred and forty-three [relating to the inspection of factories]; of the provisions of law relating to the employment of minors and women; of the provisions of law relating to the weekly payment of wages and the provisions of law relating to the health, lives, and limbs of operators in factories, workshops, railroads, and other places and the provisions of law relating to the protection of the working classes; he shall submit the evidence thereof to the proper prosecuting officer, who shall prosecute the offender.

SEC. 5828. Reports.—Said commissioner shall, in each even year, make a report to the governor showing the work done during the preceding two years, and shall include therein a properly classified statement of his expenses, statistical information relating to the number and character of industrial accidents during such two years, information as to the general industrial conditions prevailing within the State, and such other information and recommendations as seem pertinent. Such report shall be printed.

Employment of women and children

SECTION 5832. Certificate required.—[For employment in the occupations named in the next section, a child must deposit with the employer a certificate from the commissioner of industries.]

SEC. 5833. Children under 16.—[Children under 16 may not be employed at railroad or manufacturing work, in hotels, billiard or pool rooms, in bowling alleys, or as messengers, except during vacation or before and after school hours, unless they have completed two years of a junior high school course or its equivalent. Work in these employments may not be in excess of 8 hours per day, 6 days per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m.]

SEC. 5834. Children under 14.—[No child under 14 may be employed in or about any mill, cannery, workshop, or factory.]

SEC. 5835. Dangerous occupations.—[The employment of children under 16 in specified dangerous or injurious occupations is forbidden. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 5836. Females under eighteen years.—A person shall not employ, permit, or suffer to work a female under eighteen years of age in any capacity where such employment compels her to remain standing continuously. A person who employs such a female in any place or establishment mentioned in the second preceding section shall provide suitable seats, chairs, or benches for the use of such females, which shall be so placed as to be accessible to such employees, and shall permit the use of such seats, chairs, or benches by such employees when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed, and shall provide at least one such chair to every three such employees.

SEC. 5837. Hours of labor.—A child over sixteen and under eighteen years of age and a woman shall not be employed in laboring in a mine or quarry, manufacturing or mechanical establishment more than ten and a half hours in any one day or more than fifty-six hours in any one week.

SEC. 5838. Posting notices; overemployment.—An employer shall post in a conspicuous place in every room in which persons mentioned in the preceding section are employed, a printed notice stating the number of hours' work required of them on each day of the week, the hours of commencing and stopping work, and the hours when the time allowed for meals begins and ends. The printed forms of such notices shall be provided by the commissioner of industries. An employer who employs such persons at any time, other than as stated in such notice, shall be guilty of a violation of a provision of the preceding section, unless it appears that such employment was to make up time lost on a previous day of the same week, in consequence of the stopping of machinery upon which such woman or child was employed or dependent for employment; but stopping of machinery for less than thirty consecutive minutes shall not justify employment at a time not stated in such notice.

SEC. 5839. Pregnant women.—A woman shall not knowingly be employed in laboring in any mill, cannery, workshop, factory, manufacturing or mechanical establishment within two weeks before or four weeks after childbirth. This provision shall be included in the notice required by the preceding section.

SEC. 5840. Regulations.—[The commissioner of industries may make regulations consistent with the law relative to the evidence of the age of children applying for certificates.]

SEC. 5841. Inspection.—[The commissioner may inquire of employers in the occupations, etc., named in the act as to the employment of children, and may require the production of certificates. Investigation shall be made at least three times a year.]

SECS. 5842, 5843. Violations.—[Persons in charge of a child are forbidden to allow employment in violation of the provisions of the law. A general penalty is provided for violation of a fine of $5 to $200, with option of imprisonment for a second offense.]

Factory, etc., regulations—Payment of wages

SECTION 5846. Definitions.—The word "factory" as used in this chapter, shall mean any premises where steam, water, or other mechanical power is used in aid of manufacturing processes therein carried on. The word "workshop" as so used, shall mean any premises, room, or place, not a factory as above defined, wherein manual labor is performed by way of trade or for the purpose of gain in or incidental to any process of making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing, or adapting for sale any article or part of an article, and to which or over which premises the employer of the person or persons working therein has the right of access or control; provided, however, that the performing of such manual labor in a private house or private room by the family dwelling therein or by any of them or in case a majority of the persons therein employed are members of such family, shall not of itself constitute such house or room a workshop.

SEC. 5847. Powers and duties; inspections.—The commissioner of industries may enter a factory, mill, workshop, private works, or State institution which has shops or factories, when the same are open or in operation, for the purpose of examining into the methods of protection from danger to employees and into the sanitary condition in and around such buildings and places and to make a record of such inspection. In case said commissioner finds upon such inspection that the heating, lighting, ventilating, or sanitary arrangement of a workshop or factory is such as to be injurious to the health of the persons employed or residing therein or that the means of egress in case of fire or other disaster is insufficient, or that the belting, shafting, gearing, elevators, drums, saws, cogs, or machinery in such workshop or factory are located or are in such a condition as to be dangerous to employees and not sufficiently guarded, or that vats, pans, or any other structures filled with molten metal or hot liquids, are not surrounded with sufficient safeguards to prevent accident or injury to those employed at or near them, said commissioner shall give written notice to the owner, proprietor, or other person in charge of such workshop or factory, to make, within thirty days, such alterations or additions for the safety and protection of employees as said commissioner deems necessary. If such alterations or additions are not made within thirty days from the date of such written notice or not within such time as such alterations or additions can be made with proper diligence upon the part of said owner, proprietor, or other person in charge of such workshop or factory, such person so notified shall be imprisoned not more than thirty days or fined not more than two hundred dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars, or both. A person who refuses to permit said commissioner to enter a factory, mill, workshop, or private works or State institution for the purpose of making the inspection in the manner herein provided for shall be imprisoned not more than ninety days or fined not more than one hundred dollars, or both.

SEC. 5848. Furnishing information.—Employers of labor subject to the provisions of this chapter shall furnish said commissioner, upon request, information as to the number and kind of persons employed, the time and method of payment of wages, the source of the water supply used, the sewerage, and other sanitary equipment and the inspection of boilers and elevators in a factory or workshop. An employer in whose factory or workshop an accident occurs, shall forthwith report the same to said commissioner upon blanks to be furnished by him.

SEC. 5849. Relief in chancery.—A person, corporation, or association aggrieved by the requirements of a notice given under the second preceding section, may apply to the court of chancery within and for the county wherein the business of such person, corporation, or association is located for an injunction to restrain the enforcement of such requirements; and, upon such notice as said court shall order given to all parties interested, hearing shall be had and decree rendered affirming, amending, or annulling the requirements of such notice, which decree said court shall enforce by appropriate proceedings.

SEC. 5850. Municipal officers.—State, county, town, and school officers shall furnish said commissioner, upon request, such information contemplated by this chapter as shall be in their possession as such officers.

Payment of wages

SEC. 5851. Employee.—The word "employee" as used in the four following sections, shall mean a mechanic, workingman or laborer who works for hire.

SEC. 5852. Weekly payment.—A mining, quarrying, manufacturing, mercantile, telegraph, telephone, railroad, or other transportation corporation, and an incorporated express, water, electric light or power company, doing and transacting business within the State, shall pay each week, in lawful money, each employee engaged in the business, the wages earned by such employee to a day not more than six days prior to the date of such payment: Provided, That, if at any time of payment an employee is absent from his regular place of labor, he shall be entitled to such payment upon demand.

SEC. 5853. Payment in scrip, etc.—Such a corporation shall not pay its employees in scrip, vouchers, due-bills, or store orders, unless it is a cooperative corporation in which the employee is a stockholder; but such cooperative corporation shall, upon request of any such share-holding employee, pay him as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 5854. Assignment of future wages.—An assignment of future wages payable under the provisions of the second preceding section shall not be valid, if made to the corporation from whom such wages are to become due, or to anyone in behalf of such corporation, or if made or procured to be made to anyone for the purpose of relieving such corporation from the obligation to pay under the provisions of the second preceding section. Such a corporation shall not require an agreement from an employee to accept wages at any other period as a condition of employment.

SEC. 5855. Penalty; procedure.—Such a corporation, its lessee, or other person carrying on the business thereof, that fails to pay the wages of an employee as provided by the second and third preceding sections shall forfeit to the State fifty dollars for each such failure, to be recovered in an action of tort, on this statute, by the state's attorney of the county in which such violation occurs, and in his name; but an action shall not be maintained therefor, until the state's attorney has given the employer ten days' notice in writing that such action will be brought if the wages are not paid as provided by such sections.

SEC. 5856. Redemption of checks, etc.—A person, partnership or corporation using checks, other than bank checks, slips, duebills, or other device to represent money in the payment of wages or other debt or obligation due an employee or servant of such person, partnership, or corporation, shall pay the face value thereof to the holder in money of account, on the regular pay day of such person, partnership, or corporation; and such obligations shall be redeemable at intervals of not more than one month. If such employee or servant is discharged during the month, such checks, slips, duebills, or other device shall be redeemed at their face value in money of account on the day of his discharge.

SEC. 5857. Forfeiture.—A person, partnership, or corporation refusing to redeem such obligations, as provided in the preceding section, shall forfeit to the person injured twice the value thereof, to be recovered in an action of tort, on this statute.

Conciliation and arbitration of labor disputes

[The State board of conciliation and arbitration provided for by sec. 5858, General Laws, is abolished, its duties being performed by the public service commission through the commissioner of industries. (See pp. 1067, 1068.) The following provisions of law remain unrepealed:]

SECTION 5861. Summoning of witnesses; fees.—For the purposes of this chapter, said board may summon as witnesses any operative and any person who keeps the record of the wages earned in the department of the business in which a controversy exists or is threatened and may examine such persons upon oath and may require the production of books containing the record of wages paid. Each member of said board shall have authority to issue summonses and to administer oaths. Witnesses so summoned shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed witnesses in county court.

SEC. 5862. Procedure.—If it appears to the mayor of a city or to the selectmen of a town that a strike or lockout is seriously threatened or actually occurs, notice shall be given to said board at once, and a like notice may be given by the employer or the employees concerned in such strike or lockout. Said board, having knowledge that such a strike or lockout is so threatened or has occurred, shall forthwith, if the employer, at the time of such threatened strike or lockout, is employing, or upon the occurrence of a strike or lockout was employing, not less than ten persons in the same general line of business in any town in the State, communicate with such employer and employees and endeavor by mediation to obtain an amicable settlement or endeavor to persuade them, in case a strike or lockout has not actually occurred or is not then continuing, to submit the controversy to said board. Said board shall investigate the cause of such a controversy and ascertain which party thereto is mainly responsible or blameworthy for the existence or continuance of the same, and may make and publish a report finding such cause and assigning such responsibility or blame. Said board shall, upon the request of the governor, investigate and report upon a controversy if in his opinion it seriously affects or threatens seriously to affect the public welfare. Said board shall, for carrying out the purposes of this section, have the same powers as are given it by the five following sections.

SEC. 5863. Investigations; decision.—If a controversy exists between an employer, whether an individual, a partnership, or corporation, employing not less than ten persons in the same general line of business, and his employees, and such controversy does not involve questions which might be the subject of an action at law or in equity, said board shall, upon application as hereinafter provided, and as soon as practicable, visit the place where the controversy exists, make careful inquiry into its cause, and may, with the consent of the governor, conduct such inquiry beyond the limits of the State. Said board shall hear all persons interested who come before it, advise the respective parties as to what ought to be done or submitted to by either or both to adjust such controversy, and make a written decision thereof. Such decision shall be made public at once, shall be open to public inspection, and shall be recorded by the secretary of said board. A short statement thereof may, in the discretion of said board, be published in its annual report, and said board shall cause a copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of the town in which such business is carried on. Such a decision shall be binding upon the parties who join in such application for a period of six months or until the expiration of sixty days after either party has given notice in writing to the other and to the board of his intention not to be bound thereby. Such a notice by an employer may be given to his employees by posting the same in three conspicuous places in the factory or workshop where such employees work.

SEC. 5864. Application.—Such application shall be signed by the employer or by a majority of his employees in the department of the business in which such controversy exists or by a duly authorized agent of such employees or by both parties; and if signed by such an agent, said board shall satisfy itself that such agent is duly authorized to act as such. The names of the employees giving such authority shall be kept secret. Such application shall contain a concise statement of the existing controversy and a promise to continue in business or at work without resort to a lockout or strike until said board has made its decision, if made within three weeks after the date of filing such application.

SEC. 5865. Notice.—The secretary of said board shall forthwith, upon the filing of such an application, cause public notice to be given of the time and place for hearing on such application, unless both parties join in such application and present therewith a written request that public notice shall not be given. If such request is made, notice of hearing shall be given to the parties in such manner as said board directs but said board may give public notice thereof notwithstanding such request. If the petitioner fails to perform the promise required to be made in its application, said board shall proceed no further thereon without the written consent of the adverse party.

SEC. 5866. Expert assistants.—In controversies between an employer and his employees in which application is made under the provisions of the second preceding section, each party may, in writing, submit the names of persons fit to act as expert assistants to said board. Said board may appoint for such purposes one person from each of the lists so submitted. Such experts shall be skilled in and conversant with the business or trade concerning which the controversy exists. They shall be sworn by a member of said board to the faithful performance of their official duties, and a record of their oath shall be made in the case. They shall, if required, attend sessions of said board, and shall, under the direction of said board, obtain and report information concerning the wages paid and the methods and grade of work prevailing in establishments within the State similar to those in which the controversy exists, and they may submit to said board at any time before a final decision is made facts, advice, arguments, or suggestions which they may consider applicable to the case. A decision of said board shall not be announced in a case in which such experts have acted without notice to such experts of a time and place for a final conference on the matters included in the proposed decision.

SEC. 5867. Additional experts.—Said board may appoint such additional experts as it deems necessary, and the provisions of the preceding section shall apply to such experts. The compensation of experts appointed under this and the preceding sections shall be fixed by said board, and the auditor of accounts shall draw orders in payment of the expenses incurred under the provisions of this chapter upon the approval of said board. An amount sufficient to pay such orders is hereby annually appropriated.

Factory, etc., regulations—Heating and ventilation—Fire escapes

SECTION 6260. Powers of board of health.—Said board of health shall have authority to prescribe regulations for the heating and ventilation of all mills, factories, stone sheds, sheds, or other buildings in which five or more persons are employed. Notice of promulgation of an order or regulation made by said board under the provisions of this section shall be communicated in writing to the owner, manager, or person in charge of the mill, factory, stone shed, shed, or other building concerning the ventilation and heating of which the order or regulation is made, and a copy of such order shall be kept on file by the secretary of said board. The court of chancery shall have jurisdiction and power, upon application thereto by said board or a party interested, to enforce such orders and regulations of said board, and to restrain the use and occupation of the premises until the orders and regulations of said board are complied with.

SEC. 6328. Fire escapes.—The owner or lessee of a building, factory, mill, or workshop more than two stories high, in which persons are employed above the second story, shall provide suitable ladders or other safe fire escapes for the safety of patrons and occupants of such buildings.

SECS. 6329 (as amended 1923, No. 121), 6330. Violations.—[Violations of sec. 6328 are punishable by a fine, $25 to $400. Writs of mandamus, injunction, etc., may also be procured. All courts and just ces have jurisdiction.]

SEC. 6331. Factory inspection.—In so far as the provisions of chapter two hundred and forty-three confer authority on the commissioner of industries in respect to the ventilation, sanitary arrangement, and equipment for egress in case of fire or other disaster in factories and workshops, the provisions of this title shall not apply to such ventilation, sanitary arrangement and equipment for egress.

Smoking in factories, etc.

SECTION 6975. Smoking an offense, when.—A person who smokes a pipe, cigar, or cigarette in a mill, factory, barn, stable, or other outbuilding belonging to or occupied by another person in which a notice containing this section prohibiting such smoking, signed by the owner, agent, or occupant of the same is posted conspicuously near the main entrance thereof, shall be fined not more than five dollars.

Intimidation of employees

SECTION 6995. Preventing employment.—A person who threatens violence or injury to another person with intent to prevent his employment in a mill, manufactory, shop, quarry, mine, railroad, or other occupation shall be imprisoned not more than three months or fined not more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 6996. Stopping work.—A person who, by threats, intimidation, or by force, alone or in combination with others, affrights, drives away, or prevents another person from accepting, undertaking, or prosecuting such employment, with intent to prevent the prosecution of work in such mill, shop, manufactory, mine, quarry, railroad, or other occupation, shall be imprisoned in the State prison not more than five years or fined not more than five hundred dollars.

A count charged conspiracy to hinder and prevent by violence, threats, and intimidation the employment and detention by a company of certain employees; also conspiracy to terrify and drive away workmen by threats, with malicious intent to injure said company; also threats to publish the names of employees in the "scab" list of a trade journal, thus putting them in fear and driving them away. Held, that these counts sufficiently charged an offense under the above sections. 59 Vt. 273.

Seats for female employees

SECTION 7044. Seats required.—The proprietor, manager, or person having charge of a mercantile establishment, store, shop, hotel, inn, restaurant, or other place where women or girls are employed as clerks, or help therein, shall provide chairs, stools, or other contrivances for the comfortable use of such female employees, for the preservation of their health and for rest when not actively employed in the discharge of their respective duties. A person who violates a provision of this section shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars.

Wages as preferred claims—In insolvency

[This law, though not reproduced in the General Laws, is said still to be in force. See G. L., p. 497. The provision here noted is found in sec. 2513, Pub. Stats. 1906.]

Rank.—[Wages, not in excess of $50, for work done within the 6 months prior to the adjudication, rank next after costs, and debts and taxes due the United States and the State.]

VIRGINIA

CONSTITUTION

Labor legislation—Provisions of constitution

SECTION 63. Certain local laws forbidden.— * * * The general assembly shall not enact any local, special, or private law in the following cases:

* * * * * * *

12. Regulating labor, trade, mining or manufacturing, or the rate of interest on money.

Bureau of labor and statistics

SECTION 86. Assembly may establish bureau.—The general assembly shall have power to establish and maintain a bureau of labor and statistics, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 162. Liability declared.—The doctrine of fellow-servant, so far as it affects the liability of the master for injuries to his servant resulting from the acts or omissions of any other servant or servants of the common master, is, to the extent hereinafter stated, abolished as to every employee of a railroad company engaged in the physical construction, repair, or maintenance of its roadway, track, or any of the structures connected therewith, or in any work in or upon a car or engine standing upon a track, or in the physical operation of a train, car, engine, or switch, or in any service requiring his presence upon a train, car, or engine; and every such employee shall have the same right to recover for every injury suffered by him from the acts or omissions of any other employee or employees of the common master that a servant would have (at the time when this constitution goes into effect), if such acts or omissions were those of the master himself in the performance of a nonassignable duty: Provided, That the injury so suffered by such railroad employee result from the negligence of an officer or agent of the company of a higher grade of service than himself, or from that of a person employed by the company having the right or charged with the duty to control or direct the general services or the immediate work of the party injured, or the general services or the immediate work of the coemployee through or by whose act or omission he is injured; or that it result from the negligence of a coemployee engaged in another department of labor, or engaged upon or in charge of any car upon which, or upon the train of which it is a part, the injured employee is not at the time of receiving the injury, or who is in charge of any switch, signal point, or locomotive engine, or is charged with dispatching trains or transmitting telegraphic or telephonic orders therefor; and whether such negligence be in the performance of an assignable or nonassignable duty. The physical construction, repair, or maintenance of the roadway, track, or any of the structures connected therewith, and the physical construction, repair, maintenance, cleaning, or operation of trains, cars, or engines shall be regarded as different departments of labor within the meaning of this section. Knowledge by any such railroad employee injured of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways, appliances, or structures shall be no defense to an action for injury caused thereby. When death, whether instantaneous or not, results to such an employee from any injury for which he could have recovered under the above provisions had death not occurred, then his legal or personal representative, surviving consort, and relatives (and any trustee, curator, committee, or guardian of such consort or relatives) shall, respectively, have the same rights and remedies with respect thereto as if his death had been caused by the negligence of a coemployee while in the performance, as vice principal, of a nonassignable duty of the master. Every contract or agreement, express or implied, made by an employee to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void. This section shall not be construed to deprive any employee or his legal or personal representative, surviving consort, or relatives (or any trustee, curator, committee, or guardian of such consort or relatives), of any rights or remedies that he or they may have by the law of the land at the time this constitution goes into effect. Nothing contained in this section shall restrict the power of the general assembly to further enlarge, for the abovenamed class of employees, the rights and remedies hereinbefore provided for or to extend such rights and remedies to or otherwise enlarge the present rights and remedies of any other class of employees of railroads or of employees of any person, firm, or corporation.

This section does not deny equal protection of law. 63 S. E. 432.
It does not apply to street railways. 61 S. E. 779.

CODE—1919

Inspection of construction camps—Vaccination

SECTION 1531. Vaccination and inspection.—Any person, firm, or corporation employing large bodies of laborers in the State constructing works of public improvement shall, unless said person, firm, or corporation has its own physician for that purpose, be required to have a regular inspection by the board of health of the counties in which said laborers are employed at such times as said board of health may determine. The said person, firm, or corporation shall pay to the person designated to make such inspection by the board of health of said county the sum of ten dollars for such inspection. In the discretion of the examining officer, the laborers shall be vaccinated at the expense of the said person, firm, or corporation. The fee for the inspection and the cost of vaccination shall have the force and effect of a fee bill of an officer and may be collected by the sheriff or other officer as any such fee bills may be collected.

Bureau of labor and industry

SECTION 1797 (as amended 1924, ch. 23). Bureau continued; duties.—The bureau of labor and industrial statistics is continued under the name of bureau of labor and industry; and whenever the words "bureau of labor and industrial statistics," or other words denoting that bureau appear in any statute heretofore enacted and not repealed, the same shall be construed to mean the bureau of labor and industry. It shall be the duty of said bureau to collect, assort, systematize, and present in annual reports to the governor, to be by him biennially transmitted to the general assembly, statistical details relating to all departments of labor, penal institutions, and industrial pursuits in the State, especially in their relation to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes and to the permanent prosperity of the productive industries of the State.

SEC. 1798. Commissioner.—The governor shall appoint, by and with the consent of the Senate, some suitable person identified with the labor interests of the State, who shall be designated commissioner of labor, and who shall, upon the request of the governor, furnish such information as he may require. The term of office for said commissioner shall be two years from the date of his appointment, with power of removal by the governor for cause. * * *

SEC. 1799 (as amended 1922, ch. 373). Powers.—The commissioner of labor shall have power to take and preserve testimony, examine witnesses, administer oaths, and under proper restrictions enter any public institution of the State, and any factory, store, workshop, laundry, or mine, and interrogate any person employed therein or connected therewith, or the proper officer of a corporation, or file a written or printed list of interrogatories and require full and complete answers to the same, to be returned under oath within thirty days of the receipt of said list of questions.

He shall have general supervision and control of the bureau of labor and industrial statistics and shall have authority to appoint such assistants as may be necessary to carry out the objects and purposes of the bureau.

He shall secure the enforcement of all laws relating to the inspection of factories, mercantile establishments, mills, workshops, and commercial institutions in the State and to aid him in this work shall have power to appoint such factory inspectors and other assistants as may be necessary. The duties of such inspectors and other assistants shall be prescribed by the commissioner of labor.

The commissioner of labor, his assistants and factory inspectors shall visit and inspect at reasonable hours, as often as practicable, the factories, mercantile establishments, mills, workshops, and commercial institutions in the State, where goods, wares, or merchandise are manufactured, purchased, or sold, at wholesale or retail. The commissioner of labor shall report in writing to the governor annually concerning the work of his department, with such other information and with such recommendations as he may deem proper.

It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to enforce the provisions of this chapter, and to prosecute all violations of law relating to the inspection of factories, mercantile esablishments, mills, workshops, and commercial institutions in this State before any justice of the peace or court of competent jurisdiction.

It shall be the duty of the Commonwealth's attorney of the proper county or city, upon the request of the commissioner of labor or any of his assistants or deputies, to prosecute any violation of law which is made the duty of said commissioner of labor to enforce.

SEC. 1800. Duty of officers.—All State, county, town, and city officers shall furnish the commissioner of labor, upon his request, such statistical information in reference to labor as may be in their possession as such officers.

SEC. 1801. Appropriations to be made.—The bureau of labor and industrial statistics shall be maintained from such appropriations as the general assembly may make for the purpose, and the general assembly shall fix the compensation of all persons performing service in said department. The compensation paid on the day before this code takes effect shall continue to be paid until changed by law.

SEC. 1802 (as amended 1922, ch. 373). Violations.—If any person, who may be sworn to give testimony, shall willfully fail or refuse to answer any legal and proper question propounded to him concerning the subject of such examination as indicated in section seventeen hundred and ninety-nine, or if any person, to whom a written or printed list of such interrogatories has been furnished by the commissioner of labor, shall neglect or refuse to fully answer and return the same under oath, or if any person in charge of any factory, mill, workshop, laundry, mercantile or manufacturing establishment shall refuse admission to or obstruct in any manner the inspection of such establishment or the proper performance of the authorized duties of the commissioner of labor or any of his assistants or any factory inspector, or other duly authorized representative of the bureau of labor and industrial statistics, he shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding one hundred nor less than twenty-five dollars or imprisoned in jail not exceeding ninety days, or both.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as permitting the commissioner or any employee of said bureau to make use of any information or statistics gathered from any person, company, or corporation for any purpose other than those of this chapter.

Private employment offices

SECTION 1803. Registers; fees.—[Registers must be kept in all employment offices of the name and address, age, sex, nativity, and occupation of applicants for employment; also name, address, and nature of help desired by persons applying for workers. The commissioner of labor prescribes the form of such register.

If a fee is charged, for registration or service, it may not exceed $3, for which a receipt must be given, showing amount, date, and nature of employment to be secured. The full amount of the fee must be returned on demand, if no situation or employment is secured within 30 days. Bona fide orders must be secured before an applicant is sent out.]

SEC. 1804. Acts prohibited.—[The sending of females to places of immoral resort, publishing false information, making false entries in the register, or attempting to induce employees to leave employment so as to secure patronage for the agency is forbidden.]

SEC. 1805. Splitting fees.—[The division of fees with the employer or his representative is forbidden.]

SEC. 1806. Enforcement.—[The enforcement of the foregoing provisions rests with the commissioner of labor. Violations are punishable by a fine of $10 to $200, except that sending females to places of immoral resort, etc., is a felony incurring a fine of $100 to $1,000 or imprisonment one to ten years, or both.]

Employment of women

SECTION 1807 (as amended 1922, ch. 373). Seats for female employees.—Chairs, stools, or other suitable seats shall be maintained in all factories, shops, mills, laundries, mercantile and manufacturing establishments, except fruit and vegetable canning factories, for the use of female employees therein to the number of at least one seat for every three females employed, and the use thereof by such employees shall be allowed at such times and to such extent as may be necessary for the preservation of their health. Such seats shall be placed where the work of such females is to be principally performed, whether in front of or behind a counter, table, desk, or other fixture. Any employer of female help in this State who shall neglect or refuse to provide seats as required in this section, or shall make any rules, orders, or regulations in his factory, shop, mill, laundry, store, or other place of business requiring females to remain standing when not necessarily employed in service or labor therein shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon a conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding twenty-five dollars and costs, at the discretion of the court. In any manufacturing establishment where it is necessary on account of the nature of the work in such establishment for the female employees to stand while working, it shall be deemed a sufficient compliance with this section if suitable rest rooms are provided to which such employee may go at all reasonable times.

SEC. 1808 (as amended 1918, ch. 214). Hours.—No female shall work as an operative in any factory, workshop, laundry, mercantile, or manufacturing establishment in this State more than ten hours in any one day of twenty-four hours. All contracts heretofore or hereafter made for the employment of any female as an operative in any factory, workshop, laundry, mercantile, or manufacturing establishment to work for more than ten hours in any one day of twenty-four hours shall be deemed to be void.

[Violations are punishable by fine not less than $5 nor more than $20. Females employed in office work or in fruit or vegetable packing are excepted, and this section shall not apply to establishments in towns of less than 2,000 inhabitants, or country districts.]

Blacklisting—Payment of wages

SECTION 1817 (as amended 1922, ch. 373). Preventing reemployment.—No person or persons, partnership, corporation, or association doing business in this State, or any agent or attorney of such person or persons, partnership, corporation or association, after having discharged any employee from the service of such person or persons, partnership, corporation, or association, or after any employee having voluntarily left the service of such person or persons, partnership, corporation, or association, shall willfully and maliciously prevent or attempt to prevent by word or writing, directly or indirectly, such discharged employee or such employee voluntarily leaving from obtaining employment with any other person or persons, partnership, corporation, or association. For violation of this section the offender shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, on conviction thereof, be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars. But this section shall not be construed as prohibiting any person or persons, partnership, corporation, or association from giving on application for any other person or corporation a truthful statement of the reason for such discharge, or a truthful statement concerning the character, industry, and ability of such person voluntarily leaving.

SEC. 1818 (as amended 1918, ch. 389). Who to pay semimonthly.—All persons, firms, corporations, or associations in this Commonwealth engaged in operating railroad shops, maintaining railroad and steamship offices, mining coal, ore, or other minerals, or mining and manufacturing them, or either of them, or manufacturing iron or steel, or both, or any other kind of manufacturing, shall pay their employees engaged in the employments aforesaid as provided in this act.

All persons, firms, companies, corporations, or associations engaged in any of the business aforesaid shall regularly settle with such employees at least twice in each month, and at such times pay them the amounts due them for their work or services in lawful money of the United States, or by check, or by cash order, as described and required in section three of this act: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall affect the right of any employee to assign the whole or any part of his claim against his employer: Provided, however, That the semimonthly payment of wages requirement of this act shall not apply to excelsior mills or sawmills; but the employers of labor engaged in such enterprises shall settle with their employees at least once in each month.

SEC. 1819 (as amended 1918, ch. 389). Orders.—It shall not be lawful for any person, firm, company, corporation, or association, engaged in the business aforesaid, their clerk, agent, officer, or servant in this State to issue for payment of such labor at such times any order or other payment whatever, unless the same purports to be payable or redeemable for its face value in lawful money of the United States, such order to be made payable on demand and without condition to employees, or bearer, bearing interest at legal rate, and redeemable by the person, firm, company, corporation, or association giving, making, or issuing the same. Any such person, firm, company, corporation, or association engaged in any of the business aforesaid, at other times than at such regular settlements upon the faith and credit of labor to be performed or performed but not to be paid for under the contract of hiring until a future date, may in payment or in part payment therefor, upon request of any employee, issued to such employees nontransferable orders upon himself or itself, or upon another, payable in merchandise only or nontransferable coupons or tokens payable and redeemable in merchandise only: Provided, That upon or in the face of each such order or upon or in the holder or container to which such coupons or tokens are attached there is legibly and plainly written or printed the binding promise of such employer to pay such employee in lawful money of the United States or by check the unused portion or part, if any, of such order in his possession or the unused coupons or tokens, if any in such holder or container in his possession, upon demand and upon surrender thereof by him, at such regular settlement date, not later than one month from the date thereof. Any person, firm, company, corporation, or association, engaged in the business aforesaid, their clerks, agents, officers, or servants, who shall issue for payment of labor any paper or order, other than the ones herein specified, or who shall, upon demand and surrender thereof by an employee refuse to pay for or issue check to such employee for such unused part or portion of such nontransferable order or unused nontransferable coupon or token at such regular settlement date, in violation of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $100, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 1820 (as amended 1918, ch. 389). Company stores.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, company, corporation, or association engaged in operating railroad shops, maintaining railroad and steamship offices or mining or manufacturing, or either of them, as aforesaid, and who shall likewise be either engaged or interested directly or indirectly, in merchandising, as owner or otherwise, in any money per centum profit or commission arising from the sale of any such merchandise, their clerks, servants, officers, or agents to knowingly or willfully sell, or cause to be sold, to any such employees any goods, merchandise, or supplies whatever for a greater per centum of profit than merchandise and supplies of like character, kind, quality, and quantity are sold to other customers, buying for cash and not employed by them; and shall any person or member of any firm, company, corporation, or association, his or their clerk, agent, or servant violate this act, they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $100, in the discretion of the court.

Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 1821. Inhalation of dust.—Every owner or manager of peanut-cleaning establishments operated for the purpose of cleaning peanuts, and every owner or manager operating a cotton factory in this Commonwealth, shall, upon request, furnish to each employee and operative in such establishment or factory a suitable sponge shield to protect such operative or employee from inhaling the dust and floating particles in the air while employed in such establishment or factory. Such shield shall be furnished at actual cost and be paid for by the operative or employee. Any owner or manager of such establishment or factory who shall fail to provide such shield upon application after reasonable time shall be subject to a fine of not less than one dollar nor more than five dollars, and each day's failure to comply with such request shall constitute a separate offense.

Sec. 1822 (as amended 1924, ch. 432). Toilets.—[Factories employing 5 or more persons, and all establishments employing 2 or more children under 18, or women, must be provided with a sufficient number of water-closets, etc., reasonably accessible, and separate for each sex.]

Sec. 1823. Changes.—[The changes required by the preceding section must be made by the owner, lessee, or occupant. If the changes are made by the occupant or lessee on the order of the commissioner of labor, he may, within 30 days, recover such proportion of the cost from other parties in interest as the court may determine.]

Sec. 1824. Enforcement.—[If the commissioner of labor finds conditions due to neglect or default with regard to drains, toilets, ash pits, water supply, etc., in shops and factories included under section 1822 remediable or punishable under the health laws of the State and not under this law, he shall report the same to the health authorities.]

Sec. 1825. Prosecutions.—[Prosecutions will not be undertaken under sections 1822 and 1823 until after 4 weeks' notice in writing.]

Sec. 1826. Scope.—[The application of the four preceding sections to establishments in places of not over 5,000 inhabitants rests in the discretion of the commissioner.]

Sec. 1827. Penalties.—[Violations entail fines of $5 to $25 for each day.]

Sec. 1828. Stairways.—Proper and substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways in factories, shops and manufacturing establishments. Where females are employed the stairs shall be properly screened at the sides and bottom. All doors leading in or to any such factory, shop or manufacturing establishment shall be so constructed as to open outwardly and shall not be locked, bolted or fastened during working hours.

Sec. 1829. Scope; doors.—Nothing contained in the preceding section shall apply to any factory, shop or manufacturing establishment where not more than twenty-five persons are employed; and, in the discretion of the commissioner of labor, after sufficient means of egress is provided the owner may erect additional sliding doors. The owner of a factory, shop or manufacturing establishment, equipped with sliding doors, properly adjusted and easily opened, need not convert the same into doors that open outwardly if there be another door, or doors, on the first floor opening outwardly, affording sufficient means of egress for people visiting or working in said building, the sufficiency of egress to be determined by the commissioner of labor, subject to the right of appeal as provided in section eighteen hundred and thirty-one.

Sec. 1830 (as amended 1922, ch. 373). Safety appliances.—The owner or person in charge of a factory, shop, manufacturing establishment, where machinery is used, shall provide, in the discretion of the commissioner of labor, belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts on pulleys. Whenever practicable, all machinery shall be provided with loose pulleys. All vats, elevators, saws, planers, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, set screws, shapers, corner machines shall be properly guarded. No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard around or attached to machinery, vats, or elevators while the same are in use, unless for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced. If a machine or any part thereof is in a dangerous condition, or is not properly guarded, notice thereof shall be given to the manager or owner in charge of such operation, and unless such machinery is repaired or made safe within thirty days after such notice, the use thereof may be prohibited by the commissioner of labor and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto. Such notice shall not be removed until the machine is made safe and the required safeguards are provided, and in the meantime such unsafe or dangerous machinery shall not be used. When, in the opinion of the commissioner of labor it is necessary, the workrooms, halls and stairs leading to the workrooms shall be properly lighted; and in cities of the first class, if deemed necessary by the commissioner of labor, a proper light shall be kept burning by the owner or lessee in the public hallways, near the stairs upon the entrance floor and upon the other floors on every work-day in the year, from the time when the building is opened for use in the morning until the time it is closed in the evening, except at times when the influx of natural light shall make artificial light unnecessary. Such lights shall be independent of the motive power of such factory.

Sec. 1832. Penalties.—[Violations of the three foregoing sections entail fines $5 to $10 for each day.]

SEC. 1833. Foundries.—Every person, firm, or corporation employing men to work in any fonndry or molding shop shall provide in each workroom thereof proper and sufficient means of ventilation, if excessive heat or if steam, gases, vapors, dust, or other impurities that may be injurious to health be generated in the course of the manufacturing process carried on therein, the said room must be ventilated in such a manner as to disperse the said steam, gases, vapors, dust, or other impnrities and render them harmless. Such person, firm, or corporation shall provide such ventilation within thirty days after being notified by the commissioner of labor or other proper officer so to do, and upon refusal or failure so to do shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined ten dollars for each day after the expiration of the said thirty days until such proper ventilation is provided.

SEC. 1834. Toilets and wash rooms.—[Fonndries and molding shops must be equipped with adequate and proper wash rooms and toilets, one bowl and one commode for each 6 workmen. Violations continuing after 30 days' notice by the commissioner are punishable by a fine of $10 for each day.]

Mine regulations

SECTION 1835. Department.—[A department of mines under the bureau of labor and industrial statistics is continued for the enforcement of safety laws, etc., relating to mines. An inspector is to be appointed by the commissioner.

SEC. 1836. Inspector.—[The inspector must have at least 5 years' experience and a thorough, practical knowledge of mining. He must keep a record of all inspections, open to any citizen, and may be removed for cause.]

SEC. 1837. Inspection.—[The inspector must visit each mine once in 6 months, or oftener if 10 employees or the owner or operator of a mine requests, and make report of inspections. A certificate of inspection must be posted.]

SECS. 1838, 1839. Maps.—[Maps must be made of all coal mines, showing all workings, etc., the same to be revised twice each year. If none is furnished, the inspector is authorized to have one made at the operator's expense.]

SECS. 1840–1842. Employees; exits.—[Workmen must be instructed by the mine foremen or his assistant as to any unusual or extraordinary dangers. An inexperienced worker must work under the direction of the foreman or a designated skilled workman until he has had opportunity to become familiar with the ordinary dangers of mining. No one may work in a mine unless he has access to two outlets accessible by safe roadways. Stairs and hoists must be kept in order for immediate use. Repair work or the opening of ways of communication or the final robbing of pillars, all where not more than 20 men are employed, do not come within the terms of the requirement as to exits. Penalties, a fine of $50 to $500 or imprisonment from 10 to 90 days.]

SECS. 1843–1887 (as amended 1924, ch. 476). Safety.—[Hoisting machinery must be safeguarded, means of communication maintained, competent and sober engineers employed, refnge holes provided, ventilation supplied, accumulations of dust avoided, etc. The quantity of explosive brought into the mine, blasting, lighting, illuminating oils, first-aid provisions, electric installations, and the powers and dnties of mine foremen and fire bosses are regulated. No male under 14 and no female may be employed in any coal mine.

Miners are forbidden to injure equipment or structures; explosions, etc., mnst be reported; rnles must be adopted and posted by operators. The chapter applies to coal mines and other underground mines as far as applicable. New mines may be opened only after notice to the department of mines.]

Employment of children to support parents in idleness

SECTION 2808. Vagrancy.—The following persons shall be deemed vagrants: * * * All persons who are able to work and who do not work, but hire out their minor children and live upon their wages.

Factory, etc., regulations—Fire escapes

SECTION 3141. Fire escapes required.—[The owner of every factory, mill, workshop, mercantile establishment, and office building of over three stories in height, or where as many as 15 persons are employed above the second floor of a building is required to provide and maintain fire escapes of the most approved modern design. The character and design are to be approved by the local authorities; if they fail to act the commissioner of labor shall after 60 days' notice prescribe adequate fire escapes for any such city or town.]

Commissioner of labor—Staff

SECTION 3443. Salary; powers.—The commissioner of labor, the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars. He shall have power to appoint such clerical force as he may deem necessary to the efficiency of his department and to apportion such salaries among his several clerks, as he may think proper. But the aggregate amounts paid such clerks shall not exceed the sum provided by law, and he shall have power to expend for the contingent expenses of his office such sum as may be provided by law.

Rates of wages of laborers at salvage

SECTION 3604. How rate determined.—The laborers employed in saving such [wrecked] property shall be paid a reasonable sum for their services. If the parties interested do not agree on what is to be so paid, the owner of the property or his agent may choose one person, and the commissioner of wrecks another, to determine what is to be paid said laborers and their award, or if they disagree the award of an umpire chosen by them, being made in writing, shall be binding on the said laborers and the owner.

Accidents—Investigation

SECTION 3737. Powers of State corporation commission.—The commission may investigate the cause of any accident on any transportation line which in its judgment shall require investigation.

Bonds of employees of common carriers

SECTION 3935. Rejection of applicants.—[Where an employee of a common carrier who is required to give a surety bond is refused such bond by any surety company or an existing bond is canceled such company must on demand of the employee furnish him a statement in writing of its reasons therefor. Unless the employer has other reasons for nonemployment than the refusal of the company to make the bond it shall on request of the employee accept a similar bond executed by any other solvent, authorized surety company. A surety company need not disclose the sources of its information.]

Railroads—Telltales

SECTION 3970. Erection required.—[Where bridges, tunnels, etc., are not sufficiently high above the tracks to permit employees to stand erect at their posts of duty on the cars, railroad companies must erect at proper distances on each side of the obstruction danger signals to warn of the approach thereto. The corporation commission may approve the character and location of such signals. Companies failing to provide such signals are liable in damages for resultant injuries without the defense of contributory negligence.]

Street railways—Vestibules

SECTION 3977. When required.—[Urban, interurban, and suburban electric railways must equip motor cars with vestibuled fronts from November to April, inclusive; but open summer cars need not be so equipped during November and April. Sides of vestibules need not be inclosed. Fines of $10 to $100 are incurred by violations.]

Railroads—Accidents

SECTION 3988. Reports.—[All accidents occurring on steam and electric roads in the State causing injury to persons or property must be reported to the State corporation commission, with a statement of the nature, cause, and circumstances.]

Bribery of employees

SECTION 4712. Offering bribes.—Any person who gives, offers, or promises to an agent, employee, or servant any gift or gratuity whatever, without the knowledge and consent of the principal, employer, or master of such agent, employee, or servant, with intent to influence his action to the prejudice of his principal's, employer's, or master's business;

Or an agent, employee, or servant who, without the knowledge and consent of his principal, employer, or master, requests or accepts a gift or gratuity or a promise to make a gift or to do an act beneficial to himself under an agreement or with an understanding that he shall act in any particular manner as to his principal's, employer's, or master's business;

Or an agent, employee, or servant who, being authorized to procure materials, supplies, or other articles, either by purchase or contract, for his principal, employer, or master, or to employ service or labor for his principal, employer, or master, receives, directly or indirectly, for himself or for another, a commission, discount, or bonus from the person who makes such sale or contract or furnishes such materials, supplies, or other articles, or from a person who renders such service or labor;

And any person who gives or offers such an agent, employee, or servant such commission, discount, or bonus;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 4713. Witnesses.—No witness called by the attorney for the Commonwealth or by the court and giving evidence for the prosecution in a proceeding under the preceding section shall ever be proceeded against for any offense under that section, but such witness shall be compelled to testify, and for refusing to do so may be punished for contempt.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 5791. Liability declared.—Every common carrier or railroad engaged in intrastate commerce shall be liable in damages to any of its employees suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, and in case of his death to his personal representative for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the wrongful act or neglect of any of the officers, agents, servants, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its neglect, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment. If the action be for the death of an employee, sections fifty-seven hundred and eighty-seven, fifty-seven hundred and eighty-eight, fifty-seven hundred and eighty-nine, and fifty-seven hundred and ninety shall apply thereto as far as applicable. No action shall be maintained under this section unless it be commenced within one year from the day the cause of action accrued.

SEC. 5792. Comparative negligence.—In all actions or motions hereafter brought against any such common carrier to recover damages for personal injuries to any employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that such employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee; and no such employee, who may be injured or killed, shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 5793. Assumption of risk.—In any action brought against any common carrier, under or by virtue of section fifty-seven hundred and ninety-one, to recover damages for injuries to, or death of, any of its employees, the knowledge of any employee injured or killed of the defective or unsafe character or condition of any machinery, ways, appliances, or structures of such carrier, shall not of itself be a bar to recovery for any injury or death caused thereby, nor shall such employee be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 5794. Waivers.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by section fifty-seven hundred and ninety-one, shall to that extent be void; but in any action brought against any such common carrier under or by virtue of said section, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity companies that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

SEC. 5795. Scope of law.—The term "common carrier" as used in the four preceding sections shall include the receivers or other persons or corporations charged with the duty of the management or operation of the business of a common carrier, whose motive power is steam; but shall not include persons, firms, or corporations owning or operating steam railroads when such railroads are primarily and chiefly used as incidental to the operation of coal, gypsum, or iron mines, or saw mills, nor shall it apply to any railroad owned or operated by any county.

SEC. 5796. Declaration under Federal law.—The declaration or other pleading in any such action may embrace a cause of action growing out of any act of Congress of the United States of America for said injury or death, without being demurrable on this account and without the plaintiff being required to elect under which statute he claims. The five preceding sections shall not apply to electric railways operated wholly within this State.

Suits for wages—Exemptions—Garnishment

SECTION 6531. Heads of families.—[Exemptions allowed heads of families do not extend to debts owed for services rendered by a laboring person or mechanic.]

SEC. 6555. Wage exemptions.—[Wages due a laboring man who is head of a family are exempt from execution, etc., in an amount not exceeding $50 per month.]

SEC. 6558. Minors.—[The wages of minors are not subject to garnishment, etc., for the debts of parents.]

SECS. 6559, 6560. Public employees.—[Wages and salaries of employees of the State, other than State officers, are subject to garnishment unless otherwise exempted, the customary process being served on the person charged with the payment of such wages or salary.]

CHAPTER 179.—Contract of employment—Fraudulent breach

SECTION 1. Obtaining advances.—If any person, with intent to injure or defraud his employer, enters into a contract of employment, oral or written, or for the performance of personal service to be rendered within one year, in and about the cultivation of the soil and thereby obtains from the land owner, or the person so engaged in the cultivation of the soil, money, or other thing of value under such contract, and fraudulently refuses to perform such service, or to refund the said money or other thing of value so obtained, shall be deemed guilty of the larceny of the said money or other thing of value so received: Provided, however, That prosecutions hereunder shall be commenced within sixty days after breach of such contract.

CHAPTER 260.—Factory, etc., regulations—Grinding and polishing wheels

SECTION 1. Ventilation.—All persons, firms, companies, associations, and corporations operating or in charge of a factory, machine shop, or other place or building where grinding, polishing, or buffing wheels are used in the course of the manufacture or the working on of articles of the baser metals, shall provide such wheels with a hood connected by means of a pipe to an exhaust fan or other suction device in such manner as to carry away the dust and refuse thrown off by such wheels to some receptacle so placed as to receive and confine such dust or refuse, or in such manner as to discharge the same into the open air outside of such factory or other building: Provided, Conditions permit such discharge without injury to persons or property. Every such hood shall be made of metal or other suitable material and be of such form and so located in relation to the grinding surface of the wheel that the dust and refuse therefrom will fall or be drawn into the hood and be carried off by the pipe attached to it, and so as to prevent injury to the operator if the wheel shall burst. But connection of such hood with an exhaust fan or other suction device shall not be required in any of the following cases:

First: When less than five of such wheels are owned or operated by one person or concern.

Second: When such wheel is provided for only occasional use by workmen in grinding the tools used by them.

Third: When water is used upon such wheel at the point of grinding contact.

SEC. 2. Construction of hood.—Every hood shall be so constructed as to expose the smallest portion of the wheel consistent with efficient operation, and its free edges shall be turned back or faced to prevent injury to the hands of workmen. Where there is likelihood that the hood may scratch the work the edges of the hood should be covered with leather or other suitable covering.

SEC. 3. Use.—Every such fan or other suction device shall be kept in constant operation while such grinding, polishing, or buffing wheels are in operation.

SEC. 4. Violations.—[Fines of from $25 to $50 for the first offense and $50 to $100 for each subsequent offense are penalties for violations.]

CHAPTER 313.—Factory, etc., regulations—Common drinking cups

SECTION 1. Cups forbidden.—The use of the common drinking cup on railroad trains and in railroad stations, public hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, clubs, steamboats, schools, factories, stores, or publicly frequented places in Virginia is hereby prohibited. No person or corporation in charge of the aforesaid places and no person or corporation shall permit on the said railroad train, in railroad stations, public hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, clubs, steamboats, schools, factories, stores, or any publicly frequented place in Virginia the use of the drinking cup in common.

[Violations entail a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $10 each day's violation to be considered a separate offense, punishable by fine as above.]

ACTS OF 1919—SPECIAL SESSION

CHAPTER 54.—Antitrust law—Labor, etc., organizations exempt

[This act forbids monopolies, trusts, and combinations, but exempts labor, agricultural, and horticultural organizations for mutual help, without capital stock and not conducted for profit.]

ACTS OF 1920

CHAPTER 281.—Railroads—Shelters for repair tracks

SECTION 1. Powers of commission.—[The State corporation commission is authorized, after hearings duly held, to require buildings or sheds to be erected for the protection of workmen doing heavy repair of railroad cars or trucks, to make and enforce rules and orders as to work, the size and construction of the buildings, etc., so as to afford protection from the weather without unreasonable interference with the work or system of the institution where the work is being done; enforceable by fine.]

CHAPTER 268.—Payment of wages due deceased employees

SECTION 1. Payment to next of kin.— * * * When there is due from any employer to a deceased employee, upon whose estate there has been no qualification, a sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, it shall be lawful for such * * * employer, after one hundred and twenty days from the death of said person, to pay said balance to his next of kin, whose receipt therefor shall be a full discharge and acquittance * * *.

CHAPTER 284.—Employment of children—Abuse

SECTION 1. Misdemeanor.—[It is a misdemeanor for any employer of a child to willfully or negligently cause or permit its life, health, or morals to be endangered or to permit it to be overworked or otherwise abused.]

CHAPTER 381.—Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 1. Requirements.—[Attendance during the school term is required to 14 unless the prescribed elementary course has been completed and the child is regularly and lawfully employed.]

CHAPTER 489.—Employment of children—General provisions

SECTION 1. Age.—[No child under 14 may work in any gainful occupation other than on farms, and in gardens and orchards, except as provided in this act.]

SEC. 2. Work time.—[No child under 16 may be employed as above more than 6 days or 44 hours per week, nor more than 8 hours per day, nor between 6 p. m. and 7 a. m. A schedule of work time must be posted in all places where children are employed.]

SECS. 3–9. Certificates.—[Employers of children under 16 must have on file certificates issued by the school authorities on the basis of a statement by the employer as to the nature, hours, etc., of the employment intended, and evidence of age and physical fitness; a physician must furnish the latter. Certificates must show name, age, evidence on which issued, schooling, sex, etc. One copy goes to the employer, one to the commissioner of labor, and one is kept on file by the issuing officer.]

SEC. 10. Canneries.—[This act does not apply to children 12 to 16 years of age working not more than 8 hours per day in fruit and vegetable canneries when the public schools are not in session.]

SEC. 11. Notice.—[Employers must within 7 days give notice of the beginning and the termination of the employment of a child holding a certificate, returning the certificate to the issuing officer when employment ends.]

SEC. 12. Term.—[Certificates lapse after 12 months unless a new certificate of physical fitness is filed.]

SEC. 13. Dangerous occupations.—[Employment under 16 is forbidden in a specified list of dangerous occupations. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 14. Messengers, etc.—[Males under 14 and females under 18 may not be employed in messenger or delivery service; and males under 18 and females under 21 may not be employed between 10 p. m. and 5 a. m.]

SECS. 15, 16. Street trades.—[Boys under 14 and girls under 18 may not engage in street trades, except that boys 12 to 16 years of age after procuring a badge may act as bootblack or newsboy between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m. on days when the public schools are not in session. The badge is issued by the same person and under the same requirements as employment certificates. A deposit of 50 cents is required, to be returned on surrender of the badge. Holders must wear the badge when at work, and transfers are forbidden. Work for more than 8 hours per day is forbidden.]

SEC. 17. Violations.—[Employing or permitting the employment of children in violation of this act entails a fine of $10 to $25 for the first offense, $25 to $50 for the second, and $50 to $250 for subsequent offenses. Jail sentence of 30 to 90 days may be added for third or subsequent offenses.]

SEC. 18. Enforcement.—[The commissioner of labor has power to enforce the act and to appoint necessary inspectors. He is also to supervise the work of attendance officers in cities and counties, and make necessary rules and regulations for carrying out the purposes of this act.]

CHAPTER 410.—Free public employment offices

SECTION 1. Bureau created.—In order to promote the establishment and maintenance of free employment offices for men, women, and minors who are legally qualified, seeking employment, and for employers desiring workers, there is hereby created in the department of labor a free employment bureau. It shall be in charge of the commissioner of labor, who shall appoint an assistant, whose duties shall be to supervise the work of the said bureau and its branch offices, under the direction of the commissioner, and who shall receive an annual salary to be fixed by the commissioner of labor. There shall also be appointed in said bureau by the commissioner of labor such assistants and other employees as are necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. Duty of commissioner of labor.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor, and he shall have the power, jurisdiction, and authority:

(a) To establish and conduct free employment offices in the State, where, in the opinion of the commissioner, such action may be deemed advisable and expedient; to in all proper ways, within the limitations of this act, bring together employers seeking employees and applicants for employment seeking employers; to make known the opportunities for self-employment in the State; to devise and adopt the most efficient means to avoid unemployment; to cooperate with existing State and Federal agencies in extending vocational guidance to minors seeking employment.

(b) To establish and maintain such sections of the employment service as will best serve the public welfare.

SEC. 3. Information to be public.—Said employment bureau shall make public, through the newspapers and other media, information as to situations it may have applicants to fill, and establish relations with employers for the purpose of supplying demands for labor. Said bureau shall collect, collate, and publish statistical and other information relating to the work under its jurisdiction; investigate economical developments and the extent and cause of unemployment, and remedies therefor, within and without the State, with the view of preparing for the information of the general assembly such facts as in its opinion may make further legislation desirable.

SEC. 4. Vocational guidance.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized to enter into agreement with the governing authorities of any municipality, county, township, or school corporation in the State for such period of time as may be deemed desirable for the purpose of establishing and maintaining local free employment offices and for the extension of vocational guidance to minors. The commissioner is likewise authorized, with the advice of the governor, to enter into such cooperative agreement as may be deemed desirable with the United States employment service, or such bureau of the United States Department of Labor as the secretary thereof may hereafter designate, or other Federal agency as Congress may hereafter authorize for the purpose of securing financial aid from the United States Government for the establishment and maintenance of free employment service and the extension of vocational guidance to minors.

SEC. 5. Local cooperation.—It shall be lawful for the governing authorities of any municipality, county, township, or school corporation in the State to enter into cooperative agreement with the commissioner of labor, and to appropriate and expend the necessary money to permit the use of public property for the joint establishment and maintenance of such offices as may be mutually agreed upon and which will further the purposes of this act.

SEC. 6. Appropriations.—For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act there is hereby appropriated out of the general funds of the State, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars per annum. Upon the certificate of the commissioner of labor, the auditor is hereby directed to audit and the treasurer to pay expenses of said free employment service, not exceeding the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars per annum.

SEC. 7. Farm labor.—The established agency [shall] be directed to cooperate with the local county agricultural farmer agents and farmers' organizations in ascertaining needs of labor and distribution among farming classes.

WASHINGTON

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE II.—Labor legislation

SECTION 35. Protective laws to be passed.—The legislature shall pass necessary laws for the protection of persons working in mines, factories, and other employments dangerous to life or deleterious to health, and fix pains and penalties for the enforcement of the same.

REMINGTON & BALLINGER'S CODES AND STATUTES—1910

Suits for wages—Exemptions—Preferences

SECTION 533. Homesteads.—[Homesteads are subject to execution in satisfaction of judgments for mechanics and laborers' liens.]

SEC. 564. No property exempt.—[No property is exempt from execution for wages earned within the State; but this does not affect sec. 703, below.]

SEC. 657. Wages exempt.—[The earnings of a judgment debtor for 60 days next preceding action are exempt from execution if shown to be necessary for the support of a dependent family.]

SEC. 703. Garnishment.—[Current wages for personal service to the amount of $100 are exempt from garnishment where the debtor has a dependent family; but if the debt is for necessaries furnished the defendant or his dependents the exemption shall not exceed $10 out of each week's salary or wages for not more than 4 consecutive weeks.]

SEC. 1204. Preference in assignments.—[Wages earned within 60 days preceding an assignment or insolvency proceedings, not exceeding $100 each, are to be paid before any other claims.]

SEC. 1205. Administration.—[In case of death, wages earned in the 60 days prior thereto, not exceeding $100 in amount, rank next after funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, of administration, and allowances to the widow and children. (See sec. 1568, below.)]

SEC. 1206. Executions, etc.—[In cases of executions, attachments, etc., for other than for labor done, claims for wages for 60 days, not over $100, are to be paid first from the proceeds of the sale.]

SEC. 1568. Decedents.—[In settling estates of deceased employers, wage claims for labor performed within 90 days preceding the death are to be paid after funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness, and debts having preference by the laws of the United States. (See sec. 1205, above.)]

Interference with employment—Conspiracy against workingmen

SECTION 2382. Interference with employment.—Whenever two or more persons shall conspire—

* * * * * * *

(5) To prevent another from exercising any lawful trade or calling, or from doing any other lawful act, by force, threats, or intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with any tools, implements, or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use or employment thereof;

* * * * * * *

Every such person shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

SEC. 2383. Evidence.—In any proceeding for [a] violation of section 2382 it shall [not] be necessary to prove that any overt act was done in pursuance of such unlawful conspiracy or combination.

Employment of children—Certain occupations forbidden

SECTION 2446. Mendicant, etc., occupations.—[The employment of a minor apparently or actually under 18 in mendicant or immoral occupations, injurious or dangerous employments, or as messenger to houses of known immoral resort is forbidden. For text of similar law, see sec. 2223, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 2447. Permits required.—[The employment of any male under 14 or any female under 16, except in farm or house work, without a written permit from the judge of the county court is a misdemeanor.]

Smoking in factories, etc.

SECTION 2521. Smoking an offense, when.—Every person who shall light a pipe, cigar, or cigarette in, or who shall enter with a lighted pipe, cigar, or cigarette, any mill or other building on which is posted in a conspicuous place over and near each principal entrance a notice in plain, legible characters, stating that no smoking is allowed in such building, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Railroads—Illiteracy of employees

SECTION 2526. Employing illiterate persons.—Every person who, as an officer of a corporation or otherwise, shall knowingly employ as an engineer or engine driver, to run a locomotive or train on any railway, any person who can not read time-tables and ordinary handwriting; and every person who, being unable to read time-tables and ordinary handwriting, shall act as an engineer or run a locomotive or train on any railway, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Contracts of employment—Violation endangering life

SECTION 2533. Breaking contract, endangering life.—Every person who shall willfully and maliciously, either alone or in combination with others, break a contract of service or employment, knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that the consequence of his so doing will be to endanger human life or to cause grievous bodily injury, or to expose valuable property to destruction or serious injury, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Payment of wages—Failure by contractor

SECTION 2604. Application of law.—Every person, having entered into a contract to supply any labor or materials for the value or price of which any lien might lawfully be filed upon the property of another, who shall receive the full price or consideration thereof, or the amount of any account stated thereon, shall be deemed within the meaning of section 2601 [defining larceny], subdivision 3, to receive the same as the agent of the party with whom such contract was made, his successor or assign, for the purpose of paying all claims for labor and materials supplied.

Interference with employment—Coercion

SECTION 2614. Interference, etc.—Every person who, with intent to compel another to do or abstain from doing any act which such other person has a right to do, or abstain from doing, shall wrongfully and unlawfully—

* * * * * * *

(2) Deprive such person of any tool, implement, or clothing, or hinder him in the use thereof; or

(3) Attempt to intimidate such person by threats or force, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Forgery of employer's certificates, etc.

SECTION 2623. False recommendations, etc.—Every person who shall obtain employment or appointment to any office or place of trust, by color or aid of any false or forged letter or certificate of recommendation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Employment offices—False representations

SECTION 2624. Making false statements.—Every employment agent or broker who, with intent to influence the action of any person thereby, shall misstate or misrepresent verbally, or in any writing or advertisement, any material matter relating to the demand for labor, the conditions under which any labor or service is to be performed, the duration thereof or the wages to be paid therefor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Bribery of labor agents, employees, etc.

SECTION 2676. Giving gratuities.—Every person who shall give, offer, or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward to any duly constituted representative of a labor organization, with intent to influence him in respect to any of his acts, decisions, or other duties as such representative, or to induce him to prevent or cause a strike by the employees of any person or corporation, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

SEC. 2677. Agents of labor organizations asking gratuities.—Every person who, being the duly constituted representative of a labor organization, shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward, or any promise thereof, upon any agreement or understanding that any of his acts, decisions, or other duties as such representative, or any act to prevent or cause a strike of the employees of any person or corporation shall be influenced thereby, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

SEC. 2678. Bribing agents of labor organizations.—Every person who shall give, offer, or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward to any agent, employee, or servant of any person or corporation, with intent to influence his action in relation to his principal's, employer's, or master's business, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

SEC. 2679. Employees asking gratuities.—Every agent, employee, or servant of any person or corporation who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity, or reward, or any promise thereof, upon any agreement or understanding that he shall act in any particular manner in connection with his principal's, employer's, or master's business; or who, being authorized to purchase or contract for materials, supplies, or other articles, or to employ servants or labor for his principal, employer, or master, shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, for himself or another, a commismission, discount, bonus, or promise thereof from any person with whom he may deal in relation to such matters, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Employment of children—School attendance

SECTION 4714. Attendance required.—[All children under 15, and all under 16 not regularly and lawfully employed in a useful occupation, must attend school the full term unless excused for sufficient reason by the district or county superintendent of schools.]

SEC. 4715. Certificates.—[No child under 15 may be employed during school hours without a certificate from the superintendent of schools.]

SEC. 4717. Enforcement.—[Attendance officers may visit all places of employment in the enforcement of this act.]

Commissioner of labor[1]

SECTION 6553. Duties.—It shall be the duty of such officer and employees of the said bureau to cause to be enforced all laws regulating the employment of children, minors, and women, all laws established for the protection of the health, lives, and limbs of operators in workshops, factories, mills, and mines, on railroads and other places, and all laws enacted for the protection of the working classes, and declaim it a misdemeanor on the part of the employers to require as a condition of employment the surrender of any rights of citizenship, laws regulating and prescribing the qualifications of persons in trades and handicrafts, and similar laws now in force or hereafter to be enacted. It shall also be the duty of officers and employees of the bureau to collect, assort, arrange, and present in biennial reports to the legislature, on or before the first Monday in January, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the State; to the subjects of corporations, strikes or other labor difficulties; to trade-unions and other labor organizations and their effect upon labor and capital; and to such other matters relating to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, moral, and sanitary conditions of the laboring classes, and the permanent prosperity of the respective industries of the State as the bureau may be able to gather. In its biennial report the bureau shall also give account of all proceedings of its officers and employees which have been taken in accordance with the provisions of this act or of any other acts herein referred to, including a statement of all violations of law which have been observed, and the proceedings under the same, and shall join with such accounts and such remarks, suggestions, and recommendations as the commissioner may deem necessary.

SEC. 6554. Duties of owners of factories, etc.—It shall be the duty of every owner, operator, or manager of every factory, workshop, mill, mine, or other establishment where labor is employed, to make to the bureau, upon blanks furnished by said bureau, such reports and returns as the said bureau may require, for the purpose of compiling such labor statistics as are authorized by this act, and the owner or business manager shall make such reports and returns within the time prescribed therefor by the commissioner of labor, and shall certify to the correctness of the same. In the reports of said bureau no use shall be made of the names of individuals, firms, or corporations supplying the information called for by this section, such information being deemed confidential, and not for the purpose of disclosing personal affairs, and any officer, agent, or employee of said bureau violating this provision shall be fined in the sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned for not more than one year.

Payment of wages in scrip

SECTION 6560. Scrip to be redeemable.—It shall not be lawful for any corporation, person, or firm engaged in manufacturing of any kind in this State, mining, railroading, constructing railroads, or any business or enterprise of whatsoever kind in this State, to issue, pay out or circulate for payment of wages of any labor, any order, check, memorandum, token, or evidence of indebtedness, payable in whole or in part otherwise than in lawful money of the United States, unless the same is negotiable and redeemable at its face value, without discount, in cash or on demand, at the store or other place of business of such firm, person, or corporation when [where] the same is issued, and the person who, or company which may issue any such order, check, memorandum, token or other evidence of indebtedness shall upon presentation and demand redeem the same in lawful money of the United States. And when any laborer performing work or labor as above shall cease to work whether by discharge or by voluntary withdrawal the wages due shall be forthwith paid either in cash or by order redeemable in cash at its face value on presentment at bank, store, commissary, or other place in the county where the labor was performed: Provided, Such order may be given payable in another county when the place of employment is more convenient of access to the employee.

SEC. 6561. Violations.—[Failure to comply with the provisions of this act entails a fine not exceeding $300, or upon failure to pay such fine, imprisonment until the fine is exhausted.]

SEC. 6562. Attorneys' fees.—Whenever any person or persons, company, or corporation, is compelled to sue for the recovery of the face value of check, memorandum, token, or evidence of indebtedness, issued or circulated for the payment of wages for labor, by reason of the failure of any person, firm, company, or person [corporation] issuing the same, failing or refusing to pay the same on demand, as provided by section 6560 of this chapter, then in such case, if judgment should be granted the plaintiff, the court shall tax an attorney's fee of not less than ten nor more than twenty-five dollars to said judgment, and the further sum of twenty-five dollars as damages to the plaintiff, suffered by the plaintiff by reason of being compelled to sue the said claim: Provided, That no plaintiff shall recover more than the face value of his said claim where the payment is refused by reason of a dispute as to the ownership of the said claim, or where it appears satisfactorily to the court or jury that the defendant had a sufficient excuse for the refusal of the payment of the said claim, the burden to prove the said sufficient excuse being on the defendant; and should the court or jury find such sufficient excuse, the same is to be specified in the judgment or verdict of said court or jury.

This act is not unconstitutional. 88 Pac. 212.

The sum of $25 awarded as damages becomes a part of the "amount in controversy," so that an appeal may be taken from a judgment in a justice's court, even though the wage debt is less than $20. 131 Pac. 466.

The requirement of sec. 6560 as to payment at the end of employment is a declaration of public policy, and cannot be waived by contract. Burdette v. Dairy Co., 212 Pac. 181.

Assignments of wages

SECTION 6563. Employer to accept.—No assignment of, or order for, wages to be earned in the future to secure a loan of less than three hundred dollars, shall be valid against an employer of the person making said assignment or order unless said assignment or order is accepted in writing by the employer, and said assignment or order, and the acceptance of the same, have been filed and recorded with the county auditor of the county where the party making said assignment or order resides, if a resident of the State, or in which he is employed, if not a resident of the State.

SEC. 6564. Wife to join.—No assignment of, or order for, wages to be earned in the future shall be valid, when made by a married man, unless the written consent of his wife to the making of such assignment or order is attached thereto.

Blacklisting

SECTION 6565. Blacklisting forbidden.—Every person in this State who shall willfully and maliciously, send or deliver, or make, or cause to be made, for the purpose of being delivered or sent, or part with the possession of any paper, letter or writing, with or without name signed thereto, or signed with a fictitious name, or with any letter, mark or other designation, or publish or cause to be published any statement for the purpose of preventing any other person from obtaining employment in this State or elsewhere, and every person who shall willfully and maliciously "blacklist" or cause to be "blacklisted" any person or persons, by writing, printing or publishing, or causing the same to be done, the name, or mark, or designation representing the name of any person in any paper, pamphlet, circular or book, together with any statement concerning persons so named, or publish or cause to be published that any person is a member of any secret organization, for the purpose of preventing such person from securing employment, or who shall willfully and maliciously make or issue any statement or paper that will tend to influence or prejudice the mind of any employer against the person of such person seeking employment, or any person who shall do any of the things mentioned in this section for the purpose of causing the discharge of any person employed by any railroad or other company, corporation, individual or individuals, shall, on conviction thereof, be adjudged guilty of [a] misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ninety days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Employment of women and children

SECTION 6569. Sex not a bar.—* * * every avenue of employment shall be open to women; and any business, vocation, profession, and calling followed and pursued by men may be followed and pursued by women, and no person shall be disqualified from engaging in or pursuing any business, vocation, profession, calling, or employment on account of sex: Provided, That this section shall not be construed so as to permit women to hold public office.

SEC. 6570. Children as messengers: factory, etc., work.—[Minors under 19 may not be employed as public messengers in any city of the first class; nor may any child under 14 be employed in any factory, mill, workshop or store. However, a child over 12 may be given a permit if its labor is necessary for its own support or that of parent; also permits for messenger service may be allowed children over 14 on conditions fixed by the court. All permits are to be for a limited time, and subject to revocation by the judge by whom issued.]

Hours of labor

SECTION 6572. Eight hours a day's labor on public work.—Hereafter eight hours in any calendar day shall constitute a day's work on any work done for the State or any county or municipality within the State, subject to conditions hereinafter provided.

Work preliminary to the principal employment, as the harnessing, etc., of horses by a teamster, can not be excluded from the reckoning so as to require eight hours "on the job," in addition to such work. 121 Pac. 987.

SEC. 6573. Application of law.—All work done by contract or subcontract on any building or improvements or works on roads, bridges, streets, alleys or buildings for the State or any county or municipality within the State, shall be done under the provisions of this act: Provided, That in cases of extraordinary emergency such as danger to life or property, the hours for work may be extended, but in such case the rate of pay for time employed in excess of eight hours of each calendar day, shall be one and one-half times the rate of pay allowed for the same amount of time during eight hours' service. And for this purpose this act is made a part of all contracts, subcontracts or agreements for work done for the State or any county or municipality within the State.

SEC. 6574. Violations.—[Violations of provisions of this act are punishable by fine, $25 to $200, or imprisonment 10 days to 90 days, or both.]

Sections 6572–6574 are not impliedly repealed by secs. 6575–6577, since the two acts may stand together. 43 Wash. 116.

SEC. 6575. Eight-hour limit.—It is a part of the public policy of the State of Washington that all work "by contract or day labor done" for it, or any political subdivision created by its laws, shall be performed in workdays of not more than eight hours each, except in cases of extraordinary emergency. No case of extraordinary emergency shall be construed to exist in any case where other labor can be found to take the place of labor which has already been employed for eight hours in any calendar day.

SEC. 6576. Provision in contracts.—All contracts for work for the State of Washington, or any politieal subdivision created by its laws, shall provide that they may be canceled by the officers or agents authorized to contract for or supervise the execution of such work, in case snch work is not performed in accordance with the policy of the State relating to such work.

SEC. 6577. Enforcement.—It is made the duty of all officers or agents authorized to contract for work to be done in behalf of the State of Washington, or any political subdivision created under its laws, to stipnlate in all contracts as provided for in this act [secs. 6575–6577], and all such officers and agents, and all officers and agents intrusted with the supervision of work performed under such contracts, are authorized, and it is made their duty, to declare any contract eanceled, the execution of which is not in accordance with the public policy of this State as herein declared.

SEC. 6578. Limit of a day's labor on street railways.—No person, agent, officer, manager or superintendent or receiver of any corporation or owner of street cars shall reqnire his or its gripmen, motormen, drivers or conductors to work more than ten hours in any twenty-four hours.

SEC. 6579. Violations.—[Failure to comply with last preceding section is punishable by fine, $25 to $100 for each day's violation.]

SEC. 6583. Eight hours a day's labor in mines.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation operating any coal mine, within the State of Washington, to cause any employee to remain at his place of work, where the same is situated underground, for more than eight (8) hours, exclusive of one-half (½) hour for lnnch, in any one calendar day of twenty-four (24) hours. Any person, firm or eorporation, or the agent of any person, firm or corporation, violating the provisions of this seetion shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars ($10) or more than one hnndred dollars ($100) for each offense.

SEC. 6584. Remaining at working place.—It shall be unlawfnl for any person in the employ of any person, firm, or corporation operating any coal mine, within the State of Washington, to willfully remain at, or in his working place, where the same shall be underground, to exceed eight (8) hours, exclusive of one-half (½) hour for lunch, in any one calendar day of twenty-four (24) hours. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than five dollars ($5) or more than twenty dollars ($20) for each offense.

SEC. 6585. Exemptions.—The provisions of this act [secs. 6583–6586] shall not apply to or prohibit engineers, rope riders, motormen, cagers, or others necessarily employed in transporting men in and out of the mine: Provided, however, That all persons so employed shall not work more than ten (10) hours in any one ealendar day: And provided further, That this act shall not be construed to prohibit extra hours of employment underground, necessitated by a weekly change of shift, or where rendered nccessary by reason of any accident, or for the purpose of making unavoidable repairs, or for the protection of property or human life.

SEC. 6586. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the State inspector of coal mines to enforce the provisions of this act [sec. 6583–6586].

Inspection and regulation of factories, etc.

SECTION 6587. Belt shifters, guards, etc.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association operating a factory, mill, or workshop where machinery is used shall provide and maintain in use belt shifters or other mechanical contrivances for the purpose of throwing on or off belts on pulleys while running where the same are practicable, with due regard to the nature and purpose of said belts and the dangers to employees therefrom; also reasonable safeguards for all vats, pans, trimmers, cut-off, gang edger, and other saws, planers, cogs, gearings, belting, shafting, coupling, set screws, live rollers, conveyors, mangles in laundries, and machinery of other or similar description which it is practicable to guard and which can be effectively guarded, with due regard to the ordinary use of such machinery and appliances and the dangers to employees therefrom, and with which the employees of any such factory, mill, or workshop are liable to come in contact while in the performance of their duties; and if any machine or any part thereof is in a defective condition and its operation would be extrahazardous because of such defect, or if any machine is not safeguarded as provided in this act, the use thereof is prohibited and a notice to that effect shall be attached thereto by the employer or inspector immediately on receiving notice of such defect or lack of safeguard, and such notice shall not be moved until said defect has been remedied or the machine safeguarded as herein provided.

The requirement that shafting be guarded does not extend to revolving rods and bars being worked upon as materials, even though their movement is similar. 134 Pac. 471.

SEC. 6588. Ventilation.—Every factory or workshop where machinery is used and manual labor is exercised by the way of trade for the purposes of gain within an inclosed room (private houses in which the employees live excepted) shall be provided in each workroom thereof with good and sufficient ventilation and kept in a cleanly and sanitary state, and shall be so ventilated as to render harmless, as far as practicable, all gases, vapors, dust, or other impurities generated in the course of the manufacturing or laboring process carried on therein; and if in any factory, mill, or workshop any process is carried on in any inclosed room thereof, by which dust is generated and inhaled to an injurious extent by the persons employed therein, conveyors, receptacles, or exhaust fans, or other mechanical means shall be provided and maintained for the purpose of carrying off or receiving and collecting such dust.

SEC. 6589. Hoistways, etc.—The openings of all hoistways, hatchways, elevators, and wellholes and stairways in factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms, or stores shall be protected, where practicable, by good and sufficient trapdoors, hatches, fences, gates, or other safeguards, and all due diligence shall be used to keep all such means of protection closed, except when it is necessary to have the same open that the same may be used.

SEC. 6590. Annual inspections.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor, by himself or his duly appointed deputy, to examine, as soon as may be after the passage of this act, and thereafter annually and from time to time, all factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms, stores, and buildings, and the machinery and appliances therein contained to which the provisions of this chapter are applicable for the purpose of determining whether they do conform to such provisions, and of granting or refusing certificates of approval, whether requested to do so or not.

SEC. 6591. Requests for inspection.—Any person, firm, corporation or association carrying on business, to which the provisions of this act are applicable, shall have the right to make written request to said commissioner of labor to inspect any factory, mill, or workshop, and the machinery therein used, and any storehouse, wareroom, or store which said applicant is operating, occupying, or using, and to issue his certificate of approval thereof; and said commissioner of labor, by himself or his deputy, shall forthwith make said inspection. Upon receiving such application the commissioner of labor shall issue to the person making the same an acknowledgment that such certificate has been applied for, and thirty days after such acknowledgment by said commissioner of labor, and pending the granting of such certificate, such acknowledgment shall have the same effect as such certificate, till the granting of such certificate by said commissioner of labor: Provided, Said applicant has not been notified by an inspector what alterations or repairs are necessary: Provided, The commissioner of labor, by himself or deputy, shall make such examination annually, whether requested to do so or not.

SEC. 6592. Employees to give notice of defects.—Any employee of any person, firm, corporation, or association shall notify his employer of any defect in or failure to guard the machinery, appliances, ways, works, and plants with which or about which he is working when such defect or failure to guard shall come to the knowledge of any said employee, and if said employer shall fail to remedy such defects, then said employee may complain in writing to the commissioner of labor of any such alleged defects in or failure to guard the machinery, appliances, ways, works, and plants, or any alleged violation by such person, firm, corporation, or association of any of the provisions of this chapter [secs. 6587–6598], in the machinery and appliances and premises used by such person, firm, corporation, or association, and with or about which such employee is working, and upon receiving such complaint it shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor, by himself or his deputy, to forthwith make an inspection of the machinery and appliances complained of.

SEC. 6593. Certificates.—Whenever upon examination or reexamination of any factory, mill or workshop, store or building, or the machinery or appliances therein to which the provisions of this chapter are applicable, the property so examined and the machinery and appliances therein conform in the judgment of said commissioner of labor to the requirements of this chapter, he shall thereupon issue to the owner, lessee or occupant of such factory, mill or workshop or to the owner, lessee or occupant of any such storehouse, warerooom or store, a certificate to that effect, and such certificate shall be prima facie evidence as long as it continues in force of compliance on the part of the person, firm, corporation or association to whom it is issued, with the provisions of this act [secs. 6587–6598]. Such certificate may be revoked by said commissioner of labor at any time upon written notice to the person, firm, corporation or association holding the same, whenever in his opinion after reexamination, conditions and circumstances have so changed as to justify the revocation thereof. A copy of said certificate shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place on every floor of all factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms or store to which the provisions of this act are applicable. If, in the judgment of said commissioner of labor, such factory, mill or workshop, or the machinery and appliances therein contained, or such storehouse, warerooom or store does not conform to the requirements of this act, he shall forthwith, personally or by mail, serve on the person, firm, corporation or association operating or using such machinery or appliances, or occupying such premises, a written statement of the requirements of said commissioner of labor before he will issue a certificate as hereinbefore provided for; said requirements shall be complied with within a period of thirty days after said requirements have been served as aforesaid and thereupon the said commissioner of labor shall forthwith issue such certificate; but if the person, firm, or corporation operating or using said machinery and appliances or occupying such premises shall consider the requirements of said commissioner of labor unreasonable and impracticable or unnecessarily expensive, he may within ten days after the requirements of said commissioner of labor have been served upon him appeal therefrom or from any part thereof, to three arbitrators to whom shall be submitted the matter and things in dispute, and their findings shall be binding upon said applicant and upon the commissioner of labor. Such appeal shall be in writing, addressed to the commissioner of labor and shall set forth the objections to his requirements, or any part thereof, and shall mention the name of one person who will serve as the representative of said applicant calling for arbitration. Immediately upon the receipt of such notice of appeal it shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to appoint a competent person as arbitrator resident in the county from which such appeal comes, and to notify such person so selected, and also the party appealing, stating the cause of the abitration, and the place, date and time of meeting. These two arbitrators shall select the third, and as soon thereafter as practicable, give a hearing on the matters of said appeal, and the findings of these arbitrators by a majority vote, shall be reported to the commissioner of labor, and to the applicant, and shall be binding upon each. The expense of such arbitration shall be borne by the party calling for the arbitration; and if said arbitrators sustain the requirements of said commissioner of labor or any part thereof, said applicant shall within thirty days comply with the findings of said arbitrators, and thereupon said commissioner of labor shall issue his certificate as hereinbefore provided (in section 6500), but if said arbitrators shall sustain such appeal or any part thereof, the same shall be binding upon said commissioner of labor; and any such person, firm, corporation or association shall within thirty days, after the finding of the board of arbitrators, comply with the requirements of the commissioner of labor, as amended by said arbitrators, if so amended as herein provided for, and thereupon said commissioner of labor shall forthwith issue to any person, firm, corporation or association, his certificate as provided for in section 6590: Provided, however, That before any certificate shall be issued by said commissioner of labor as provided for in this act, the person, firm, corporation or association which has complied with the provisions of this act, shall pay to the commissioner of labor of the State of Washington, an annual fee of ten dollars (provided, that any person, firm, corporation or association, employing not to exceed five persons in said factory, mill or workshop shall pay a fee of five dollars), and take his receipt therefor: It is further provided, That the withholding of such certificate shall not excuse such person, firm, corporation or association from obtaining the same and paying the required inspection fee, and the person, firm, corporation or association inspected shall likewise be civilly liable for such inspection fee.

Upon presentation of said receipt to said commissioner of labor, or his deputy, he shall forthwith issue said certificate as in this chapter provided. Said fee shall entitle the person, firm, corporation, or association paying the same, to any and every inspection of any factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom, or store, and the machinery and appliances contained therein, owned and operated by the party paying said fee, that may be necessary, for a period of one year subsequent to its payment; and all moneys collected for licenses and fines, under the provisions of this act, shall be paid into the State treasury and be converted into a special factory inspection fund, from which special fund shall be paid the deputy factory inspectors required to enforce the provisions of this chapter. Said deputy factory inspectors shall be paid from the special factory inspection fund, upon the presentation of vouchers properly signed by the labor commissioner in the same manner in which other employees of the State are paid.

Sec. 6597. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, $25 to $100.]

Sec. 6598. Act to be posted.—A copy of this chapter together with the name and address of the commissioner of labor, printed in a legible manner, shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place on each floor of every factory, mill, workshop, storehouse, wareroom, or store, and at the office of every public and private work to which the provisions of this chapter are applicable, upon the same being supplied to the operators, owners, lessee, or occupants, of such places with sufficient copies thereof by the commissioner of labor.

Arbitration of labor disputes

Section 6599. Duty of labor commissioner.—It shall be the duty of the State labor commissioner upon application of any employer or employee having differences, as soon as practicable, to visit the location of such differences and to make a careful inquiry into the cause thereof and to advise the respective parties, what, if anything, ought to be done or submitted to by both to adjust said dispute and should said parties then still fail to agree to a settlement through said commissioner, then said commissioner shall endeavor to have said parties consent in writing to submit their differences to a board of arbitration to be chosen from citizens of the State as follows, to wit: Said employer shall appoint one and said employees acting through a majority, one, and these two shall select a third, these three to constitute the board of arbitration and the findings of said board of arbitration to be final.

Sec. 6600. Proceedings.—The proceedings of said board of arbitration shall be held before the commissioner of labor who shall act as moderator or chairman, without the privilege of voting, and who shall keep a record of the proceedings, issue subpœnas and administer oaths to the members of said board, and any witness said board may deem necessary to summon.

SEC. 6601. Notice served by officer.—Any notice or process issued by the board herein created, shall be served by any sheriff, coroner, or constable to whom the same may be directed, or in whose hands the same may be placed for service.

SEC. 6602. Compensation.—Such arbitrators shall receive five dollars per day for each day actually engaged in such arbitration and the necessary traveling expenses to be paid upon certificate of the labor commissioner out of the fund appropriated for the purpose or at the disposal of the bureau of labor applicable to such expenditure.

SEC. 6603. Statement of facts.—Upon the failure of the labor commissioner, in any case, to secure the creation of a board of arbitration, it shall become his duty to request a sworn statement from each party to the dispute of the facts upon which their dispute and their reasons for not submitting the same to arbitration are based. Any sworn statement made to the labor commissioner under this provision shall be for public use and shall be given publicly [publicity] in such newspapers as desire to use it.

SEC. 6604. Maintenance; parties may tender expenses.—In case the funds herein provided are exhausted and either party to a proposed arbitration shall tender the necessary expenses for conducting said arbitration, then it shall be the duty of the State labor commissioner to request the opposite party to arbitrate such differences in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

Inspection of steam vessels and boilers

SECTIONS 8213–8240. Inspection required.—[The commissioner of labor is charged with the duty of enforcing this act and may appoint the necessary inspectors. Vessels not subject to Federal inspection must be inspected at least annually as to hull, boats, machinery, and equipment, the boilers tested, and certificates given if found safe. The construction of vessels must be such as to protect against danger of fire; the loading of safety valves is forbidden, or the creating of an unsafe amount of steam. A copy of the act is to be posted in a conspicuous place on each vessel. The fee for inspection is from $5 to $20, according to the size of the vessel.]

Railroad employees—Purchase of uniforms.

SECTION 8727. Employees not to be restricted in buying.—It shall be unlawful for any railroad or other transportation company doing business in the State of Washington, or of any officer, agent, or servant of such railroad or other transportation company, to require any conductor, engineer, brakeman, fireman, purser, or other employee, as a condition of his continued employment, or otherwise to require or compel, or attempt to require or compel, any such employee to purchase of any such railroad or other transportation company or of any particular person, firm, or corporation or at any particular place or places, any uniform or other clothing or apparel, required by any such railroad or other transportation company to be used by any such employee in the performance of his duties as such; and any such railroad or transportation company or any officer, agent, or servant thereof, who shall order or require any conductor, engineer, brakeman, fireman, purser, or other person in its employ, to purchase any uniform or other clothing or apparel as aforesaid, shall be deemed to have required such purchase as a condition of such employee's continued employment.

SEC. 8728. Violations.—[Penalties are fines, $100 to $500, or imprisonment not exceeding six months.]

Street railways—Qualifications of employees—Protection

SECTION 9071. Competent men required.—Hereafter street railway or street car companies or street car corporations, shall employ none but competent men to operate or assist as conductors, motormen, or gripmen upon any street railway, or street car line in this State.

SEC. 9072. Who deemed competent.—A man shall be deemed competent to operate or assist in operating cars (or dummies) usually used by street railway or street car companies, or corporations, only after first having served at least three days under personal instruction of a regularly employed conductor, motorman, or gripman on a car or dummy in actual service on the particular street railway or street car line for which the service of an additional man or additional men may be required: Provided, That during a strike on the street car lines the railway companies may employ competent men who have not worked three days on said particular street car line.

SEC. 9073. Violations.—[A fine of from $50 to $100 or imprisonment 30 days, or both is the penalty for violation.]

SEC. 9076. Vestibules to be provided, when.—All corporations, companies, or individuals owning, managing, or operating any street railway or line in the State of Washington, shall provide, during the rain or winter season, all cars run or used on its or their respective roads with good, substantial, and sufficient vestibules, or weather guards, for the protection of the employees of such corporation, company, or individual.

SEC. 9077. Construction.—The vestibules or weather guards, provided for in the last [preceding] section, shall be so constructed as to protect the employees of such company, corporation, or individual from the wind, rain, or snow.

SEC. 9078. Violations.—[Violations of the two preceding sections are punishable by fine, $50 to $250, each period of 10 days' continued failure to comply constituting a separate offense.]

CHAPTER 37.—Employment of women—Hours of labor—Seats

SECTION 1. Eight-hour day.—No female shall be employed in any mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant in this State more than eight hours during any day. The hours of work may be so arranged as to permit the employment of females at any time so that they shall not work more than eight hours during the twenty-four: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section in relation to the hours of employment shall not apply to, nor affect, females employed in harvesting, packing, curing, canning, or drying any variety of perishable fruit or vegetable, nor to females employed in canning fish or shellfish. If it shall be adjudicated that the foregoing proviso and exception shall be unconstitutional and invalid for any reason, an adjudication of invalidity of said proviso or of any part of this act shall not affect the validity of the act as a whole or any other part thereof.

SEC. 2. Seats.—Every employer in establishments where females are employed shall provide suitable seats for them and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not engaged in the active duties for which they are employed, and every employer shall keep posted in an open and conspicuous place in each room where such females are at work a copy of this act printed in such form and style as may be prescribed by the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 3. Violations.—Any employer, overseer, superintendent, or other agent of any such employer who shall violate any of the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction thereof be fined for each offense in a sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

This statute is constitutional, nor does the exception as to work in canneries invalidate it. 122 Pac. 324.

Not all work in a cannery is excepted, so that work not directly necessary to the canning, as lacquering to prevent rusting, can not be carried on for more than eight hours. 131 Pac. 452.

CHAPTER 65.—Mine regulations—Powder

SECTION 1. Storage.—[Magazines, properly marked, must be provided at or near the entrance of coal mines, subject to the approval of the State mine inspector, for the storage of powder or other explosives, the same to be issued daily in suitable receptables, in amounts sufficient for one day's use.]

CHAPTER 117.—Public service companies—Inspection and regulation

SECTION 35. Accommodations.— * * *

Every telephone and telegraph company operating in this State shall provide and maintain suitable and adequate buildings and facilities therein, or connected therewith, for the accommodation, comfort, and convenience of its patrons and employees.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 63. Accidents.—[Notice is to be given to the public service commission of accidents causing death or personal injury on the lines, plant, or system of any public service company, and the commission may investigate the same. Due notice of the hearing must be given, but the required notice shall not be admitted as evidence on any action for damages.]

SEC. 65. Defects.—[Where investigation by the commission discovers defective conditions in apparatus, tracks, etc., dangerous to employees or to the public, it shall direct necessary repairs and may prescribe the rate of speed of trains, etc., over such defective way, or forbid its use until made safe. No appeal is allowed.]

SEC. 66. * * * Equipment of street cars.—[Every street car shall be equipped with proper and efficient brakes, steps, grab irons or handrails, fenders, or aprons or pilots, and with such other appliances, apparatus, and machinery necessary for the safe operation of such street car as the commission may prescribe.]

* * * * * * *

SEC. 67. Inspection.—[The inspector of tracks, bridges, structures, and equipment and his deputies are charged with the duty of inspection and the enforcement of the law as to unsafe appliances, equipment, etc. Orders as to repair are to be made, and reports to the commission. Inspectors may ride on cars, engines, etc., for purposes of inspection.]

CHAPTER 174.—Employment of women and children—Minimum wages

SECTION 1. Grounds of law.—The welfare of the State of Washington demands that women and minors be protected from conditions of labor which have a pernicious effect on their health and morals. The State of Washington, therefore, exercising herein its police and sovereign power, declares that inadequate wages and unsanitary conditions of labor exert such pernicious effect.

SEC. 2. Employment under detrimental conditions.—It shall be unlawful to employ women or minors in any industry or occupation within the State of Washington under conditions of labor detrimental to their health or morals; and it shall be unlawful to employ women workers in any industry within the State of Washington at wages which are not adequate for their maintenance.

SECS. 3–5. Industrial welfare commission.—[This body is superseded by an industrial welfare committee in the department of labor and industries; see sec. 82, ch. 7, Acts of 1921.]

SEC. 6. Powers and duties.—It shall be the duty of the commission to ascertain the wages and conditions of labor of women and minors in the various occupations, trades, and industries in which said women and minors are employed in the State of Washington. To this end, said commission shall have full power and authority to call for statements and to examine, either through its members or other authorized representatives, all books, pay rolls, or other records of all persons, firms, and corporations employing females or minors as to any matters that would have a bearing upon the question of wages of labor or conditions of labor of said employees.

SEC. 7. Records of employees.—Every employer of women and minors shall keep a record of the names of all women and minors employed by him, and shall on request permit the commission or any of its members or authorized representatives to inspect such record.

SEC. 8. "Minor" defined.—For the purposes of this act a minor is defined to be a person of either sex under the age of eighteen (18) years.

SEC. 9. Hearings.—The commission shall specify times to hold public hearings, at which times employers, employees, or other interested persons may appear and give testimony as to the matter under consideration. The commission shall have power to subpœna witnesses and to administer oaths. All witnesses subpœned by the commission shall be paid the same mileage and per diem allowed by law for witnesses before the superior court in civil cases.

SEC. 10. Conferences.—If, after investigation, the commission shall find that in any occupation, trade, or industry, the wages paid to female employees are inadequate to supply them necessary cost of living and to maintain the workers in health, or that the conditions of labor are prejudicial to the health or morals of the workers, the commission is empowered to call a conference composed of an equal number of representatives of employers and employees in the occupation or industry in question, together with one or more disinterested persons representing the public; but the representatives of the public shall not exceed the number of representatives of either of the other parties; and a member of the commission shall be a member of such conference and chairman thereof. The commission shall make rules and regulations governing the selection of representatives and the mode of procedure of said conference, and shall exercise exclusive jurisdiction over all questions arising as to the validity of the procedure and of the recommendations of said conference. On request of the commission, it shall be the duty of the conference to recommend to the commission an estimate of the minimum wage adequate in the occupation or industry in question to supply the necessary cost of living, and maintain the workers in health, and to recommend standards of conditions or labor demanded for the health and morals of the employees. The findings and recommendations of the conference shall be made a matter of record for the use of the commission.

SEC. 11. Review by commission.—Upon receipt of such recommendations from a conference, the commission shall review the same and may approve any or all of such recommendations, or it may disapprove any or all of them, and recommit the subject or the recommendations disapproved of, to the same or a new conference. After such approval of the recommendations of a conference the commission shall issue an obligatory order to be effective in sixty (60) days from the date of said order, or if the commission shall find that unusual conditions necessitate a longer period, then it shall fix a later date, specifying the minimum wage for women in the occupation affected, and the standard conditions of labor for said women; and after such order is effective, it shall be unlawful for any employer in said occupation to employ women over eighteen (18) years of age for less than the rate of wages, or under conditions of labor prohibited for women in the said occupation. The commission shall send by mail so far as practicable to each employer in the occupation in question a copy of the order, and each employer shall be required to post a copy of said order in each room in which women affected by the order are employed. When such commission shall specify a minimum wage hereunder the same shall not be changed for one year from the date when such minimum wage is so fixed.

SEC. 12. Revision of orders.—Whenever wages or standard conditions of labor have been made mandatory in any occupation, upon petition of either employers or employees, the commission may at its discretion reopen the question and reconvene the former conference or call a new one, and any recommendations made by such conference shall be dealt with in the same manner as the original recommendations of a conference.

SEC. 13. Special licenses.—For any occupation in which a minimum rate has been established, the commission through its secretary may issue to a woman physically defective or crippled by age or otherwise, or to an apprentice in such class of employment or occupation as usually requires to be learned by apprentices, a special license authorizing the employment of such licensee for a wage less than the legal minimum wage; and the commission shall fix the minimum wage for said person, such special license to be issued only in such cases as the commission may decide the same is applied for in good faith and that such license for apprentices shall be in force for such length of time as the said commission shall decide and determine is proper.

SEC. 14. Minors.—The commission may at any time inquire into wages and conditions of labor of minors employed in any occupation in the State and may determine wages and conditions of labor suitable for such minors. When the commission has made such determination in the cases of minors it may proceed to issue an obligatory order in the manner provided for in section 11 of this act, and after such order is effective it shall be unlawful for any employer in said occupation to employ a minor for less wages than is specified for minors in said occupation, or under conditions of labor prohibited by the commission for said minors in its order.

SEC. 15. Duty of commissioner of labor.—Upon the request of the commission the commissioner of labor of the State of Washington shall furnish to the commission such statistics as the commission may require.

SEC. 16. Discrimination by employers.—Any employer who discharges, or in any other manner discriminates against any employee because such employee has testified or is about to testify, or because such employer believes that said employee may testify in any investigation or proceedings relative to the enforcement of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of from twenty-five dollars ($25) to one hundred dollars ($100) for each such misdemeanor.

SEC. 17. Violations.—[Violations of any provisions of this act entail a fine of $25 to $100.]

SEC. 17½. Complaints.—Any worker or the parent or guardian of any minor to whom this act applies may complain to the commission that the wages paid to the workers are less than the minimum rate and the commission shall investigate the same and proceed under this act in behalf of the worker.

SEC. 18. Actions by employees.—If any employee shall receive less than the legal minimum wage, except as hereinbefore provided in section 13, said employee shall be entitled to recover in a civil action the full amount of the legal minimum wage as herein provided for, together with costs and attorney's fees to be fixed by the court, notwithstanding any agreement to work for such lesser wage. In such action, however, the employer shall be credited with any wages which have been paid upon account.

SEC. 19. Questions of fact and of law.—All questions of fact arising under this act shall be determined by the commission and there shall be no appeal from its decision under said question of fact. Either employer or employee shall have the right of appeal to the superior court on questions of law.

This act is constitutional. The State has an interest in the maintenance of the standard fixed, and a settlement for a lower rate of wages is voidable if not void. Larsen v. Rice, 100 Wash. 642, 171 Pac. 1037.

CHAPTER 68.—Employment of women and children—Telephone and telegraph companies

SECTION 1 (as amended 1917, ch. 29). Standards of wages, etc.—[The employment conditions of "women and minors employed in telephone and telegraph industries in rural communities and in cities of less than 3,000 population" are placed specifically in the hands of the industrial welfare commission (now committee.)]

CHAPTER 36 (as amended 1919, ch. 201).—Mine regulations

SECTIONS 1–220. Inspection, safety, etc.—[Provision is made for an inspection department (now in the division of safety of the department of labor and industries; see ch. 7, Acts of 1921), charged with the duty of inspecting all coal mines in operation at least every 4 months with special regard to the safety of the employees. An examining board (now the director of licenses; see sec. 96, ch. 7, Acts of 1921) passes upon the qualifications of inspectors.

The examining board is also to conduct examinations for applicants for certificates who desire to serve as mine foremen, assistant mine foremen, or fire bosses, the examination to be both practical and technical. Candidates must be experienced, and applicants for a first-class certificate must be at least 25 years of age, and those for second class at least 23 years. Rescue work and work in first aid are subjects to be included in the examination.

The act prescribes the ventilation to be afforded, directs the making and maintenance of maps and plans, requires a signal system for the hoisting apparatus and safety devices therefor, prescribes the duties of operators with regard to reports of accidents, the development of workings, the employment of certified foremen, etc., the inspection of boilers, the maintenance of washhouses for the use of the workmen, protection against fire, the location and construction of stables, the screening of coal, etc. The duties of the various officials are also indicated in detail, covering the matter of dangerous workings, inspections, blasting, etc.

A mine-rescue equipment is required in every mine employing as many as 20 men underground, with devices of an approved type.

Other regulations relate to the storage and use of powder and explosives, safety lamps, the sinking of shafts, and the installation of electrical equipment. The hours of labor are fixed at eight per day for underground work, exclusive of one-half hour for lunch, and employers and employees are alike made responsible for the observance of this law. Engineers, rope riders, motormen, cagers, and other persons necessarily employed in transporting men in and out of the mine may work not to exceed ten hours per day.

The general rules contain a number of provisions as to safety, covering the subject of oils for lubrication and lighting, the checking in and out of employees, use of intoxicants, travel in the mines, care of safety lamps, the firing of shots, having matches or pipes in the mines, etc. No boy under 16 years of age and no girl or woman of any age may be employed underground; nor may any boy under 14 or any woman or girl be employed at surface workings, though this is not to affect the employment of boys or girls or women for clerical or messenger duty above ground, as permitted under the provisions of the school laws. The employment of checkweighmen is provided for, and the duties of miners, drivers, trip riders, engineers, firemen, etc., are separately laid down.]

CHAPTER 130.—Protection of workmen—Safety regulations—Inspection[1]

SECTION 6604–48. Scope of law.—Sections 6604–48 to sections 6604–120, inclusive, shall apply to all and only those establishments, those employers, and those workmen who are or shall be under the jurisdiction of the industrial insurance department.

SEC. 6604–49. Place of work.—The phrase "place of work" shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out, or underground or elsewhere, and the premises appurtenant thereto, where either temporarily or permanently any industry, trade, or business is carried on, or where any process or operation directly or indirectly relating to any industry, trade, work, or business is carried on, including all construction work.

SEC. 6604–50. Safety devices.—The terms "safe" and "safety," as applied to an employment or place of work, "safeguard" or "safety device," shall mean such freedom from danger to the life or safety of workmen as the nature of the case will reasonably permit; and the two latter terms shall be given a broad interpretation so as to include any reasonably practical method of mitigating or preventing danger.

SEC. 6604–51. Standards.—For the purposes of this act it shall be the duty of every employer to furnish a place of work which shall be as safe for workmen therein as may be reasonable and practicable under the circumstances, surroundings, and conditions, and to furnish and use such safety devices and safeguards and to adopt and use such practices, means, methods, operations, and processes as under the circumstances, surroundings, and conditions are reasonable and practical in order to render the work and place of work safe, and to comply with such standards of safety of place of work and such safety devices and safeguards and such standards and systems of education for safety as shall be from time to time prescribed for such employer by the State safety board, or by statute, or by the State mining board.

SEC. 6604–52. Cooperation by workmen.—For the purposes of this act it shall be the duty of every workman to cooperate with his employer in all efforts for safety in respect of a safe place to work, safety devices, and safeguards, and for educational safety work, and to on his part comply with all standards of safety established for his work by the State safety board, or by statute, or by the State mining board, and not to remove, displace, damage or destroy any safety device or safeguard so established, nor interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other workman, nor interfere with the use of any method or process adopted or prescribed for the protection of the workmen in any place of employment. Any employer or workman who shall knowingly remove, displace, damage, or destroy, or cause to be removed, displaced, damaged, or destroyed, any such safety device or safeguard shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SECS. 6604–53, 6604–54. State safety board.—[This board is abolished by ch. 7, Acts of 1921. Its duties devolve mainly on the division of safety in the department of labor and industries.]

SEC. 6604–55. Duties.—For all other work than coal mining, the State safety board, in accordance with the principles laid down in sections 6604–50, 6604–51, and 6604–52, shall make, and may from time to time modify, and shall promulgate standards of safety, to wit:

[1] This chapter adds certain sections to the compensation or industrial insurance law, numbered as of later editions of the code.

(1) To make safe the place of work of workmen, same to be termed "safe place standards."

(2) Of safety devices and safeguards to make safe machines, tools, apparatus, and appliances, same to be termed "safety device standards."

(3) Of educational systems for the education and training of employer and workman in the appreciation and avoidance of danger and in the maintenance and use of safe place and safety device standards. The State safety board shall make, and may from time to time modify, and shall promulgate rules and regulations for the enforcement of the use of such standards of safety.

SEC. 6604-56. Coal Mining Code.—The safe place standards and safety device standards for the coal mines of the State, employer, and workman shall be those prescribed by chapter 36 of the Session Laws of 1917, approved March 2, 1917, as it may be amended from time to time. Such chapter and its amendments are hereinafter referred to as the "Coal Mining Code."

SEC. 6604-57. Educational standards.—The educational standards for coal mines and coal mining shall be prescribed by a board hereby created to be known as the "State mining board," consisting of two members, * * *.

[The appointment of this board now devolves upon the director of labor and industries. See sec. 76, ch. 7, Acts of 1921.]

SEC. 6604-58. Members of mining board.—One member of the State mining board must be a mine manager or superintendent or mine safety engineer, mine safety inspector, or stockholder of a mining corporation, and one member must be a workman in a coal mine in the State.

SECS. 6604-59 to 6604-64. Nominations, term, etc.—[Associations of employers and of workmen may nominate two persons each, from whom the appointments must be made; but if no name is thus presented the appointment will be made without precedent nomination. The term of service is six years, and the compensation is $10 for each day's attendance at a meeting of the board, with traveling expenses.]

SEC. 6604-65. Who may make recommendations.—Any coal-mine employer or workman, or association of either, or any joint committee of such employers and workmen, or the State mine inspector appointed under the provisions of the coal mining code, or any of his deputies, shall be authorized to make recommendations to the State mining board of educational standards or amendments of the same or modifications thereof. The making of the original educational standards shall be withheld for a period of thirty (30) days following the organization of the State mining board to await the receipt of such recommendations.

SEC. 6604-66. Powers of board.—The State mining board shall have power to make changes in its educational standards from time to time.

SEC. 6604-67. Standards to be uniform.—Standards of safety established by the State safety board shall be, as near as possible and practicable, uniform for each class or for each class subdivision of a class, which has been or may be divided into subdivisions by statute or by the industrial insurance commission, but such standards of safety and the educational standards established by the State mining board may vary between different localities, different classes or class subdivisions of industry, and different establishments in any class or class subdivision, where in the opinion of the board establishing same the working conditions warrant such differentiation, and where in the opinion of such board there are such differences as to render impracticable, inoperative, or unjust a uniform standard or standards.

SEC. 6604-68. Who may make recommendations.—Any employer or workman in any industry (other than coal mining), or association of either, or any joint committee of such employers and workmen, or the State labor commissioner shall be authorized to make recommendations to the State safety board of safety standards, or amendments therein, or modifications thereof. The making of the original standards of safety by the State safety board shall be withheld for a period of thirty days following the organization of that board to await the receipt of such recommendations.

SEC. 6604-69. General and special standards.—Standards of safety having uniform application throughout a class or class subdivision shall be known as "general standards." Standards of safety which shall not be of uniform application to any class or class subdivision shall be known as "special standards."

SEC. 6604-70. Public hearings.—At any time after the expiration of thirty days after the organization of the State mining board or the State safety board, respectively, and from time to time thereafter as new standards or changes or modifications of existing standards are proposed, the State safety board or the State mining board, as the case may be, shall call a public hearing or hearings for the purpose of the consideration and establishment of standards of safety within its jurisdiction. At every such hearing the employers and workmen interested shall be privileged to attend and be heard in person or by their committee or committees or representatives.

SEC. 6604–71. Notice.—In advance of every such hearing, the board which is conducting the hearing shall cause a notice of the time and place of such hearing to be published at least once in a daily newspaper of general circulation, published and circulated in the community in, or as near as may be to the place where the establishment or establishments to be affected are located. If the subject of the hearing affects industries throughout the State, such publications shall be in a daily newspaper published in each city of the first class in the State, and such other cities as the board giving the notice shall select.

SEC. 6604–72. Same.—Written notice of every such hearing shall also be mailed under the direction of the board which is to conduct such hearing to each employer whose class, class subdivision, or establishment is affected. It shall be the duty of each employer receiving such a notice to forthwith post the same at his establishment for the information of his workmen.

SEC. 6604–73. Defects, etc.—No defect, inaccuracy, or informality in any such notice or in the publication thereof, nor the omission of notice by mail to any employer, shall invalidate any order or standard of safety established pursuant to such hearing, but no special standard of safety shall be valid unless written notice of the hearings shall have been mailed to the employer or employers of the establishment or establishments affected thereby. For hearings affecting a special standard only, publication of notice may be omitted.

SEC. 6604–74. Approval of standards.—No standard of safety which conflicts or is inconsistent with any safety device, safeguard, or safety standard, or rule heretofore established by statute, shall be established by the State safety board without the written consent of both members of the State safety board and the written approval of the same by the industrial insurance commission, the commissioner of labor, and the State mine inspector.

SEC. 6604–75. State mine inspector.—The State mine inspector shall have sole charge of the enforcement of the standards of safety for coal mining and of the inspection incident thereto.

SEC. 6604–76. Deputy inspectors.—For the purpose of the enforcement of standards of safety for mining, the State mine inspector shall have such number of deputy mine inspectors as he shall deem necessary, not to exceed three in all, including the one provided for by the Coal Mining Code.

SEC. 6604–77. Duties.—The duties of the deputy mine inspectors shall be to inspect the coal mines of the State, to ascertain and report compliance or noncompliance with safety standards, and to recommend improvements of safety standards.

SEC. 6604–78. Appointment.—The new deputy mine inspectors provided by section 6604–76 shall be appointed in the manner and shall be subject to the tests as to qualifications provided by the Coal Mining Code for deputy mine inspectors.

SEC. 6604–79. Salary of chief mine inspector.—The State mine inspector shall receive a monthly salary of one hundred dollars ($100) per month for the performance of his duties in enforcing the use of safety standards and inspecting and certifying the same. This monthly salary shall be in addition to the salary which is provided for him by the coal mining code.

SEC. 6604–80. Salaries of deputy mine inspectors.—Deputy mine inspectors other than the one provided by the coal mining code shall receive a monthly salary of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250).

SEC. 6604–81. State labor commissioner.—The State labor commissioner shall have under the supervision and control of the State safety board sole charge of the enforcement of safe place and safety device standards (other than for the mining of coal) and of inspection and certification thereof.

SEC. 6604–82. Deputy inspectors.—For the purpose of enforcement of safe place and safety device standards other than for coal mining the State labor commissioner shall appoint such number of deputy inspectors as may from time to time be authorized by the State safety board, and may from time to time remove any such deputy.

SEC. 6604–83. Salaries.—Depuſies of the State labor commissioner appointed under the provisions of section 6604–82 shall receive such compensation as may be determined from time to time by the State safety board.

SEC. 6604–86. Salary of State labor commissioner.—For the performance of his duties under section 6604–81 the State labor commissioner shall receive a salary of one hundred and fifty dollars per month in addition to his salary as State labor commissioner.

SEC. 6604–87. Local aid districts.—The State is hereby divided into three local aid districts numbered and described as follows:

Local aid district No. 1. That portion of the State lying east of the summit of the Cascade Mountains. Of this district the head office shall be at the city of Spokane.

Local aid district No. 2. King, Kitsap, Snohomish, Skagit, Whatcom, Island, San Juan, and Clallam Counties, and that portion of Jefferson County lying east of the west line of Mason County extended northward. Of this district the head office shall be at the city of Seattle.

Local aid district No. 3. The remaining portion of the State of Washington. Of this district the head office shall be at the city of Tacoma.

SECS. 6604–88 to 6604–93. Local aid boards.—[The duties of these boards now devolve upon the director of labor and industries, and these boards are abolished (ch. 7, Acts of 1921).]

SEC. 6604–94. Inspection of coal mines.—[Coal mines must be inspected every 4 months, and annual report made as to compliance or noncompliance with the established standards.]

SEC. 6604–95. Other work places.—[All establishments other than coal mines in which extrahazardous work is done must be similarly inspected and reported on.]

SECS. 6604–96 to 6604–117. [These sections relate to the subject of workmen's compensation insurance.]

SEC. 6604–118. Safety standards.—No safety regulation or practice prescribed by any municipal ordinance affecting the safety of workmen is hereby repealed, but in so far as any such regulation or practice shall be inconsistent with any safety standard established by the State safety board it shall be superseded thereby forthwith upon the delivery by the State safety board to the clerk of the municipality which shall have enacted such ordinance of a copy of a notice in writing of the establishment of such inconsistent safety standard.

SEC. 6604–119. Provisions severable.—Adjudication of invalidity of any of sections 6604–48 to 6604–120, inclusive, or any part of any section shall not impair or otherwise affect the validity of any other of said sections.

SEC. 6604–120. [Repeals conflicting acts.]

CHAPTER 185.—Labor organizations—Injunctions

SECTION 1. Unions lawful.—It shall be lawful for working men and women to organize themselves into, or carry on labor unions for the purpose of lessening the hours of labor or increasing the wages or bettering the conditions of the members of such organizations; or carry out their legitimate purposes by any lawful means.

SEC. 2. Injunctions restricted.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of this State, or any judge or judges thereof in any case between an employer and employee or between employer and employees or between employees or between persons employed and persons seeking employment involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable damage to property or to a personal right or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such petition must be in writing describing such damage or injury feared by the applicant, and sworn to by the applicant or his agent or attorney. No such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any such person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment or from ceasing to perform any work or labor; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this section be considered or held to be illegal or unlawful in any court of the State.

SEC. 3. Status of labor.—The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce, and the right to enter into the relation of employer and employee or to change that relation except in violation of contract is a legal right. In all cases involving the violation of the contract of employment, either by the employee or employer, where no irreparable damage is about to be done to the property, personal rights or property rights of either, no injunction shall be granted, but the parties shall be left to their remedy at law.

SEC. 4. Indictments forbidden.—No person shall be indicted, prosecuted, or tried in any court of this State for entering into or carrying on any lawful arrangement, agreement, or combination between themselves made with a view of lessening the number of hours of labor or increasing wages or bettering the conditions of working men and women, or for any lawful act done in pursuance thereof.

This statute does not legalize unlawful acts. Injunctions are not forbidden where needed to prevent irreparable injury. Pacific Coast Coal Co. v. United Mine Workers, Dist. No. 10, 210 Pac. 953.

CHAPTER 191.—Employment of labor—Seasonal employment

SECTION 1. Definition.—For the purpose of this act the term "seasonal labor" shall include all work performed by any person employed for a period of time greater than one month and where the wages for such work are not to be paid at any fixed interval of time, but at the termination of such employment, and where such person is hired within this State for work to be performed outside the State and the wages earned during said employment are to be paid in this State at the termination of such employment: Provided, That this act shall not apply to wages earned by seamen or other persons where the payment of their wages is regulated by Federal statutes.

SEC. 2. Contracts.—Every contract for seasonal labor shall be in writing and signed by the employer and the employee, and may provide for advances of moneys to be earned under such contract or for the furnishing of supplies to the employees before the wages are earned, and for the payment of money or the furnishing of supplies during the season.

SEC. 3. Fraud.—Every employee who with intent to defraud shall have secured advances of money or supplies under a contract for seasonal labor and who with intent to defraud shall willfully fail to perform sufficient labor to compensate for such advances and supplies made under such contract shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

SEC. 4. Disputes.—Upon the written petition of either the employer or the employee setting forth in ordinary and concise language the facts and questions in dispute, the commissioner of labor shall, in person or by his duly authorized deputy, and is hereby authorized to hear and determine all disputes concerning wages earned at seasonal labor, and allow or reject deductions made from such wages for moneys advanced or supplies furnished before the wages are earned for money paid or supplies furnished during the season or for money paid to third persons upon the written order of the employee.

SEC. 5. Hearings.—Upon the filing of any such petition, the commissioner of labor shall notify the other party to the dispute of the time and place when and where such petition will be heard, and may set said petition for a hearing before a regularly appointed deputy at such place in the State as he shall determine is most convenient for the parties, and the commissioner or his deputy shall have power and authority to issue subpœnas to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and records at such hearing, and to administer oaths. Obedience to such subpœna shall be enforced by the courts of the county where such hearing is held.

SEC. 6. Findings.—The commissioner of labor, or his deputy holding the hearing, shall, after such hearing, determine the amount due from the employer to the employee, and shall make findings of fact and an award in accordance therewith, which findings and award shall be filed in the office of the commissioner of labor, and a copy thereof served upon the employer and upon the employee by registered mail directed to their last known post-office address.

SEC. 7. Appeal.—Any person feeling himself aggrieved by the finding or award of the commissioner of labor may, as in the preceding section provided, have the right of appeal therefrom to the superior court of the county in which the hearing by the commissioner of labor or his deputy was held by filing a notice of appeal therefrom in the office of the commissioner of labor within thirty days from the date of the findings and award, and upon the filing of any such notice of appeal the commissioner of labor shall transmit to the clerk of the superior court to which the appeal is taken the original petition and all exhibits and written evidence filed at the hearing and the original findings and award of the commissioner, and such appeal shall be set down for hearing and shall be heard de novo by the court as appeals from justices of the peace are heard, and the clerk of the court shall notify the parties to the dispute, by mail addressed to their last known place of residence, of the time and place of such trial upon appeal.

SEC. 8. Suits.—In case no appeal is taken from the award of the commissioner and suit shall be brought upon the contract for seasonal labor in any court of competent jurisdiction, the findings and award of the commissioner made in any proceeding under this act at a hearing at which both parties to such suit shall have appeared may be introduced in evidence in such suit for the information of the court in which the suit is pending, and may, in the discretion of the court, be submitted to the jury as a part of the evidence in the case; but such findings and award shall not be conclusive or binding upon the court or the jury in any such case.

CHAPTER 7.—Administrative code—Department of labor and industries

SECTION 2. Department created.—There shall be, and are hereby, created departments of the State government which shall be known, respectively, as * * * (7) the department of labor and industries, * * * which departments shall be charged, respectively, with the execution, enforcement, and administration of such laws and invested with such powers and required to perform such duties as the legislature may provide.

SEC. 3. Officers.—There shall be a chief executive officer of each of the departments of the State government created by this act, to be known, respectively, as * * * (7) the director of labor and industries, * * * who shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and hold office at the pleasure of the governor. * * *

SEC. 19. Powers.—The director of each department created by this act shall have the power to prescribe rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, for the government of his department, the conduct of its subordinate officers and employees, the disposition and performance of its business, and the custody, use, and preservation of the records, papers, books, documents, and property pertaining thereto.

SEC. 20. Office.—Each department created by this act shall maintain its principal office at the State capital in rooms provided by the department of business control. The director of each department may, with the approval of the governor, establish and maintain branch offices at other places than the State capital for the conduct of one or more of the functions of his department.

SEC. 74. Divisions.—The department of labor and industries shall be organized into and consist of three divisions, to be known, respectively, as (1) the division of industrial insurance, (2) the division of safety, (3) the division of industrial relations. The director of labor and industries shall receive a salary of not to exceed seventy-five hundred dollars per annum, and have power to appoint such clerical assistants as may be necessary for the general administration of the department.

SEC. 75. Supervisor of industrial insurance.—The director of labor and industries shall have the power to appoint and deputize an assistant director, to be known as the supervisor of industrial insurance, who shall have charge and supervision of the division of industrial insurance, and, with the approval of the director, appoint and employ such adjusters, medical, and other examiners, auditors, inspectors, clerks, and other assistants as may be necessary to carry on the work of the division.

SEC. 76. Supervisor of safety.—The director of labor and industries shall have power, (1) to appoint and deputize an assistant director, to be known as the supervisor of safety, who shall have charge and supervision of the division of safety; (2) to appoint the State mining board, the members of which shall have the qualifications provided by law; and (3) to appoint and deputize a chief inspector of mines, who shall have the qualifications provided by law for the office of the State mine inspector. The supervisor of safety, with the approval of the director, shall have power to appoint and employ such inspectors, clerks, and other assistants as may be necessary to carry on the work of the division. The chief mine inspector, with the approval of the director, shall appoint such qualified deputies as are provided by law.

SEC. 77. Supervisor of industrial relations.—The director of labor and industries shall have power to appoint and deputize an assistant director, to be known as the supervisor of industrial relations, who shall be the State mediator, have charge and supervision of the division of industrial relations, and, with the approval of the director, shall appoint an assistant, to be known as the industrial statistician, and a female assistant, to be known as the supervisor of women in industry, and have power to appoint and employ such assistant mediators, experts, clerks, and other assistants as may be necessary to carry on the work of the division.

SEC. 78. Industrial insurance.—The director of labor and industries shall have the power, and it shall be his duty through and by means of the division of industrial insurance:

(1) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in and required to be performed by the industrial insurance department and the commissioners thereof;

(2) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in and required to be performed by the State medical aid board;

(3) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in and required to be performed by the local aid boards;

(4) To have the custody of all property acquired by the State at execution sale upon judgments obtained for delinquent industrial insurance premiums or medical aid contributions, and penalties and costs, to sell and dispose of the same at private sales for the sale purchase price, and to pay the proceeds into the State treasury to the credit of the industrial insurance fund or medical aid fund, as the case may be. In case of the sale of real estate the director shall execute the deed in the name of the State;

(5) To exercise such other powers and perform such other duties as may be provided by law.

SEC. 79. Joint decisions.—The director of labor and industries, the supervisor of industrial insurance, and the supervisor of safety shall have the power, and it shall be their duty to jointly hear and decide by a majority vote all matters arising in either the division of industrial insurance or the division of safety, which the director of labor and industries or the supervisor of industrial insurance or the supervisor of safety, respectively, shall deem to be of sufficient importance to require their joint action, and to hear and decide by a majority vote any matter concerning which any person affected by the decision of either the supervisor of industrial insurance or the supervisor of safety shall, by request in writing, ask for a joint decision: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall be construed as depriving any person feeling himself aggrieved by any decision of either the director of labor and industries, the supervisor of industrial insurance, the supervisor of safety, or by any joint decision of the right of appeal therefrom to a court of competent jurisdiction in the manner provided by law.

SEC. 80. Division of safety.—The director of labor and industries shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, through and by means of the division of safety:

(1) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in, and required to be performed by, the State safety board, except the appointment of the State mining board;

(2) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties in relation to the inspection of factories, mills, workshops, storehouses, warerooms, stores, and buildings, and the machinery and apparatus therein contained, and steam vessels and other vessels operated by machinery, and in relation to the administration and enforcement of all laws providing for the protection of employees in mills, factories, workshops, and other places where machinery is used, and in relation to the enforcement, inspection, and certification of safe places and safety device standards in all industries, now vested in, and required to be performed by, the commissioner of labor;

(3) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in, and required to be performed by, the State mine inspector and deputy mine inspectors;

(4) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties in relation to the inspection of tracks, bridges, structures, machinery, equipment, and apparatus of railroads, street railways, gas plants, electrical plants, water systems, telephone lines, telegraph lines, and other public utilities, with respect to the safety of employees, and the administration and enforcement of all laws providing for the protection of employees of railroads, street railways, gas plants, electrical plants, water systems, telephone lines, telegraph lines, and other public utilities, now vested in, and required to be performed by, the public service commission;

(5) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties in relation to the enforcement, amendment, alteration, change, and making additions to, rules and regulations concerning the operation, placing, erection, maintenance, and use of electrical apparatus, and the construction thereof, now vested in, and required to be performed by, the public service commission;

(6) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in, and required to be performed by, the inspector of hotels;

(7) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in, and required to be performed by, the bureau of labor;

(8) To exercise such other powers and perform such other duties as may be provided by law.

SEC. 81. Industrial relations.—The director of labor and industries shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, through and by means of the division of industrial relations:

(1) To promote mediation in, conciliation concerning, and the adjustment of, industrial disputes, in such manner and by such means as may be provided by law;

(2) To study and keep in touch with problems of industrial relations and, from time to time, make public reports and recommendations to the legislature;

(3) Statistics.—To, with the assistance of the industrial statistician, exercise all the powers and perform all the duties in relation to collecting, assorting, and systematizing statistical details relating to labor within the State, now vested in, and required to be performed by, the secretary of state, and to report to, and file with, the secretary of state duly certified copies of the statistical information collected, assorted, systematized, and compiled, and in collecting, assorting, and systematizing such statistical information to, as far as possible, conform to the plans and reports of the United States Department of Labor;

(4) To, with the assistance of the industrial statistician, make such special investigations and collect such special statistical information as may be needed for use by the department or division of the State government having need of industrial statistics;

(5) To, with the assistance of the supervisor of women in industry, supervise the administration and enforcement of all laws respecting the employment and relating to the health, sanitary conditions, surroundings, hours of labor, and wages of women and minors;

(6) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties, not specifically assigned to any other division of the department of labor and industries, now vested in, and required to be performed by, the commissioner of labor;

(7) To exercise such other powers and perform such other duties as may be provided by law.

SEC. 82. Industrial welfare.—The director of labor and industries, the supervisor of industrial insurance, the supervisor of industrial relations, the industrial statistician, and the supervisor of women in industry shall constitute a committee, of which the director shall be chairman, and the supervisor of women in industry shall be executive secretary, which shall have the power, and it shall be its duty:

(1) To exercise all the powers and perform all the duties now vested in, and required to be performed by, the industrial welfare commission.

CHAPTER 110.—Sale of stock to employees of public service companies

SECTION 1. Sale authorized.—[Public service companies may sell stock to their employees without offering the same to existing stockholders, if approved by the holders of a majority of the stock at a regular meeting, prices and terms being fixed by the resolution authorizing sale, or by the trustees if so authorized.]

WEST VIRGINIA

CODE—1913—SUPPLEMENT—1918

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 160. Attempting to influence vote.—* * *; and any corporation which shall, by its officers, agents, or otherwise, prevent or attempt to prevent any voter in its employ from attending any election, or from freely exercising his right of suffrage at any election at which he is entitled to vote, by any threat direct or indirect, express or implied, to discharge, or deprive such voter from his employment, or shall discharge or deprive such voter from its employment because of any vote he may cast, or refuse to cast, at any election at which he is entitled to vote, it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall upon conviction be fined not less than five thousand dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars for every such offense, at the discretion of the jury.

SECTION 1881. Threats, etc., forbidden.—The following persons shall be deemed guilty of corrupt practices, and upon conviction shall be punished in accordance with the provisions of this act:

* * * * * * *

(d) Any person who, being an employer, or acting for or on behalf of any employer, shall give any notice or information to his employees, containing any threat, either express or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political view or actions of his workmen or employees.

Bureau of labor

SECTION 460. Bureau created.—There hereby is created a State bureau of labor, to be under the control and management of a commissioner to be known as the State commissioner of labor, who is to be appointed as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 465a. Commissioner.—The governor shall, with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint a competent person, who is identified with the labor interests of the State, to be State commissioner of labor, who shall hold his office for a term of four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. In case of a vacancy in the office of the commissioner of labor, caused by death, resignation, removal, or otherwise, the governor shall appoint a commissioner of labor for the unexpired term in the manner above provided.

SEC. 465b. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor to collect, compile and present to the governor an annual report, statistical details relating to all departments of labor and the industrial interests of the State, especially in relation to the financial, social, educational and sanitary condition of the laboring classes, and all statistical information that may tend to increase the prosperity of the productive industries of the State. He shall, once at least in every year, visit and inspect the principal factories and workshops of the State; and shall, upon complaint and request of any three or more reputable citizens, visit and inspect any place where labor is employed and make true report of the result of his inspection.

SEC. 465c. Entering work places.—The commissioner of labor shall have power, in the discharge of his duties, to enter and inspect any public institution of the State and any factory, workshop or other place where labor is employed. He may furnish a written or printed list of interrogatories asking information essential to a proper discharge of his duties, to any person, company or corporation employing labor, and require full and complete answers thereto. And if any person, or the officers of any company or corporation shall neglect or refuse to answer, within a reasonable time, any proper question propounded to him by the commissioner of labor, or if any person or the officers of any company or corporation to whom a list of interrogatories has been furnished, shall neglect or refuse to fully and truthfully answer and return the same, such person or such officer of such company or corporation shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 465d. Violations.—The commissioner of labor shall report to the prosecuting attorney of the proper county all such violations of this act; whereupon said prosecuting attorney shall proceed against the guilty persons thereof, as in any other cases of misdemeanor; and any person, or any officer, or any company or corporation, convicted in such proceedings shall be fined not less than ten dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, or shall be confined in the county jail not less than ten nor more than ninety days, or shall be both fined and imprisoned within the above limits.

SEC. 465e. Duty of officers.—All State, county, district and city officers shall furnish the commissioner of labor, upon request, all statistical information relating to labor which may be in their possession as such officers. The commissioner of labor shall report to the governor, on or before the first day of December in each year, all the statistics he has collected and compiled, with such suggestions as he may deem advisable as to legislation tending to promote and increase the prosperity of the industrial establishments of the State, and to protect the lives and health and to promote the prosperity of the persons employed therein.

SEC. 465f (as amended 1923, ch. 48). Safety; accident reports; inspectors.—All rooms, buildings, and places in this State where labor is employed or shall hereafter be employed in any factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops shall be so constructed, equipped, and arranged, operated, and conducted in all respects as to provide reasonable and adequate protection for the life, health, safety, and morals of all persons employed therein. Where accidents occur in any factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops causing employees, from the nature of the accident, to be away from his or her duties for a period of ten consecutive days a report shall be made to the bureau of labor of said accident on blanks to be furnished by the commissioner of labor. If death occurs, report shall be made within ten days thereafter. For the carrying into effect of these provisions and the provisions of all the laws of this State the enforcement of which is now or shall hereafter be intrusted to or imposed upon the bureau of labor, the commissioner of labor shall appoint six factory inspectors. The commissioner of labor may at any time divide the State into inspection districts as to him may seem advisable and assign the inspectors to the several districts. The commissioner of labor shall appoint a chief clerk and such other clerks and stenographers as the good of the service requires and within the appropriation made by the legislature. The salary of the commissioner of labor provided for in this act shall be four thousand dollars per annum.

Free public employment offices

(As amended 1923, ch. 49)

SECTION 466. Establishment.—The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized to organize and establish in connection with the bureau of labor and in cooperation with the United States Employment Service of the United States Department of Labor a free employment bureau for the purpose of receiving applications from persons seeking employment and application from persons seeking to employ labor.

SEC. 467. Service.—No compensation or fee shall be charged or received directly or indirectly from persons applying for work, information, or help through said department. The commissioner of labor is hereby authorized to employ such assistance and incur such expense as may be necessary to carry into effect the purpose of this act. But such assistance and expense shall not exceed twenty-five hundred dollars per annum.

Mine regulations

SECTION 495–1 (as amended 1919, ch. 32). Department of mines.—[A department of mines, with a chief at its head, is charged with the execution and enforcement of the mine inspection laws of the State.]

SEC. 495–2 (as amended 1919, ch. 32). Chief.—[The chief of the department of mines is appointed by the governor for a term of 4 years.]

SEC. 495–3. Bond.—[An oath of office and a bond in the sum of $2,000 are required.]

SEC. 495–4 (as amended 1919, ch. 32). Qualifications.—[The chief must have had at least 8 years' practical experience and have a practical and scientific knowledge of dangerous gases. His salary is $5,000 per annum and traveling expenses.]

Secs. 495–5, 495–6. Inspection; reports.—[Inspections may be made by the chief or district inspectors, of which permanent, open records shall be made. Annual reports are to be made to the governor as to the number of inspections, products, employees, number of mines and coke ovens, legislation needed, etc. Such reports are to be printed.]

Sec. 495–7 (as amended 1921, ch. 118). Districts.—[The State is to be divided into 22 districts, one inspector to be appointed for each district by the chief of the department for terms of 4 years.]

Sec. 495–8. Violations.—[A penalty of $25 to $200 is incurred by any chief of the department violating the provisions of the law.]

Sec. 495–9 (as amended 1919, ch. 32). Inspectors.—[Inspectors must be citizens of the State, with a practical knowledge of mining, ventilation, and drainage, and at least 6 years' experience. They may be removed for incompetency, neglect of duty, or other good cause. Salaries are $3,000 per annum and traveling expenses.]

Secs. 495–10 to 495–14. Bond; duties; reports.—[District inspectors make oath and give bond the same as the chief. They make weekly reports to the chief of all inspections made by them, showing the condition of each mine; a copy is also furnished the operator, to be posted where the employees can conveniently read it. Quarterly inspections must be made, or oftener if 10 workmen make request in writing, or the owner or operator makes request. Conditions of safety are to be examined, and if men are found working in advance of the air currents, they are to be ordered to cease.

Annual reports are to be made to the chief of the department, stating number of mines, compliance with law, needed legislation, etc. Failure of inspectors to comply with the law entails a penalty of from $100 to $500, and dismissal from office.]

Secs. 495–15 to 495–22, 495–23 (as amended 1919, ch. 119), 495–24 (as amended 1919, ch. 119), 495–25 to 495–31. Safety regulations.—[Maps are to be furnished the inspector of the district, and a copy kept by the operator, with semiannual corrections. If the same is not furnished by the operator it may be made at his expense. Products or compounds of petroleum, alcohol, etc., that would contaminate the air may not be used as fuel. Ventilation is regulated, dust prevention required, speaking tubes, signal systems, ways around shafts, and safety cages are to be provided, employees are to be checked in and out, competent hoisting engineers or drum runners employed, and first aid provisions supplied.

Operators are to furnish inspectors proper facilities for making inspections, and mines found unsafe may be reported to the chief of the department, who may, on examination, order the mine closed until made safe. Unused workings must be protected so as to avoid dangers of gas, and only locked safety lamps or approved safety lamps may be used in dangerous gaseous mines. Ventilation of such mines must be adequate, and the use of mechanically operated fans is prescribed.

New or additional openings must be approved, and all work places have at least two outlets, with exceptions as to repair work, robbing pillars, etc., where not over 20 persons are employed.]

Secs. 495–34 to 495–39. Duties of operators.—[Operators must make such annual reports as the chief of the department may require; transfer of ownership must be reported within 30 days. No work may be done contrary to the inspector's written instructions, and the inspector is authorized to direct how solid shooting may be done, and also to regulate the use of locomotives in mines where coal is being actually extracted.

Operators must adopt rules for the working of their mines and post the same in the languages used by the workmen therein. Failure to furnish supplies necessary to carry out the provisions of the act is a misdemeanor.]

Secs. 495–40, 495–41. Acts forbidden.—[Injuring shafts, brattices, lamps, etc., carrying matches or open lights into forbidden areas, disobeying orders, etc., are forbidden. Employees may be searched for intoxicants, matches, or pipes in mines where only electric or safety lamps are to be used.]

Sec. 495–42. Interfering with employment.—Nor shall any person or persons, or combination of persons, by force, threats, menaces, or intimidation of any kind, prevent or attempt to prevent from working in or about any mine any person or persons who have the lawful right to work in or about the same and who desire so to work; but this provision shall not be so construed as to prevent any two or more persons from associating together under the name of knights of labor, or any other name they may desire, for any lawful purpose, or for using moral suasion or lawful argument to induce any one not to work in and about any mine. Any person or persons who shall violate the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than ninety days, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 495–43. Accidents.—[Accidents causing loss of life or serious personal injury must be promptly reported to the chief and the inspector, and an investigation may be made, if deemed necessary, and suggestions made for future safety.]

SECS. 495–44 to 495–83. Provisions for safety, etc.—[The location and construction of stables are regulated, also of magazines for explosives and of power houses; methods of electric installations prescribed, the use of coal cutting machines, inspections for gas, duties of machine runners, and the qualifications and duties of fire bosses, mine foremen, and assistant foremen prescribed and regulated. Mine foremen must be employed at all mines, and fire bosses at gaseous mines. Hoisting is regulated, and the driving of bore holes directed when approaching dangerous accumulations of water or gas. Shot firing and the storage of explosives, the supply of timbers, and the use and operation of locomotives and cars are also subject of legislation.]

SEC. 495–84. Experiment station.—[An experiment station at the State university is to make investigations for the purpose, among others, of better safeguarding the lives of the miners and determining the causes of accidents in mines.]

SECS. 495–85, 495–86. Definitions; scope.—[The terms used are given their ordinary definitions, the term "approved lamp" meaning one approved by the department of mines. The act applies only to mines in which 5 or more persons are employed in 24 hours; mine foremen are not required unless 10 men are employed.]

SECS. 495–88 to 495–90. Rescue car.—[The purchase and equipment of a rescue car is authorized, subject to the approval of the State board of control. The chief of the department is to prescribe regulations for the equipment and use of the car, and the training of rescue crews; a qualified director of rescue work is to be appointed, at a salary of $2,400, for the same term as an inspector.]

Regulation of sand mines, quarries, etc.

SECTION 495–91. Inspector; regulations to apply.—[A separate inspector is to be appointed by the chief of the department of mines, of practical experience in sand and clay mines and pits, crushers and quarries, and the use of explosives in sand mining and quarrying operations are regulated. Applicable provisions of the coal-mining laws for the safety of employees are extended to such operations, and necessary rules are to be made by the chief of the department for the safe and sanitary operation of sand and clay mines and pits, quarries and cement works.]

Mine regulations—Inspection, etc., of oil

SECTION 496. Illuminating oil.—Only animal, vegetable, or paraffin oil or other oil as free from the evolution of smoke as a standard cottonseed oil, when burned in a miner's torch, shall be used in any open lamp or torch for illuminating purposes in any coal mine in this State, and kerosene and blackstrap oil, or a mixture of kerosene and blackstrap, shall not be used in miners' torches for illuminating purposes in any coal mine in this State; except that a mixture of mineral oil (other than blackstrap oil) and vegetable oil can be used upon machinery used as a motive power to haul coal in any mine in this State, and except, further, that a mixture of mineral and vegetable oil can be used for all stationary lights.

SECS. 497–505. Tests, etc.—[Methods and standards of tests are prescribed, the marking of oil for use in mines required, and penalties prescribed for violations.]

Payment of wages—Weighing coal, etc.

SECTION 514. Checkweighman.—When the amount of wages paid to any of the persons employed in any manufacturing, mining, or otherwise public enterprise employing labor, depend upon the amount produced by weight or measure, the persons so employed may, at their own cost, station or appoint at each place appointed for the weighing or measuring of the products of their labor a checkweighman or measurer, who shall in all cases be appointed by a majority ballot of the workmen employed at the works where he is appointed to act as such checkweighman or measurer.

Sec. 515. Mode of payment.—Every corporation, company, or person engaged in the business of mining coal in this State, where such checkweighman is employed by the miners working at such mines, shall furnish such checkweighman with a check or number and pay the said checkweighman for all coal placed to his check or number same per ton as is paid to the miners. Each of the persons so employed to see the weighing of said coal before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his employment shall take and subscribe an oath before a justice of the peace or a notary public, that he will honestly and impartially do and perform the duties of his employment and do equal and exact justice between employers and employees to the best of his judgment, skill and ability.

Sec. 516. Application of law.—This act shall apply to all weights, balances, steelyards, and weighing machines and measures used in any factory, mine, mill or otherwise industrial concerns, for determining the wages payable to any person employed according to the mineral or otherwise products produced by them through their labors.

Sec. 517. Checkweighman not necessary, when.—Where the weighman is mutually selected by the consent of a majority of the miners working in any mine and the operator or agent of said company, it shall not be considered necessary to employ said checkweighman, but at any time that either of the parties to said agreement should become dissatisfied with said weighman they may dismiss him on ten days' notice or the miners may employ a checkweighman. Any corporation, company, or person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined for each and every offense not less than ten nor more than two hundred dollars.

It shall be the duty of every court in each county, in which any such coal mine is operated and in which a grand jury is impaneled, to give this act in charge to the grand jury.

Factory, etc., regulations

(As amended 1919, ch. 30)

Section 518. Guards for dangerous machines and places; repairing moving machinery.—All power-driven machinery, including all saws, planers, wood shapers, jointers, sandpaper machines, iron mangles, emery wheels, ovens, furnaces, forges, and rollers of metal; all projecting set screws or moving parts; all drums, cogs, gearing, belting, shafting, fly wheels, and flying shuttles; all laundry machinery, mill gearing, and machinery of every description; all vats or pans and all receptacles containing molten metal or hot or corrosive fluids in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill or workshop, shall be so located, whenever possible, as not to be dangerous to employees, or where possible, be properly inclosed, fenced, or otherwise protected. All dangerous places, in or about mercantile establishments, factories, mills, or workshops, near to which any employee is obliged to pass or to be employed, shall, where practicable, be properly inclosed, fenced, or otherwise guarded. No machine in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill or workshop, shall be used when the same is known to be dangerously defective, and no repairs shall be made to the active mechanism or operative part of any machine, when the machine is in motion.

Sec. 519. Removing guards.—No person shall remove or make ineffective any safeguard required by this act, during the active use or operation of the guarded machine or device, except for the purpose of immediately making repairs thereto, and all such safeguards so removed shall be promptly replaced. In every factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, effective means shall be provided for immediately disconnecting the power, so that in case of need or accident, any particular machine, group of machines, room, or department can be properly and effectively shut down. Where machines require to be started and stopped frequently, they shall, wherever practicable, be provided with tight and loose pulleys, clutch, or other effective disengaging device. When provided with tight and loose pulleys, the shifting of the belt shall be accomplished by the use of a belt shifter, placed within easy reach of the operator.

When a clutch or other disengaging device is used, an effective means for throwing such device into or out of engagement shall be provided, and shall be placed within easy reach of the operator. Where machines are directly connected with the prime mover (electric motor, steam, gas or gasoline engine, or other source of power), a switch, throttle, or other power-controlling device shall be furnished and shall be placed within easy reach of the operator or his coworker. Where machines are arranged in groups, rooms, or departments, and power is supplied by a prime mover, located within the confines of such group, room, or department, a switch, throttle, or other controlling device shall be furnished, and shall be placed within easy reach of the operators affected, so that all shafting, transmitting machinery and machines of such group, room, or department can be simultaneously shut down. Where machines are arranged in groups, rooms, or departments and are supplied by power through the use of main or line shafts, receiving power from some prime mover, located without the group, room, or department, the power-receiving wheel or such main or line shaft, shall, wherever possible, be provided with a friction clutch, or other effective power-disengaging device, with suitable means for operating the clutch, or power-disengaging device, and these means shall be placed within the confines of such group, room, or department, and within easy reach of employees or operatives affected, so that all machines, shafting, and other transmission machinery within such group, room, or department can be simultaneously shut down. In addition to such safeguard, communication consisting of speaking tubes, electric bells, electric colored lights, or other approved and effective means shall be provided in all cases covered by this paragraph between each such group, room, or department, and the room in which the engineer, or prime mover, is located, so that in case of need or accident the motive power of such group, room, or department can be promptly stopped or controlled.

SEC. 520. Hoistways, etc.—All hoistways, hatchways, elevator wells, and wheel holes in factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops, shall be securely fenced, inclosed, or otherwise safely protected, and due diligence shall be used to keep all such means of protection closed, except when it is necessary to have the same open, in order that the said hatchways, elevators, or hoisting apparatus may be used. All elevator cabs or cars, whether used for freight or passengers, shall be provided with some device whereby the car or cab may be held in the event of accident to the shipper rope or hoisting machinery or controlling apparatus. If any elevator, machine, electrical apparatus, or system of wiring, or any part or parts thereof in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop are in an unsafe condition, or are not properly guarded, where reasonable to guard the same, the owner or lessee, or his agent, superintendent, or other person in charge thereof shall, upon notice from the commissioner of labor or factory inspector, remedy such unsafe condition within a reasonable time after receiving such notice.

SEC. 521. Food in certain work places.—No employee shall take or be allowed to take food into any room or apartment in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop where white lead, arsenic, or other poisonous substances or injurious or noxious fumes, dusts, or gases under harmful conditions are present as the result of the business conducted by such factories, mercantile establishments, mills or workshops, and notice to this effect shall be posted in each room or apartment. Employees shall not remain in any such room or apartment during the time allowed for meals, and suitable provisions shall be made and maintained by the employer, when practicable, for enabling the employees to take their meals elsewhere in such establishment.

SEC. 522. Seats for females.—Every person, firm, or corporation employing females in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop in this State shall provide a reasonable number of suitable seats for the use of such female employees, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in active duties for which they are employed, and shall permit the use of such seats at all times when such use would not actually and necessarily interfere with the proper discharge of the duties of such employees, and where practicable such seats shall be made a permanent fixture and may be so constructed or adjusted that when seats are not in use they will not obstruct such female employee when engaged in the performance of her duties.

SEC. 523. Fire escapes.—In all factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops sufficient and reasonable means of escape in case of fire shall be provided, and such means of escape shall at all times be kept free from any obstruction and shall be kept in good repair and ready for use and shall be plainly marked as such. The commissioner of labor or factory inspector may order fire escapes erected on the outside of buildings used as factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops which are two or more stories in height whenever deemed by commissioner of labor or factory inspector to be necessary.

SEC. 524. Stairways.—In all factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops, proper and substantial hand rails shall be provided on all stairways, and the treads thereon shall be so constructed as to furnish a firm and safe foothold. A proper light shall be kept burning by the owner or lessee in all main passageways, main hallways, at all main stairs, main stair landings, and shafts, and in front of all passenger or freight elevators, upon the entrance floors, and upon other floors, on every workday of the year, from the time that the building is open for use until the time when it is closed, except at times when the influx of natural light shall make artificial light unnecessary. No floor space or any work room in any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop, shall be [so] overloaded with machinery or other material as thereby to cause serious risk to or endanger the life or limb of any employee, nor shall there be permitted in any such establishment, a load in excess of the safe sustaining power of the floors and walls thereof. Machines must not be placed so closely together as to be a serious menace to those that have to pass between them. Passageways must be of ample width, well lighted, and free from obstruction.

SEC. 525. Toilets, etc.—[Sufficient and suitable water-closets must be provided, separate for the sexes, properly lighted, ventilated, and cared for.]

SEC. 526. Wash rooms.—In all factories, mercantile establishments, mills, or workshops, adequate washing facilities shall be provided for the employees, where necessary. When the labor performed by the employees is of such a character as to make customary or necessary a change of clothing by the employees, there shall be provided sanitary and suitable dressing room or rooms, and both such dressing rooms and washing facilities shall be separately maintained for each sex.

SEC. 526-a. Smoking; steam boilers.—Every person who shall light a pipe, cigar, or cigarette in, or who shall enter with a lighted pipe, cigar, or cigarette, any factory, mercantile establishment, mill, or workshop in which is posted in a conspicuous place over and near each principal entrance a notice in plain English letters, stating that no smoking is allowed in such building, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each separate offense. The commissioner of labor or factory inspector shall have authority to inspect steam boilers in this State, and any person owning or operating steam boilers shall provide the same with steam gauge, safety valve and water gauge, and keep the same in good order. Any person neglecting so to do, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 526-c. Payment of wages.—Whenever any employer of labor shall hereafter discharge his or its employees without first paying them the amount of any wages or salary then due them in cash, lawful money of the United States, or its equivalent or by check or draft, within seventy-two hours after demand, or shall fail or refuse to pay them in like money, or its equivalent or by check or draft, the amount of any wages or salary at the time the same becomes due and owing to them under their contract of employment, whether employed by the hour, day, week, or month, each of his or its employees so discharged may charge and collect wages in the sum agreed upon in the contract of employment for each day his employer is in default, until he is paid in full, without rendering any service therefor: Provided, however, He shall cease to draw such wages or salary thirty days after such default. Every employee shall have such lien and all other rights and remedies for the protection and enforcement of such salary or wages as he would have been entitled to had he rendered service therefor in manner as last employed. This section shall not apply in case of bankruptcy, assignment, or other legal disability of the employer to pay for any wages so due and owing, or in case of shut down or other cessation of operations.

SEC. 526-d. Violations.—[Penalties for offenses under this act are fines of $10 to $50 for the first offense, and $25 to $200 for second and subsequent offenses. Coal mining operations are not included under this act.]

SEC. 526-e. Records.—The commissioner of labor, inspectors and chief clerk shall make and keep full and proper record of all their expenses, and of inspections and statistics as to conditions, changes and improvements made for the safety and welfare of employees affected by this act, and the commissioner of labor shall submit a proper report thereof to each biennial session of the legislature.

Protection of employees on street railways

SECTIONS 527–529. Platforms to be inclosed.—[Street railway cars the operation of which requires the constant presence of employees on their platforms must have such platforms suitably inclosed to protect the employees from exposure to the winds and the inclemencies of the weather. A fine of from $20 to $100 for each offense is fixed as penalty for failure to comply, each day being a separate offense.]

Payment of wages—Company stores

SECTION 534. Application of law.—All persons, firms, corporations or associations, in this State, engaged in mining coal, ore or other minerals, or mining and manufacturing them, or either of them, or manufacturing iron or steel, or both, or any other kind of manufacturing, shall pay their employees as provided in this act.

SEC. 535. Biweekly pay day.—All persons, firms, companies, corporations or associations, engaged in the business aforesaid, shall settle with their employees at least once in every two weeks unless otherwise provided by special agreement, and pay them the amount due them for their work or services in lawful money of the United States, or by the cash order as described and required in the next succeeding section of this act: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall affect the right of an employee to assign the whole or any part of his claim against his employer.

SEC. 538. Refusal to pay wages.—If any firm, company, corporation or association shall refuse for the space of twenty days to settle and pay any of their said employees at the intervals of time as provided in section two of this act, or shall neglect or refuse to redeem any cash orders herein provided for, within the time specified, if presented, and suit should be brought for the amount overdue and unpaid, judgment for the amount of said claim proven to be due and unpaid, with legal interest thereon until paid, shall be rendered in favor of the plaintiff in such action: Provided, further, That the cash order herein provided for, given for payment of labor, if the laborer continues to hold the same, in case of the insolvency of the company, or person, or firm, or corporation giving same, such laborer shall not lose his lien and preference under existing laws.

SEC. 539. Payment in money.—It shall be unlawful for any corporation, company, firm, or person, engaged in any trade or business, either directly or indirectly, to issue, sell, give, or deliver to any person employed by such corporation, company, firm, or person, in payment of wages due such laborer, or as advances for labor not due, any scrip, token, draft, check, or other evidence of indebtedness, payable or redeemable otherwise than in lawful money; and if any such scrip, token, draft, check, or other evidence of indebtedness, be so issued, sold, given, or delivered to such laborer it shall be construed, taken and held in all courts and places, to be a promise to pay the sum specified therein in lawful money by the corporation, company, firm, or person issuing selling, giving, or delivering the same to the person named therein, or to the holder thereof. And the corporation, company, firm, or person so issuing, selling, giving, or delivering the same shall, moreover, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, and at the discretion of the court, the officer or agent of the corporation, company, or firm, or the person issuing, selling, giving, or delivering the same, may be imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days.

SEC. 540. Restriction in trading.—If any corporation, company, firm, or person shall coerce or compel, or attempt to coerce or compel an employee in its, their, or his employment, to purchase goods or supplies in payment of wages due him, or to become due him, or otherwise, from any corporation, company, firm, or person, such first-named corporation, company, firm, or person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished as provided in the preceding section. And if any such corporation, company, firm, or person shall directly or indirectly sell to any such employee in payment of wages due or to become due him, or otherwise, goods or supplies at prices higher than the reasonable or current market value thereof at cash, such corporation, company, firm, or person shall be liable to such employee, in a civil action, in double the amount of the charges made and paid for such goods or supplies in excess of the reasonable or correct value in cash thereof.

This act is constitutional. 36 W. Va. 802.

Miners' hospitals

SECTIONS 542–548. Establishment, admission, etc.—[Three hospitals, to be known as miners' hospitals, located in various sections of the State, and under separate boards, are provided for. Admission is in accordance with rules formulated by the boards, treatment to be free to persons accidentally injured in the State while engaged in their usual employment or occupation. Appropriations are made, and donations may be received.]

Railroads—Safety provisions

SECTION 639 (as mended 1921, ch. 150). Safety appliances, etc.—Every person, firm, or corporation engaged in a public-service business in this State shall establish and maintain adequate and suitable facilities, safety appliances, or other suitable devices, and shall perform such service in respect thereto as shall be reasonable, safe, and sufficient for the security and convenience of the public and the safety and comfort of its employees, * * *. [the public service commission] may prescribe the number of men required to constitute safe crews for the handling of trains on any steam railroad in this State or any division of any such railroad. * * *

Hours of labor on public works

SECTION 713. Eight hours a day's labor.—Eight hours shall constitute a day's work for all laborers, workmen, and mechanics who may be employed by or on behalf of the State of West Virginia.

SEC. 714. Unlawful to require longer service.—The service and employment of all laborers and mechanics who are now or may hereafter be employed by or on behalf of the State of West Virginia or by any contractor or subcontractor upon any of the public works of the State of West Virginia is hereby limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day, and it shall be unlawful for any officer of the West Virginia State government or any such contractor or subcontractor whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control the service of such laborers or mechanics to require or permit any such laborers or mechanics to work more than eight hours in any calendar day, except in case of extraordinary emergency.

SEC. 715. Violations.—[Intentional violation of this act is punishable by a fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both.]

CHAPTER 76.—Fire escapes on factories, etc.

SECTION 716. What buildings to have fire escapes.—Every building or structure in this State of three or more stories in height, used as a factory or workshop, and in which ten or more persons are employed above the first story, or any hotel three or more stories in height, or any other building of more than three stories in height occupied or used as a tenement house, shall be provided with one or more suitable and substantial metallic fire escapes or ladders, reaching from the top of the first story to the cornice, and placed on the outside of the building. At each story above the first there shall be one or more metallic balconies substantially attached to the building and to the fire escape. Such fire escapes and balconies shall be in number, size, capacity, design, and location as shall be necessary to furnish reasonable means of escape to all persons employed in the building in case of fire.

SECS. 718, 719. Enforcement.—[It is the duty of the local authorities to make annual inspections of the buildings described in the above section. Owners failing to comply may be fined not less than $100 nor more than $200 for each offense, each week of failure counting as a separate offense.]

Private employment offices

SEC. 1114. License required.—No person without a State license therefor shall—

* * * * * * *

(3) Carry on the business of a labor agency.

* * * * * * *

SEC. 1240 (as amended 1923, ch. 36). License tax.— * * * On every license to conduct a business of a labor agency, two hundred and fifty dollars; any person or corporation who hires or contracts with laborers, male or female, to be employed outside the State of West Virginia, either by said person or corporation or some other person or persons, corporation or corporations, and to be transported out of the State for employment in another State, shall be deemed a labor agency within the meaning of this clause. Any municipality within the State, including the city of Wheeling, shall be and is hereby empowered to impose a similar tax on any such labor agency, to limit the number of labor agencies to operate in said municipalities (but in no event shall the number of said labor agencies be restricted to fewer than three in any city, town, or village), and, at its option, to include within its definition of a labor agency any person or corporation who hires or contracts with laborers, male or female, to be employed by persons outside of said municipality, whether such person be the same person or corporation hiring or contracting or other person or persons, corporation or corporations.

Any person or corporation carrying on the business of a labor agency as defined in this act without first fully complying with all the provisions thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not less than thirty days or more than six months, or both, at the discretion of the court. For the purpose of the penal section of this act, any individual acting on behalf of a corporation carrying on the business of a labor agency, as herein defined, when said corporation has not complied with the terms of this act, shall likewise be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the same penalties as hereinabove set forth.

Exemption of wages—Unlawful assignment of claims

SECTION 1965. Assigning claims for collection outside of State.—It shall be unlawful for any person to institute, or permit to be instituted, proceedings in his own name, or in the name of any other person, or to assign or transfer, either for or without value, any claim for debt or liability of any kind held by him against a resident of this State for the purpose of having payment of the same, or any part thereof, enforced out of the wages that may be exempted by * * * the Code of West Virginia by proceedings in attachment or garnishment, in courts, or before justices of the peace, in any other State than in the State of West Virginia; or to send out of this State by assignment, transfer, or in any other manner whatsoever, either for or without value, any claim or debt against any resident thereof, for the purpose or with the intent of depriving such person of the right to have his wages exempt from distress levy or garnishment according to the provisions * * * of the Code of West Virginia.

Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day—Railroads

SECTION 3024f. Pay days established.—Every railroad company authorized to do business by the laws of the State of West Virginia, shall, on or before the first day of each month, pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the first half of the preceding month, ending with the fifteenth day thereof; and on or before the fifteenth day of each month, pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the last half of the preceding calendar month: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment any employee shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor, and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, he or she shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand upon the proper paymaster at the place where such wages are usually paid and at the place when the next pay is due and the proper mailing in the United States post office of such payment in time to reach the usual post office of the employee by the time aforesaid in the usual course of the mails, shall be in compliance with this act. Any such railroad company which shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall forfeit and pay the sum of twenty-five dollars for each violation of this act, which shall be proved to be recoverable in any court having jurisdiction, by suit, in the name of the State, to be instituted by the prosecuting attorney, upon complaint of the party injured by such violation, and in the county of his residence, and all penalties so recovered shall be paid into the general school fund of the State: And provided, That suit must be commenced within sixty days from the date such wages became payable according to the tenor of this act.

Sec. 3024g. Agreements forbidden.—It shall not be lawful for any railroad company to enter into or make any agreement with any employee for the payment of wages of any such employee otherwise than as provided in section 3024f of this act; except it be to pay such wages at shorter intervals than herein provided. Every agreement made in violation of this act shall be deemed to be null and void, and it shall not be a defense to the suit for the penalty provided for in section 3024f of this act; and each and every employee with whom any agreement in violation of this act shall be made by such railroad company shall have his or her action and right of action against such railroad company for the full amount of his or her wages in any court of competent jurisdiction of this State: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to interfere with the right to withhold from the wages of the employees all assessments becoming due to any relief department, hospital association, savings department, or any other department or association maintained by any such railroad company or its employees.

Railroads—Employee's bonds

Section 3192a. Refusing or canceling bonds.—[Where common carriers require employees to be bonded, and any company applied to refuses to furnish surety, or having furnished surety, cancels the same, it must on request of the employee state in writing the reasons therefor; and if the employer has no other reason for refusing employment than the refusal of the surety company to give or continue the surety, then the employer shall, on request of the employee, accept a bond by any other solvent company. The surety company need not disclose the source of its information, nor is it liable for slander or libel by reason of its statements.]

Employment of children in certain occupations forbidden

Section 5177. Mendicant, etc., occupations.—[The employment of children under 18 on streets or highways in singing, playing musical instruments, begging, etc., is forbidden.]

State department of health—Sanitation of factories, etc.

Sections 5342a–5342g. Inspection, etc.—[The commissioner of health, as head of the State department of health, and inspectors appointed by him are to report on sanitary conditions in factories, workshops, labor camps, etc., and may enter any place of employment in the discharge of their official duties. Plumbing, drainage, ventilation, and the sanitary provisions generally of workshops, mines, labor camps, etc., as affecting the health of employees and of the public are subject to supervision and regulation by the public health council; and as to mines, in cooperation with the chief of the department of mines.]

Chapter 2.—Employment of children—School attendance

Sections 122, 126. Attendance required.—[Children 7 to 14 years of age must attend school the entire term of the district school, except, among other causes, by reason of the extreme destitution of the parents or others in charge. Employers employing children required to attend school may be punished by a fine of from $25 to $50, or imprisonment 5 to 30 days.]

SEC. 128. Children under 16.—[Children 14 to 16 years of age not regularly employed at least six hours per day, or not properly excused for profitable employment at home, must attend school unless they have completed the eighth grade and there is no advanced school within two miles of home.]

SECTION 1. Age limit.—[No child under 14 years of age may be employed or permitted to work at any gainful occupation except agriculture or domestic service; but boys 12 or over may be employed in mercantile offices and business establishments outside of school hours if a permit has been secured.]

SEC. 2. Dangerous occupations.—[Children under 16 may not be employed at any dangerous or injurious occupation. The State commissioners of health and of labor and the State superintendent of schools may, after hearing, declare any trade or process dangerous. Work in mines, quarries, tunnels and excavations is forbidden, as well as at acrobatic, gymnastic and like occupations.]

SECS. 3–5. Certificates.—[Permits are required for the employment of children 14 to 16 years of age, to be issued by the school authorities on proof of prospective employment, age, schooling through the sixth grade, and physical fitness.

Permits for employment outside of school hours in business offices and mercantile establishments may be issued to boys 12 years of age, and vacation permits issued to children 14 years of age without a certificate of schooling. Certificates issue to the employer on his request, and are evidence of age; but an enforcement officer may call for proof of age of any child apparently under 16 for whom no certificate is held.]

SEC. 6. Work time.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in any gainful occupation other than agriculture or domestic service more than 8 hours per day or six days or 48 hours per week, nor between 7 p. m. and 6 a. m. A schedule of work time must be posted in every room where children are employed.]

SEC. 7. Enforcement.—[Labor officials, truancy officers, agents of the humane society, and, as to employment in mines, the department of mines are charged with the duty of enforcing this act.]

SEC. 8. Violations.—[A first offense is punishable by a fine of from $20 to $50, a second by a fine of not less than $50 or more than $200 or imprisonment not more than 30 days, or both, and subsequent offenses by a fine of not less than $200 or imprisonment not over 60 days, or both.]

ACTS OF 1919—EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

CHAPTER 12.—Department of public safety—Promotion of industrial peace

SECTION 29. Duty of superintendent.—The superintendent of the department of public safety is authorized * * * to employ all agencies in his power to secure a harmonious feeling and understanding between the employers of labor and their employees; * * *

CHAPTER 56.—Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 2. Threats, etc.—* * * If any employer of laborers or any agent of such employer threatens to withhold the wages of or to dismiss from any service any laborer in his employment; or refuses to allow such employee time to attend the place of election and vote, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not more than two hundred dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars or confined in the county jail not more than three months.

CHAPTER 145.—Employment of children—Inmates of industrial homes

SECTION 1. Permits required.—[Boys and girls in the State industrial homes may not be employed in factories or workshops outside of those institutions without compliance with the child labor law of the State.]

ACTS OF 1923

CHAPTER 33.—Labor organizations—Sale of real estate

Organizations.—[This act adds section 12 to chapter 57 of the code. This chapter relates to religious and other organizations, section 9 prescribing the mode of the sale of lands by trustees by petition and order of court. Section 12 makes these provisions applicable to the sale of real estate held by any labor organization or similar association of craftsmen or employees or branch thereof, but this does not give it or them the status of a corporation.]

WISCONSIN

Protection of employees as voters

SECTION 12.19. Threats.—No person being an employer or acting for or in behalf of any employer shall give, distribute, or cause to be given or distributed to any of his employees, any printed or written matter containing any threat, notice, or information, that in case any particular ticket of a political party or organization or candidate shall be elected, or any measure referred to a vote of the people shall be adopted, work in his place or establishment will cease, in whole or in part, or his place or establishment be closed up, or the salaries or wages of his workmen or employees be reduced, or other threats, expressed or implied, intended or calculated to influence the political opinions or actions of his workmen or employees.

Employment of children—School attendance

SEC. 40.73. (1) Attendance required.—[Children under 14, and children 14 to 16 years of age not regularly and lawfully employed in some useful employment or service at home or elsewhere, must attend school during the full period of the public-school term unless they have completed 8 grades of school or are excused for reasons stated.]

(3) Vocational schools.—Until September 1, 1921, any person between the ages of fourteen and seventeen, unless indentured as an apprentice, as provided in section 2377 [106.01], and after that date any person who has completed the period of compulsory full-time education and who has not completed the equivalent of four years of school work above the elementary grades, or who has not completed the school term, quarter, semester, or other division of the school year in which he is eighteen years of age, living within two miles of the school of any town, or within the corporate limits of any city or village and not physically incapacitated, who is not required by subsection (1) to attend some public, private, or parochial school, and who is not attending a free high school or equivalent of a high school, must either attend some public, private, or parochial school at least half time, or attend the vocational school half time in the daytime from the end of the period of full-time compulsory education to the end of the school term, quarter, semester, or other division of the school year in which he is sixteen years of age, and after that for at least eight hours a week until the end of the term, quarter, semester, or other division of the school year in which he is eighteen years of age for at least eight hours a week for at least eight months and for such additional months or parts thereof as the other public schools in such city, town, or village are in session in excess of eight during the regular school year, or the equivalent as may be determined by the local board of industrial education, provided such school or schools are maintained according to the provisions of sections 41.13 to 41.20, in the town, village, or city in which his parents or guardians reside. This subsection shall apply only to persons between the ages herein specified, living in towns, villages, and cities maintaining schools as provided in sections 41.13 to 41.20, providing for the establishment of vocational schools.

SEC. 40.74. Enforcement.—[Truant officers may enter any place of employment to ascertain whether minors are employed therein contrary to law. They may require the production of age and school certificates and lists, and must report all cases of illegal employment to the school authorities.]

Unemployment—Public works, etc.

SECTION 46.23. Board of control; unemployment.—It shall be the duty of the board of control to ascertain from the various departments and State institutions tentative plans for such extension of public works of the State as shall be best adapted to supply increased opportunities for advantageous public labor during periods of temporary unemployment; together with estimates of the amount, character, and duration of such employment and the number of employees that could profitably be used therein, together with rates of wages and such other information as the board of control may deem necessary.

SEC. 46.24. Industrial commission.—It shall be the duty of the industrial commission, in cooperation with the immigration commissioner, to keep constantly advised of industrial conditions throughout the State as affecting the employment of labor; and whenever it shall be represented to the said industrial commission by the governor of the State or the said industrial commission shall otherwise have reason to believe that a period of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression exists in the State it shall be the duty of the said industrial commission immediately to hold inquiry into the facts relating thereto and to find and report to the governor whether in fact such condition does exist.

SEC. 46.25. Expenditures to relieve depression.—In the event that the industrial commission shall report to the governor a condition of extraordinary unemployment caused by industrial depression does in fact exist in the State, the State board of control is hereby authorized to make such disposition of all funds to be used for said purposes among the several institutions and departments for such extension of the public works of the State under the charge or direction thereof, including the purchase of materials and supplies necessary therefor, as shall, in the judgment and discretion of the State board of control, be best adapted to advance the public interest by providing the maximum of public employment in relief for the existing conditions of extraordinary unemployment consistent with the most useful, permanent, and economic extension of the works aforesaid.

SEC. 46.26. Depression; labor lists.—It shall be the duty of the industrial commission immediately upon publication of a finding that a period of extraordinary unemployment due to industrial depression exists throughout the State, to cause to be prepared by the various institutions and departments approved lists of applicants for public employment and to secure from such applicants full information as to their industrial qualifications and to submit the same to the board of control. Preference for employments under the provisions of sections 46.23 to 46.26, inclusive, shall be extended first to citizens of this State, second to citizens of the United States at the time of making application; and last to aliens who are residents of this State at the time of making such application.

Occupational diseases—Reports

SECTION 69.49. Industrial diseases.—(1) Every medical practitioner in this State attending on or called in to visit a patient whom he believes to be suffering from poisoning from lead, phosphorus, arsenic, or mercury, or their compounds, or from compressed-air illness, contracted as a result of the nature of the patient's employment, shall send to the secretary of the State board of health and bureau of vital statistics a notice, stating the name and full postal address and place of employment of the patient and the disease from which, in the opinion of the medical practitioner, the patient is suffering.

(2) If any medical practitioner fails to comply with the provisions of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten dollars.

(3) It shall be the duty of the industrial commission to enforce the provisions of this section, and he may call upon the State and local boards of health for assistance.

Industrial commission—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 101.01. Definitions.—The following terms as used in sections 101.01 to 101.29 of the statutes shall be construed as follows:

(1) The phrase "place of employment" shall mean and include every place, whether indoors or out or underground and the premises appurtenant thereto where either temporarily or permanently any industry, trade, or business is carried on, or where any process or operation, directly or indirectly related to any industry, trade, or business, is carried on, and where any person is directly or indirectly employed by another for direct or indirect gain or profit, but shall not include any place where persons are employed in private domestic service or agricultural pursuits which do not involve the use of mechanical power.

(2) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, occupation, or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade, occupation, or process of manufacture in which any person may be engaged, except in such private domestic service or agricultural pursuits as do not involve the use of mechanical power.

(3) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, agent, manager, representative, or other person having control or custody of any employment, place of employment, or of any employe.

(4) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who may be required or directed by any employer, in consideration of direct or indirect gain or profit, to engage in any employment or to go or work or be at any time in any place of employment.

(5) The term "frequenter" shall mean and include every person, other than an employee, who may go in or be in a place of employment or public building under circumstances which render him other than a trespasser.

(6) The term "deputy" shall mean and include any person employed by the industrial commission designated as such deputy by the commission, who shall possess special, technical, scientific, managerial, or personal abilities or qualities in matters within the jurisdiction of the industrial commission, and who may be engaged in the performance of duties under the direction of the commission calling for the exercise of such abilities or qualities.

(7) The term "order" shall mean and include any decision, rule, regulation, direction, requirement, or standard of the commission or any other determination arrived at or decision made by such commission.

(8) The term "general order" shall mean and include such order as applies generally throughout the State to all persons, employments, places of employment, or public buildings, or all persons, employments, or places of employment or public buildings of a class under the jurisdiction of the commission. All other orders of the commission shall be considered special orders.

(9) The term "local order" shall mean and include any ordinance, order, rule, or determination of any common council, board of aldermen, board of trustees, or the village board, of any village or city, or the board of health of any municipality, or an order or direction of any official of such municipality, upon any matter over which the industrial commission has jurisdiction.

(10) The term "welfare" shall mean and include comfort, decency, and moral well-being.

(11) The term "safe" or "safety" as applied to an employment or a place of employment or a public building shall mean such freedom from danger to the life, health, safety, or welfare of employes or frequenters, or the public, or tenants, or firemen, and such reasonable means of notification, egress, and escape in case of fire, and such freedom from danger to adjacent buildings or other property as the nature of the employment, place of employment, or public building will reasonably permit.

(12) The term "public building" as used in sections 101.01 to 101.29 shall mean and include any structure used in whole or in part as a place of resort, assemblage, lodging, trade, traffic, occupancy, or use by the public or by three or more tenants.

(13) The term "owner" shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, State, county, town, city, village, manager, representative, officer, or other person having ownership, control, or custody of any place of employment or public building, or of the construction, repair, or maintenance of any place of employment or public building, or who prepares plans for the construction of any place of employment or public building. Said sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive, shall apply, so far as consistent, to all architects and builders.

SEC. 101.02. Commission created; appointments.—There is hereby created a board which shall be known as the "Industrial Commission of Wisconsin." The governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint a member who shall serve two years, another who shall serve four years, and another who shall serve six years. Thereafter each member shall be appointed and confirmed for terms of six years each. Each member of the board shall take and file the official oath. A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the exercise of the powers or authority conferred upon it. In case of a vacancy the remaining two members of the board shall exercise all the powers and authority of the board until such vacancy is filled. This board shall supersede and perform all of the duties of the industrial accident board provided in sections 102.01 to 102.41, inclusive.

SEC. 101.03. Organization.—Within thirty days after the passage and publication of this act such commission shall meet at the State capitol and organize in the manner provided for the organization of the industrial accident board in section 102.14 of the statutes. A majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum to transact business. No vacancy shall impair the right of the remaining commissioners to exercise all the powers of the commission.

SEC. 101.04. Office; sessions.—The commission shall keep its office at the capitol and shall be provided by the superintendent of public property with suitable rooms, necessary furniture, stationery, books, periodicals, maps, instruments, and other necessary supplies. The commission may, however, hold sessions at any place other than the capitol when the convenience of the commission and the parties interested so requires.

SEC. 101.05. Legal status; seal.—The commission shall be known collectively as the "Industrial Commission of Wisconsin," and in that name may sue and be sued. It shall have a seal for the authentication of its orders and proceedings, upon which shall be inscribed the words "Industrial Commission—Wisconsin—Seal."

SEC. 101.06. Employer's duty as to safety.—Every employer shall furnish employment which shall be safe for the employees therein and shall furnish a place of employment which shall be safe for employees therein and for frequenters thereof, and shall furnish and use safety devices and safeguards, and shall adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and places of employment safe, and shall do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety, and welfare of such employees and frequenters. Every employer and every owner of a place of employment or a public building now or hereafter constructed shall so construct, repair, or maintain such place of employment or public building, and every architect shall so prepare the plans for the construction of such place of employment or public building as to render the same safe.

SEC. 101.07. Employees changing safeguards.—(1) No employer shall require, permit, or suffer any employee to go or be in any employment or place of employment which is not safe, and no such employers shall fail to furnish, provide, and use safety devices and safeguards, or fail to adopt and use methods and processes reasonably adequate to render such employment and place of employment safe, and no such employer shall fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety, or welfare of such employees and frequenters; and no employer or owner or other person shall hereafter construct or occupy or maintain any place of employment, or public building that is not safe, nor prepare plans which shall fail to provide for making the same safe.

(2) No employee shall remove, displace, damage, destroy, or carry off any safety device or safeguard furnished and provided for use in any employment or place of employment, nor interfere in any way with the use thereof by any other person, nor shall any such employee interfere with the use of any method or process adopted for the protection of any employee in such employment or place of employment or frequenter of such place of employment, nor fail or neglect to do every other thing reasonably necessary to protect the life, health, safety, or welfare of such employees or frequenters.

SEC. 101.08. Employers to furnish information; inspection.—(1) Every employer and every owner shall furnish to the commission all information required by it to carry into effect the provisions of sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive, and shall make specific answers to all questions submitted by the commission relative thereto.

(2) Any employer receiving from the commission any blanks calling for information required by it to carry into effect the provisions of sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive, with directions to fill the same, shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly each question therein propounded, and in case he is unable to answer any question, he shall give a good and sufficient reason for such failure, and said answer shall be verified under oath by the employer, or by the president, secretary, or other managing officer of the corporation, if the employer is a corporation, and returned to the commission at its office within the period fixed by the commission.

(3) Any commissioner or deputy of the commission may enter any place of employment or public building for the purpose of collecting facts and statistics, examining the provisions made for the health, safety, and welfare of the employees, frequenters, the public, or tenants therein and bringing to the attention of every employer or owner any law, or any order of the commission, and any failure on the part of such employer or owner to comply therewith. No employer or owner shall refuse to admit any commissioner or deputy of the commission to his place of employment or public building.

SEC. 101.09. Supervisory powers of commission.—The industrial commission is vested with the power and jurisdiction to have such supervision of every employment, place of employment, and public building in this State as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and all lawful orders requiring such employment, place of employment, or public building to be safe, and requiring the protection of the life, health, safety, and welfare of every employee in such employment or place of employment and every frequenter of such place of employment, and the safety of the public or tenants in any such public building: Provided, however, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to rural school buildings.

SEC. 101.10. Other powers.—It shall also be the duty of the industrial commission, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority:

(1) To employ, promote, and remove deputies, clerks, and other assistants as needed, to fix their compensation, and to assign to them their duties; and to appoint advisers who shall, without compensation, assist the industrial commission in the execution of its duties.

(2) To administer and enforce, so far as not otherwise provided for in the statutes, the laws relating to child labor, laundries, stores, employment of females, licensed occupations, school attendance, bakeries, employment offices, intelligence offices and bureaus, manufacture of cigars, sweatshops, corn shredders, wood-sawing machines, fire escapes and means of egress from buildings, scaffolds, hoists, ladders, and other matters relating to the erection, repair, alteration, or painting of buildings and structures, and all other laws protecting the life, health, safety, and welfare of employees in employments and places of employment and frequenters of places of employment.

(3) To investigate, ascertain, declare, and prescribe what safety devices, safeguards, or other means or methods of protection are best adapted to render the employees of every employment and place of employment and frequenters of every place of employment safe, and to protect their welfare as required by law or lawful orders, and to establish and maintain museums of safety and hygiene in which shall be exhibited safety devices, safeguards, and other means and methods for the protection of life, health, safety, and welfare of employees.

(4) To ascertain and fix such reasonable standards and to prescribe, modify, and enforce such reasonable orders for the adoption of safety devices, safeguards, and other means or methods of protection to be as nearly uniform as possible, as may be necessary to carry out all laws and lawful orders relative to the protection of the life, health, safety, and welfare of employees in employments and places of employment or frequenters of places of employment.

(5) To ascertain, fix, and order such reasonable standards, rules, or regulations for the construction, repair, and maintenance of places of employment and public buildings as shall render them safe.

(5a) To make reasonable orders for the repair or removal of any building or other structure which for want of repair or by reason of age or dilapidated condition or for any other cause is especially liable to fire, and which is so situated as to endanger other buildings or property and for the repair or removal of any combustible or explosive material or inflammable conditions, dangerous to the safety of any building or premises or the occupants thereof or endangering or hindering firemen in case of fire.

(5b) The industrial commission and its deputies shall have the right at all reasonable hours to enter into and upon all buildings, premises, and public thoroughfares excepting only the interior of private dwellings, for the purpose of ascertaining and causing to be corrected any condition liable to cause fire, or any violation of any law or order relating to the fire hazard or to the prevention of fire. Any employee of the department of the State fire marshal who may be on July 1, 1917, engaged in fire prevention inspection shall be eligible to appointment as a deputy for similar work by the industrial commission.

(5c) The industrial commission is hereby empowered and directed to provide the form of a course of study in fire prevention for use in the public schools, dealing with the protection of lives and property against loss or damage as a result of preventable fires, and transmit the same by the first day of August in each year to the State superintendent of public instruction.

(6) To investigate, ascertain, and determine such reasonable classifications of persons, employments, places of employment, and public buildings as shall be necessary to carry out the purposes of sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive.

(7) To adopt reasonable and proper rules and regulations relative to the exercise of its powers and authorities and proper rules to govern its proceedings and to regulate the mode and manner of all investigations and hearings; such rules and regulations shall not be effective until ten days after their publication. A copy of such rules and regulations shall be delivered to every citizen making application therefor, and a copy delivered with every notice of hearing.

(8) To do all in its power to promote the voluntary arbitration, mediation, and conciliation of disputes between employers and employees, and to avoid the necessity of resorting to lockouts, boycotts, blacklists, discriminations, and legal proceedings in matters of employment. In pursuance of this duty it may appoint temporary boards of arbitration, provide necessary expenses of such boards, order reasonable compensation not exceeding five dollars per day for each member engaged in such arbitration, prescribe rules of procedure for such arbitration boards, conduct investigations and hearings, publish reports and advertisements, and may do all other things convenient and necessary to accomplish the purposes directed in sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive. The commission shall designate a deputy to be known as chief mediator and may detail other deputies from time to time to act as his assistants, for the purpose of executing these provisions. Deputies may act on temporary boards without extra compensation.

(9) To establish and conduct free employment agencies, to license and supervise the work of private employment offices, to do all in its power to bring together employers seeking employees and working people seeking employment, to make known the opportunities for self-employment in this State, to aid in procuring employment for the blind adults of the State, to aid in inducing minors to undertake promising skilled employments, to provide industrial or agricultural training for vagrants and other persons unsuited for ordinary employments, and to encourage wage earners to insure themselves against distress from unemployment. It shall investigate the extent and causes of unemployment in the State of Wisconsin and the remedies therefor in this and other countries, and it shall devise and adopt the most efficient means within its power to avoid unemployment, to provide employment, and to prevent distress from involuntary idleness.

(9a) (a) Any county, city, town or village may enter into an agreement with the Wisconsin industrial commission for such period of time as may be deemed desirable for the purpose of establishing and maintaining local free employment offices, and it shall be lawful for any county, city, town or village to appropriate and expend the necessary money and to permit the use of public property for the joint establishment and maintenance of such offices as may be agreed upon: Provided, however, That no local free employment office shall be established by the industrial commission in any county, city, town or village, to be maintained in whole or in part by public funds unless such county, city, town or village, shall jointly or severally agree to furnish as a minimum in the joint enterprise, suitable quarters for such office, which must be approved by the industrial commission and to pay all expenses for such quarters as rent, heat, light, furniture, telephone rental and janitor service. The industrial commission may defray all other expenses in connection with such office.

(10) To collect, collate and publish statistical and other information relating to the work under its jurisdiction and to make public reports in its judgment necessary.

(11) To rent, furnish and equip, except as provided in subsection (9a) of this section, such offices as may be needed in cities for the conduct of its affairs. All payments arising under this section shall be charged against the proper appropriation for the industrial commission.

(12) To fix and collect fees for the inspection of boilers not exceeding two dollars for each external inspection and five dollars for each internal inspection, per annum, and to collect fees for the inspection of elevators not exceeding two dollars semiannually for inspection. The fees so fixed shall be paid by the owners of such boilers or elevators. The commission may accept inspections of boilers and elevators by qualified inspectors of insurance companies where such boilers or elevators are insured, in which case no fee shall be charged. The commission may also accept inspections by qualified inspectors of boilers or elevators in cities of the first, second, and third classes, in which case the city may collect and retain such fee for inspection as may be fixed by the commission for its own inspections.

(13) To require the submission of proper plans and specifications for places of employment and public buildings, also for elevators, toilets, and other permanent equipment of such buildings. Where such plans and specifications are required by the commission, no local officer shall issue any permit or license for the construction or use or such building, until the plans and specifications therefor as to safety and sanitation shall have been approved by the commission. But this requirement shall not apply in cities where plans are examined and building permits are issued by a city building inspector in a manner approved by the commission.

Sec. 101.11. Complaints and investigation.—(1) Upon petition, after January 1, 1912, by any person that any employment or place of employment or public building is not safe, the commission shall proceed with or without notice, to make such investigation as may be necessary to determine the matter complained of.

(2) After such hearing as may be necessary, the commission may enter such order relative thereto as may be necessary to render such employment or place of employment or public building safe.

(3) Whenever the commission shall learn that any employment or place of employment or public building is not safe it may of its own motion, summarily investigate the same, with or without notice, and enter such order as may be necessary relative thereto.

Sec. 101.12. Transfer.—(1) All duties, liabilities, authority, powers, and privileges heretofore or hereafter conferred and imposed by law upon the commissioner of labor and industrial statistics, deputy commissioner of labor and industrial statistics, factory inspector, woman factory inspector and assistant factory inspectors, are hereby imposed and conferred upon the industrial commission and its deputies.

(2) All laws relating or referring to the commissioner of labor and industrial statistics, and the deputy commissioner of labor and industrial statistics, except those laws relating or referring to their appointment and qualification and to their membership or service on the industrial accident board, and all laws relating or referring to the factory inspector, the woman factory inspector and assistant factory inspectors, shall apply to and be deemed to relate and refer to the industrial commission, so far as the said laws are applicable.

Sec. 101.13. Orders.—All orders of the industrial commission in conformity with law shall be in force, and shall be prima facie lawful; and all such orders shall be valid and in force, and prima facie reasonable and lawful until they are found otherwise in an action brought for that purpose, pursuant to the provisions of section 101.27 of the statutes, or until altered or revoked by the commission.

Sec. 101.14. Publication.—(1) All general orders shall take effect within thirty days after their publication in the official State papers. Special orders shall take effect as therein directed.

(2) The commission shall, upon application of any employer or owner, grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for compliance with any order.

(3) Any person may petition the commission for an extension of time, which the commission shall grant if it finds such an extension of time necessary.

Sec. 101.15. Petition and hearing.—(1) Any employer or other person interested either because of ownership in or occupation of any property affected by any such order, or otherwise, may petition for a hearing on the reasonableness of any order of the commission in the manner provided in sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive.

(2) Such petition for hearing shall be by verified petition filed with the commission, setting out specifically and in full detail the order upon which a hearing is desired and every reason why such order is unreasonable, and every issue to be considered by the commission on the hearing. The petitioner shall be deemed to have finally waived all objections to any irregularities and illegalities in the order upon which a hearing is sought other than those set forth in the petition. All hearings of the commission shall be open to the public.

(3) Upon receipt of such petition, if the issues raised in such petition have theretofore been adequately considered, the commission shall determine the same by confirming without hearing its previous determination, or if such hearing is necessary to determine the issues raised, the commission shall order a hearing thereon and consider and determine the matter or matters in question at such times as shall be prescribed. Notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be given to the petitioner and to such other persons as the commission may find directly interested in such decision.

(4) Upon such investigation, if it shall be found that the order complained of is unjust or unreasonable the commission shall substitute therefor such other order as shall be just and reasonable.

(5) Whenever at the time of the final determination upon such hearing it shall be found that further time is reasonably necessary for compliance with the order of the commission, the commission shall grant such time as may be reasonably necessary for such compliance.

SEC. 101.16. General orders; local orders.—(1) Nothing contained in sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive, shall be construed to deprive the common council, the board of aldermen, the board of trustees or the village board of any village or city, or the board of health of any municipality of any power or jurisdiction over or relative to any place of employment or public building: Provided, That whenever the industrial commission shall, by an order, fix a standard of safety or any hygienic condition for employments or places of employment or public buildings, such order shall, upon the filing by the commission of a copy thereof with the clerk of the village or city to which it may apply, be held to amend or modify any similar conflicting local order in any particular matters governed by said order. Thereafter no local officer shall make or enforce any order contrary thereto.

(2) Any person affected by any local order in conflict with an order of the commission, may in the manner provided in section 101.15 of the statutes, petition the industrial commission for a hearing on the ground that such local order is unreasonable and in conflict with the order of the commission. The petition for such hearing shall conform to the requirements set forth for a petition in said section 101.15 of the statutes.

(3) Upon receipt of such petition the commission shall order a hearing thereon, to consider and determine the issues raised by such appeal, such hearing to be held in the village, city or municipality where the local order appealed from was made. Notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be given to the petitioner and such other persons as the commission may find directly interested in such decision, including the clerk of the municipality or town from which such appeal comes. If upon such investigation it shall be found that the local order appealed from is unreasonable and in conflict with the order of the commission, the commission may modify its order and shall substitute for the local order appealed from such order as shall be reasonable and legal in the premises, and thereafter the said local order shall, in such particulars, be void and of no effect.

SEC. 101.17. Review.—(1) No action, proceeding or suit to set aside, vacate or amend any order of the commission or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be brought unless the plaintiff shall have applied to the commission for a hearing thereon at the time and as provided in section 101.15 of the statutes, and in the petition therefor shall have raised every issue raised in such action.

(2) Every order of the commission shall, in every prosecution for violation thereof, be conclusively presumed to be just, reasonable, and lawful, unless prior to the institution of prosecution for such violation an action shall have been brought to vacate and set aside such order as provided in section 101.26 of the statutes.

SEC. 101.18. Violations.—[Each day's failure to comply with sections 101.01 to 101.29 shall constitute a separate violation.]

SEC. 101.19. Power as to witnesses.—Each of the commissioners for the purposes mentioned in sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive, shall have power to administer oaths, certify to official acts, issue subpœnas, compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony. In case of failure of any person to comply with any order of the commission or any subpœna lawfully issued, or on the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may be lawfully interrogated, it shall be the duty of the circuit court of any county, or the judge thereof, on application of a commissioner to compel obedience by attachment proceedings for contempt, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpœna issued from such court or a refusal to testify therein.

SEC. 101.23. Special agents.—(1) For the purpose of making an investigation with regard to any employment or place of employment or public building, the commission shall have power to appoint, by an order in writing, any member of the commission, any deputy who is a citizen of the State, or any other competent person as an agent, whose duties shall be prescribed in such order.

(2) In the discharge of his duties such agent shall have every power whatsoever of an inquisitorial nature granted in this act to the commission, and the same powers as a court commissioner with regard to the taking of depositions; and all powers granted by law to a court commissioner relative to depositions are hereby granted to such agent.

(3) The commission may conduct any number of such investigations contemporaneously through different agents, and may delegate to such agent the taking of all testimony bearing upon any investigation or hearing. The decision of the commission shall be based upon its examination of all testimony and records. The recommendations made by such agents shall be advisory only and shall not preclude the taking of further testimony if the commission so order nor further investigation.

SEC. 101.25. Technical omissions.—A substantial compliance with the requirements of sections 101.01 to 101.29, inclusive, shall be sufficient to give effect to the orders of the commission, and they shall not be declared inoperative, illegal, or void for any omission of a technical nature in respect thereto.

SEC. 101.26. Review of orders.—(1) Any employer, owner, or other person in interest being dissatisfied with any order of the commission may commence an action in the circuit court for Dane county against the commission as defendant to vacate and set aside any such order on the ground that the order is unlawful, or that any such order is unreasonable, in which action the complaint shall be served with the summons.

(2) The answer of the commission to the complaint shall be served and filed within ten days after service of the complaint, whereupon said action shall be at issue and stand ready for trial upon ten days' notice to either party.

(3) All such actions shall have precedence over any civil cause of a different nature pending in such court, and the circuit court shall always be deemed open for the trial thereof, and the same shall be tried and determined as other civil actions.

(4) No injunction shall issue suspending or staying any order of the commission except upon application to the circuit court or the presiding judge thereof, notice to the commission, and hearing.

SEC. 101.28. Violations.—[Violations entail forfeitures of $10 to $100 for each offense. State, county, and municipal officers must, on request of the industrial commission, enforce all lawful orders in their respective departments in so far as consistent with their general duties.]

SEC. 101.30. Boiler inspection.—No machine, mechanical device, or steam boiler shall be installed or used in this State which does not fully comply with the requirements of the laws of this State enacted for the safety of employees and frequenters in places of employment and public buildings and with the orders of the industrial commission adopted and published in conformity with sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes. Any person, firm, or corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be subject to the forfeitures provided in sections 101.18 and 101.28 of the statutes.

Employment regulations

SECTION 103.01. Definitions.—The following terms as used in sections 103.01 to 103.04, inclusive, shall be construed as follows:

(1) The term "place of employment" shall mean and include any manufactory, mechanical or mercantile establishment, laundry, restaurant, confectionery store, or telegraph or telephone office or exchange, or any express or transportation establishment.

(2) The term "employment" shall mean and include any trade, occupation or process of manufacture, or any method of carrying on such trade or occupation in which any female may be engaged, or for any place of employment, as herein defined.

(3) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, corporation, agent, manager, representative, or other person having control or custody of any employment or place of employment, as herein defined.

(4) The terms "order," "general order," "special order," "safe," "safety," and "welfare" shall be construed as defined in section 101.01 of the statutes.

SEC. 103.02. Hours of labor for women.—(1) No female shall be employed or be permitted to work in any place of employment or at any employment for such period or periods of time during any day, night, or week, as shall be dangerous or prejudicial to the life, health, safety, or welfare of such female. It shall be the duty of the industrial commission and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority to investigate, ascertain, determine, and fix such reasonable classification, and to issue general or special orders fixing a period or periods of time, or hours of beginning and ending work during any day, night, or week, which shall be necessary to protect the life, health, safety, or welfare of any female, or to carry out the purposes of sections 103.01 to 103.04, inclusive, of the statutes. Such investigations, classifications, and orders, and any action, proceeding, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order of said commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be made pursuant to the proceeding in sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, which are hereby made a part hereof, so far as not inconsistent with the provisions of sections 103.01, 103.02, subsection (1), 103.03, and 103.04 of the statutes, and every order of the said commission shall have the same force and effect as the orders issued pursuant to said sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, and the penalties therein shall apply to and be imposed for any violation of sections 103.01, 103.02, subsection (1), 103.03, and 103.04 of the statutes. Until such time as the industrial commission shall so investigate, ascertain, determine, and fix, and shall issue general or special orders thereon, the periods of time specified in the attached schedule shall be deemed to be dangerous or prejudicial to the life, health, safety, or welfare of females.

SCHEDULE

At day work, more than nine hours in any one day, or more than fifty hours in any one week: Provided, That during emergency periods of not to exceed four weeks in any calendar year any female may be employed for not to exceed ten hours in any one day and not more than fifty-five hours in any one week, such excess time to be paid for at the rate of one and one-half times the regular rates.

At night work, more than eight hours in any one night, or more than forty-eight hours in any one week.

Day work is work done between six o'clock a. m. and eight o'clock p. m. of the same day: Provided, That employment not more than one night in the week after eight o'clock p. m. shall not be considered night work.

Night work is work done between eight o'clock p. m. and six o'clock a. m. of the following day.

Less than one hour during each day or night for dinner or other meals.

(2) No female shall be employed or be permitted to work in any hotel—

(a) At day work, more than ten hours in any one day, or more than fifty-five hours in any one week;

(b) At night work, more than nine hours in any one day, or more than fifty-four hours in any one week.

(3) For the purpose of this section night work is defined as a period of employment which in whole or in part falls between nine o'clock p. m. and six o'clock a. m. of the day following.

(4) The powers granted, imposed, and conferred upon the industrial commission by the provisions of section 103.02 of the statutes shall not apply to the hours of employment fixed under this section.

SEC. 103.03. Posting time list.—Every employer shall post in a conspicuous place in each of the several departments in or for which women are employed a list on a printed form furnished by the industrial commission, stating the names and hours required of each woman during each day of the week, the hours of commencing and stopping work, and the period allowed for dinner or other meals. Such list need not be posted where time records are kept for inspection by the said commission for a period of at least six months prior to such inspection or where any other substitute equally effective for the enforcement of sections 103.01 to 103.04, inclusive, is approved by the commission.

SEC. 103.04. Violations.—[Every day and every week a female is employed in violation of this act shall constitute a separate offense.]

SEC. 103.05. Definitions.—(1) The terms "place of employment," "employment," "employer," "employee," "frequenter," "deputy," "order," "local order," "general order," "special order," "welfare," "safe," and "safety," as used in sections 103.05 to 103.15, inclusive, shall be construed as defined in section 101.01 of the statutes.

(2) Dangerous employments.—(a) No employer shall employ or permit any minor or any female to work in any place of employment, or at any employment dangerous or prejudicial to life, health, safety, or welfare of such minor or such female, or where the employment of such minor may be dangerous or prejudicial to the life, health, safety, or welfare of other employees or frequenters.

(b) It shall be the duty of the industrial commission, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority to investigate, determine, and fix reasonable classifications of employments and places of employment, minors and females, and to issue general or special orders prohibiting the employment of such minors or females in any employment or place of employment dangerous or prejudicial to the life, health, safety, or welfare of such minor or female, and to carry out the purposes of sections 103.05 to 103.15, inclusive, of the statutes.

(c) The investigations, classifications, and orders provided for in paragraph (b) of this section and any action, proceeding, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order of the commission, or enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be made pursuant to sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, and every order of the commission shall have the same force and effect as the orders issued pursuant to sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes.

(3) Until such time as the industrial commission shall investigate, determine, and fix the classifications provided for in paragraph (b) of subsection (2) of this section, the employments and places of employment designated in the following schedule shall be deemed to be dangerous or prejudicial to the life, health, safety, or welfare of minors or females under the ages specified:

1. Any female under seventeen years of age in any capacity where such employment compels her to remain standing constantly.
2. Any female in or about any mine or quarry. No female under the age of twenty-one years shall be employed as a bellhop in any hotel.

(4) Permits.—(a) No child between the ages of fourteen and seventeen years unless indentured as an apprentice, as provided in section 106.01 of the statutes, shall be employed, or permitted to work at any time in any factory, workshop, store, hotel, restaurant, bakery, mercantile establishment, laundry, telegraph, telephone, or public messenger service, or the delivery of any merchandise, or at any gainful occupation or employment, directly or indirectly, or, in cities wherein a vocational school is maintained, in domestice service other than casual employment in such service, unless there is first obtained from the industrial commission or from a judge of a county, municipal, or juvenile court designated by the industrial commission where such child resides, or from some other person designated by the industrial commission a written permit authorizing the employment of such child in such employment within such time or times as the said industrial commission or a judge or other person designated by said commission may fix; providing that such times shall not contliet with those designated in subsection (8) of this section.

(b) No child under the age of fourteen years shall be employed, or permitted to work at any gainful occupation or employment, except that during the vacation of the public or equivalent school in the town, village, or city where any child between the ages of twelve and fourteen years resides, it may be employed in any store, office, mercantile establishment, warehouse, telegraph, telephone, or public messenger service, in the town, village, or city where it resides and not elsewhere: Provided, That it shall have first obtained a permit in the same manner and under the same conditions as prescribed in paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of this section. For such vacation permit no proof of educational qualifications shall be necessary. This paragraph shall not be construed to authorize the employment of any child under fourteen years of age in the delivery of merchandise.

(4a) Except for employment in domestic service as provided in paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of this section, which employment involves the attendance of the child at vocational school, the permit provided for in said subsection shall not be required during school vacations for employment of children of the ages therein specified in any work usual to the home of the employer, provided that such employment shall not be in connection with nor form a part of the business, trade, profession, or occupation of the employer, and provided further that such employment shall not be specifically prohibited by any provision of this section nor by any order of the industrial commission issued under its authority. Children between fourteen and seventeen years of age may be likewise employed in any work usual to the home of the employer without permits during school terms but not during the daily period of the school session if such children are in actual, regular, and full time attendance as provided by law at any public, private, or parochial school and maintain in such school a passing grade in all studies pursued by them. This subsection shall not authorize the employment of a child who is at the time guilty of truancy or deficiency in his studies.

(5) The permit provided for in subsection (4) of this section shall contain the signature of the vocational school director where the child is to attend and state the name, the date, and place of birth of the child, the color of hair and eyes, the height and weight and any distinguishing facial marks of such child, and that the following evidence, records, and papers have been duly examined, approved, and filed.

(a) Such evidence as is required by the industrial commission showing the age of the child. The industrial commission shall formulate and publish rules and regulations governing the proof of age of minors who apply for labor permits, and such rules and regulations shall be binding upon all persons authorized by law to issue such permits.

(b) A certificate of the superintendent of schools or the principal of the school last attended by the child, or in the absence of both of the aforementioned persons a certificate of the clerk of the school board, showing that such child is more than fourteen years of age, and stating also the date of the birth of such child, and the number of years such child has attended school. Such certificate shall contain the further statement that such child has passed successfully the eighth grade in the public school, or in some school having a substantially equivalent course, or that it has attended school for at least nine years. Attendance at kindergarten shall not be counted as a part of the nine years of school attendance. It shall be the duty of such superintendent, principal, or clerk to issue such certificate upon receipt of any application in behalf of any child entitled thereto.

(c) A letter written on the regular letterhead or other business paper used by the person who desires to employ the child, stating the intention of such person to employ such child and signed by such person or someone duly authorized by him.

(6) (a) The permits provided for in subsection (4) of this section shall be issued upon blanks furnished by the industrial commission and shall be made out in duplicate. One of such duplicates shall be forthwith returned to the industrial commission, together with a detailed statement of the character and substance of the evidence offered prior to the issuance of such permit. Such statement shall be made upon blanks furnished by the industrial commission.

(b) Whenever it shall appear to the industrial commission that any permit has been improperly or illegally issued, or that the physical or moral welfare of the child would be best served by the revocation of the permit, the said commission may forthwith, without notice, revoke the same, and shall by registered mail notify the person employing such child, and the child holding such permit of such revocation. Upon receipt of such notice the employer employing such child shall forthwith return the revoked permit to the industrial commission and discontinue the employment of the child.

(c) The industrial commission or other person designated under the provisions of subdivision (a) of subsection (4) of this section, may refuse to grant permits in the case of children who may seem physically unable to perform the labor at which they are to be employed. They may also refuse to grant a permit if, in their judgment, the best interest of the child would be served by such refusal.

(d) Nothing contained in sections 103.05 to 103.15, inclusive, of the statutes, shall be construed to forbid any child from being employed in agricultural pursuits, nor to require a permit to be obtained for such child.

(6a) (a) In case any applicant for employment claims to be more than seventeen years of age, and that he or she is unable to furnish documentary proof of his or her date of birth, the county court of the county wherein such applicant resides may, by judgment, establish the age and the date and place of birth of such person.

(b) Proceedings for such purpose shall be had only upon the verified petition of the applicant, setting forth his full name, his residence during the five years next preceding the filing of the petition, the date and the place of his birth, the full names of his parents and the residence of each, the period of time spent in school and the grade he or she has completed.

(c) A notice stating therein the general nature of the application and the time and place of the hearing, shall be published at least once in some newspaper published in the county, to be designated by the court, such publication to be made at least ten days prior to the date fixed for the hearing. Proof of publication shall be made by affidavit of the publisher.

(d) At the hearing of the petition, testimony shall be taken as to all matters contained therein and the same shall be preserved and filed in the proceeding. If it shall satisfactorily appear that the applicant is unable to establish his age by a birth certificate filed or recorded, as required by law, in the State or country of his birth, or by a verified baptismal certificate issued under seal of the church in which the applicant was baptized, showing that the applicant was baptized at least five years prior to the filing of the petition, and the court shall be satisfied as to the age of the applicant and the date and place of his birth, it shall determine the same and make findings accordingly.

(e) A certified copy of such findings shall be conclusive evidence of the age of the applicant in any proceedings under any of the labor laws and workmen's compensation laws of this State, as to any act or thing occurring subsequent to the date of the judgment.

(7) Every employer employing or permitting a minor to work as provided in this section shall:

(a) Receive and file the permit before the minor is permitted to do any work and shall keep the same on file during the entire period of the employment of the minor and subject at all times to the inspection of the industrial commission or any truant officer.

(b) Post in a conspicuous place in each of the several departments in or for which minors under sixteen years of age are employed a list on a printed form furnished by the industrial commission stating the names, ages, and hours required of each child during each day of the week, the hours of commencing and stopping work, and the hours when the time or times allowed for dinner or other meals begin and end.

(c) Upon the termination of employment of any minor, return within twenty-four hours the permit for employment of such minor to the person and place designated by the industrial commission, with a statement of reasons for the termination of said employment. Any employer who fails to return the permit of any minor as provided in this paragraph shall be liable in action to such minor for two dollars for each day during which such failure continues.

(8) Work time.—(a) No child under the age of sixteen years shall be employed or permitted to work at any gainful occupation, other than domestic service or farm labor, for more than forty-eight hours in any one week, nor more than eight hours in any one day, nor before the hour of seven o'clock in the morning nor after the hour of six o'clock in the evening, nor more than six days in any one week. In any locality where the daylight-savings plan has been adopted the words "seven o'clock in the morning and six o'clock in the evening," as hereinbefore used, shall mean seven o'clock in the morning according to daylight savings and six o'clock in the evening according to daylight savings so long as said daylight savings shall remain in force in said locality. In occupations in which the hours of labor of women are regulated under the provisions of the statutes the dinner period for girls under sixteen shall not be shorter than that provided for adult women. In occupations in which the hours of labor of women are not regulated under the provisions of the statutes the dinner period for girls under sixteen shall not be less than one hour. In no case shall the dinner period allowed to boys under sixteen years of age be less than thirty minutes. During such dinner period the power shall be disengaged from machinery operated by children under sixteen years of age and no work shall be permitted.

(b) No person under eighteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in a cigar shop or cigar factory at manufacturing cigars for longer than eight hours a day or forty-eight hours a week.

Sec. 103.06. Illiterate minors.—No person, firm, or corporation shall employ an illiterate minor over seventeen years of age in any city, village, or town in which a public evening school or vocational school is maintained, unless such minor is a regular attendant at the public evening school or vocational school. An illiterate minor within the meaning of this section is a minor who can not read at sight and write legibly simple sentences in the English language. Attendance of four hours per week at the public evening school or vocational school shall be deemed regular attendance within the meaning of this section.

Sec. 103.07. Duty of parents.—No parent, guardian, or custodian shall permit a minor over seventeen years of age to be employed in violation of section 103.06.

Sec. 103.08. Vocational school records.—Any minor required by section 103.06 to attend an evening school or vocational school shall furnish to his employer each week during its session a record showing that he is a regular attendant at the evening school or vocational school. The employer shall file all records of attendance in his office, and no minor subject to sections 103.06 to 103.11, inclusive, shall be employed unless the records of attendance or absence for valid cause during the previous week be on file.

Sec. 103.09. Physician's certificate excusing attendance.—Upon presentation by a minor of a certificate signed by a registered practicing physician showing that his physical condition or the distance necessary to be traveled would render the required school attendance, in addition to his daily labor, prejudicial to his health, the industrial commission may in its discretion authorize his employment for such period as it may determine.

Sec. 103.10. Violations.—[Violations of sections 103.06 to 103.09 are punishable by fine, $10 to $100 for each offense.]

Sec. 103.11. Violations.—[Violations by parents or guardians of sections 103.07 and 103.08 entail a fine, $5 to $25 for each offense.]

Sec. 103.12. Permits to sing, play, or perform.—[No child under sixteen years of age shall be employed or permitted to sing, play, or perform in any circus, theatrical or musical exhibition, concert or festival, or in any public place without a permit; but this does not apply to the musical education of children, or their appearance in church, school, or home-talent exhibitions.]

Sec. 103.13. Employment in theaters, factories, etc.—(1) The industrial commission and truant officers shall visit and inspect at all reasonable times, and as often as possible, all places covered by sections 103.05 to 103.13, inclusive, of the statutes.

(2) Any person being the owner or lessee of any opera house, theater, or moving-picture house, or any similar place of any name, or having in whole or in part the management or control thereof, shall be responsible for any violation of sections 103.05 to 103.13, inclusive, of the statutes on the premises of such opera house or similar place of any name.

(3) The failure of any employer to produce for inspection to the industrial commission or truant officers the permit provided for in subsection (4) of section 103.05 shall be prima facie evidence of unlawful employment of the minor. The presence of any minor in any factory, workshop, or other place of employment shall be prima facie evidence of the employment of such minor. The presence of any child under sixteen years of age in any factory, workshop, or other place of employment at any time other than that named on the posted hours of labor, as provided in subsection (7) of section 103.05, shall be prima facie evidence of the unlawful employment of such child.

(4) (a) No person, firm, or corporation, during the term that the public schools are in session, shall advertise or cause or permit any advertisement to be published in any newspaper for the labor or services of any child during school hours in any employment for which a labor permit is required under the provisions of section 103.05 of the statutes which does not specifically state the minimum age of the child whose services are desired, which age must be above that for which a labor permit is required.

(b) No person, firm, or corporation, or paid agent thereof, shall solicit in the schools or homes of this State children of permit age to leave school and enter their employment if a labor permit is required for such employment by section 103.05 of the statutes.

(c) Any person, firm, or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay into the State treasury a sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each such offense. Every day during which any person, firm, or corporation violates any of the provisions of this section shall constitute a separate and distinct offense.

SEC. 103.14. Vocational school, attendance.—(1) Whenever any day vocational school shall be established in any town, village, or city in this State for minors working under permit as now provided by law, every such child residing or employed within any town, village, or city in which any such school is established who has not completed four years of work above the eight elementary grades, and who is not in attendance at some other public, private, or parochial school at least half time, shall attend such school not less than half time in the daytime until the end of the school term, quarter, semester, or other division of the school year in which he is sixteen years of age, and after that eight hours a week until the end of the term, quarter, semester, or other division of the school year in which he is eighteen years of age for at least eight months in each year, and for such additional months or parts thereof as the other public schools in such city, town, or village are in session in excess of eight during the regular school year, or the equivalent, as may be determined by the local board of industrial education, and every employer shall allow all minor employees a reduction in hours of work of not less than the number of hours the minor is by law required to attend school. Whenever the working time and the class time coincide, such reduction in hours of work shall be allowed at the time when the classes which the minor is by law required to attend are held.

(2) This act shall take effect upon passage and publication, but in cities in which suitable quarters are not available, and in cities in which new buildings are in process of erection, the state board of vocational education may, for a reasonable period not to extend beyond September 1, 1923, provide for temporary continuation of the present legal requirements and a gradual transition to the requirements established by this act.

(3) The total hours of schooling and employment for minors under sixteen years of age shall not exceed eight in any one day and forty-eight in any one week, and the total hours of schooling and employment for boys over sixteen and under seventeen years of age shall not exceed fifty-five in any one week; except when the minor shall attend school a greater number of hours than is required by law, in which case the total number of hours may be increased by the excess of the hours of school attendance over the minimum prescribed by law.

SEC. 103.15. Violations.—(1) (a) [Violations of sections 103.05 to 103.15 by employers are punishable by fine, $10 to $100, or imprisonment not exceeding 30 days. Each day's violation constituting a separate offense.

Parents or guardians violating the law shall be fined $5 to $25, or imprisoned not over 30 days.]

SEC. 103.16. Seats for females; penalty.—Every person or corporation employing females in any manufacturing, mechanical or mercantile establishment in the State of Wisconsin shall provide suitable seats for the females so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed. Any person or corporation who shall violate the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be considered guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than thirty dollars for each and every offense.

SEC. 103.17. Mutual forfeit.—Any person or corporation engaged in manufacturing, which requires from persons in his or its employ, under penalty of forfeiture of a part of the wages earned by them, a notice of intention to leave such employ, shall be liable to the payment of a like forfeiture if he or it discharges, without similar notice, a person in such employ except for incapacity or misconduct, unless in case of a general suspension of labor in his or its shop or factory or in the department thereof wherein such employee is engaged.

SEC. 103.18. Protection as voters.—No person shall, by threatening to discharge a person from his employment or threatening to reduce the wages of a person or by promising to give employment at higher wages to a person, attempt to influence a qualified voter to give or withhold his vote at an election.

SEC. 103.19. Children in shows.—No license shall be granted for a theatrical exhibition or public show in which children under fifteen years of age are employed as acrobats, contortionists or in any feats of gymnastics or equestrianism, when in the opinion of the board of officers authorized to grant licenses such children are employed in such manner as to corrupt their morals or impair their physical health.

SEC. 103.20. Penalty.—Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of sections 103.17, 103.18 and 103.19 shall, upon conviction, be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 103.21. Street trade.—The term "street trade," as used in sections 103.21 to 103.37, inclusive, shall mean any business or occupation of distributing, soliciting, selling, displaying or offering for sale of any articles, goods or merchandise, handbills, circulars, newspapers, magazines, or periodicals, or employment as a bootblack, in any street, alley, court, square or other public place.

SEC. 103.22. Age limit.—No boy under the age of twelve years and no girl under the age of eighteen years shall in any city of the first class, work at any time or be employed or permitted to work at any time in any street trade as defined in section 103.21.

SEC. 103.23. Same.—No boy under fourteen years of age, shall, in any city of the first class, work at any time, or be employed or permitted to work at any time, at any street trade, excepting the distribution and sale of newspapers, magazines or periodicals as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 103.24. Permit and badge.—No boy under seventeen years of age shall, in any city of the first class, distribute, sell, or expose or offer for sale any newspapers, magazines or periodicals in any street or public place or work as a bootblack, or in any other street or public trade, or sell or offer for sale or distribute any handbills or other articles, unless he complies with all the legal requirements concerning school attendance, and unless a permit and badge, as hereinafter provided, shall have been issued to him by the board of education where he resides. No such permit and badge shall be issued until the officer issuing the same shall have received an application in writing therefor, signed by the parent or guardian or other person having the custody of the child, desiring such permit and badge, and until such officer shall have received, examined and placed on file the written statement of the principal or chief executive officer of the public, private or parochial school, which the said child is attending, stating that such child is an attendant at such school with the grade such child shall have attained: And provided, That no such permit and badge shall be issued, unless such officer issuing it is satisfied that such child is mentally and physically able to do such work besides his regular school work as required by law.

SEC. 103.25. Application; revocation.—Before any such permit is issued, the board of education shall demand and be furnished with proof of such child's age by the production of a verified baptismal certificate or a duly attested birth certificate, or, in case such certificate cannot be secured, by the record of age stated in the first school enrollment of such child. Whenever it appears that a permit was obtained by wrong or false statements as to any child's age, the officer who granted such permit, shall forthwith revoke the same. After having received, examined and placed on file such papers, the officer shall issue to the child a permit and badge. The principal or chief executive officer of schools, in which children under seventeen years of age are pupils, shall keep a complete list of all children in their school to whom a permit and badge has been issued, as provided in sections 103.21 to 103.36, inclusive.

SEC. 103.26. Form and contents of permit and badge.—Such permit shall state the place and date of birth of the child, the name and address of its parents, guardian, custodian or next friend, as the case may be, and describe the color of hair and eyes, the height and weight and any distinguishing facial marks of such child, and shall further state that the papers required by the preceding section have been duly examined and filed; and that the child named in such permit has appeared before the officer issuing the permit. The badge furnished by the officer issuing the permit shall bear on its face a number corresponding to the number of the permit, and the name of the child. Every such permit shall be signed in the presence of the officer issuing the same by the child in whose name it is issued: Provided, That in case of carrier boys working on salary for newspaper publishers delivering papers, a card of identification shall be issued to such carriers by the board of education which they shall carry on their person, and exhibit to any officer authorized under sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, who may accost them for a disclosure of their right to serve as such carriers: And provided further, That in case of the illness or absence of any boy who shall belong to the regular delivery or distributing force of any newspaper at the time when such delivery or distribution of newspapers is to be made, if there shall be no other boy who has a permit and badge as provided herein, ready to make the delivery and distribution, such delivery and distribution may be made for a period which shall not exceed seven days, by any other boy over the age of twelve years, who shall have complied with all the other requirements of sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, except the requirement of a permit and badge; in such cases, a written certificate, stating the facts, on blank form furnished by the board of education, signed by the circulation or business manager of such newspaper or its authorized representative shall be issued to such boy for a period not to exceed seven days. Copies of all such certificates shall be furnished the board of education within twenty-four hours after issue.

SEC. 103.27. Badge to be worn; nontransferable.—The badge provided for herein shall be such as the board of education shall designate, and shall be worn conspicuously in sight at all times in such position as may be designated by the said board of education by such child while so working. No child, to whom such permit and badge or identification card are issued, shall transfer the same to any other person. No badge shall be issued, except on deposit of a fee of twenty-five cents. Such fee shall be refunded upon return of the badge within one year from the expiration of the permit. All fees remaining after the expiration of such year are hereby appropriated to the board of education, with whom they have been deposited, to apply upon any expenditures incurred in the administration of sections 103.21 to 103.33.

SEC. 103.28. Hours of employment.—No boy under seventeen years of age shall, in any city of the first class, sell, expose, or offer for sale any newspapers, magazines, or periodicals after the hour of seven-thirty o'clock in the evening or before five o'clock in the morning; and no child under seventeen years of age shall distribute, sell, expose, or offer for sale any newspapers, magazines, or periodicals or shall work as a bootblack or in any street or public trades, or distribute handbills or shall be employed or permitted to work in the distribution or sale or exposing or offering for sale of any newspapers, magazines, or periodicals or as a bootblack or in other street or public trades or in the distribution of handbills during the hours when the public schools of the city where such child shall reside are in session: Provided, That any boy between the ages of fourteen and seventeen years, who is complying and shall continue to comply with all the legal requirements concerning school attendance, and who is mentally and physically able to do such delivery besides his regular school work, shall be authorized to deliver newspapers between the hours of four and six in the morning.

SEC. 103.29. Enforcement.—The board of education or any person acting under its direction shall enforce the provisions of sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, and said board is hereby vested with all powers requisite therefor. The said board is hereby authorized to use any funds provided for by section 43.50 of the statutes in the administration of this act.

SEC. 103.30. Revocation.—The permit of any child, who in any city of the first class distributes, sells, or offers for sale any newspapers, magazines, or periodicals in any street or public place, or works as a bootblack, or in any other street trade, or sells or offers for sale or distributes any handbills or other articles in violation of the provisions of sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, or who becomes delinquent or fails to comply with all the legal requirements concerning school attendance, shall forthwith be revoked for a period of six months, and his badge taken from said child. The refusal of any child to surrender such permit, and the distribution, sale, or offering for sale of newspapers, magazines, or periodicals or any goods or merchandise, or the working by such child as a bootblack, or in any other street or public trade, or in distributing handbills or other articles, after notice by any officer authorized to grant permits under this law of the revocation of such permit and a demand for the return of the badge, shall be deemed a violation of sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive. The permit of said child may also be revoked by the officer who issued such permit, and the badge taken from such child, upon the complaint of any police officer or other attendance officer or probation officer of a juvenile court, and such child shall surrender his permit and badge upon the demand of any police officer, truancy or other attendance officer or probation officer of a juvenile court or other officer charged with the duty of enforcing sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive. In case of a second violation of sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, by any child, he shall be brought before the juvenile court, if there shall be any juvenile court in the city where such child resides, or, if not, before any court or magistrate having jurisdiction of offenses committed by minors and be dealt with according to law. The permit of a minor who changes his residence subsequent to its issuance may be revoked in like manner by the officers of the permit district to which he removes.

SEC. 103.31. Employment of minors in street trade.—The employment of any minor of the age of twelve years or more, pursuant to the provisions of sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, in a "street trade," shall have the same warrant as if his employment was under the permit provided by section 103.05, and such permit shall, within the trade for which it was issued, afford like protection to an employer as would a permit issued pursuant to section 103.05. The permit shall authorize such minor to engage in the specified trade anywhere within the State.

SEC. 103.32. Penalty.—Any parent or other person who employs a minor under the age of seventeen years in peddling without a license, or who, having the care or custody of such minor, suffers or permits the child to engage in such employment, or to violate sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed fifty dollars nor less than ten dollars, or by commitment to the county jail for not more than thirty days or less than ten days.

SEC. 103.33. Certificate of school attendance; newspapers allowing boys to loiter.—No badge shall be issued for a boy selling papers between the ages of twelve and seventeen years except upon certificate of the principal of either public, parochial, or other private school attended by said boy, stating and setting forth that said boy is a regular attendant upon said school. In any city or other permit district in which compulsory school attendance ends at the age of sixteen years the educational requirements contained in sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, shall not apply to children over sixteen years of age. No boy under the age of seventeen years shall be permitted by any newspaper publisher or printer or persons having for sale newspapers or periodicals of any character, to loiter or remain around any salesroom, assembly room, circulation room, or office for the sale of newspapers between the hours of nine in the forenoon and three in the afternoon on days when school is in session. Any newspaper publisher, printer, circulation agent, or seller of newspapers shall upon conviction for permitting newsboys to loiter or hang around any assembly room, circulation room, salesroom, or office where papers are distributed or sold, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars, or by commitment to the county jail for not more than sixty days or less than ten days.

SEC. 103.34. Regulation of employment; classification.—Except as to cities of the first class, the industrial commission is charged with general supervision of minors engaged in a "street trade," as the term is defined in section 103.21 to the end that such minors be not required, suffered, or permitted to work at or engage in a street trade under conditions or during hours which are dangerous or prejudicial to their life, health, safety, or welfare. For such purpose it is made the duty of the industrial commission, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority to investigate, ascertain, determine, and classify street trades and to issue general or special orders prohibiting the employment or engagement of minors in a street trade dangerous or prejudicial to the life, health, safety, or welfare of such minor, and, by like orders, to fix the terms and conditions of permits to such minors and provide for their issuance by the board of education or school board of the city, village, or town in which such minor resides, for the revocation of permits, and for such other regulations as may be reasonably necessary to carry out the purpose and intent hereof: Provided, however, That no boy under the age of twelve years and no girl under the age of eighteen years shall at any time be permitted to engage in a street trade.

SEC. 103.35. Effect of classification and orders.—Such investigations, classifications, and orders shall have the same force and effect as orders issued pursuant to sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, and any action, proceeding, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order of the commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be made pursuant to the proceeding authorized in sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive.

SEC. 103.36. Ad interim effect of child labor laws.—Until such time as the industrial commission shall investigate, ascertain, determine, and classify street trades for districts other than cities of the first class, as provided in section 103.34, and by order designate those trades, and the conditions and hours therein, at which a minor shall not be permitted to engage, any engagement or employment of a minor in a street trade in any such district contrary to the limitations provided in sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, shall be deemed prejudicial to the life, health, safety, and welfare of such minor. Except as the industrial commission may provide ways and means in conflict with the administrative procedure provided in sections 103.21 to 103.33, inclusive, the provisions of said sections shall be effective, in so far as applicable, in all other cities and in the villages and towns of this State.

SEC. 103.38. Eight hours a day's work, when.—In all engagements to labor in any manufacturing or mechanical business, where there is no express contract to the contrary, a day's work shall consist of eight hours and all engagements or contracts for labor in such cases shall be so construed; but this shall not apply to any contract for labor by the week, month, or year.

SEC. 103.39. Payment of wages.—(1) Every corporation organized for pecuniary profit engaged in any enterprise or business within the State of Wisconsin, excepting corporations owning or operating hospitals and sanatoriums for the care of sick or insane persons, shall as often as on the fifteenth and on the last day of each month pay to every employee engaged in its business, except to those employees engaged in lumbering and logging operations, all wages or salaries earned by such employee to a day not more than sixteen days prior to the date of such payment. Any employee who is absent at the time fixed for payment or who for any other reason is not paid at that time shall be paid thereafter at any time upon six days' demand and any employee leaving his or her employment or discharged therefrom shall be paid in full following his or her employment at any time upon three days' demand. No corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall by special contract with employees or by any other means secure exemption from the provisions of this act and each and every employee of any corporation coming within the meaning of this act shall have his or her right of action against any such corporation for the full amount of his or her wages due on each regular pay day as herein provided, in any court of competent jurisdiction. Whenever such regular payments cover wages earned to a date more than eight days prior to the day of payment in the event the day fixed for the semimonthly payment falls on Sunday or a holiday, payment shall be made on the previous business day. Any corporation owning or operating any hospital or sanatorium for the care of sick or insane persons shall give the same number of days' notice of its intention to discharge any employee as it requires such employee to give before being permitted to quit its service, unless such employee is discharged because of a serious infraction of a rule.

(2) Any corporation violating the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars or more than one hundred dollars for each separate offense and each and every failure or refusal to pay each employee the amount of wages due him or her at the time, or under the conditions required in this statute shall constitute a separate offense.

SEC. 103.41. Hours of labor on public works.—(1) Each and every contract hereafter made for the erection, construction, remodeling, or repairing of any public building or works, except contracts for the construction or maintenance of public highways and bridges, to which the State or any officer or agent thereof is a party, which may involve the employment of laborers, workmen, or mechanics, shall contain a stipulation that no laborer, workman, or mechanic in the employ of the contractor, subcontractor, agent, or other person, doing or contracting to do all or a part of the work contemplated by the contract, shall be permitted to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of extraordinary emergencies.

(2) The phrase "extraordinary emergencies," as used in this section, shall mean and include only such as grow out of the necessity of protecting property or human life when endangered by reason of an attack by the public enemy or endangered from fire, flood, or storm.

(3) This section shall apply only to such work as is actually performed on the premises on which such buildings or works are being erected, constructed, remodeled or repaired.

SEC. 103.42. Violations.—[Penalty for violation is a fine, not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not more than 6 months, or both.]

SEC. 103.43. Fraudulent advertising.—(1) It shall be unlawful to influence, induce, persuade or attempt to influence, induce, persuade, or engage workmen to change from one place of employment to another in this State or to accept employment in this State or to bring workmen of any class or calling into this State to work in any department of labor in this State, through or by means of any false or deceptive representations, false advertising, or false pretenses concerning the kind and character of the work to be done, or amount and character of the compensation to be paid for such work, or the sanitary or other conditions of the employment, or failure to state in any advertisement, proposal, or contract for the employment that there is a strike or lockout at the place of the proposed employment, when in fact such strike or lockout then actually exists in such employment at such place. Any of such unlawful acts shall be deemed a false advertisement, or misrepresentation for the purpose of this section.

(2) Any person, who by himself, his servant, or agent, or as the servant or agent of any other person, or as an officer, director, servant, or agent of any firm, corporation, association, or organization of any kind, shall violate any of the provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than two thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(3) Any person who shall be influenced, induced, or persuaded to engage with any persons mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, through or by means of any of the things therein prohibited, shall have a right of action for recovery of all damages that he shall have sustained in consequence of the false or deceptive representation, false advertising or false pretenses used to induce him to change his place of employment or to accept such employment, against any person or persons, corporations or companies or associations, directly or indirectly, causing such damage; and in addition to all such actual damages such workman may have sustained, shall be entitled to recover such reasonable attorney fees as the court shall fix, to be taxed as costs in any judgment recovered.

SEC. 103.44. Sweatshops; permits.—No owner or lessee of any factory, nor any manager, employee, or agent of such owner or lessee, and no contractor doing work for any factory, shall contract with any person to manufacture, alter, repair, or finish any articles in any tenement or dwelling house, or in any shed or other building situated in the rear of any tenement or dwelling house, unless there has been secured a permit from the industrial commission authorizing such factory or contractor to engage in home work manufacture. Such permits shall be conditioned upon compliance with sections 103.05 to 103.15, inclusive, sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, and section 146.03 of the statutes, and upon furnishing to the industrial commission any information which it may require to determine whether these provisions of the statutes are complied with in such home work manufacture. Failure to faithfully observe these conditions shall be cause for the revocation of such permits. So far as not inconsistent with the provisions of this section the provisions of sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, are made a part hereof, and the penalties therein shall be applied to and be imposed for any violations of this section.

SEC. 103.45. Time checks.—All corporations or individuals paying wages in time checks or other paper than legal money shall make such time checks or paper payable in some designated place of business in the county in which the work was performed or at the office of such corporation or individual if within the State of Wisconsin, or at any bank within said State. Any corporation or individual failing to comply with the terms of the above section shall upon conviction thereof be fined not to exceed one hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars.

SECTION 104.01. Definitions.—The following terms as used in sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, shall be construed as follows:

(1) The term "employer" shall mean and include every person, firm, or corporation, agent, manager, representative, contractor, subcontractor, or principal, or other person having control or direction of any person employed at any labor or responsible directly or indirectly for the wages of another.

(2) The term "employee" shall mean and include every person who is in receipt of or is entitled to any compensation for labor performed for any employer.

(3) The term "wage" and the term "wages" shall each mean any compensation for labor measured by time, piece, or otherwise.

(4) The term "welfare" shall mean and include reasonable comfort, reasonable physical well-being, decency, and moral well-being.

(5) The term "living wage" shall mean compensation for labor paid, whether by time, piecework, or otherwise, sufficient to enable the employee receiving it to maintain himself or herself under conditions consistent with his or her welfare.

SEC. 104.02. Living wage.—Every wage paid or agreed to be paid by any employer to any female or minor employee, except as otherwise provided in section 104.07, shall be not less than a living wage.

SEC. 104.03. Violation.—Any employer paying, offering to pay, or agreeing to pay to any female or minor employee a wage lower or less in value than a living wage shall be deemed guilty of a violation of sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, of the statutes.

SEC. 104.01. Classifications.—It shall be the duty of the industrial commission, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority to investigate, ascertain, determine, and fix such reasonable classifications and to issue general or special orders determining the living wage, and to carry out the purposes of sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, of the statutes. Such investigations, classifications, and orders, and any action, proceeding, or suit to set aside, vacate, or amend any such order of said commission, or to enjoin the enforcement thereof, shall be made pursuant to the proceeding in sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, which are hereby made a part hereof, so far as not inconsistent with the provisions of sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, of the statutes; and every order of the said commission shall have the same force and effect as the orders issued pursuant to said sections 101.01 to 101.28, inclusive, of the statutes, and the penalties therein shall apply to and be imposed for any violation of sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, of the statutes.

SEC. 104.05. Complaints: investigation. After July 1, 1913, the industrial commission may, upon its own initiative, and after July 1, 1914, the industrial commission shall, within twenty days after the filing of a verified complaint of any person setting forth that the wages paid to any female or minor employee in any occupation are not sufficient to enable such employee to maintain himself or herself under conditions consistent with his or her welfare, investigate and determine whether there is reasonable cause to believe that the wage paid to any female or minor employee is not a living wage.

SEC. 104.06. Advisory wage board.—If, upon investigation, the commission finds that there is reasonable cause to believe that the wages paid to any female or minor employee are not a living wage, it shall appoint an advisory wage board, selected so as fairly to represent employers, employees and the public, to assist in its investigations and determinations. The living-wage so determined upon shall be the living-wage for all female or minor employees, within the same class as established by the classification of the commission.

SEC. 104.07. Special licenses. The industrial commission shall make rules and regulations whereby any female or minor unable to earn the living wage theretofore determined upon, shall be granted a license to work for a wage which shall be commensurate with his or her ability. Each license so granted shall establish a wage for the licensee, and no licensee shall be employed at a wage less than the rate so established.

SEC. 104.08. Apprentices. (1) All minors working in an occupation for which a living-wage has been established for minors, and who shall have no trade, shall, if employed in an occupation which is a trade industry, be indentured under the provisions of section 106.01.

(2) A "trade" or a "trade industry" within the meaning of this act shall be a trade or an industry involving physical labor and characterized by mechanical skill and training such as render a period of instruction reasonably necessary. The industrial commission shall investigate, determine and declare what occupations and industries are included within the phrase a "trade" or a "trade industry."

(3) The industrial commission may make exceptions to the operation of subsections (1) and (2) of this section where conditions make their application unreasonable.

SEC. 104.09. Registration; records.—Every employer employing three or more females or minors shall register with the industrial commission, on blanks to be supplied by the commission. In filling out the blank he shall state separately the number of females and the number of minors employed by him, their age, sex, wages and the nature of the work at which they are employed, and shall give such other information relative to the work performed and the wages received as the industrial commission requires. Each employer shall also keep a record of the names and addresses of all women and minors employed by him, the hours of employment and wages of each, and such other records as the industrial commission requires.

SEC. 104.10. Intimidating witness.—Any employer who discharges or threatens to discharge, or in any way discriminates, or threatens to discriminate against any employee because the employee has testified or is about to testify, or because the employer believes that the employee may testify, in any investigation or proceeding relative to the enforcement of this act, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of twenty-five dollars for each offense.

SEC. 104.11. Violation.—Each day during which any employer shall employ a person for whom a living-wage has been fixed at a wage less than the living-wage fixed shall constitute a separate and distinct violation of sections 104.01 to 104.12, inclusive, of the statutes.

SEC. 104.12. Complaints.—Any person may register with the industrial commission a complaint that the wages paid to an employee for whom a living wage has been established, are less than that rate, and the industrial commission shall investigate the matter and take all proceedings necessary to enforce the payment of a wage not less than the living wage.

Conciliation of labor disputes

SECTION 104.13. Board of conciliation; conditions of labor; review.—(1) A board of conciliation is hereby created to consist of three members, one of whom shall be a skilled employee, but not having employing or discharging power, one of whom shall be an employer of labor and one of whom shall have a general knowledge of manufacturing and labor conditions. Immediately after the passage of this act, the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint such members, but no member so appointed shall act until so confirmed. The term of the first such appointee shall terminate on the first Monday of February, 1920; the term of the second such appointee shall terminate on the first Monday of February, 1921; and the term of the third such appointee shall terminate on the first Monday in February, 1922. In January, 1920, and annually thereafter, there shall be appointed and confirmed in the same manner, one member for the term of three years from the first Monday in February in such year. Each member shall hold his office until his successor is appointed and qualified.

(2) Whenever any dispute shall arise between an employer of more than twenty-five persons in a common employment, and his employees, over the wages of employees, such employer, or any number of such employees more than one-half, working in a common employment, may request the board of conciliation to investigate and report as to what is a fair, equitable, and just wage for such employees under all the circumstances surrounding both such employer and his employees. The board may, upon receiving such request, investigate and report as to what, in their opinion, is a fair, equitable, and just wage under all the circumstances and conditions surrounding both such employer and his employees. In the event such dispute shall arise between any public service corporation and its employees of any class, division or grade, and said board of conciliation shall investigate and report thereon as herein provided, and determine the wages, hours of labor, or working conditions to which such employees are reasonably entitled, such determination shall be immediately submitted to the railroad commission of Wisconsin, which railroad commission shall without delay further investigate the said matter and make and file its determination therein, confirming or modifying the report of said board within forty-five days after receiving the same. If the earnings of such public service business in which such employees are engaged are found to be sufficient to meet the cost of making the determination of the said commission effective without depriving said corporation of a fair return from the capital employed in such business, as determined by the railroad commission, said railroad commission shall order such public service corporation to make effective the wages, hours of labor, and working conditions so determined by it to be fair, equitable, and just, otherwise the commission shall provide for such a revision of the rates, tariffs and charges of such public service business as will enable it to meet such cost and yield a fair rate of return upon the capital employed therein, as determined by the railroad commission, which order of the railroad commission shall be subject to review in the manner now provided by law for the review of orders relating to the rates and service of the public service business affected by the order sought to be reviewed.

(3) The board may employ such experts as shall be necessary to assist them in making investigations under this act and such clerks and stenographers as may be necessary to perform the clerical work of the board.

(4) For the purpose of making such investigation and report, the board may issue subpœnas, compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, records, papers, and documents. In case of failure of any person to comply with any order of the board or any subpœna lawfully issued or on the refusal of any witness to testify to any matter regarding which he may be interrogated, it shall be the duty of the circuit court of any county or the judge thereof, on the application of a member of the board, to compel obedience by attachment proceedings for contempt, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of subpœna issued in such court or a refusal to testify therein.

(5) The board, or any member thereof, or any person employed by the board for that purpose, shall, upon demand, have the right to inspect the books, records, and papers of any employer who is under investigation by the board and to examine under oath any officer, agent, or employee of such employer: Provided, That any person other than a member of the board who shall make such demand or conduct such examination shall first produce his authority therefor, signed by the board or a majority thereof.

(6) No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing any books, records, papers or documents before the board on the ground or for the reason that such testimony, books, records, papers or documents may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, but no person having so testified or produced such books, records, papers or documents, shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter or thing concerning which he may have testified or produced books, records, papers or documents, provided that no person so testifying shall be exempted from prosecution or punishment for perjury in so testifying. Any person who shall willfully interfere with the board or any of its employees in conducting any examination or who shall willfully testify fasely to any matter or thing material to the investigation, or who shall, after a proper demand has been made therefor, fail or willfully refuse to produce any book, record, paper or document which is in his possession or under his control, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars for each offense.

(7) Whenever the board shall have made and compelled an investigation under the provision of this act, it shall make and file its written report thereon as soon as practicable, which report shall be open to the public and the board shall, immediately upon making and filing such report, furnish a certified copy thereof to the employer so investigated and a like certified copy thereof to his employees.

Private employment offices

Section 105.01. Scope.—[The statute covers all agencies for procuring or furnishing employment, whether as a business or incidentally, except employers hiring for themselves alone and employees of such employers.]

Secs. 105.02–105.04. False statements, etc.—[Making any statement known to be false as to the nature, conditions, duration, etc., of employment or of the agent's ability to furnish employment is forbidden, and agents must assure themselves beyond a reasonable doubt as to the truth of the material facts in the representations made. The splitting of fees is forbidden.]

Secs. 105.05–105.07. License; bond.—[A license is required for the conduct of any agency for which an annual fee of $50 is charged in cities of 30,000 inhabitants or over if only female help is supplied, other agencies pay $100 per annum.

In smaller cities and towns the fees are $10 and $25, respectively. A penal bond in the sum of $1,000 is also required, conditioned on an observance of the provisions of this law.]

Secs. 105.08–105.10. Inspection, etc.—[The industrial commission is charged with the enforcement of this law and may visit any agency and inspect its records or call for information on blanks furnished by it.]

Sec. 105.11. Fees.—[A schedule of fees or charges to be made by any agency must be furnished the commission, and no license will be issued unless such charges are reasonable. Changes may be made only with the approval of the commission; no registration fee may be charged without its permission.]

Sec. 105.12. Bureaus for women.—[Agencies for women must furnish application cards on which are entered particulars as to the employment to be furnished. No female may be sent to a house of immoral resort or bad repute known to be such or of which knowledge could be obtained by reasonable effort. A record must be kept of persons placed in service and the facts as to their applications.]

Sec. 105.13. Refusing or revoking license.—[The commission may refuse license to persons found by investigation to be of unfit character or seeking to conduct an agency in an unfit place, and licenses may be revoked on failure to comply with the law or regulations thereunder. Licenses may also be withheld if it appears that the community is adequately served by free public agencies.]

Secs. 105.14, 105.15. Regulations; reports, etc.—[The commission may make rules, prescribe records, call for reports, and safeguard the public or persons seeking employment against fraud, misrepresentation, etc.]

Sec. 105.16. Farm labor.—Clerks of municipalities in which no licensed agency exists shall receive applications for employment as farm laborers, reporting placements monthly to the industrial commission. Employers are to pay 25 cents for each time assisted in securing such labor.]

Factory regulations—Cigar factories

Section 110.01. No basements.—No shop or place wherein cigars are manufactured shall be located below the ground floor.

Sec. 110.02. Floor space.—Each employee in any shop or place wherein cigars are manufactured shall, while actually employed, be allowed to use twenty square feet of surface space, unobstructed to the ceiling.

Sec. 110.03. Air space.—Every room wherein cigars are manufactured shall contain at least seven hundred cubic feet of air space. It shall in every part be not less than eight feet in height from floor to ceiling, every window shall have not less than twelve square feet in superficial area, and the entire area of window surface shall not be less than twelve per cent of the floor space of such room.

Sec. 110.04. Ventilation.—Every room in which cigars are manufactured while work is carried on shall be so ventilated that the air shall not become impure and injurious to the health of the persons employed therein, and it shall wherever necessary, by the means of air shafts or other ventilation, be so changed as to render harmless all gases, dust, and other impurities generated in the process of manufacturing cigars. All windows are to be kept open for thirty minutes before working hours and for thirty minutes after working hours.

Sec. 110.05. Sanitation.—Every such shop or place in which one or more persons are employed and every such factory in which five or more persons are employed shall be kept clean. The dust must be removed from work tables and floors once every day, the floors scrubbed at least once a week, and one cuspidor provided for every two employees.

Sec. 110.06. Closets.—Where men and women are employed there shall be separate dressing rooms and water-closets for the different sexes.

Secs. 110.07, 110.08. Violations; enforcement.—[Penalty for violations is a fine, $10 to $25 for a first and $25 to $50 for subsequent offenses. Enforcement rests with the factory inspector, but no penalty will be enforced as to secs. 110.02–110.04 until after notice of at least four weeks and continued noncompliance.]

Wages preferred—In assignments

Section 128.02. Preferences.—[All preferences in cases of voluntary assignments, except for wages of laborers, servants, and employees earned within the preceding six months, are void as to the preference, but valid for all other purposes.]

SEC. 128.16. Payment.—[Before paying any dividends to creditors generally the assignee shall pay wages earned by laborers, servants, and employees within the six months preceding the assignment, after paying unpaid taxes and assessments, debts due the United States or the State, and the expenses of the assignment.]

Labor organizations—Injunctions—Collective agreements

SECTION 133.05. Exemptions.—Nothing contained in the antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations instituted for the purposes of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations, or the members thereof, be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, under the antitrust laws. The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce.

SEC. 133.07. Organization permitted; injunctions.—(1) Working people may organize themselves into or carry on labor unions and other associations or organizations for the purpose of aiding their members to become more skillful and efficient workers, the promotion of their general intelligence, the elevation of their character; the regulation of their wages and their hours and conditions of labor, the protection of their individual rights in the prosecution of their trade or trades, the raising of funds for the benefit of sick, disabled, or unemployed members, or the families of deceased members, or for such other object or objects for which working people may lawfully combine, having in view their mutual protection or benefit.

(2) No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of this State, in any case between an employer and employees, or between employers and employees, or between employees, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving or growing out of any dispute whatsoever concerning employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant, or by his agent or attorney. No such restraining order or injunction shall be granted except by the circuit court or by a court of concurrent jurisdiction in equity, and then only upon such reasonable notice of application therefor as a presiding judge of such court may direct by order to show cause, but in no case less than forty-eight hours, which shall be served upon such party or parties sought to be restrained or enjoined as shall be specified in such order to show cause.

(3) No such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment, or from ceasing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where any such person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or from peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful and lawful means so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peaceably assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of any laws of this State.

(4) Whenever in any matter relating to the violation of any such restraining order or injunction an issue of fact shall arise, such issue shall be tried by a jury, in the same manner as provided for the trial of other cases.

SEC. 133.08. Collective bargaining.—Sections 133.01, 133.04, 133.21 and 226.07 [relating to combinations, trusts, etc.] shall be so construed as to permit collective bargaining by associations of producers of agricultural products and by associations of employees when such bargaining is actually and expressly done for the individual benefit of the separate members of each such association making such collective bargaining.

Factory, etc., regulations—Sweatshops

SECTION 146.03. Home manufacturing.—(1) Under this section "manufacturer" shall mean the owner or lessee of any factory or contractor for such owner or lessee, "manufactured" shall mean manufactured, altered, repaired, or finished, and "home" shall mean any tenement or dwelling, or a shed or other building in the rear thereof.

(2) No articles shall be manufactured for a manufacturer in a home unless he shall have secured a license from the local health officer, which shall designate the room, apartment, or building and name the persons to be employed. License shall be granted only upon payment of a fee of one dollar, and when the health officer shall have satisfied himself through inspection that the place is clean and fit for the purpose and that none of the persons employed or living therein are afflicted with any communicable disease likely to be transmitted to consumers. The license shall be issued for one year. At least one reinspection shall be made during the year, and the license revoked if reinspection discloses improper conditions. The license shall be kept on file in the principal office of the licensee.

(3) The State board of health and the industrial commission may jointly adopt and enforce rules and regulations for local health officers hereunder, and may prohibit home work upon specified articles when necessary to protect health of consumers or workers. Subsections (3), (4), and (5) of section 140.05 shall apply.

(4) Every manufacturer giving out articles or materials to be manufactured in any home shall issue therewith a label bearing the name or place of business of the factory, written or printed legibly in English, and shall keep a register of the names and addresses of the persons to whom given, and with whom contracts to do so were made, the quantities given out and completed and the wages paid. This register may be inspected by the State health officer, a deputy State health officer, the local health officer, or a deputy of the industrial commission.

(5) Anyone who shall for himself or as manager or agent give out materials to be manufactured, in a home, for an unlicensed manufacturer or who shall employ, or contract with anyone to do such work without such license shall forfeit to the State not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

Factory, etc., regulations—Spitting

SECTION 146.08. Cuspidors.—[Spitting on the floor of any factory is forbidden. Notice to that effect must be posted, and adequate cuspidors must be supplied and provisions made for their cleaning daily.]

Safety appliances—Corn huskers and shredders—Wood saws

SECTION 167.12. Safety appliances.—Any person, firm, or corporation who shall sell, offer, or expose for sale, or use any machine to be operated by steam, or other power, for the purpose of husking or shredding corn or corn stalks shall provide such machines with safety or automatic feeding devices for the protection from accident by the snapping rollers, husking rollers, and shredding knives of any person using or operating such machine in the discharge of his duty, and such machine shall be so guarded that the person feeding said machine shall be compelled to stand at a safe distance from the snapping rollers; and any person, firm, or corporation operating such machine shall maintain thereon such safety or automatic feeding devices. The duty to equip such machine with safety or automatic feeding devices, as well as the duty to maintain the same, shall be absolute; and the exercise of ordinary care on the part of such person, firm, or corporation operating such machine shall not be deemed a compliance with such duty; and in case any person in the employ of such person, firm, or corporation operating such machine continues in such employment when such device has not been installed and maintained, as above provided, such employee shall not be deemed guilty of a want of ordinary care, on account of so continuing in such employment.

SEC. 167.13. Operation.—No person, firm, or corporation shall use, operate, or permit to be used or operated any such machine purchased prior to June 12, 1909, unless during all the time such machine shall be used and operated it shall be in charge of a competent person whose sole duty shall be to oversee and attend to the operation and use of the same; nor use, operate, or permit to be used or operated any such machine whatever while the safety devices or guards are detached.

SEC. 167.14. Sale regulated.—No such machine shall be sold or offered or exposed for sale unless the said machine shall have plainly marked upon it the name and location of the person, firm, or corporation manufacturing the same.

SEC. 167.15. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the industrial commission to enforce the provisions of sections 167.12 to 167.15, inclusive: Provided, That nothing therein contained shall be construed to authorize such industrial commission to select or compel the adoption of any particular or special safety device, and that the question of the reasonable safety of any such device used by any manufacturer shall be subject to judicial determination.

SEC. 167.16. Wood sawing machines.—No person, firm, or corporation shall offer or expose for sale any machine for the purpose of sawing wood unless the said machine shall be provided with reasonable safety devices for the protection from accidents from saws, gears, knuckles, belts, set screws, or other dangerous parts.

SEC. 167.17. Use without guards.—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation owning such machine to use, operate, or permit to be used or operated any such machine while the safety devices or guards are detached.

SEC. 167.18. Penalty.—Any such person, firm, or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of sections 167.16 to 167.19, inclusive, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense.

SEC. 167.19. Complaint.—Upon complaint to the industrial commission it shall be its duty to enforce the provisions of sections 167.16 to 167.19, inclusive.

Factory, etc., regulations—Dyeing and cleaning establishments

SECTION 167.21. Regulations.—

* * * * * * *

(5) It shall be the duty of every person, firm, or corporation owning, managing, controlling, or maintaining any such cleaning or dyeing establishment or business in this State to conduct, operate, and maintain the same in the manner provided by law with a strict regard for protection against fire hazards and protection of the health and safety of its employees and the general public, in accordance with all lawful rules and regulations prescribed from time to time by the industrial commission in whom full power for such purposes is hereby vested. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation owning, managing, controlling, or maintaining any such cleaning or dyeing establishment or business to advertise, conduct, operate, or maintain the same in violation of the provisions of this section, or in violation of any lawful rule, regulation, or order made or adopted by the industrial commission as herein provided.

Railroads—Height of wires over tracks

SECTION 180.23. Regulation.—[The size and spacing of poles, modes of guying, tying wires, and bracing cross arms are prescribed. Wires must not be less than 25 feet above the track except trolley wires, which must be not less than 22 feet.]

Wages preferred—In receiverships of railroads

SECTION 192.04. Rank.—[A receiver of a railroad corporation must report the amount due laborers and employees, and wages earned within six months prior to the appointment of the receiver shall be paid next after current operating expenses.]

Railroads—Safety provisions—Telegraph operators

SECTION 192.28. Frogs to be guarded.—Every railroad corporation shall erect and maintain sufficient guards or blocks at the front and rear of every frog in its track. If any such corporation, its officers, agents, or servants shall violate or fail to comply with any of the provisions of this section or fail to sufficiently guard such frogs, it shall, for each and every such violation or failure, forfeit not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, one-half to the person prosecuting, and shall in addition be liable to the person injured for all damages sustained thereby, whether such person shall be a servant or agent of such corporation or not, and notwithstanding such violation or failure shall arise or occur through the negligence of some other agent or servant thereof.

This section does not do away with the defense of contributory negligence. 80 Wis. 299.

SEC. 192.31. Erection of telltales compelled.—[Whenever there is any obstruction of a height of less than seven feet above the roof of any freight car, telltales must be made and placed at or near such obstruction.]

SEC. 192.32. Construction.—[This section gives specifications for the erection of telltales.]

SEC. 192.33. Violations.—[Failure to comply with this act for the space of 60 days entails a fine, $50 to $100, and the same penalty is incurred for every 20 days' delay thereafter.]

SEC. 192.34. Report.—[A railroad or other company operating a railroad shall report to the railroad commission each year, showing location of all obstructions of a height of less than seven feet above the roof of any freight car and give a statement that the law has been complied with.]

SEC. 192.35. Risk not assumed.—An employee of a railroad corporation who is injured by or because of the existence of any bridge, viaduct, or other obstruction over, above, or across any of the tracks of said railroad at a height less than that provided in sections 192.31 to 192.35, inclusive, which has not been protected by the erection of telltales, as provided in sections 192.31 to 192.35, inclusive, shall not be considered to have assumed the risk of such injury, although he continues in the employ of such corporation after the existence of such unguarded bridge, viaduct, or other obstruction has been brought to his knowledge.

SEC. 192.36. Railroad telegraph operators.—(1) It shall be unlawful for any common carrier by railroad, carrying freight or passengers between points within this State, to employ any telegraph operator, except an assistant under an experienced operator, who shall not have attained the age of eighteen years and who shall not have had actual experience as a telegraph operator, or who shall not have had at least six months' actual experience under the tutorship of an experienced railroad telegraph operator, or who shall not have been graduated from a school of telegraphy having at least a six months' course.

(2) Any common carrier by railroad or any of its officers or agents who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars for each offense.

Liability of railroad companies for wage debts of predecessors

SECTION 192.53. Construction work.—[If a contractor owes any laborer on railway construction for not over 30 days' labor, such laborer may, within 30 days, serve notice on the company or its agent, which shall thereby become directly liable for such debt.]

SEC. 192.54. Prior indebtedness.—Whenever any railway corporation shall become the successor of a preexisting railway corporation which operated a railroad in this State and was indebted to its employees of whatever grade for services performed by them within six months prior to its disposal of its road such first-mentioned railway company shall be liable for the amount then due such employees.

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

SECTION 192.55. Personal injury liability.—Every railroad company shall be liable for damages for all injuries whether resulting in death or not, sustained by any of its employees, subject to the provisions hereinafter contained regarding contributory negligence and assumption of risk on the part of the injured employee:

(1) When such injury is caused by a defect or insufficiency in any locomotive, engine, car, rail, track, roadbed, machinery, or appliance used by its employees in and about the business of their employment.

(2) When such injury shall have been sustained by any officer, agent, servant, or employee of such company, while engaged in the line of his duty as such and which such injury shall have been caused in whole or in greater part by the negligence of any other officer, agent, servant, or employee of such company, in the discharge of, or by reason of the failure to discharge his duties as such.

(3) In all actions hereafter brought against such railroad company under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this section to recover damages for personal injuries to any employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such railroad company of any statutes enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee: Provided, further, That in any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to, or death of, any of its employees such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risk of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statutes enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

(4) Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any railroad company to exempt itself from any liability created by this section shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such railroad company under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this section such railroad company may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

(5) In all cases under this section the question of negligence and contributory negligence shall be for the jury.

(6) No contract or receipt between any employee and a railroad company, no rule or regulation promulgated or adapted by such company, and no contract, rule, or regulation in regard to any notice to be given by such employee shall exempt such corporation from the full liability imposed by this section.

(7) The phrase "railroad company," as used in this section, shall be taken to embrace any company, association, corporation, or person managing, maintaining, operating, or in possession of a railroad in whole or in part within this State whether as owner, contractor, lessee, mortgagee, trustee, assignee, or receiver.

(8) In any action brought in the courts of this State by a resident thereof, or the representative of a deceased resident, to recover damages in accordance with this section, where the employee of any railroad company owning or operating a railroad extending into or through this State and into or through any other State or States shall have received his injuries in any other State where such railroad is owned or operated, and the contract of employment shall have been made in this State, it shall not be competent for such railroad company to plead or prove the decisions or statutes of the State where such person shall have been injured as a defense to the action brought in this State.

(9) The provisions of this section shall not apply to employees working in shops or offices.

Street railways—Vestibules—Safety appliances

SECTION 193.04. Inclosures.—[A suitable protection of iron or glass must be installed on winter cars, in use between November 1 and April 1, with the exception of trailers. Penalty, $50 to $100 fine for each day's violation.]

SEC. 193.20. Safety devices.—(1) Every person, partnership, or corporation owning or operating a street or interurban car line shall provide and equip each and every motor car weighing over forty thousand pounds net or empty weight, used for the transportation of passengers or freight, and added to the service from and after the passage of this act, with air brakes of modern design, to be approved by the railroad commission.

(2) Nothing herein contained shall limit or restrict the power of the railroad commission to order air brakes upon other cars.

(3) Any such corporation neglecting or refusing to comply with any of the foregoing provisions shall forfeit and pay a penalty to the State of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and each day's operation of one or more cars in violation of this act shall be considered a separate offense.

SEC. 193.31. Window cleaners.—(1) Every corporation owning or operating a street or interurban car line in this State shall equip each of its motor driven cars with a suitable mechanical device designed for the removal of snow and water from a sufficient portion of the window in front of the motorman to afford an unobstructed view. Such device shall be attached to such window so as to permit its being used by the motorman without leaving his position while operating said car. Such mechanical device is to be of a design approved by the railroad commission.

(2) Any such corporation neglecting or refusing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 5595. Preference in administration.—[Wages due servants and employees for services rendered within 60 days prior to the death are to be paid in administration, together with expenses of the last sickness, next after funeral expenses and expenses of administration.]

Seats for female employees

SECTION 5815. Seats to be provided.—Every person or corporation employing females in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment in the State of Wyoming shall provide suitable seats for females so employed, and shall permit the use of such seats by them when they are not necessarily engaged in the active duties for which they are employed. Any person or corporation who shall violate the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be considered guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than thirty dollars for each and every offense.

Wages of aliens—Prior contract

SECTION 5976. Receiving money for labor of alien under contract.—Any person, whether he or she acts for himself or herself, or as agent, attorney, or employee for another or others, who shall, in pursuance of or by virtue of, any contract made with any alien or foreigner, made before such alien or foreigner came into this State, receive or offer to receive any money, pay, or remuneration for the labor or services of any alien or foreigner, excepting the person so performing such labor or services, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined in a sum not less than five hundred dollars and not more than five thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the county jail for not less than three months nor more than twelve months for each and every offense.

Chapter 74.—Mine regulations—Weighing coal

Sections 1–3, 4 (as amended 1919, ch. 126), 5, 6. Screening; weighman; scales.—[Where miners are paid at bushel or ton rates, screening so as to remove any marketable coal before it is weighed and credited is forbidden. Weighmen must serve under oath, and the miners may employ a checkweighman who shall have the same rights and be under the same obligations as the weighman. Scales must be adjusted daily, and fraudulent weighing is a misdemeanor.]

Chapter 101.—Inspection of coal mines—Examination

Sections 1–6. Board of examiners; duties.—[The governor is authorized to appoint a board of qualified persons to examine applicants for the office of State mine inspector. Annual meetings are directed.

Applicant must be 30 years of age, experienced, and with a practical knowledge of mining engineering; appointments to be made from the eligibles secured.]

Chapter 68.—Mine regulations—Telephones

Sections 1, 2. Equipment required.—[A system of party-line telephones must be installed in each coal mine in operation in the State, serving each hoisting shaft and other points designated. Positions may be changed if found more serviceable in the opinion of the State inspector.]

Chapter 89.—Mine regulations—Check numbers on cars

Sections 1, 2. Changing numbers.—[Changing or removing numbers or check numbers on cars with the intent of cheating or defrauding miners or loaders in mines is a misdemeanor.]

Chapter 90.—Hours of labor on public works

Section 1. Eight-hour day.—The time of service of all laborers or workmen or mechanics employed upon any public works of the State of Wyoming, or of any county, city, and town, or any other political subdivision thereof, whether said work is done by contract or otherwise, shall be limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day, except in cases of emergency caused by fire, flood, or danger to life and property; or except to work upon public or military works or defenses in time of war.

Sec. 2. Violations.—[Penalty for violations is a fine, $100 to $500, or imprisonment 1 to 6 months, or both.]

Chapter 132.—Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

Section 1. Company liable, when.—Every person or corporation operating a railroad in the State shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such person or corporation so operating any such railroad, or, in case of the death of such employee, instantaneously or otherwise, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee; and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury and death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employers of such person or corporation so operating such railroad in or about the handling, movement, or operation of any train, engine, or car, on or over such railroad, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to its negligence in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, or other equipment.

Sec. 2. Negligence to be measured.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such person or corporation so operating such railroad, under and by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such person or corporation so operating such railroad or any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 3. Assumption of risk.—Any employee of any such person or corporation so operating such railroad shall not be deemed to have assumed any risk incident to his employment when such risk arises by reason of the negligence of his employer or of any person in the service of such employer.

SEC. 4. Contracts exempting from liability.—Any contract, rule, or regulation or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any such person or corporation so operating such railroad to exempt itself from any liability created by this act shall, to that extent, be void. Nor shall any contract of insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity in case of injury or death entered into prior to the injury between the person so injured and such corporation, or any person or association acting for such corporation, nor shall the acceptance of any insurance, relief, benefit, or indemnity by the person injured, his widow, heirs, or legal representatives after the injury, from such corporation, person, or association, constitute any bar or defense to any cause of action brought under the provisions of this chapter, but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or invalidate any settlement for damages between the employer and employees subsequent to injuries received.

CHAPTER 77—Employment of children

SECTION 1a (added 1923, ch. 48). Employment during school hours.—[No child required by law to attend school may be employed in any way during the time the schools are in session.]

SEC. 2. Illegal, immoral, etc., occupations.—[No child under 16 may be employed for any illegal or immoral purpose or in any place or vocation injurious to morals or health or dangerous to life or limb.]

SEC. 3 (as amended 1923, ch. 48). Dangerous employments.—[No child under 16 may be employed in or in connection with designated dangerous occupations. For a similar list see secs. 3145, 3148, Delaware Code.]

SEC. 4 (as amended 1923, ch. 48). Work time.—[No child under 16 may work at other than domestic and farm service more than 6 days or 48 hours per week, or more than 8 hours per day, and not between 7 p. m. and 7 a. m.]

SEC. 5. Seats.—[No female under 18 shall be employed where constant standing is required, and employers of such females must furnish suitable seats and permit their use in so far as the nature of the work allows.]

SECS. — (added 1923, ch. 48). Certificates.—[Children under 16 may not be employed in other than domestic and personal service unless the employer has a permit issued by a permit officer appointed by the child-labor commissioner. Proof of age, a statement of intended employment, the completion of 8 years of schooling, and a health certificate are required. Enforcement rests with the child-labor commission and all police, peace, and probation officers.]

CHAPTER 146.—Accidents—Reports and investigation

SECTION 44 (as amended 1917, ch. 74). Public utilities.—[All public utilities must report to the public service commission, under rules laid down by it, all accidents resulting in loss of life or injury to person. The commission shall make such investigations as it deems required, and may make orders with reference thereto.]

ACTS OF 1917

CHAPTER 18.—Factory, etc., regulations—Fire escapes

SECTION 1. What buildings to have fire escapes.—* * * Every * * * factory or workshop three or more stories in height shall be provided with safe and suitable metallic, tunnel[,] iron or fireproof ladders or stair fire escapes with guard rail of sufficient strength attached to the outside walls thereof and extending from or suitably near the ground to the uppermost story thereof with platforms not less than six by three feet and of such shape and size and in such proximity to the windows of each story above the first as to render access to such ladders or stairs from each story easy and safe to the occupants of such buildings in case of fire, and it shall be the duty of every proprietor, custodian, superintendent, or person or persons having charge and control of such public buildings mentioned and described herein to post notices in every hall, and in a public and conspicuous place in such building, designating the places on each and every floor of such building where such fire escapes are located and may be found.

SEC. 3. Exits.—Every building now or hereafter used, in whole or in part, as a factory, mill, workshop, garage, office, bakery, laundry, store, and any other building or buildings in which people are employed at manual or other labor shall be provided with proper and sufficient means of escape in case of fire by two or more ways of egress, and all doors leading into or to such factory, mill, workshop, garage, office, bakery, laundry, store, and any other building or buildings in which people are employed at manual or other labor shall not be locked, bolted, or fastened during working hours [so] as to prevent free and easy access therefrom.

SEC. 4. Ways to be unobstructed.—All such metallic, iron, or fireproof ladders or stair fire escapes, stairways, hallways, or means of egress mentioned or described in this act shall at all times be kept free from any obstruction, in good repair, and ready for use, and at night or where lights are necessary in the daytime a red light shall be provided with the words inscribed thereon "FIRE ESCAPE": Provided, That on all hotel, theater, school, and hospital buildings two or more stories in height said stairways shall extend from each floor of said building to the ground and shall not be less than three feet wide, the risers of said stairs shall not be greater than eight inches, and the treads not less than ten inches wide, and the platform not less than three feet wide, and in all cases the full width of the stairs. All such stairs shall have proper guardrails not less than twenty-eight inches high. Where tubing is used for guardrails they shall be not more than ten inches apart, and where balusters are used they shall be not more than six inches apart.

CHAPTER 113.—Commissioner of labor and statistics—Factory, etc., regulations

SECTION 1. Office created.—There is hereby created the office of commissioner of labor and statistics, whose powers and duties shall be as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. Appointment.—The governor shall within thirty days after the passage of this act appoint a commissioner of labor and statistics whose term shall be four years and until his successor is appointed and qualified: Provided, That no person shall be appointed as State commissioner of labor, who shall have been an official in any labor organization at any time during a period of six months prior to such appointment. In case of a vacancy in the office caused by death, resignation, or incapacity to act the governor shall fill such vacancy by an appointment for the unexpired term.

SEC. 3. Office.—The commissioner of labor and statistics shall be furnished with office room in the capitol building in the State capitol [capital] in which he shall maintain his office and records.

SEC. 4. Duties.—It shall be the duty of the commissioner of labor and statistics to enforce all laws enacted by the Legislature of Wyoming, relating to labor and to the health, welfare, life, and limb of the workers of this State; to make an inspection of the industrial establishments and buildings hereinafter provided for, and to report biennially to the governor his findings, together with any recommendations thereon that he may consider as being helpful.

SEC. 5. Statistics.—The commissioner of labor shall collect, classify, have printed, and submit to the governor in the biennial report of the commissioner of labor and statistics, as hereinafter provided, the following statistics touching the industrial life of the State, to wit: The hours of labor and number of [each] sex engaged in manual labor, the aggregate and average daily wages classified by sex and occupation; the number and character of accidents, the working conditions of all industrial establishments (including manufacturing establishments, hotels, stores, workshops, theaters, halls, and other places where labor is employed), and such other information relating to industrial, economic, social, educational, moral, and sanitary conditions of the working class, as the commissioner may deem needful to protect the work of his office; and such [commissioner] shall also gather all available statistics from similar departments in other States as may by him be deemed advisable.

SEC. 6. Doors in work places.—All doors leading into or to any manufacturing establishments, mills, workshops, offices, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, theaters, halls, or other buildings in which people are employed, shall be so constructed as to open outward, when practicable, and shall not be locked, bolted or fastened so as to prevent free egress during working hours. Proper and substantial handrails shall be provided on all stairways in manufacturing establishments, mills, workshops, offices, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, theaters, halls, and other buildings where people are employed or rooms rented to the public. And he shall have authority to enforce by due process of law, the provisions of this section, and other laws relating to fire escapes.

SEC. 7. Hoistways, etc.—The openings of all hoistways, hatchways, elevators, well holes and stairways in manufacturing establishments, mills, workshops, bakeries, laundries, stores, hotels, theaters, halls, or any other kind of establishment where labor is employed, or machinery used, shall be protected by trap doors, hatches, fences, automatic gates or other safeguards, and all due diligence shall be used to keep all such means of protection closed, except when it is necessary to have the same open for use when practicable. All machinery, in use in any mercantile, manufacturing, or any other establishment whatsoever where labor is employed, shall be equipped with proper shifters for throwing on and off pulleys, loose pulleys and other such safeguards as may be deemed necessary by the commissioner of labor for the proper safeguard of life and limb.

SEC. 8. Terms construed.—Manufacturing establishments, as those words are used in this act, shall mean and include all smelters, oil refineries, cement works, mills of every kind, machine and repair shops, and in addition to the foregoing, any other kind or character of manufacturing establishment, of any nature or description whatsoever, wherein any natural product or other articles or materials of any kind, in a raw or unfinished or incomplete state or condition, are converted into a new or improved or different form. Wherever [wherever] the expression occurs in this act is substantially the following words: "Every person owning or operating any manufacturing establishment["], or where language similar to that is used, the word "person" in that connection shall be held and construed to mean any person or persons, partnership, corporation, receiver, trust, trustee, or any other person or combination of persons, either natural or artificial, by whatever name he or they may be called.

SEC. 9. Access to work places.—The commissioner of labor shall have power to enter any manufacturing establishment, mill, workshop, office, bakery, laundry, store, hotel, theater, hall, or any public or private works where labor is employed, rooms are rented to the public, or machinery is used, for the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this act.

SEC. 10. Witnesses.—The commissioner of labor shall have the power to administer oaths, to examine witnesses under oath, to compel the attendance of witnesses, and the giving of testimony in any part of this State. Witnesses may be summoned by the commissioner in [by] process issued in same manner as in district court: Provided, That no witness shall be compelled to go outside of the county in which he or she resides to testify.

SEC. 11. Prosecutions.—The county and prosecuting attorney of any county in this State shall upon complaint on oath of the commissioner of labor prosecute to termination before any court of competent jurisdiction, in the name of the State of Wyoming, actions or proceedings against any person or persons charged with violation of any of the provisions of this act or any of the laws of this State enacted for the protection of employees.

SEC. 12. Reports.—On or before the first day of December, 1918, and biennially thereafter, the commissioner of labor shall make a complete report to the governor in writing, which report shall cover statistics gathered in this State, the conditions discovered by his inspections of industrial establishments in this State, relating particularly to industrial or working conditions, and the economic, social, educational, moral, and sanitary conditions of the workers therein; the efforts made to enforce the laws as comprehended by this act; together with such recommendations as he shall deem advisable as relating to the welfare of the working people of the State and to the efficiency of his office.

SEC. 13. Oath; bond.—The commissioner of labor before entering upon the duties of his office shall take the oath of office prescribed by law and shall enter into a bond, with sufficient sureties to the State of Wyoming, in the sum of $2,000, conditioned for the faithful performance and discharge of the duties of his office.

SEC. 14 (as amended 1919, ch. 31). Salaries.—The salary of the commissioner of labor shall be two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) per annum, such compensation to be audited and paid in the same manner as the salaries of other State officers. The commissioner shall appoint a deputy commissioner of labor whose salary shall be one thousand eight hundred dollars ($1,800) per annum, such compensation to be audited and paid monthly as other State salaries are paid. The deputy labor commissioner shall work under the direction of the commissioner of labor and statistics, who shall be responsible for his official acts. His term of office shall extend during the pleasure of the commissioner of labor and statistics or until his successor is appointed.

SEC. 15 (as amended 1919, ch. 31). Expenses.—In addition to the salaries provided for in the preceding section the commissioner of labor shall be allowed for the other expenses of his office the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) per annum; all such compensation for expenses shall be audited and paid in the same manner as the expenses of other State officers: Provided, Said commissioner shall have printed not more than one thousand five hundred copies of his biennial report for the use of his office and general distribution; also such printed matter and supplies as may be necessary for the conduct of his office, and the expenses thereof shall be audited in the same manner as other State printing and supplies.

SEC. 16. Violations.—[Penalty for violations is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment not exceeding 90 days, or both.]

SEC. 17. Exemptions.—Provided, Nothing herein contained shall be construed to be applicable to coal and metalliferous mines and workshops connected therewith as such mines and workshops are by law placed under the jurisdiction of State coal mine inspectors or of the State geologist, nor shall anything herein be construed to apply to railroads engaged in interstate commerce or workshops connected therewith, the same being under Federal jurisdiction.

CHAPTER 16.—Mine regulations—Electric lines

SECTION 1. Construction.—[Underground power lines shall be constructed and equipped with a view to the safety of the employees, and must be as near the roof as possible. At crossovers and where feed wires or wires of high voltage are along travel ways the wires must be in trenches or conduits, or be fenced, and dangerous places posted with warning signs.]

CHAPTER 59.—Private employment offices

SECTION 1. License.—[No agency may be carried on without a license from the commissioner of labor and statistics. In cities of 5,000 and over, the annual fee is $25, and in smaller places, $10. The license and a copy of the act must be conspicuously posted in the agency.]

SEC. 3. Bond.—[A bond of $500 is conditioned on compliance with the act.]

SEC. 4. Revocation.—[Licenses may be revoked on complaint and after hearing, for violations of this act.]

SEC. 5. Register.—[A register, open to inspection at all reasonable hours, must be kept of all applicants for help or servants, giving the name and nature of the employment for which help is wanted.]

SEC. 6. Registration fee.—[Where a registration fee is charged, it may not exceed $1, unless the position pays more than $3 per day, when a fee of $2 may be charged. A duplicate receipt must be given, and if no position is secured within 3 days, the full amount of the fee shall be returned on demand.]

SEC. 7. Fraud.—[False advertising or the giving of false information or making false promises is forbidden.]

SEC. 8. Enforcement.—[Enforcement is vested in the commissioner of labor and statistics.]

CHAPTER 73.—Payment of wages—Semimonthly pay day

SECTION 1. Scope of law.—Every person, firm, or corporation engaged in the operation of any railroad, mine, refinery, and work incidental to prospecting for, or the production of oil and gas, or other factory, mill, or workshop, within the State of Wyoming shall, on or before the third day of each month, pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the first half of the preceding month ending with the fifteenth day thereof, and on or before the eighteenth day of each month pay the employees thereof the wages earned by them during the last half of the preceding month: Provided, however, That if at any time of payment any employee shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor, and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, he or she shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand on the proper paymaster or at the place where such wages are usually paid: Provided further, Every employer shall establish and maintain regular pay days as herein provided and shall post and maintain copies of this law printed in plain type in at least two (2) conspicuous places where such notices can be seen by the employees.

Nothing in this bill, however, shall be so construed as to mean that on any special occasion where it appears to be satisfactory and beneficial to both employer and employee, that they shall not have the right to agree either verbally or in writing, as to where and at what time, other than every fifteen days, wages shall be paid: Provided, That it shall be unlawful for any employer to require any employee to enter into any such agreement as a condition to entering into or remaining in his service.

SEC. 2. Termination of employment.—Whenever an employee quits the service or is discharged therefrom, such employee shall be paid whatever wages are due him or her in lawful money of the United States of America, or by check or draft which can be cashed at a bank, and said wages shall be paid within a reasonable time thereafter.

CHAPTER 61.—Mine regulations—Firing shots

SECTIONS 1–7. Shot firers; duties.—[In mines employing more than 10 men as miners and where more than 2 pounds of powder are used in any blast, if gas is generated in dangerous quantities, and 60 per cent of the miners make such demand, the State inspector shall examine the mine or mines in question, and if he finds the employment of shot firers necessary for the safety of the employees he shall require their employment. They must be competent and experienced men. The firing of shots is regulated, and changing drill holes after approval by the inspector forbidden.]

CHAPTER 62.—Employment of women

SECTION 1. Hours of work.—No female shall be employed in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, public lodging house, apartment house, place of amusement, or restaurant, or telephone or telegraph establishment or office, or in any express or transportation company in the State of Wyoming more than eight and one-half (8½) hours in any one day or more than fifty-six (56) hours in any one week; provided, however, that this act shall not apply to females working in a telephone or telegraph office or exchange in which three (3) or less females are employed; and further provided, that the provisions of this section in relation to the hours of employment shall not apply to nor affect the harvesting, curing, canning, or drying of any variety of perishable fruit or vegetable, nor to nurses in training in hospitals.

SEC. 2. Seats to be provided.—Every employer in any manufacturing, mechanical, or mercantile establishment, laundry, hotel, or restaurant, or other establishment, employing any female, shall provide suitable seats for all female employees, and shall permit them to use such seats when they are not engaged in the active duties of their employment. Every such employer shall keep posted in an open and conspicuous place in each room where such females are at work a copy of this act printed in such form and style as may be easily read.

SEC. 3. Enforcement.—The district attorneys of the respective counties of this State, and the attorney general of this State, shall enforce the provisions of this act, and said district attorneys, and said attorney general and their deputies and agents, shall have all powers and authority of sheriffs or other peace officers to make arrests for violations of the provisions of this act, and to serve all processes and notices thereunder throughout the State.

SEC. 6. Emergency.—Nothing in this act shall forbid the employment of any female at any time where an emergency exists or unusual pressing business or necessity demands it, and if under such conditions a female does work overtime she shall not be paid less than time and a half for each and every hour of overtime in any one day.

CHAPTER 63.—Mine regulations—Wash rooms

SECTIONS 1–5. When wash rooms to be supplied; equipment, etc.—[Owners, etc., of coal mines employing 20 or more miners must, on request of 60 per cent of the employees, erect a bathhouse, suitably equipped with lockers, and supplied with hot and cold water. The employees furnish their own towels and soap and are responsible for property left therein. A monthly fee, not exceeding $1, may be charged for the use of the house or room. Mines to which water for household or drinking purposes is hauled in railroad cars are exempt from the requirements of this act.]

Bureau of Mines—Safety

(Acts of Feb. 25, 1913, March 3, 1915, July 1, 1916)

SECTIONS 783-783c. Duties and powers.—[A bureau of mines in the Department of the Interior is charged, among other things, with the duty of making investigations with a view to improving health conditions and increasing safety, safeguarding the use of electricity and explosives, the preventon of fires, and the development of first aid and rescue work. Experiment stations and safety stations, movable or stationary, are to be established, and land, sidings, and housing secured for headquarters for mine rescue cars.]

Department of Labor

(Acts of March 4, 1913, June 30, 1922)

SECTION 932. Department created.—There is hereby created an executive department in the Government to be called the Department of Labor, with a Secretary of Labor, who shall be the head thereof, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; and who shall receive a salary of twelve thousand dollars per annum, and whose tenure of office shall be like that of the heads of the other executive departments; and section one hundred and fifty-eight of the Revised Statutes is hereby amended to include such department, and the provisions of title four of the Revised Statutes, including all amendments thereto, are hereby made applicable to said department; and the Department of Commerce and Labor shall hereafter be called the Department of Commerce, and the Secretary thereof shall be called the Secretary of Commerce, and the act creating the said Department of Commerce and Labor is hereby amended accordingly. The purpose of the Department of Labor shall be to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment. The said Secretary shall cause a seal of office to be made for the said department of such device as the President shall approve and judicial notice shall be taken of the said seal.

SEC. 933. Assistant Secretary, etc.—There shall be in said department an Assistant Secretary of Labor, to be appointed by the President, who shall receive a salary of five thousand dollars a year. He shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or required by law. There shall also be one chief clerk and a disbursing clerk, and such other clerical assistants, inspectors, and special agents as may from time to time be provided for by Congress.

SEC. 933a. Appointment.—There shall be in the Department of Labor an additional Secretary, who shall be known and designated as Second Assistant Secretary of Labor. He shall be appointed by the President and shall receive a salary of $5,000 a year. He shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or required by law, and in case of the death, resignation, absence, or sickness of the Assistant Secretary shall, until a successor is appointed or such absence or sickness shall cease, perform the duties devolving upon the Assistant Secretary by reason of section 177, Revised Statutes, unless otherwise directed by the President, as provided by section 179, Revised Statutes.

SEC. 934. Officers transferred.—The following-named officers, bureaus, divisions, and branches of the public service now and heretofore under the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and all that pertains to the same, known as the Commissioner General of Immigration, the commissioners of immigration, the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, the Division of Information, the Division of Naturalization, and the immigration service at large, the Bureau of Labor, the Children's Bureau, and the Commissioner of Labor be, and the same hereby are transferred from the Department of Commerce and Labor to the Department of Labor, and the same shall hereafter remain under the jurisdiction and supervision of the last-named department.

SEC. 940. Conciliation.—The Secretary of Labor shall have power to act as mediator and to appoint commissioners of conciliation in labor disputes whenever in his judgment the interests of industrial peace may require it to be done; and all duties performed and all power and authority now possessed or exercised by the head of any executive department in and over any bureau, office, officer, board, branch, or division of the public service by this act transferred to the Department of Labor, or any business arising therefrom or pertaining thereto, or in relation to the duties performed by and authority conferred by law upon such bureau, officer, office, board, branch, or division of the public service, whether of an appellate or revisory character or otherwise, shall hereafter be vested in and exercised by the head of the said Department of Labor.

SEC. 941. Reports.—The Secretary of Labor shall annually, at the close of each fiscal year, make a report in writing to Congress, giving an account of all moneys received and disbursed by him and his department and describing the work done by the department. He shall also, from time to time, make such special investigations and reports as he may be required to do by the President, or by Congress, or which he himself may deem necessary.

SEC. 942. Organization.—The Secretary of Labor shall investigate and report to Congress a plan of coordination of the activities, duties, and powers of the office of the Secretary of Labor with the activities, duties, and powers of the present bureaus, commissions, and departments, so far as they relate to labor and its conditions, in order to harmonize and unify such activities, duties, and powers, with a view to further legislation to further define the duties and powers of such Department of Labor.

Bureau of Labor Statistics

(Acts of June 13, 1888, March 2, 1895, April 8, 1904, March 4, 1913)

SECTION 944. Bureau of Labor Statistics.—The Bureau of Labor shall hereafter be known as the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and the Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor shall hereafter be known as the Commissioner of Labor Statistics; and all the powers and duties heretofore possessed by the Commissioner of Labor shall be retained and exercised by the Commissioner of Labor Statistics; * * *.

SEC. 945. Duties.—The Bureau of Labor Statistics, under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, shall collect, collate, and report at least once each year, or oftener if necessary, full and complete statistics of the conditions of labor and the products and distribution of the products of the same, and to this end said Secretary shall have power to employ any or either of the bureaus provided for his department and to rearrange such statistical work and to distribute or consolidate the same as may be deemed desirable in the public interests; and said Secretary shall also have authority to call upon other departments of the Government for statistical data and results obtained by them; and said Secretary of Labor may collate, arrange, and publish such statistical information so obtained in such manner as to him may seem wise.

SEC. 946. Department created.—There shall be at the seat of government a Department of Labor the general design and duties of which shall be to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor, in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word and especially upon its relation to capital, the hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity.

SEC. 947. Commissioner.—The Department of Labor shall be under the charge of a Commissioner of Labor, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; he shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed, and shall receive a salary of five thousand dollars per annum.

[The original act (of 1888) here contained a provision to the effect that the chief clerk should, during the necessary absence of the commissioner or when the office shall become vacant, perform the duties of commissioner. Since 1906 appropriations have been made for a "chief statistician, who shall also perform the duties of chief clerk."]

SEC. 948. Duties.— * * * It shall be the duty of the commissioner also to ascertain and report as to the effect of the customs laws, and the effect thereon of the state of the currency, in the United States, on the agricultural industry, especially as to its effect on mortgage indebtedness of farmers. * * * He shall also establish a system of reports by which at intervals of not less than two years he can report the general condition, so far as production is concerned, of the leading industries of the country. The Commissioner of Labor is also specially charged to investigate the causes of, and facts relating to, all controversies and disputes between employers and employees as they may occur, and which may tend to interfere with the welfare of the people of the different States, and report thereon to Congress. The Commissioner of Labor shall also obtain such information upon the various subjects committed to him as he may deem desirable from different foreign nations and what, if any, convict-made goods are imported into this country, and if so from whence.

SEC. 949. Bulletins.—The Commissioner of Labor is hereby authorized to prepare and publish a bulletin of the Department of Labor, as to the condition of labor in this and other countries, condensations of State and foreign labor reports, facts as to conditions of employment, and such other facts as may be deemed of value to the industrial interests of the country, and there shall be printed one edition of not exceeding ten thousand of each issue of said bulletin for distribution by the Department of Labor.[1]

SEC. 952. Statistics.—It shall be the duty of the United States Commissioner of Labor to collect, assort, arrange, and present in reports in nineteen hundred and five, and every five years thereafter, statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the Territory of Hawaii, especially in relation to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes, and to all such other subjects as Congress may by law direct. The said commissioner is especially charged to ascertain the highest, lowest, and average number of employees engaged in the various industries in the Territory, to be classified as to nativity, sex, hours of labor, and conditions of employment, and to report the same to Congress.

(Act of March 28, 1922)

SECTION 953a (as amended May 28, 1924). Purpose.—To enable the Secretary of Labor to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, including juniors legally employed, to improve their working conditions, to advance their opportunities for profitable employment by regularly collecting, furnishing, and publishing employment information as to opportunities for employment; maintaining a system for clearing labor between the several States; cooperating with and coordinating the public employment offices throughout the country, including personal services in the District of Columbia and elsewhere, and for their actual necessary traveling expenses while absent from their official station, together with their per diem in lieu of subsistence, when allowed pursuant to section 13 of the sundry civil appropriation act approved August 1, 1914; supplies and equipment, telegraph and telephone service, and miscellaneous expenses, $206,284 [is appropriated].

Children's Bureau

(Act of April 9, 1912)

SECTIONS 954–956. Creation; functions.—[A Children's Bureau in the Department of Labor is charged with the duty of investigating, among other things, dangerous occupations, accidents, employment, and State legislation affecting children.]

[1] The sundry civil appropriation bill of June 4, 1897 (30 Stat. L. 61), authorizes the printing of 15,000 copies of each issue, while that of June 6, 1900 (31 Stat. L. 644), authorizes not to exceed 20,000 copies of any single issue as an extra edition.

Women's Bureau

(Act of June 5, 1920)

SECTION 967⅛. Bureau established.—There shall be established in the Department of Labor a bureau to be known as the Women's Bureau.

SEC. 967⅛a. Director.—The said bureau shall be in charge of a director, a woman, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, who shall receive an annual compensation of $5,000. It shall be the duty of said bureau to formulate standards and policies which shall promote the welfare of wage-earning women, improve their working conditions, increase their efficiency, and advance their opportunities for profitable employment. The said bureau shall have authority to investigate and report to the said department upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of women in industry. The director of said bureau may from time to time publish the results of these investigations in such a manner and to such extent as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

SEC. 967⅛b. Assistant director.—There shall be in said bureau an assistant director, to be appointed by the Secretary of Labor, who shall receive an annual compensation of $3,500, and shall perform such duties as shall be prescribed by the director and approved by the Secretary of Labor.

Employers' liability—Maritime cases

(Act of March 3, 1911)

SECTION 1233. Jurisdiction.—The jurisdiction vested in the courts of the United States in the cases and proceedings hereinafter mentioned, shall be exclusive of the courts of the several States.

* * * * * * *

Third. Of all civil causes of admiralty and maritime jurisdicton, saving to suitors, in all cases, the right of a common-law remedy, where the common law is competent to give it.

This provision of the judicial code is frequently referred to in actions for personal injuries or death of maritime employees. Congress has twice attempted to save also the rights accruing under the workmen's compensation laws of the several States, but each enactment was held invalid as delegating legislation only in the power of Congress and violating the essential rule of uniformity in admiralty.

(Act of Oct. 15, 1914)

SECTION 1243c. Injunctions to be specific.—Every order of injunction or restraining order shall set forth the reasons for the issuance of the same, shall be specific in terms, and shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the bill of complaint or other document, the act or acts sought to be restrained, and shall be binding only upon the parties to the suit, their officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys, or those in active concert or participating with them, and who shall, by personal service or otherwise, have received actual notice of the same.

SEC. 1243d. Restrictions on issue.—No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of the United States, or a judge of the judges thereof, in any case between an employer and employees, or between employers and employees, or between employees, or between persons employed and persons seeking employment, involving, or growing out of, a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable injury to property, or to a property right, of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such property or property right must be described with particularity in the application, which must be in writing and sworn to by the applicant or by his agent or attorney.

And no such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment, or from ceasing to perform any work or labor, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful means so to do; or from attending at any place where any such person or persons may lawfully be, for the purpose of peacefully obtaining or communicating information, or from peacefully persuading any person to work or to abstain from working; or from ceasing to patronize or to employ any party to such dispute, or from recommending, advising, or persuading others by peaceful and lawful means so to do; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from, any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from peacefully assembling in a lawful manner, and for lawful purposes; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this paragraph be considered or held to be violations of any law of the United States.

(Act of June 3, 1916)

SECTION 1892f. Competitive employment forbidden.—Hereafter no enlisted man in the active service of the United States in the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, respectively, whether a noncommisisoned officer, musician, or private, shall be detailed, ordered, or permitted to leave his post to engage in any pursuit, business, or performance in civil life, for emolument, hire, or otherwise, when the same shall interfere with the customary employment and regular engagement of local civilians in the respective arts, trade, or professions.

Duties of enlisted men in the Navy

No enlisted men or seamen, not including commissioned and warrant officers, on battleships of the Navy, when such battleships are docked or laid up at any navy yard for repairs, shall be ordered or required to perform any duties except such as are or may be performed by the crew while at sea or in a foreign port.

Seamen—Duties of consular officers

(Sections 1708, 1719, R. S.)

SECTIONS 3161, 3177. Lists; returns, etc.—[Consular officers are required to keep detailed lists of all seamen and mariners shipped and discharged by them, names of vessels concerned, and payments made in connection with discharges. No fee or other compensation may be taken for any services rendered.]

Labor organizations—Membership of postal employees

(Act of Aug. 24, 1912)

SECTION 3287. Permission to join organizations.—* * * Membership in any society, association, club, or other form of organization of postal employees not affiliated with any outside organization imposing an obligation or duty upon them to engage in any strike, or proposing to assist them in any strike, against the United States, having for its objects, among other things, improvements in the condition of labor of its members, including hours of labor and compensation therefor and leave of absence, by any person or groups of persons in said postal service, or the presenting by any such person or groups of persons of any grievance or grievances to the Congress or any Member thereof shall not constitute or be cause for reduction in rank or compensation or removal of such person or groups of persons from said service. The right of persons employed in the civil service of the United States, either individually or collectively, to petition Congress, or any Member thereof, or to furnish information to either House of Congress, or to any committee or member thereof, shall not be denied or interfered with.

Mine regulations

(Act of March 3, 1891)

SECTIONS 3502–3520. [This act applied to the Territories of the United States until they should enact legislation of their own; it is now practically obsolete.]

Peonage

(Section 1990, R. S.)

SECTION 3944. Peonage prohibited.—The holding of any person to service or labor under the system known as peonage is abolished and forever prohibited in the Territory of New Mexico, or in any other Territory or State of the United States; and all acts, laws, resolutions, orders, regulations, or usages of the Territory of New Mexico, or of any other Territory or State, which have heretofore established, maintained, or enforced, or by virtue of which any attempt shall hereafter be made to establish, maintain, or enforce, directly or indirectly, the voluntary or involuntary service or labor of any persons as peons, in liquidation of any debt or obligation, or otherwise, are declared null and void.

Immigration

(Act of Feb. 5, 1917)

SECTION 4289¼b. Exclusions; contract labor, etc.—[Contract laborers, induced, assisted, encouraged or solicited to migrate by offers or promises of employment, or by advertisements for laborers published or distributed in a foreign country, are excluded; as are persons whose passage has been paid for by any corporation, association, society, municipality or foreign government. But skilled labor, if otherwise admissible, may be imported if labor of like kind unemployed can not be found in this country; the Secretary of Labor is to pass on the necessity for such importation on application of the party interested. Domestic servants are not excluded. Labor to install or conduct an exhibit of an alien exhibitor or concession holder at any fair or exposition authorized by act of Congress is also permitted to enter under approved regulations.]

SEC. 4289¼c. Prepaying transportation.—[It is unlawful for any person, company, partnership or corporation to prepay transportation or solicit or induce immigration of contract laborers, unless of exempt classes.]

SEC. 4289¼cc. Advertising.—[It is unlawful to induce or encourage immigration by promise of employment through advertisements printed, published or distributed in any foreign country.]

SECS. 4289¼qq–4289¼t. Seamen.—[Employing alien seamen with intent to aid or permit their entry into the United States in violation of the law is forbidden, their discharge regulated, and deportation, where unlawfully landed, provided for.]

Chinese exclusion

(Acts of May 6, 1882, July 5, 1884, Sept. 13, 1888, October 1, 1888, May 5, 1892, Nov. 3, 1893, Dec. 8, 1894, July 7, 1898, March 3, 1901, April 29, 1902, April 28, 1904, June 23, 1913)

SECTIONS 4290–4341. What immigration forbidden.—[The coming of Chinese laborers into the United States, any territory or island possession is forbidden. Provisions are made for certificates, identification, return after visit abroad, penalties against masters of vessels, and others violating the law, prescribing the duties and powers of immigration officials, etc.]

Coolie trade

(Sections 2158–263, R. S.; act of March 3, 1875)

SECTIONS 4342–4350. Trade prohibited.—[The transportation of subjects of China, Japan, or any other oriental country to the United States or any foreign port or place to be sold or held to service or labor is forbidden, and vessels employed in such trade are to be forfeited, besides punishment by fine and imprisonment. Voluntary emigration is not to be affected by these provisions.]

Irrigation works—Employment of labor

(Act of June 17, 1902)

SECTION 4703. Eight-hour day; Mongolian labor.—Upon the determination by the Secretary of the Interior that any irrigation project is practicable, he may cause to be let contracts for the construction of the same. * * *: Provided, That in all construction work eight hours shall constitute a day's work, and no Mongolian labor shall be employed thereon.

Manufacture, etc., of white phosphorus matches

(Act of April 9, 1912)

SECTIONS 6271–6287. Tax regulations.—[Manufacturers of matches using the common poisonous white or yellow phosphorus must pack such matches in prescribed packages and pay a tax of two cents per 100 matches.]

Seamen—Quarters—Logbook

(Sections 4153, 4290, 7734, R. S., as amended)

SECTIONS 7730, 7731. Space; ventilation, etc.—[Modes of measuring merchant vessels are prescribed, and the space, lighting, ventilation, sanitation, etc., of quarters for seamen regulated, including the placing of berths, the supply of hospital banks, protection from the weather, washing and bathing conveniences, etc. Steamboats of the United States plying on the Mississippi River or its tributaries must conform to such of the above requirements as are applicable. Masters of vessels must keep log-books, showing among other things, the conduct, character, and qualifications of each member of the crew; or a statement that he declines to give an opinion thereon.]

Inspection, etc., of steam vessels

(Sections 4389–4462 R. S., as amended; acts of Jan. 6, 1874, May 28, 1908)

SECTIONS 8151–8224. Inspectors; regulations; licenses, etc.—[Steam vessels on navigable waters of the United States, except public vessels of the United States, vessels of other countries, and boats navigating canals, must conform to the provisions of this title. Foreign private steam vessels carrying passengers from any port of the United States are subject to certain of these provisions, including official visitation and inspection. These provisions deal, in the main, with the subject of public safety, though the safety and duties of employees are also involved. Local inspectors and assistants, district supervising inspectors and a supervising inspector general, are provided for. The supervising inspectors constitute a board with authority to formulate regulations for carrying out the provisions of this title, which the officers of vessels are required to observe. Local inspectors and assistants are named by the Secretary of Commerce, for hulls and for boilers separately; those of higher rank are appointed by the President.

Hulls and equipment must be inspected at least annually, to determine questions of safety and suitable accommodations for passengers and crew, and as to compliance with the law. Boilers must also be inspected and tested once a year, at least, and gauges, fusible plugs, safety valves, and steam pressure are regulated. Certificates of inspection are given. Freight boats on the Mississippi River and its tributaries, and seagoing barges, are within the provisions of the law, as are tug boats and freight boats. Steam boilers must be constructed as specified, and plates must bear a stamp or mark showing tensile strength. The intentional loading or obstruction of safety valves is forbidden.

Sail vessels of over 700 tons burden and other vessels of over 100 tons, carrying passengers for hire, must have as master, chief mate, engineer, or pilot only persons licensed by the inspectors on satisfactory evidence of experience and qualifications for the respective services. No State may impose any obligation or regulation as to pilots. Licenses must be exhibited, may be renewed without the presence of the applicant, and may be revoked or suspended for cause.

Other than the annual inspections are directed at proper times so often as required to secure safety and proper compliance with the law. Appeals from orders revoking permits to operate may be taken to the Secretary of Commerce. Fees are charged for inspection, graded according to the tonnage of the vessel.]

Seamen—Provisions for safety

(Sections 4463–4500, R. S., as amended; act of March 3, 1913)

SECTIONS 8225–8276. Crew; equipment, etc.—[A full complement of licensed officers and crew, including certificated lifeboat men, must be on every vessel. The minimum number of officers for each vessel is to be prescribed by the inspectors. Time off duty for deck watch officers is regulated. Turns are limited to 9 hours in port and 12 at sea, except in emergency.

Suitable fire extinguishing apparatus must be supplied and kept in readiness for use at all times, and fire drills held weekly. Lifeboats and life preservers adequate for passengers and crew are required, and weekly musters and drills of boat crews.]

Seamen—Shipping commissioners—Wages, etc.

(Sections 4501–4612, R. S., as amended; acts of June 9, 1874, June 26, 1884, June 19, 1886, April 11, 1904, June 28, 1906, March 4, 1915, June 5, 1920)

SECTIONS 8287–8314. Shipment.—[A shipping commissioner is appointed by the Secretary of Commerce for each port of ocean navigation which he may deem to require the same. He shall give bond in a sum of not less than $5,000 and take oath for the faithful performance of duty. If no commissioner is appointed at any port, customs officers may act; but unauthorized persons acting may be fined not over $500. Vessels in the coast-wise and Lake trade or trading with Canada are not covered by the law, nor where the seamen share in the profits of a cruise or voyage; but commissioners may act on request, except in the last case, receiving one-half the regular fees for their services.

The general duties of shipping commissioners are to keep a register of the names and characters of seamen, superintend their engagement and discharge, provide means for securing the proper presence on board of the men so engaged, facilitate the making of apprenticeships for the sea service, and perform such other duties as the law may direct.

Apprentices must be at least 12 years of age, have the consent of their parents, and be of sufficient health and strength, and it must appear that the master is a proper person. Apprenticeships terminate at 18. Registers and indentures are prescribed.

Masters shipping crews submit agreements covering required details as to conditions of employment, including term, wages, scale of provisions, etc. Engagements may be for a trip to a port, for a round trip, or a number of round trips, or for a definite time. Rules for shipping articles are fixed by the law. No one may knowingly be taken to sea as a member of the crew without entering into an agreement as prescribed. Vacancies in crews may be filled if men are obtainable, report to be made at the first consular office reached. If the engagement is at a port having a consular officer, he must indorse his sanction thereon before it is valid. A copy of the agreement, omitting names, must be posted by the master at the beginning of every voyage or engagement.

Contracts must specify the day and hour for reporting for duty, and failure to report without due notice leads to a forfeiture of one-half of a day's pay for each hour of such failure. Wholly neglecting to report or deserting after reporting forfeits all wages then earned. All shipments in contravention of law are void.]

SECS. 8315–8337a. Wages and effects.—[Right to wages and provisions commence with the commencement of work, or at the time specified for beginning work or presence on board, whichever first happens, and the right to wages shall not be dependent on freight. The loss of the vessel terminates wages, but prior earnings must be paid and transportation given to the port of shipment. Improper discharge before a month's wages are earned entitles the seamen to one month's wages as penalty in addition to actual earnings; prompt payment at termination of voyages is required, and one-half of any unpaid balance may be demanded at any port at which the vessel receives or delivers cargo, not oftener than once in 5 days nor at the same entry. Payment of wages in advance is forbidden, or the making of any order or note or other evidence of indebtedness to any other person, or an order to pay any person for the shipment of a seaman a sum to be deducted from his wages, but allotments may be made to grandparents, parents, wife, sister, or children. Wages are not subject to attachment or arrestment from any court. Assignments of wages prior to the accruing thereof are not valid. Detailed provision is made for procedure in the recovery of wages and for the disposition of the wages and effects of deceased seamen.

In suits for damages for personal injury seamen in command are not fellow servants with those under their authority.]

SECS. 8338–8342. Discharge.—[Seamen must be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a shipping commissioner, unless a court directs otherwise. Certificates of discharge and of character in prescribed forms are required.]

SECS. 8343–8376. Protection and relief.—[The duties of commissioners as arbiters of disputes between seamen and masters, owners, etc., are fixed, and procedure, the settlement of claims as to unseaworthiness, neglect to provide sufficient stores, medicines, or slop chests are regulated or provided against; sailors are to be divided into at least two watches, and firemen, oilers, and water tenders into at least three. Added provisions are made as to discharge and the payment of wages under special conditions.]

SECS. 8377–8379. Fees of shipping commissioners.—[The taking of fees for hiring or supplying seamen for merchant vessels is forbidden.]

SECS. 8380–8392a. Offenses and punishments.—[Penalties are fixed for desertion, insubordination, drunkenness, neglect of duty, damaging the vessel, or embezzling or damaging stores or cargo. Seamen may not carry sheath knives. Corporal punishment is prohibited. No one may board a vessel before arrival or, being on board within 24 hours after its arrival, may solicit seamen as lodgers or take out a seaman's effects except under his personal direction and with the permission of the master.]

Liability of railroad companies for injuries to employees

(Acts of April 22, 1908, April 5, 1910)

SECTION 8657. Interstate commerce.—Every common carrier by railroad while engaging in commerce between any of the several States or Territories, or between any of the States and Territories, or between the District of Columbia and any of the States or Territories, or between the District of Columbia or any of the States or Territories and any foreign nation or nations, shall be liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in such commerce, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee, and if none, then of such employee's parents, and if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency due to its negligence in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

A workman repairing a bridge on an interstate road, injured by an interstate train, was held entitled to the benefits of the act, since his employment was indispensable to interstate commerce. Pederson v. D., L. & W. R. Co., 229 U. S. 146, 33 Sup. Ct. 648.

So of track repair men. 179 Fed. 893, 180 Fed. 832, 149 S. W. 951.

And of a yard clerk in a railway yard for the purpose of taking the numbers of the cars on an interstate freight train. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Seale, 229 U. S. 156, 33 Sup. Ct. 651.

And of the members of a switching crew placing loaded cars and cars for loading for the convenience of an interstate train. 131 Pac. 507.

And of a workman engaged in loading interstate freight into a car. 207 Fed. 311.

And a brakeman injured while getting ice to cool a hot box on an interstate train. 203 Fed. 956.

And a pumper at a water station going to his work on a hand car furnished by his employer. 130 Pac. 897.

And a fireman crossing tracks on his way to work. 196 Fed. 336.

And a repair hand working on an interstate engine tender while standing on a side track between runs. 204 Fed. 751.

SEC. 8658. Commerce within Territories, etc.—Every common carrier by railroad in the Territories, the District of Columbia, the Panama Canal Zone, or other possessions of the United States shall be liable to damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such carrier in any of said jurisdictions, or, in case of the death of such employee, to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee, and if none, then of such employee's parents, and if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves, or other equipment.

SEC. 8659. Comparative negligence.—In all actions hereafter brought against any such common carrier by railroad under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee, or where such injuries have resulted in his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence shall not bar a recovery, but the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee: Provided, That no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

Under this section the full measure of damages is to be reduced in proportion to the amount of the employee's negligence as compared with the combined negligence of himself and his employer. Norfolk & W. R. Co. v. Earnest, 229 U. S. 114, 33 Sup. Ct. 654.

SEC. 8660. Risk not assumed, when.—In any action brought against any common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act to recover damages for injuries to, or the death of, any of its employees, such employee shall not be held to have assumed the risks of his employment in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee.

SEC. 8661. Contracts of waiver.—Any contract, rule, regulation, or device whatsoever, the purpose or intent of which shall be to enable any common carrier to exempt itself from any liability created by this act, shall to that extent be void: Provided, That in any action brought against any such common carrier under or by virtue of any of the provisions of this act, such common carrier may set off therein any sum it has contributed or paid to any insurance, relief benefit, or indemnity that may have been paid to the injured employee or the person entitled thereto on account of the injury or death for which said action was brought.

The receipt of benefits from a relief fund under an agreement that such receipt shall operate as a release from all claims for damages is not a bar to an action for injuries under this act. Prior contracts are controlled by this section no less than those made after its enactment. It is constitutional. Philadelphia, B. & W. R. Co. v. Schubert, 224 U. S. 603, 32 Sup. Ct. 589.

Nor does the actual signing of a release and the receipt of benefits bar an action for damages, the release being the contractual method of obtaining the relief benefits. 197 Fed. 31.

SEC. 8662. Limitation.—No action shall be maintained under this act unless commenced within two years from the day the cause of action accrued.

Under this act an action may be brought in a [circuit court] of the United States, in the district of the residence of the defendant, or in which the cause of action arose, or in which the defendant shall be doing business at the time of commencing of such action. The jurisdiction of the courts of the United States under this act shall be concurrent with that of the courts of the several States, and no case arising under this act and brought in any State court of competent jurisdiction shall be removed to any court of the United States.

SEC. 8663. Definition—The term "common carrier" as used in this act shall include the receiver or receivers or other persons of corporations charged with the duty of the management and operation of the business of a common carrier.

SEC. 8664. Effect of law.—Nothing in this act shall be held to limit the duty or liability of common carriers or to impair the rights of their employees under any other acts of Congress, or to affect the prosecution of any pending proceeding or right of action under the act of Congress entitled "An act relating to liability of common carriers in the District of Columbia and Territories, and to common carriers engaged in commerce between the States and between the States and foreign nations to their employees," approved June 11, 1906.

SEC. 8665. Survival of right of action.—Any right of action given by this act to a person suffering injury shall survive to his or her personal representative, for the benefit of the surviving widow or husband and children of such employee, and, if none, then of such employee's parents; and, if none, then of the next of kin dependent upon such employee, but in such cases there shall be only one recovery for the same injury.

This statute is constitutional, and supersedes State laws covering the same field. It is enforceable in State courts of competent jurisdiction, as well as in the courts of the United States. No man has a vested interest in any rule of the common law, and Congress had power to abrogate or modify the employers' customary defenses. The restriction to certain classes of workmen is a reasonable classification. Mondou v. R. Co. (second employers' liability cases), 223 U. S. 1, 32 Sup. Ct. 169.

Courts are presumed to be cognizant of its existence, and that it supersedes State laws. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. Wulf, 226 U. S. 570, 33 Sup. Ct. 135.

The liability created is for pecuniary loss and damage sustained by the dependent relatives, and not for speculative loss of care, and advice to a wife, though a child may recover for loss of care, training, or education. Michigan C. R. Co. v. Vreeland, 227 U. S. 59, 33 Sup. Ct. 192.

One not dependent can recover nothing. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. McGinnis, 228 U. S. 173, 33 Sup. Ct. 426.

(Act of July 15, 1913)

SECTION 8674. Receiverships.—Whenever receivers appointed by a Federal court are in the possession and control of the business of employees covered by this act the employees of such employers shall have the right to be heard through their representatives in such court upon all questions affecting the terms and conditions of their employment; and no reduction of wages shall be made by such receivers without the authority of the court therefor, after notice to such employees, said notice to be given not less than twenty days before the hearing upon the receivers' petition or application, and to be posted upon all customary bulletin boards along or upon the railway or in the customary places on the premises of other employers covered by this act.

Hours of service of railroad employees

(Acts of March 4, 1907, May 4 and Sept. 3, 5, 1916)

SECTION 8677. Application of law.—The provisions of this act shall apply to any common carrier or carriers, their officers, agents, and employees, engaged in the transportation of passengers or property by railroad in the District of Columbia or any Territory of the United States, or from one State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia to any other State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country, or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States. The term "railroad" as used in this act shall include all bridges and ferries used or operated in connection with any railroad, and also all the road in use by any common carrier operating a railroad, whether owned and operated under a contract, agreement, or lease; and the term "employees" as used in this act shall be held to mean persons actually engaged in or connected with the movement of any train.

SEC. 8678. Limit of sixteen hours.—It shall be unlawful for any common carrier, its officers or agents, subject to this act to require or permit any employee subject to this act to be or remain on duty for a longer period than sixteen consecutive hours, and whenever any such employee of such common carrier shall have been continuously on duty for sixteen hours he shall be relieved and not required or permitted again to go on duty until he has had at least ten consecutive hours off duty; and no such employee who has been on duty sixteen hours in the aggregate in any twenty-four-hour period shall be required or permitted to continue or again go on duty without having had at least eight consecutive hours off duty: Provided, That no operator, train dispatcher, or other employee who by use of the telegraph or telephone dispatches, reports, transmits, receives, or delivers orders pertaining to or affecting train movements shall be required or permitted to be or remain on duty for a longer period than nine hours in any twenty-four-hour period in all towers, offices, places, and stations continuously operated night and day, nor for a longer period than thirteen hours in all towers, offices, places, and stations operated only during the daytime, except in case of emergency, when the employees named in this proviso may be permitted to be and remain on duty for four additional hours in a twenty-four-hour period on not exceeding three days in any week: Provided further, The Interstate Commerce Commission may after full hearing in a particular case and for good cause shown extend the period within which a common carrier shall comply with the provisions of this proviso as to such case.

A train crew gathering up loaded cars from spur lines and placing them for movement by an interstate train is engaged in interstate commerce. A protracted delay of an indefinite period, liable to be terminated at any time, can not be deducted from the working day, though the actual labor was of less than 16 hours' duration, since the men were on duty and not definitely laid off. 197 Fed. 624.

Communications by telephone between towermen, not emanating from a train dispatcher's office, are orders within the meaning of this section. 205 Fed. 344.

SEC. 8679. Penalty for violation; exceptions.—Any such common carrier, or any officer or agent thereof, requiring or permitting any employee to go, be, or remain on duty in violation of the second section hereof, shall be liable to a penalty of not less than $100 nor more than $500 for each and every violation, to be recovered in a suit or suits to be brought by the United States district attorney in the district court of the United Sates having jurisdiction in the locality where such violation shall have been committed; and it shall be the duty of such district attorney to bring such suits upon satisfactory information being lodged with him; but no such suit shall be brought after the expiration of one year from the date of such violation; and it shall also be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to lodge with the proper district attorney information of any such violations as may come to its knowledge. In all prosecutions under this act the common carrier shall be deemed to have knowledge of all acts of all its officers and agents: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply in any case of casualty or unavoidable accident or the act of God; nor where the delay was the result of a cause not known to the carrier or its officer or agent in charge of such employee at the time said employee left a terminal, and which could not have been foreseen: Provided further, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to the crews of wrecking or relief trains.

SEC. 8680. Enforcement.—It shall be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to execute and enforce the provisions of this act, and all powers granted to the Interstate Commerce Commission are hereby extended to it in the execution of this act.

A separate penalty is recoverable for each member of a train crew working overtime in violation of this act. Missouri, K. & T. R. Co. v. U. S., 231 U. S. 112, 34 Sup. Ct. 26.

A violation of this statute does not make the employer absolutely liable for injuries received by the employee during his overtime employment, but such violation must be shown to be the proximate cause of the injury. St. Louis, I. M. & S. R. Co. v. McWhirter, 229 U. S. 265, 33 Sup. Ct. 858.

SEC. 8680a. Standard work day.—Beginning January first, nineteen hundred and seventeen, eight hours shall, in contracts for labor and service, be deemed a day's work and the measure or standard of a day's work for the purpose of reckoning the compensation for services of all employees who are now or may hereafter be employed by any common carrier by railroad, except railroads independently owned and operated not exceeding one hundred miles in length, electric street railroads, and electric interurban railroads, which is subject to the provisions of the act of February fourth, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, entitled "An act to regulate commerce," as amended, and who are now or may hereafter be actually engaged in any capacity in the operation of trains used for the transportation of persons or property on railroads, except railroads independently owned and operated not exceeding one hundred miles in length, electric street railroads, and electric interurban railroads, from any State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia to any other State or Territory of the United States or the District of Columbia, or from one place in a Territory to another place in the same Territory, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country, or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States: Provided, That the above exceptions shall not apply to railroads, though less than one hundred miles in length, whose principal business is leasing or furnishing terminal or transfer facilities to other railroads, or are themselves engaged in transfers of freight between railroads or between railroads and industrial plants.

SEC. 8680b. Commission of observation.—[This section provided for a temporary commission of observation to observe and report within nine months on the operation and effects of the law. It is now obsolete.]

SEC. 8680c. No change of rates.—Pending the report of the commission herein provided for and for a period of thirty days thereafter the compensation of railway employees subject to this act for a standard eight-hour workday shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage, and for all necessary time in excess of eight hours such employees shall be paid at a rate not less than the pro rata rate for such standard eight-hour workday.

SEC. 8680d. Violations.—Any person violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, or imprisoned not to exceed more than one year, or both.

This act is constitutional. Congress has power to fix the hours of labor on railroads engaged in interstate commerce, to determine wage rates, and to arbitrate disputes in such a manner as to secure the continued operations of the roads. Wilson v. New, 243 U. S. 332, 37 Sup. Ct. 298.

The act relates only to the classes of employees concerning whom the dispute as to wages existed, i. e., those engaged in the movement of trains. It is therefore not applicable to the case of a switch tender, even though his constant attention to duty is essential to the movement of trains. Coke v. Illinois Central R. R. Co., 255 Fed. 190.

Antitrust law—Exemption as to labor

(Act of July 2, 1890)

SECTION 8820. Restraint of trade.—Every contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy, in restrain of trade or commerce among the several States, or with foreign nations, is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 8821. Monopoly.—Every person who shall monopolize, or attempt to monopolize, or combine or conspire with any other person or persons, to monopolize any part of the trade or commerce among the several States, or with foreign nations, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 8822. Trusts.—Every contract, combination in form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce in any Territory of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or in restraint of trade or commerce between any such Territory and another, or between any such Territory or Territories and any State or States or the District of Columbia, or with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia and any State or States or foreign nations, is hereby declared illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 8823. Jurisdiction of courts.—The several [circuit courts] of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdiction to prevent and restrain violations of this act; and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, under the direction of the Attorney General, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent and restrain such violations. Such proceedings may be by way of petition setting forth the case and praying that such violation shall be enjoined or otherwise prohibited. When the parties complained of shall have been duly notified of such petition, the court shall proceed, as soon as may be, to the hearing and determination of the case; and pending such petition and before final decree, the court may at any time make such temporary restraining order of prohibition as shall be deemed just in the premises.

SEC. 8827. Additional parties.—Whenever it shall appear to the court before which any proceeding under section four of this act may be pending, that the ends of justice require that other parties should be brought before the court, the court may cause them to be summoned, whether they reside in the district in which the court is held or not; and subpœnas to that end may be served in any district by the marshal thereof.

SEC. 8828. Forfeiture of property in transit.—Any property owned under any contract or by any combination, or pursuant to any conspiracy (and being the subject thereof) mentioned in section one of this act, and being in the course of transportation from one State to another, or to a foreign country, shall be forfeited to the United States, and may be seized and condemned by like proceedings as those provided by law for the forfeiture, seizure, and condemnation of property imported into the United States contrary to law.

SEC. 8829. Damages.—Any person who shall be injured in his business or property by any other person or corporation by reason of anything forbidden or declared to be unlawful by this act, may sue therefor in any [circuit court] of the United States in the district in which the defendant resides or is found, without respect to the amount in controversy, and shall recover threefold the damages by him sustained, and the costs of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

SEC. 8830. Definition.—The word "person," or "persons," wherever used in this act shall be deemed to include corporations and associations existing under or authorized by the laws of either the United States, the laws of any of the Territories, the laws of any State, or the laws of any foreign country.

This act applies to combinations of laborers as well as of capitalists. The fact that a combination of men is in its origin and general purposes innocent and lawful is no ground of defense when the combination is turned to the unlawful purpose of restraining interstate and foreign commerce. A combination to secure or compel the employment of none but union men becomes a combination in restraint of interstate commerce within the meaning of this act, when, in order to gain its ends, it seeks to enforce and does enforce, by violence and intimidation, a discontinuance of labor in all departments of business, including the transportation of goods from State to State, and to and from foreign nations. 54 Fed. 994.

A rule of a labor organization which forbids its members to handle the cars of a railroad against which the organization has a grievance until such grievance has been adjusted is violative of section 1 of this act as being in restraint of trade or commerce. 55 Fed. 149.

A combination of workingmen to interfere with the manufacture, transportation and sale of an article of interstate commerce by a boycott is in restraint of trade, and violates this statute. Loewe v. Lawlor, 208 U. S. 274, 28 Sup. Ct. 301.

Under section 5, an injunction order may provide that it shall be in force on defendants not named in the bill, but who are within the terms of the order where it also provides that it is operative on all persons acting in concert with the designated defendants, though not named in the writ, after the commission of some act by them in furtherance of the conspiracy against which the order is directed, and service of the writ on them. 62 Fed. 801.

The provision for forfeiture in section 6 of this act does not imply that only cases in which property shall be found subject to forfeiture shall be deemed within the scope of the act. The power given to circuit courts "to prevent and restrain violations" of the act, is not an invasion of the right of trial by jury, as the jurisdiction so given by equity will be deemed to be limited to such cases only as are of equitable cognizance. 64 Fed. 724.

SEC. 8835f. Exemptions.—The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce. Nothing contained in the antitrust laws shall be construed to forbid the existence and operation of labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations, instituted for the purposes of mutual help, and not having capital stock or conducted for profit, or to forbid or restrain individual members of such organizations from lawfully carrying out the legitimate objects thereof; nor shall such organizations, or the members thereof be held or construed to be illegal combinations or conspiracies in restraint of trade, under the antitrust laws.

(Act of June 29, 1886)

SECTION 8908. Definition.—The term "national trade-union," in the meaning of this act, shall signify any association of working people having two or more branches in the States or Territories of the United States for the purpose of aiding its members to become more skillful and efficient workers, the promotion of their general intelligence, the elevation of their character, the regulation of their wages and their hours and conditions of labor, the protection of their individual rights in the prosecution of their trade or trades, the raising of funds for the benefit of sick, disabled, or unemployed members, or the families of deceased members, or for such other object or objects for which working people may lawfully combine, having in view their mutual protection or benefit.

SEC. 8909. Incorporation, powers, etc.—National trade-unions shall, upon filing their articles of incorporation in the office of the recorder of the District of Columbia, become a corporation under the technical name by which said national trade-union desires to be known to the trade; and shall have the right to sue and be sued, to implead and be impleaded, to grant and receive, in its corporate or technical name, property, real, personal, and mixed, and to use said property, and the proceeds and income thereof, for the objects of said corporation as in its charter defined: Provided, That each union may hold only so much real estate as may be required for the immediate purposes of its incorporation.

SEC. 8910. Constitution, etc.—An incorporated national trade-union shall have power to make and establish such constitution, rules, and by-laws as it may deem proper to carry out its lawful objects, and the same to alter, amend, add to, or repeal at pleasure.

SEC. 8911. Officers.—An incorporated national trade-union shall have power to define the duties and powers of all its officers, and prescribe their mode of election and term of office, to establish branches and subunions in any Territory of the United States.

SEC. 8912. Headquarters.—The headquarters of an incorporated national trade-union shall be located in the District of Columbia.

There is nothing in this act to countenance the idea that it so changes the common law as to authorize combinations and conspiracies of interstate employees to quit the service in a body, with the design and intent of crippling the property in their custody, or embarrassing the operation of the road, with the ulterior purpose of enforcing a demand against the master. 60 Fed. 803.
It does not sanction illegal combinations. 63 Fed. 310.

Hours of labor on public works

(Act of August 1, 1892, as amended March 3, 1913; act of June 19, 1912)

SECTION 8918. Limit of eight hours—River and harbor dredging, etc.—The service and employment of all laborers and mechanics who are now, or may hereafter, be employed by the Government of the United States or the District of Columbia, or by any contractor or subcontractor, upon a public work of the United States or of the District of Columbia, and of all persons who are now, or may hereafter be, employed by the Government of the United States or the District of Columbia, or any contractor or subcontractor, to perform services similar to those of laborers and mechanics in connection with dredging or rock excavation in any river or harbor of the United States or of the District of Columbia, is hereby limited and restricted to eight hours in any one calendar day; and it shall be unlawful for any officer of the United States Government or of the District of Columbia, or any such contractor or subcontractor whose duty it shall be to employ, direct, or control the services of such laborers or mechanics or of such persons employed to perform services similar to those of laborers and mechanics in connection with dredging or rock excavation in any river or harbor of the United States or of the District of Columbia, to require or permit any such laborer or mechanic or any such person employed to perform services similar to those of laborers and mechanics in connection with dredging or rock excavation in any river or harbor of the United States or of the District of Columbia, to work more than eight hours in any calendar day, except in case of extraordinary emergency: Provided, That nothing in this act shall apply or be construed to apply to persons employed in connection with dredging or rock excavation in any river or harbor of the United States or of the District of Columbia while not directly operating dredging or rock-excavating machinery or tools, nor to persons engaged in construction or repair of levees or revetments necessary for protection against floods or overflows on the navigable rivers of the United States.

SEC. 8919. Violations.—[Punishment for violation is a fine not exceeding $1,000, or imprisonment not over 6 months, or both.]

SEC. 8920. Act construed.—The provisions of this act shall not be so construed as to in any manner apply to or affect contractors, or subcontractors, or to limit the hours of daily service of laborers or mechanics engaged upon a public work of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or persons employed to perform services similar to those of laborers and mechanics in connection with dredging or rock excavation in any river or harbor of the United States or of the District of Columbia, for which contracts have been entered into prior to the passing of this act or may be entered into under the provisions of appropriation acts approved prior to the passage of this act.

This act does not apply to labor on public roads under the Federal appropriation for the improvement of such roads, local funds being also furnished, and the work being done under the supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture. 30 Op. 210.

SEC. 8921. Scope of act.—Every contract hereafter made to which the United States, any Territory, or the District of Columbia is a party, and every such contract made for or on behalf of the United States, or any Territory, or said District, which may require or involve the employment of laborers or mechanics shall contain a provision that no laborer or mechanic doing any part of the work contemplated by the contract, in the employ of the contractor or any subcontractor contracting for any part of said work contemplated, shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day upon such work; and every such contract shall stipulate a penalty for each violation of such provision in such contract of five dollars for each laborer or mechanic for every calendar day in which he shall be required or permitted to labor more than eight hours upon said work; and any officer or person designated as inspector of the work to be performed under any such contract, or to aid in enforcing the fulfillment thereof, shall, upon observation or investigation, forthwith report to the proper officer of the United States, or of any Territory, or of the District of Columbia, all violations of the provisions of this act directed to be made in every such contract, together with the name of each laborer or mechanic who has been required or permitted to labor in violation of such stipulation and the day of such violation, and the amount of the penalties imposed according to the stipulation in any such contract shall be directed to be withheld for the use and benefit of the United States, the District of Columbia, or the Territory contracting by the officer or person whose duty it shall be to approve the payment of the moneys due under such contract, whether the violation of the provisions of such contract is by the contractor or any subcontractor. Any contractor or subcontractor aggrieved by the withholding of any penalty as hereinbefore provided shall have the right within six months thereafter to appeal to the head of the department making the contract on behalf of the United States or the Territory, and in the case of a contract made by the District of Columbia to the Commissioners thereof, who shall have power to review the action imposing the penalty, and in all such appeals from such final order whereby a contractor or subcontractor may be aggrieved by the imposition of the penalty hereinbefore provided such contractor or subcontractor may within six months after decision by such head of a department or the Commissioners of the District of Columbia file a claim in the Court of Claims, which shall have jurisdiction to hear and decide the matter in like manner as in other cases before said court.

SEC. 8922. Exemptions.—Nothing in this act shall apply to contracts for transportation by land or water, or for the transmission of intelligence, or for the purchase of supplies by the Government, whether manufactured to conform to particular specifications or not, or for such materials or articles as may usually be bought in open market, except armor and armor plate, whether made to conform to particular specifications or not, or to the construction or repair of levees or revetments necessary for protection against floods or overflows on the navigable waters of the United States: Provided, That all classes of work which have been, are now, or may hereafter be performed by the Government shall, when done by contract, by individuals, firms, or corporations for or on behalf of the United States or any of the Territories or the District of Columbia, be performed in accordance with the terms and provisions of section one of this act. The President, by Executive order, may waive the provisions and stipulations in this act as to any specific contract or contracts during time of war or a time when war is imminent, and until January first, nineteen hundred and fifteen, as to any contract or contracts entered into in connection with the construction of the Isthmian Canal. No penalties shall be imposed for any violation of such provision in such contract due to any extraordinary events or conditions of manufacture, or to any emergency caused by fire, famine, or flood, by danger to life or to property, or by other extraordinary event or condition on account of which the President shall subsequently declare the violation to have been excusable. Nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal or modify the act * * * [secs. 8918–8920].

This statute does not apply to the dressing of stone or marble for public buildings, the work not being done on the sites of the buildings. 30 Op. 211.

Nor to the manufacture of materials and articles for use in public buildings, if of a class that could be purchased in the open market, even though made to meet certain specifications. 30 Op. 31.

Nor to paper, leathers, cloth, ink, etc., manufactured according to specifications for the use of the Government Printing Office. 30 Op. 24.

Vocational rehabilitation—Cooperation with the States[1]

(Act of June 2, 1920)

SECTION 8932¼ (as amended June 5, 1924). Purpose; appropriation.—In order to provide for the promotion of vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry or in any legitimate occupation and their return to civil employment there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for the use of the States, subject to the provisions of this act, for the purpose of cooperating with them in the maintenance of vocational rehabilitation of such disabled persons, and in returning vocationally rehabilitated persons to civil employment for each of the fiscal years ending June 30, 1925, June 30, 1926, and June 30, 1927, and thereafter for a period of three years, the sum of $1,000,000. Said sums shall be allotted to the States in the proportion which their population bears to the total population of the United States, not including Territories, outlying possessions, and the District of Columbia, according to the last preceding United States census: Provided, That the allotment of funds to any State shall not be less than a minimum of $5,000 for any fiscal year. And there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1925, 1926, and 1927, the sum of $34,000, or so much thereof as may be needed, which shall be used for the purpose of providing the minimum allotment to the States provided for in this section.

SEC. 8932¼a (as amended June 5, 1924). Conditions of allotment.—All moneys expended under the provisions of this act from appropriations authorized by section 1 shall be upon the condition (1) that for each dollar of Federal money expended there shall be expended in the State under the supervision and control of the State board at least an equal amount for the same purpose: Provided, That no portion of the appropriations authorized by this act shall be used by any institution for handicapped persons except for the special training of such individuals entitled to the benefits of this act as shall be determined by the Federal board; (2) that the State board shall annually submit to the Federal board for approval plans showing (a) the kinds of vocational rehabilitation and schemes of placement for which it is proposed the appropriation shall be used; (b) the plan of administration and supervision; (c) courses of study; (d) methods of instruction; (e) qualification of teachers, supervisors, directors, and other necessary administrative officers or employees; (f) plans for the training of teachers, supervisors, and directors; (3) that the State board shall make an annual report to the Federal board on or before September 1 of each year on the work done in the State and on the receipts and expenditures of money under the provisions of this act; (4) that no portion of any moneys appropriated by this act for the benefit of the States shall be applied, directly or indirectly, to the purchase, preservation, erection, or repair of any building or buildings or equipment, or for the purchase or rental of any lands; (5) that all courses for vocational rehabilitation given under the supervision and control of the State board and all courses for vocational rehabilitation maintained shall be available, under such rules and regulations as the Federal board shall prescribe, to any civil employee of the United States disabled while in the performance of his duty.

SEC. 8932¼b. Persons covered.—For the purpose of this act the term "persons disabled" shall be construed to mean any person who, by reason of a physical defect or infirmity, whether congenital or acquired by accident, injury, or disease, is, or may be expected to be, totally or partially incapacitated for remunerative occupation; the term "rehabilitation" shall be construed to mean the rendering of a person disabled fit to engage in a remunerative occupation.

SEC. 8932¼c (as amended June 5, 1924). Action by States.—In order to secure the benefits of the appropriations authorized by section 1 any State shall, through the legislative authority thereof, (1) accept the provisions of this act; (2) empower and direct the board designated or created as the State board for vocational education to cooperate in the administration of the provisions of the vocational education act, approved February 23, 1917, to cooperate as herein provided with the Federal Board for Vocational Education in the administration of the provisions of this act; (3) in those States where a State workmen's compensation board or other State board, department, or agency exists, charged with the administration of the State workmen's compensation or liability laws, the legislature shall provide that a plan of cooperation be formulated between such State board, department, or agency and the State board charged with the administration of this act, such plan to be effective when approved by the governor of the State; (4) provide for the supervision and support of the courses of vocational rehabilitation to be provided by the State board in carrying out the provisions of this act; (5) appoint as custodian for said appropriations its State treasurer, who shall receive and provide for the proper custody and disbursement of all money paid to the State from said appropriations: * * *.

SEC. 8932¼d. Federal Board.—The Federal Board for Vocational Education shall have power to cooperate with State boards in carrying out the purposes and provisions of this act, and is hereby authorized to make and establish such rules and regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry into effect the provisions of this act; to provide for the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons and their return to civil employment and to cooperate, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, with such public and private agencies as it may deem advisable.

SEC. 8932¼e. Duties.—It shall be the duty of said board (1) to examine plans submitted by the State boards and approve the same if believed to be feasible and found to be in conformity with the provisions and purposes of this act; (2) to ascertain annually whether the several States are using or are prepared to use the money received by them in accordance with the provisions of this act; (3) to certify on or before the 1st day of January of each year to the Secretary of the Treasury each State which has accepted the provisions of this act and complied therewith, together with the amount which each State is entitled to receive under the provisions of this act; (4) to deduct from the next succeeding allotment to any State whenever any portion of the fund annually allotted has not been expended for the purpose provided for in this act a sum equal to such unexpended portion; (5) to withhold the allotment of moneys to any State whenever it shall be determined that moneys allotted are not being expended for the purposes and conditions of this act; (6) to require the replacement by withholding subsequent allotments of any portion of the moneys received by the custodian of any State under this act that by any action or contingency is diminished or lost: Provided, That if any allotment is withheld from any State, the State board of such State may appeal to the Congress of the United States, and if the Congress shall not, within one year from the time of said appeal, direct such sum to be paid, it shall be covered into the Treasury.

SEC. 8932¼f. Payments.—The Secretary of the Treasury, upon the certification of the Federal board as provided in this act, shall pay quarterly to the custodian of each State appointed as herein provided the moneys to which it is entitled under the provisions of this act. The moneys so received by the custodian for any State shall be paid out on the requisition of the State board as reimbursement for services already rendered or expenditures already incurred and approved by said State board.

SEC. 8932¼g. Reports.—The Federal Board for Vocational Education shall make an annual report to the Congress on or before December 1 on the administration of this act and shall include in such report the reports made by the State boards on the administration of this act by each State and the expenditure of the money allotted to each State.

SEC. 8932¼k. Gifts.—The Federal Board for Vocational Education is hereby authorized and empowered to receive such gifts and donations from either public or private sources as may be offered unconditionally.

SEC. 8932¼l. Special fund.—All moneys received as gifts or donations shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States, and shall constitute a permanent fund, to be called the "Special fund for vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons," to be used under the direction of the said board to defray the expenses of providing and maintaining courses of vocational rehabilitation in special cases, including the payment of necessary expenses of persons undergoing training.

SEC. 8932¼m. Reports.—A full report of all gifts and donations offered and accepted, together with the names of the donors and the respective amounts contributed by each, and all disbursements therefrom shall be submitted annually to Congress by said board: Provided, That no discrimination shall be made or permitted for or against any person or persons who are entitled to the benefits of this act because of membership or nonmembership in any industrial, fraternal, or private organization of any kind under a penalty of $200 for every violation thereof.

Seamen's hospitals

(Sections 4801, 4804, 4805, R. S.; acts of March 3, 1875, Aug. 4, 1894)

SECTIONS 9189–9194. Establishment; admission, etc.—[The President is authorized to receive donations for hospitals for sick and disabled seamen. (Hospitals are maintained in connection with the Public Health Service, formerly known as the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service.) The term "seamen" includes any person employed on board in the care, preservation or navigation of any vessel. Persons employed on canal boats in the coasting trade are excluded. Employees of the Life-Saving Service are admitted, as are sick foreign seamen, if it can with convenience be done, at such rates and under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe.]

Wages preferred—In bankruptcy

(Act of July 1, 1898, as amended June 15, 1906, Jan. 7, 1922)

SECTION 9601. Wage debts not discharged.—[A discharge in bankruptcy does not release the debtor from liability for wages due workmen, servants, clerks, or salesmen earned within 3 months prior to the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy, nor from money held as an employee's deposit to secure the performance of a contract of employment.]

SEC. 9648. Priority.—[Wages as above, not exceeding $300 to each claimant, are to be paid by the trustee next after costs of petition, filing fees, and costs of administration.]

Adjustment of disputes of railroad employees—Labor board

(Act of Feb. 28, 1920)

SECTION 10071¼ee. Definitions.—When used in this title—

(1) The term "carrier" includes any express company, sleeping-car company, and any carrier by railroad, subject to the interstate commerce act, except a street, interurban, or suburban electric railway not operating as a part of a general steam railroad system of transportation;

(2) The term "adjustment board" means any railroad board of labor adjustment established under section 302;

(3) The term "Labor Board" means the Railroad Labor Board;

(4) The term "commerce" means commerce among the several States or between any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia and any foreign nation, or between any Territory or the District of Columbia and any State, or between any Territory and the District of Columbia, or within any Territory or the District of Columbia, or between points in the same State but through any other State or any Territory or the District of Columbia or any foreign nation; and

(5) The term "subordinate official" includes officials of carriers of such class or rank as the commission [Interstate Commerce Commission] shall designate by regulation formulated and issued after such notice and hearing as the commission may prescribe, to the carriers, and employees and subordinate officials of carriers, and organizations thereof, directly to be affected by such regulations.

SEC. 10071¼eee. Avoidance of interruptions.—It shall be the duty of all carriers and their officers, employees, and agents to exert every reasonable effort and adopt every available means to avoid any interruption to the operation of any carrier growing out of any dispute between the carrier and the employees or subordinate officials thereof. All such disputes shall be considered and if possible decided in conference between representatives designated and authorized so to confer by the carriers, or the employees or subordinate officials thereof, directly interested in the dispute. If any dispute is not decided in such conference it shall be referred by the parties thereto to the board which under the provisions of this title is authorized to hear and decide such dispute.

SEC. 10071¼f. Boards of adjustment.—Railroad boards of labor adjustment may be established by agreement between any carrier, group of carriers, or the carriers as a whole, and any employees or subordinate officials of carriers, or organization or group of organizations thereof.

SEC. 10071¼ff. To act, when.—Each such adjustment board shall (1) upon the application of the chief executive of any carrier or organization of employees or subordinate officials whose members are directly interested in the dispute, (2) upon the written petition signed by not less than 100 unorganized employees or subordinate officials directly interested in the dispute, (3) upon the adjustment board's own motion, or (4) upon the request of the labor board whenever such board is of the opinion that the dispute is likely substantially to interrupt commerce, receive for hearing, and as soon as practicable and with due diligence decide any dispute involving only grievances, rules, or working conditions not decided, as provided in section 301, between the carrier and its employees or subordinate officials who are or any organization thereof which is, in accordance with the provisions of section 302, represented upon any such adjustment board.

SEC. 10071¼fff. Railroad Labor Board.—There is hereby established a board to be known as the "Railroad Labor Board" and to be composed of nine members as follows:

(1) Three members constituting the labor group, representing the employees and subordinate officials of the carriers, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, from not less than six nominees whose nominations shall be made and offered by such employees in such manner as the commission shall by regulation prescribe;

(2) Three members, constituting the management group, representing the carriers, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, from not less than six nominees whose nominations shall be made and offered by the carriers in such manner as the commission shall by regulation prescribe; and

(3) Three members, constituting the public group, representing the public, to be appointed directly by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Any vacancy on the Labor Board shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.

SEC. 10071¼g. Failure to nominate.—If either the employees or the carriers fail to make nominations and offer nominees in accordance with the regulations of the commission, as provided in paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 304, within thirty days after the passage of this act in case of any original appointment to the office of member of the Labor Board, or in case of a vacancy in any such office within fifteen days after such vacancy occurs, the President shall thereupon directly make the appointment by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. In making any such appointment the President shall, as far as he deems it practicable, select an individual associated in interest with the carriers or employees thereof, whichever he is to represent.

SEC. 10071¼gg. Eligibility.—(a) Any member of the Labor Board who during his term of office is an active member or in the employ of or holds any office in any organization of employees or subordinate officials, or any carrier, or owns any stock or bond thereof, or is pecuniarily interested therein shall at once become ineligible for further membership upon the Labor Board, but no such member is required to relinquish honorary membership in, or his rights in any insurance or pension or other benefit fund maintained by, any organization of employees or subordinate officials or by a carrier.

(b) Of the original members of the Labor Board, one from each group shall be appointed for a term of three years, one for two years, and one for one year. Their successors shall hold office for terms of five years, except that any member appointed to fill a vacancy shall be appointed only for the unexpired term of the member whom he succeeds. Each member shall receive from the United States an annual salary of $10,000. A member may be removed by the President for neglect of duty or malfeasance in office, but for no other cause.

SEC. 10071¼ggg. Cases from boards of adjustment.—(a) The Labor Board shall hear, and as soon as practicable and with due diligence decide, any dispute involving grievances, rules, or working conditions in respect to which any adjustment board certifies to the Labor Board that in its opinion the adjustment board has failed or will fail to reach a decision within a reasonable time, or in respect to which the Labor Board determines that any adjustment board has so failed or is not using due diligence in its consideration thereof. In case the appropriate adjustment board is not organized under the provisions of section 302, the Labor Board, (1) upon the application of the chief executive of any carrier or organization of employees or subordinate officials whose members are directly interested in the dispute, (2) upon a written petition signed by not less than 100 unorganized employees or subordinate officials directly interested in the dispute, or (3) upon the Labor Board's own motion if it is of the opinion that the dispute is likely substantially to interrupt commerce, shall receive for hearing, and as soon as practicable and with due diligence decide, any dispute involving grievances, rules, or working conditions which is not decided as provided in section 301 and which such adjustment board would be required to receive for hearing and decision under the provisions of section 303.

(b) The Labor Board, (1) upon the application of the chief executive of any carrier or organization of employees or subordinate officials whose members are directly interested in the dispute, (2) upon a written petition signed by not less than 100 unorganized employees or subordinate officials directly interested in the dispute, or (3) upon the Labor Board's own motion if it is of the opinion that the dispute is likely substantially to interrupt commerce, shall receive for hearing, and as soon as practicable and with due diligence decide, all disputes with respect to the wages or salaries of employees or subordinate officials of carriers, not decided as provided in section 301. The Labor Board may upon its own motion within ten days after the decision, in accordance with the provisions of section 301, of any dispute with respect to wages or salaries of employees or subordinate officials of carriers, suspend the operation of such decision if the Labor Board is of the opinion that the decision involves such an increase in wages or salaries as will be likely to necessitate a substantial readjustment of the rates of any carrier. The Labor Board shall hear any decision so suspended and as soon as practicable and with due diligence decide to affirm or modify such suspended decision.

(c) A decision by the Labor Board under the provisions of paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section shall require the concurrence therein of at least 5 of the 9 members of the Labor Board: Provided, That in case of any decision under paragraph (b), at least one of the representatives of the public shall concur in such decision. All decisions of the Labor Board shall be entered upon the records of the board and copies thereof, together with such statement of facts bearing thereon as the board may deem proper, shall be immediately communicated to the parties to the dispute, the President, each adjustment board, and the commission, and shall be given further publicity in such manner as the Labor Board may determine.

(d) All the decisions of the Labor Board in respect to wages or salaries and of the Labor Board or an adjustment board in respect to working conditions of employees or subordinate officials of carriers shall establish rates of wages and salaries and standards of working conditions which, in the opinion of the board, are just and reasonable. In determining the justness and reasonableness of such wages and salaries or working conditions the board shall, so far as applicable, take into consideration among other relevant circumstances:

(1) The scales of wages paid for similar kinds of work in other industries;

(2) The relation between wages and the cost of living;

(3) The hazards of the employment;

(4) The training and skill required;

(5) The degree of responsibility;

(6) The character and regularity of the employment; and

(7) Inequalities of increases in wages or of treatment, the result of previous wage orders or adjustments.

SEC. 10071¼h. Organization; offices.—The Labor Board—

(1) Shall elect a chairman by majority vote of its members;

(2) Shall maintain central offices in Chicago, Illinois, but the Labor Board may, whenever it deems it necessary, meet at such other place as it may determine:

(3) Shall investigate and study the relations between carriers and their employees, particularly questions relating to wages, hours of labor, and other conditions of employment and the respective privileges, rights, and duties of carriers and employees, and shall gather, compile, classify, digest, and publish, from time to time data and information relating to such questions to the end that the Labor Board may be properly equipped to perform its duties under this title and that the members of the adjustment boards and the public may be properly informed;

(4) May make regulations necessary for the efficient execution of the functions vested in it by this title; and

(5) Shall at least annually collect and publish the decisions and regulations of the Labor Board and the adjustment boards and all court and administrative decisions and regulations of the commission in respect to this title, together with cumulative index-digest thereof.

SEC. 10071¼hh. Representation.—Any party to any dispute to be considered by an adjustment board or by the Labor Board shall be entitled to a hearing either in person or by counsel.

SEC. 10071¼hhh. Witnesscs.—(a) For the efficient administration of the functions vested in the Labor Board by this title, any member thereof may require, by subpœna issued and signed by himself, the attendance of any witness and the production of any book, paper, document, or other evidence from any place in the United States at any designated place of hearing, and the taking of a deposition before any designated person having power to administer oaths. In the case of a deposition the testimony shall be reduced to writing by the person taking the deposition or under his direction, and shall then be subscribed to by the deponent. Any member of the Labor Board may administer oaths and examine any witness. Any witness summoned before the board and any witness whose deposition is taken shall be paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States.

(b) In case of failure to comply with any subpœna or in case of the contumacy of any witness appearing before the Labor Board, the board may invoke the aid of any United States district court. Such court may thereupon order the witness to comply with the requirements of such subpœna, or to give evidence touching the matter in question, as the case may be. Any failure to obey such order may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof.

(c) No person shall be excused from so attending and testifying or deposing, nor from so producing any book, paper, document, or other evidence on the ground that the testimony or evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no natural person shall be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing, as to which in obedience to a subpœna and under oath, he may so testify or produce evidence, documentary or otherwise. But no person shall be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so testifying.

SEC. 10071¼i. (a) Access to books, etc.—When necessary to the efficient administration of the functions vested in the Labor Board by this title, any member, officer, employee, or agent thereof, duly authorized in writing by the board, shall at all reasonable times for the purpose of examination have access to and the right to copy any book, account, record, paper, or correspondence relating to any matter which the board is authorized to consider or investigate. Any person who upon demand refuses any duly authorized member, officer, employee, or agent of the Labor Board such right of access or copying, or hinders, obstructs, or resists him in the exercise of such right, shall upon conviction thereof be liable to a penalty of $500 for each such offense. Each day during any part of which such offense continues shall constitute a separate offense. Such penalty shall be recoverable in a civil suit brought in the name of the United States, and shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts.

(b) Every officer or employee of the United States, whenever requested by any member of the Labor Board or an adjustment board duly authorized by the board for the purpose, shall supply to such board any data or information pertaining to the administration of the functions vested in it by this title, which may be contained in the records of his office.

(c) The President is authorized to transfer to the Labor Board any books, papers, or documents pertaining to the administration of the functions vested in the board by this title, which are in the possession of any agency, or railway board of adjustment in connection therewith, established for executing the powers granted the President under the Federal control act and which are no longer necessary to the administration of the affairs of such agency.

SEC. 10071¼ii. Wages to be maintained.—Prior to September 1, 1920, each carrier shall pay to each employee or subordinate official thereof wages or salary at a rate not less than that fixed by the decision of any agency or railway board of adjustment in connection therewith, established for executing the powers granted the President under the Federal control act, in effect in respect to such employee or subordinate official immediately preceding 12.01 a. m. March 1, 1920. Any carrier acting in violation of any provision of this section shall upon conviction thereof be liable to a penalty of $100 for each such offense. Each such action with respect to any such employee or subordinate official and each day or portion thereof during which the offense continues shall constitute a separate offense. Such penalty shall be recoverable in a civil suit brought in the name of the United States, and shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts.

SEC. 10071¼iii. Violations.—The Labor Board, in case it has reason to believe that any decision of the Labor Board or of an adjustment board is violated by any carrier, or employee or subordinate official, or organization thereof, may upon its own motion after due notice and hearing to all persons directly interested in such violations, determine whether in its opinion such violation has occurred and make public its decision in such manner as it may determine.

SEC. 10071¼j. Appointees.—The Labor Board may (1) appoint a secretary, who shall receive from the United States an annual salary of $5,000; and (2) subject to the provisions of the civil-service laws, appoint and remove such officers, employees, and agents; and make such expenditures for rent, printing, telegrams, telephone, law books, books of reference, periodicals, furniture, stationery, office equipment, and other supplies and expenses including salaries, traveling expenses of its members, secretary, officers, employees, and agents, and witness fees, as are necessary for the efficient execution of the functions vested in the board by this title and as may be provided for by Congress from time to time. All of the expenditures of the Labor Board shall be allowed and paid upon the presentation of itemized vouchers therefor approved by the chairman of the Labor Board.

SEC. 10071¼jj. Appropriation.—There is hereby appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $50,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be expended by the Labor Board for defraying the expenses of the maintenance and establishment of the board, including the payment of salaries as provided in this title.

SEC. 10071¼jjj. Board of mediation and conciliation.—The powers and duties of the board of mediation and conciliation created by the act approved July 15, 1913, shall not extend to any dispute which may be received for hearing and decision by any adjustment board or the Labor Board.

This board was abolished December 15, 1921.

(Act of March 4, 1909)

SECTION 10207. Inducing violation of contract.—Whoever shall procure or entice any artificer or workman retained or employed in any arsenal or armory to depart from the same during the continuance of his engagement, or to avoid or break his contract with the United States; or whoever, after due notice of the engagement of such workman or artificer, during the continuance of such engagement shall retain, hire, or in any wise employ, harbor, or conceal such artificer or workman, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned not more than three months, or both.

Seamen—Kidnaping to service

(Act of March 4, 1909)

SECTION 10250. Shanghaiing.—[What is commonly known as the shanghaiing of sailors is described and declared unlawful, fine or imprisonment, or both, being fixed as penalties.]

Obstructing the mail

(Act of March 4, 1909)

SECTION 10371. Delaying mail.—Whoever shall knowingly and willfully obstruct or retard the passage of the mail or any carriage, horse, driver, or carrier of car, steamboat, or other conveyance or vessel carrying the same, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than six months, or both.

This section applies only to acts performed with the intention of obstructing, and not to acts in themselves lawful from which delay unavoidably follows. 7 Wall. 482.

This section applies to the unlawful stopping of a railway mail train, although those guilty are willing to permit the movement of the mail car detached from the passenger cars of the train. 13 Phil. Rep. 476.

Also to the stopping of a train by discharged railway laborers, although their primary intention may not be to obstruct the mail but to obtain a return passage. 19 Fed. 42.

Where the transportation of mails and interstate commerce has long been interrupted by the refusal of the employees of the railway company to move trains carrying certain cars, it is the duty of the company to use every effort to move the mails and interstate commerce, without regard to the make-up of regular trains; and any failure to perform this duty is a violation of this statute. 62 Fed. 840.

If a mail train which carries a Pullman car as a part of its regular make-up is delayed because it carries such car, it is no defense that the parties so delaying it were willing that the mail should proceed if the Pullman car were left behind. It is not necessary that defendants should be shown to have had knowledge that the mails were on board a train which they have detained and disabled. They are chargeable with an intent to do whatever is the reasonable and natural consequence of their acts. 67 Fed. 698.

Peonage

(Act of March 4, 1909)

SECTION 10442. Penalty.—Whoever holds, arrests, returns, or causes to be held, arrested, or returned, or in any manner aids in the arrest or return of any person to a condition of peonage shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

SEC. 10443. Obstructing enforcement of act.—Whoever obstructs, or attempts to obstruct, or in any way interferes with or prevents the enforcement of the section last preceding shall be liable to the penalties therein prescribed.

CHAPTER 203.—Efficiency tests—Place of work—Navy Department

Tests forbidden; placing of contracts.—No part of the appropriations made in this act shall be available for the salary or pay of any officer, manager, superintendent, foreman, or other person having charge of the work of any employee of the United States Government while making or causing to be made with a stop watch or other time-measuring device a time study of any job of any such employee between the starting and completion thereof, or of the movements of any such employee while engaged upon such work; nor shall any part of the appropriations made in this act be available to pay any premiums or bonus or cash reward to any employee in addition to his regular wages, except for suggestions resulting in improvements or economy in the operation of any Government plant; and that no part of the moneys herein appropriated for the Naval Establishment or herein made available therefor shall be used or expended under contracts hereafter made for the repair, purchase, or acquirement, by or from any private contractor, of any naval vessel, machinery, article or articles that at the time of the proposed repair, purchase, or acquirement, can be repaired, manufactured, or produced in each or any of the Government navy yards or arsenals of the United States, when time and facilities permit, and when, in the judgment of the Secretary of the Navy, such repair, purchase, acquirement, or production, would not involve an appreciable increase in cost to the Government.

The foregoing provision as to the use of stop watches and the giving of bonuses, etc., contained in the naval appropriation act of May 28, 1924, appears also in the appropriation for the War Department for the same year (ch. 291), and is reproduced from previous acts on these subjects, in which it has appeared currently each year since 1915.
